[General Overriding Regulation 7, Amdt. 16]

GOR 7—EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN FOOD AND RESTAURANT COMMODITIES

RAW AND SEMI-PROCESSED GLANDS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment 16 to General Overriding Regulation 7 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 7 exempts from price control pituitary glands, pancreas glands, and suprarenal glands (also known as adrenal) in the raw or semi-processed state. These commodities are now under the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR).

The exemption of the commodities covered by this amendment will have little effect upon the cost of living, the cost of the defense effort, or the general current of industrial costs. Furthermore, any ceiling price restriction imposed or maintained on sales of these commodities would involve an administrative burden out of all proportion to the importance of keeping such commodities under price control.

In the formulation of this amendment the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director, the exemptions provided for by this amendment will not defeat or impair the price stabilization program or the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

General Overriding Regulation 7 is amended by adding a new section as follows:

SEC. 18. Pituitary glands, pancreas glands, and suprarenal glands (also known as adrenal)—(a) Exemption. No ceiling price regulation issued by the Office of Price Stabilization shall apply to sales of pituitary glands, pancreas glands, and suprarenal glands (also known as adrenal), in the raw or semi-processed state.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Pituitary glands, pancreas glands, and suprarenal glands" (also known as "adrenal") mean those glands which are obtained as by-products in the slaughter of bovine (cattle and calves), ovine (sheep and lambs) and porcine (swine) species.

(2) "Raw or semi-processed state" means the ordinary state of preservation common to the slaughtering industry in which these commodities are sold by the slaughterer if he sells directly or through any intermediate seller.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective June 11, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Overriding Regulation 9, Amdt. 20]

GOR 9—EXEMPTIONS OF CERTAIN INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS AND MANUFACTURED GOODS

SALES OF DISCONTINUED MAKES OF PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment to General Overriding Regulation 9 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment exempts from price control passenger automobiles which were made by manufacturers who have not been engaged in the passenger automobile manufacturing business since June 24, 1950, and which are not listed in Appendix "A" to CPR 94, the regulation governing the sale of used passenger automobiles. Examples of such cars are the Cord, Hupmobile, Dusenberg, and Reo. The sale of these cars is comparatively rare. Their exemption will relieve the field offices of the administrative burden of establishing individual ceiling prices for these vehicles.

Automobiles over twenty-five years old are now exempted from price control by subparagraph 19 of section 2 (a) to General Overriding Regulation 9. This amendment lowers to twenty years the age at which "antique" automobiles will be exempted. The sale of such automobiles has little or no effect on the stabilization program.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. A new subparagraph (25) is added to section 2 (a) to read as follows:

(25) Sales of passenger automobiles which were made by manufacturers who have not been engaged in the passenger automobile business since June 24, 1950, and which are not listed in Appendix A of CPR 94.

2. Subparagraph 19 of section 2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(19) Sales of antique automobiles. "Antique automobiles" means any passenger automobiles more than twenty years old.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective June 11, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

1. Section 373.33 Special provisions for exportation of certain commodities to Japan and Ryukyu Islands (including Okinawa) is hereby deleted.

2. Section 373.51 Supplement 1: Time schedules for submission of applications for licenses to export certain Positive List commodities is amended by adding thereto the following submission dates:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Submission dates, third quarter 1952

Footnote 2 is amended to read as follows:

[2] The submission dates for these commodities are also applicable to project license applications (see §§ 374.2 (f) and 374.3 (d) of this subchapter) and to petroleum project licenses, as provided in § 398.8 (e) of this subchapter.

3. Section 374.1 Project licenses, paragraph (a) General is amended by adding at the end thereof the following unnumbered subparagraph:

An exporter holding a project license (SP or DL License) shall not apply for, nor will the Office of International Trade issue, an individual or blanket (BLT) license for a transaction involving a project whose requirements are covered by an outstanding SP or DL license, except where the shipment is to be made by mail under the provisions of § 374.6.

4. The note following § 373.7 Special provisions for machinery and parts is amended by deleting the last sentence of the note.

5. Section 398.5 CMP: Export allocations and procedures is amended in the following particulars:

Paragraph (g) Additional requirements for shipment to Japan and the Ryukyu Islands (including Okinawa) is hereby deleted.

6. Section 398.8 Supply assistance for foreign petroleum operations is amended in the following particulars:

a. Paragraph (e) When to apply is amended to read as follows:

(e) When to apply. Form PAD–26A (revised March 1952) should be filed as far as possible in advance of the time an allotment of controlled materials and priority assistance is required by an operator; this applies also to any amendments filed on Form PAD–26A. No specific dates are fixed for filing in either case.

The following filing dates for Form IT–824 are hereby established:

(1) For controlled materials only: 180 days prior to the first day of the quarter in which the materials are required as indicated in item 10 of the form;

(2) For all other materials: In accordance with the time schedules set forth in §373.51 of this subchapter (Supplement 1: Time schedules);

(3) For emergency or interim assistance as defined in section 7 of Order M–46A, or for any other special purpose, no submission date is stipulated.

b. Paragraph (f) Instructions for Forms PAD–26A and IT–824 is amended to read as follows:

(f) Instructions for Forms PAD–26A and IT–824. All of the terms, conditions, provisions and instructions contained in Forms PAD–26A and IT–824 are hereby incorporated as a part of the regulations in Parts 370 to 399 of this subchapter, inclusive, as though set forth in this section.

In filling out Sections III–B and III–C of Form PAD–26A covering controlled materials and Class A products respectively, applicants should omit the OIT Reference Code. However, with regard to Class A products, Section III–C of the form must identify the controlled material components by furnishing the appropriate Schedule B numbers (instead of OIT Reference Code) for the component material. Thus, both the Class A product and each CMP component required to manufacture the Class A product must be identified by Schedule B numbers.

Similarly, in item 11 (a) of Form IT–824, exporters should omit the OIT Reference Code in filing for controlled materials and Class A products. Items 11 (d), (e), and (f) are to be filled in only with respect to controlled materials (identified on the Positive List by the letter "C" in the column headed "Commodity Lists"). The inventory information required under item 11 (d) of Form IT–824 is to be as of 30 days prior to the deadline date for the submission of Forms IT–824 covering controlled materials. (See paragraph (e) of this section for filing dates.)

Item 11 (e) calling for the quantity of the materials used is to be filled in to show the quantity used by the project or program during the three-month period beginning 10 months prior to the beginning of the calendar quarter specified in item 10 of Form IT–824.

Items 18 and 19 on Form IT–824 calling for license number and amendment number, respectively, are to be filled in by the applicant when Form IT–824 is filed against an outstanding SP or other validated license.

c. Paragraph (h) Other than large construction operations (materials for use in production, small construction operations, maintenance, repair, operating supplies, and laboratory equipment), subparagraph (1) General is amended by inserting the following after the third sentence of the third unnumbered paragraph (i. e., beginning, "However, any applicant • • •"): A listing of all items included in Schedule II of Order M–46A is shown in § 398.51 (Supplement 1).

7. Part 398, Priority Ratings and Supply Assistance, is amended by adding thereto a new § 398.51 to read as follows:

§ 398.51 Supplement 1: Items included in Schedule II of NPA Order M–46A.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32, Supplementary Regulation 2, Section 3, Special Order 14]

CALIFORNIA

CRUDE PETROLEUM CEILING PRICES ADJUSTED ON AN IN-LINE BASIS FOR CERTAIN FIELDS

Statement of considerations. This special order adjusts the ceiling price for the sale of 33°–33.9° gravity crude petroleum produced from the Ventura Avenue, Rincon, and Padre Canyon Fields, Ventura County, California, and the San Miguelito Field, San Luis Obispo County, California.

The General Petroleum Corporation of Los Angeles, California, desires to eliminate the differential it has heretofore imposed upon the crude petroleum produced from the Ventura Avenue, Rincon, and Padre Canyon Fields, Ventura County, California, and the San Miguelito Field, San Luis Obispo County, California. During the base period there was a lack of competitive factors which delayed the restoration of the historical and traditional differential between these fields and the Long Beach (Signal Hill) Field, Los Angeles County, California, and as a result the 33°–33.9° gravity crude petroleum produced from the Ventura Avenue, Rincon, and Padre Canyon Fields, Ventura County, California, and the San Miguelito Field, San Luis Obispo County, California, was sold at a lower price than that which is being and has been paid for crude petroleum of comparable quality in the same general area. It appears that this condition has now been eliminated and this differential should no longer be imposed.

From the information available to this Office, it appears that the requested adjusted ceiling price will be in line with the ceiling price of comparable crude petroleum produced in this same area. This price is $2.67 per barrel for 33°–33.9° gravity.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 32, It is ordered:

1. That the ceiling price at the lease receiving tank for crude petroleum produced from the Ventura Avenue, Rincon, and Padre Canyon Fields, Ventura County, California and the San Miguelito Field, San Luis Obispo County, California shall be: $2.67 per barrel for 33°–33.9° gravity.

2. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 32, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the commodities covered by this order.

3. This order may be amended, modified or revoked at any time by the Director of Price Stabilization.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective on June 11, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32, Supplementary Regulation 2, Section 3, Special Order 15]

TEXAS

CRUDE PETROLEUM CEILING PRICES ADJUSTED ON AN IN-LINE BASIS FOR CERTAIN FIELDS IN WOOD COUNTY

Statement of considerations. This special order adjusts the ceiling price for the sale of crude petroleum produced from the Pine Mills (Orr) Field; Pine Mills (Woodbine) Field; Pine Mills (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Deu Pree (Woodbine) Field; Deu Pree (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Earl Lee Field; and Forest Hill Field, all located in Wood County, Texas.

The Pan American Production Company of Houston, Texas, desires to eliminate the differentials it has heretofore imposed upon crude petroleum produced from the Pine Mills (Orr) Field; Pine Mills (Woodbine) Field; Pine Mills (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Deu Pree (Woodbine) Field; Deu Pree (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Earl Lee Field; and Forest Hill Field, all located in Wood County, Texas. During the base period full production had not been attained; low cost pipe line transportation was not available; and there were excessive supplies of low gravity crude petroleum in the area. As a result, the crude petroleum produced from these fields was sold at a lower price than is being and has been paid for crude petroleum of comparable quality produced in this same general area. It now appears that these conditions have been eliminated and these differentials should no longer be imposed.

From the information available to this Office, it appears that the adjusted price will be in line with the ceiling price of comparable crude petroleum produced in this same area. This price is: $2.21 per barrel for 32° API gravity and above, with a 2 cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 32°, down to $1.97 per barrel for 20° to 20.9° API gravity; $1.93 per barrel for 19.9° API gravity with a 4 cent differential less for each degree of gravity lower than 19.9°, down to $1.61 per barrel for below 12° API gravity.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 32, It is ordered:

1. That the ceiling price at the lease receiving tank for crude petroleum produced from the Pine Mills (Orr) Field; Pine Mills (Woodbine) Field; Pine Mills (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Deu Pree (Woodbine) Field; Deu Pree (Sub-Clarksville) Field; Earl Lee Field; and Forest Hill Field, all located in Wood County, Texas, shall be: $2.21 per barrel for 32° API gravity and above, with a 2 cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 32°, down to $1.97 per barrel for 20° to 20.9° API gravity; $1.93 per barrel for 19.9° API gravity with a 4 cent differential less for each degree of gravity lower than 19.9°, down to $1.61 per barrel for below 12° API gravity.

2. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 32, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the commodities covered by this order.

3. This order may be amended, modified or revoked by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective on June 11, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Section 20 (c) Amdt. 1 to Special Order 1]

CEILING PRICES FOR RENTAL OF SMALL WATER CRAFT TO THE TEXAS CO.

Statement of considerations. This amendment makes effective as of May 1, 1951, Special Order 1, under section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

Special Order 1 set up a schedule of maximum ceiling prices for rental of over 100 small water craft of various types to The Texas Company of New Orleans, Louisiana, to be employed by them in their oil drilling operations in the waters of South Louisiana.

After the issuance of Special Order 1, the applicant, The Texas Company, requested that Special Order 1 be made effective as of May 1, 1951 in order to carry out arrangements which it made with its small boat operators and the Terrebonne-LaFourche Boatmen's Association of Houma, Louisiana. Because of the limited nature of the adjustment which may be granted under section 20 (c), and the unusual circumstances of this case, it has been determined to grant this request and make Special Order 1 effective as of May 1, 1951.

Section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 permits a purchaser of non-retail services from a large number of sellers to obtain an upward adjustment in the ceiling prices he pays for those services, if sellers are threatening to discontinue their supply and the purchaser agrees to absorb any increase in the ceiling price. The adjusted ceiling price may not exceed the price which the purchaser would be required to pay other suppliers for the same service.

The applicant, The Texas Company, is engaged in prospecting, exploring, drilling for, and producing petroleum in the southern part of Louisiana. This area is largley covered by swamps, marshland, lakes and open water. These areas are accessible only by water or air and can be worked by The Texas Company only by the extensive use of small water craft such as tugs, luggers, speed boats, Joboats and other types of small, shallow draft water craft. For some twenty-four years The Texas Company has rented such craft and the services of their owners and crews under individual contracts at uniform rates.

In the present case it appears that in the spring of 1951 the small boat operators engaged in rendering the above services were generally threatening to discontinue their services because of alleged inadequacies of the payment they were receiving. Efforts of the applicant to obtain such services at the ceiling price to replace the services of the small boat operators who discontinued or threatened discontinuance of their services were not successful. The applicant made it known to the small boat operators that it was prepared to pay such increased ceiling prices as would be approved by the Office of Price Stabilization, and that it planned to make such increased payment effective as of May 1, 1951, the approximate date when the renegotiation began; and that it would hold said retroactive payments in escrow until the Office of Price Stabilization order was issued. On the strength of these assurances to the small boat operators, many of them agreed to continue rendering their services. It appears that they would not have done so but for their expectation and understanding that the increased ceiling price, if authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization, would be paid to them commencing as of May 1, 1951.

On September 28, 1951 the applicant applied for an adjustment pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Although it was evident from the application that some adjustment of applicant's ceiling prices would ultimately be granted, the exact amount of the adjustment required careful study and was not determined until several months later. Accordingly, if the applicant had requested permission to enter into adjustable pricing contracts with the small boat operators pursuant to section 21 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, this request would have been granted because such an authorization was necessary to promote distribution and would not have interfered with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. However, the applicant did not make this request because it was under the impression that if its application for adjustment were granted, it would be permitted to make the increased ceiling prices effective as of May 1, 1951, the approximate date when the renegotiations began.

The applicant's mistaken impression is not an adequate basis for making the adjustment effective as of May 1, 1951. However, if the adjustment is not made effective as of May 1, 1951, a considerable hardship will be imposed upon the applicant's suppliers who continued to supply services to the applicant only because of the applicant's representations to them. The applicant has agreed to absorb its increased costs resulting from the increased price it is permitted to pay small boat operators under Special Order 1. Also, it appears that the applicant has not made any payments to its small boat operators in excess of ceiling prices so that such an order would not have the effect of legalizing past violations.

The services performed by these suppliers for the applicant are substantially the same as those performed by employees. If these services were performed by employees employed by the applicant, the compensation paid these employees would be subject to the regulations of Wage Stabilization Board. In many cases of this kind the Wage Stabilization Board has granted approval of wage increases on a retroactive basis. In view of this fact and the special circumstances recited above, Special Order 1 is being made effective as of May 1, 1951.

Amendatory provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations, and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, the introductory sentence of paragraph 1 is amended to read as follows:

1. The ceiling prices which may be paid by The Texas Company as of May 1, 1951, for the rental of small water craft operating in the waters of South Louisiana shall be:

Effective date. This amendment to Special Order 1 shall become effective June 9, 1952.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Section 20 (c), Amdt. 1 to Special Order 4]

CEILING PRICES FOR LOGGING SERVICES RENDERED TO WEYERHAEUSER TIMBER CO.

Statement of considerations. This amendment makes effective as of April 1, 1951 Special Order 4 under section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Special Order 4 authorized an increase in the ceiling prices for logging services supplied by more than 50 logging contractors to Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, Tacoma, Washington. The ceiling price established in that order for such logging services was increased by $1.05 per thousand feet, log scale. Because of the limited nature of the adjustment which may be granted under section 20 (c), and the unusual circumstances of this case, it has been determined to make Special Order 4 effective as of April 1, 1951.

Section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 permits a purchaser of non-retail services from a large number of sellers to obtain an upward adjustment in the ceiling prices he pays for those services, if sellers are threatening to discontinue their supply and the purchaser agrees to absorb any increase in the ceiling price. The adjusted ceiling price may not exceed the price which the purchaser would be required to pay other suppliers for the same service.

In the present case it appears that in the spring of 1951 logging contractors engaged in the sale of logging services to the applicant were generally threatening to discontinue their services because of alleged inadequacies of the payment they were receiving. Efforts of the applicant to obtain logging services at the ceiling price to replace the services of logging contractors who discontinued or threatened discontinuance of their services were not successful. The applicant made it known to logging contractors that it was prepared to pay such increased ceiling price as would be approved by the Office of Price Stabilization and that it planned to make such increased payment effective as of April 1, 1951, the approximate date their negotiations began. On the strength of the assurances which applicant gave to the logging contractors, many of them agreed to continue rendering their services to the applicant. It appears that they would not have done so but for their expectation and understanding that the increased ceiling price, if authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization, would be paid to them commencing as of April 1, 1951.

On October 1, 1951 the applicant applied for an adjustment pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Although it was evident from the application that some adjustment of the applicant's ceiling prices would ultimately be granted, the exact amount of the adjustment required careful study and was not determined until several months later. Accordingly, if the applicant had requested permission to enter into adjustable pricing contracts with its contractors pursuant to section 21 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, this request would have been granted because such an authorization was necessary to promote distribution and would not have interfered with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. However, the applicant did not make this request because it was under the impression that if its application for adjustment were granted, it would be permitted to make the increased ceiling prices effective as of April 1, 1951, the approximate date the negotiations began.

The applicant's mistaken impression is not an adequate basis for making the adjustment effective as of April 1, 1951. However, if the adjustment is not made effective as of April 1, 1951, a considerable hardship will be imposed upon the applicant's supplier who continued to supply services to the applicant only because of the applicant's representations to them. The applicant has agreed to absorb its increased costs resulting from the increased price it is permitted to pay for logging services under Special Order 4. Also, it appears that the applicant has not made any payments to its logging contractors in excess of ceiling prices so that this order would not have the effect of legalizing past violations.

The services performed by these logging contractors are substantially the same as those performed by lumberjacks. If these services were performed by lumberjacks employed by the applicant, the compensation paid these lumberjacks would be subject to the regulations of the Wage Stabilization Board. In many cases of this kind the Wage Stabilization Board has granted approval of wage increases on a retroactive basis. In view of this fact and the special circumstances recited above, Special Order 4 is being made effective as of April 1, 1951. Likewise, the applicant's request that this order be made applicable to two logging contractors not included in the original list is adopted; and the following two logging contractors' names are added:

Henry J. Wiles, Route 4, Box 202, Chehalis, Washington.

Stanton Brothers, Lebam, Washington.

Amendatory provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to Section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, this amendment to Special Order 4 is hereby issued.

1. The text of paragraph 1 of Special Order 4 is amended to read as follows:

1. On and after April 1, 1951, the ceiling price for logging services supplied to Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, Tacoma, Washington, by the following logging contractors shall be increased by $1.05 per thousand feet, log scale:

2. In paragraph 1 of Special Order 4 the following names are added to the list of logging contractors who are subject to the order:

Henry J. Wiles, Route 4, Box 202, Chehalis, Washington.

Stanton Brothers, Lebam, Washington.

Effective date. This amendment to Special Order 4 shall become effective June 9, 1952.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Section 20 (c) Amdt. 1 to Special Order 5]

CEILING PRICES FOR RICE BROKERAGE SERVICES RENDERED TO LOUISIANA STATE RICE MILLING CO., INC.

Statement of considerations. This amendment makes effective as of August 1, 1951, Special Order 5 under section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Special Order 5 authorized an increase in the ceiling prices for rice brokerage services supplied by more than 100 brokers to the Louisiana State Rice Milling Company, Inc., Abbeville, Louisiana. The ceiling price established in that order for such brokerage service was 15c per whole case of 60 pounds for consumer packages in sizes from 12 ounces to 10 pounds.

After the issuance of Special Order 5, the applicant, Louisiana State Rice Milling Company, Inc., requested that Special Order 5 be made effective as of August 1, 1951 in order to carry out arrangements which it made with its brokers prior to August 1, 1951. Because of the limited nature of the adjustment which may be granted under section 20 (c), and the unusual circumstances of this case, it has been determined to grant this request and make Special Order 5 effective as of August 1, 1951.

Section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 permits a purchaser of nonretail services from a large number of sellers to obtain an upward adjustment in the ceiling prices he pays for those services, if sellers are threatening to discontinue their supply and the purchaser agrees to absorb any increase in the ceiling price. The adjusted ceiling price may not exceed the price which the purchaser would be required to pay other suppliers for the same service.

In the present case it appears that in the late spring of 1951 brokers engaged in the sale of rice for the applicant were generally threatening to discontinue their services because of alleged inadequacies of the payment they were receiving. Efforts of the applicant to obtain brokerage services at the ceiling price to replace the services of brokers who discontinued or threatened discontinuance of their services were not successful. Applicant made it known to the brokers that it was prepared to pay such increased ceiling price as would be approved by the Office of Price Stabilization and that it planned to make such increased payment effective as of August 1, 1951, the beginning of its fiscal year. On the strength of the assurances which applicant gave to the brokers, many of them agreed to continue rendering their services to the applicant. It appears that they would not have done so but for their expectation and understanding that the increased ceiling price, if authorized by the Office of Price Stabilization, would be paid to them commencing as of August 1, 1951.

On September 4, 1951 the applicant applied for an adjustment pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Although it was evident from the application that some adjustment of applicant's ceiling prices would ultimately be granted, the exact amount of the adjustment required careful study and was not determined until several months later. Accordingly, if the applicant had requested permission to enter into adjustable pricing contracts with its brokers pursuant to section 21 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, this request would have been granted because such an authorization was necessary to promote distribution and would not have interfered with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. However, the applicant did not make this request because it was under the impression that if its application for adjustment were granted, it would be free to make the increased ceiling prices effective for its entire fiscal season beginning August 1, 1951.

The applicant's mistaken impression is not an adequate basis for making the adjustment effective as of August 1, 1951. However, if the adjustment is not made effective as of August 1, 1951, a considerable hardship will be imposed upon the applicant's suppliers who continued to supply services to the applicant only because of the applicant's representations to them. The applicant has agreed to absorb its increased costs resulting from the increased price it is permitted to pay for brokerage services under Special Order 5. Also, it appears that the applicant has not made any payments to its brokers in excess of ceiling prices so that a retroactive order would not have the effect of legalizing past violations.

The services performed by these brokers for the applicant are substantially the same as those performed by salesmen. If these services were performed by salesmen employed by the applicant, the compensation paid these salesmen would be subject to the regulations of the Wage Stabilization Board or the Office of Salary Stabilization, depending upon whether the salesmen were represented by a labor organization in their negotiations with the company. In many cases of this kind the Wage Stabilization Board and the Office of Salary Stabilization have granted approval of wage increases on a retroactive basis. In view of this fact and the special circumstances recited above, Special Order 5 is being made effective as of August 1, 1951.

Amendatory provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, paragraph 1 of Special Order 5 is amended to read as follows:

1. On and after August 1, 1951, the ceiling prices for rice brokerage services supplied to Louisiana State Rice Milling Company, Inc., Abbeville, Louisiana, by the following brokers shall be: 15 cents per whole case of 60 pounds for consumer packages in sizes from 12 ounces to 10 pounds:

Effective date. This amendment to Special Order 5 shall become effective June 9, 1952.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 1-1579]

HATFIELD CAMPBELL CREEK COAL CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO STRIKE FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JUNE 6, 1952.

The Cincinnati Stock Exchange, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to strike from listing and registration the 5 percent Non-cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, $100 Par Value, and the Common Stock, No Par Value, of The Hatfield Campbell Creek Coal Company.

The application alleges that the reasons for striking these securities from listing and registration on this exchange are as follows:

(1) The Hatfield family and other large stockholders, holding an aggregate of about 3,600 shares of the above preferred stock and about 37,000 shares of the above common stock, sold their holdings to the Amherst Coal Company and Logan County Coal Corporation at a price of $60.00 per share for the preferred stock and $11.00 per share for the common stock.

(2) As a condition of sale, the companies purchasing these securities agreed to accept tenders from all other shareholders at the same rate.

(3) As a result of the acceptance by shareholders of this offer, approximately 15,000 shares of the above preferred stock and approximately 52,000 shares of the above common stock are now held by one shareholder, namely, Logan County Coal Corporation.

(4) As a result of the foregoing transactions, the remainder of approximately 180 preferred shares are now outstanding in the hands of eight preferred shareholders, and approximately 130 common shares are now outstanding in the hands of eight common shareholders.

(5) No transactions have been effected on the applicant exchange in either of these securities during the entire year of 1951 or in the first four months of the year 1952.

(6) The issuer and the applicant exchange are both of the opinion that the continuance of the listing and registration of these securities on said exchange would serve no useful purpose.

(7) Pursuant to the provisions of the by-laws of the applicant exchange, its board of trustees on April 18, 1952 directed its president to apply to the Commission to strike the foregoing securities from listing and registration on applicant exchange.

Upon receipt of a request, prior to June 24, 1952, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of these securities, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms or conditions. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application, and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to this matter.

NEPCO proposes to issue and sell to NEES, for cash, 300,000 additional shares of common stock, $20 par value, at the price of $25 per share, aggregating $7,500,000. NEES, which owns all of the presently outstanding common stock of NEPCO, proposes to acquire such shares and will use available cash in its treasury for such purpose.

The proceeds from the proposed issuance and sale of common stock will be applied by NEPCO to the reduction of its note indebtedness outstanding at the time of issuance. The application indicates that, pursuant to a bank loan agreement, NEPCO has outstanding $17,000,000 principal amount of notes, due April 1, 1953, and that, prior to June 30, 1952, it expects to issue to said banks $3,000,000 of additional promissory notes, such borrowings having been authorized by this Commission on April 23, 1952 (Holding Company Act Release No. 11190).

The application states that the total expenses of NEPCO and NEES, including services rendered by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, at the actual cost thereof, are estimated at $11,100 and $300, respectively.

The Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Vermont Public Service Commission and the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission have authorized the proposed issue and sale of common stock and, according to the application, no other State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

NORTHERN BERKSHIRE GAS CO. ET AL.

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE TO AND ACQUISITION BY PARENT COMPANY OF PROMISSORY NOTES

JUNE 9, 1952.

In the matter of Northern Berkshire Gas Company, Quincy Electric Light and Power Company, Worcester County Electric Company, New England Electric System, File No. 70-2874.

New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, and its above named subsidiary companies (hereinafter referred to as "Northern Berkshire," "Quincy," and "Worcester County" and collectively referred to as "the borrowing companies"), having filed separate declarations with this Commission, pursuant to sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), 10 and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-23, U-43 (a) and U-45 (b) (1) promulgated thereunder, with respect to the following proposed transactions:

The borrowing companies propose to issue to NEES, from time to time but not later than June 30, 1952, unsecured promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount up to but not exceeding $2,330,000. Said notes will mature December 1, 1952, and will bear interest at the prime interest rate charged by banks for such notes at the time said notes are issued to NEES. It is stated in the declarations that said prime interest rate at the present time is 3 percent. If said prime interest rate is in excess of 3¼ percent at the time any of such notes is issued, NEES and the borrowing company will file an amendment to this filing stating therein the principal amount of the note to be issued and the rate of interest thereon at least 5 days prior to the execution and delivery thereof. NEES and the borrowing companies request that, unless the Commission notifies NEES and the applicable borrowing company or companies to the contrary within said 5-day period, such amendment will become effective at the end of such period. The declarations further state that the proposed notes may be prepaid, in whole or in part, prior to maturity, without payment of a premium.

The following table shows with respect to Northern Berkshire, Quincy, and Worcester County the principal amount of presently outstanding unsecured promissory notes to banks, the aggregate amount of such notes which may be issued prior to June 30, 1952, under Commission authorization and the aggregate amount of notes proposed to be issued to NEES:

	Notes outstanding to banks, May 9, 1952	Amount of notes authorized to be outstanding	Amount of notes proposed to be issued to NEES
Northern Berkshire	$1,000,000	$1,075,000	$1,150,000
Quincy	680,000	680,000	680,000
Worcester County	3,600,000	4,500,000	500,000

The declarations indicate that, as to Worcester County, the amount of notes authorized will be reduced by the proceeds from the recent sale of $4,000,000 principal amount of bonds. The declarations further indicate that substantially all of the proceeds to be derived from the notes proposed to be issued to NEES will be used to pay off then outstanding notes to banks. The borrowing companies state that the proceeds of any permanent financing will be applied in reduction of, or in total payment of, notes then outstanding and the amount of authorized, but unissued, notes will be reduced by the amount, if any, by which such permanent financing exceeds the amount of notes then outstanding. In addition, the borowing companies waive their right to issue any presently authorized promissory notes which are unissued as at the date of the Commission's order herein.

The declarations further state that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed by the New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, at the actual cost thereof, such cost being estimated not to exceed $100 for each of the borrowing companies and for NEES, an aggregate of $400.

The declarations further state that no State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

NEES and the borrowing companies having requested that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance; and

Notice of the filing of the declarations having been given in the manner and form provided by Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, and a hearing not having been requested or ordered by the Commission within the time specified in said notice; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder are satisfied; and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declarations be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declarations be, and hereby are, permitted to become effective, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, and that this order shall become effective forthwith upon its issuance.

By the Commission.

SUBPART B—HONEY EXPORT PROGRAM (1952 MARKETING SEASON)

The "Honey Export Program (1952 Marketing Season)" 17 F. R. 3397, is hereby amended in the manner provided below:

1. Section 524.252 is amended by changing the requirement that the exporter certify that the producer of the honey exported has received the applicable support price to a requirement that the exporter certify, with respect to honey sold by the producer during the 1952 marketing season, that the producer has received specified prices therefor, so that the amended section reads as follows:

§ 524.252 Eligibility for payment. Payments will be made to any individual, partnership, corporation or association located in the continental United States (except as provided in § 524.267), (a) who executes an application in quadruplicate, on the form attached hereto;[1] (b) whose application has been approved by the Director; (c) who enters into a sales contract covering the sale and exportation of honey produced within the continental United States to an eligible destination (see § 524.255), who delivers honey pursuant to such contract, and who furnishes evidence of exportation of such honey as required by § 524.260; (d) who certifies, with respect to honey exported hereunder which is eligible under the 1952 Honey Price Support Program and which is sold by the producer during the period April 1, 1952 to March 31, 1953, inclusive, that the producer of such honey has received from the purchaser or exporter not less than the applicable price as specified in § 524.271; and (e) who otherwise complies with all the terms and conditions of this program. Applications must be based on sales contracts and must be approved before exportation of the honey. Approval of applications will be in the order in which they are submitted (see § 524.253), and as long as funds are available. Applicants may make their sales contracts under this program subject to the condition that the Department of Agriculture will make an export payment on such sales.

2. Paragraph (a) of § 524.260 is amended to conform with the amended § 524.252, so that the amended paragraph (a) reads as follows:

§ 524.260 Filing of claim. (a) Exporter shall file claim with the PMA Commodity Office serving the exporter's billing office. The PMA Commodity Offices are listed under § 524.270. R. 3612), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective as hereinafter set forth. Shipments of lemons, grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, are currently subject to regulation pursuant to said amended marketing agreement and order; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified in this section was promptly submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the Lemon Administrative Committee on June 11, 1952; such meeting was held, after giving due notice thereof to consider recommendations for regulation, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period hereinafter specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time thereof.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., June 15, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t., June 22, 1952, is hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;

(ii) District 2: 750 carloads;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said amended marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached hereto and made a part hereof by this reference.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," "prorate base," "District 1," "District 2" and "District 3," shall have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 608c)

Done at Washington, D. C. this 12th day of June 1952.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by said examiner, on the complaint, the answer thereto, testimony and other evidence, proposed findings as to the facts and conclusions presented by counsel, oral argument not having been requested, and said examiner, having duly considered the record and having found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts, conclusion drawn therefrom, and order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said trial examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist, accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII became the decision of the Commission on March 17, 1952.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter VI—Department of the Navy

Subchapter C—Personnel

PART 718—MISSING PERSONS ACT

Part 718 is revised to read as follows:

Sec.
718.1 General Provisions.
718.2 Allotments.
718.3 Transportation of dependents.
718.4 Delegations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 718.1 to 718.4 issued under 56 Stat. 143, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. 1001-1012, 1014-1015.

§ 718.1 General provisions. (a) Under the provisions of the Missing Persons Act, as amended, a finding of presumptive death is made by the Secretary of the Navy when a survey of all available sources of information indicates beyond doubt that the presumption of continuance of life has been overcome. When a finding of presumptive death is made, a man's pay accounts are closed as of the day following the expiration of the 12 months' absence or a longer period when justified, and the various benefits, such as the six months' gratuity, become payable. A finding of presumptive death concerning an officer or enlisted man of the Navy means simply that as of the date thereof he is for the purposes of Naval administration no longer alive. It does not mean that death occurred on that or on any other certain date.

(b) Findings of presumptive death are never made when the "missing" status has not continued for at least 12 months. Whenever, subsequent to the expiration of the 12th month, cumulative or other evidence establishes by its preponderance that a "missing" person is no longer alive, a prompt finding of presumptive death will be made. Also, such a finding will be made whenever justified by the lapse of time beyond the 12 months' absence without specific information being received.

(c) The Secretary of the Navy, or such subordinate as he may designate, has authority to make all determinations necessary in the administration of the act, and for the purposes of the act determinations so made shall be conclusive as to death or finding or death, as to any other status dealt with by the act, and as to any essential date including that upon which evidence or information is received in the department. The determination of the Secretary of the Navy, or of such subordinate as he may designate, is conclusive as to whether information received concerning any person is to be construed and acted upon as an official report of death. When any information deemed to establish conclusively the death of any person is received in the department, action shall be taken thereon as an official report of death, notwithstanding any prior action relating to death or other status of such person. Under the foregoing provisions a determination of death is made prior to the expiration of 12 months when the evidence received is considered to establish conclusively the fact of death and settlement of accounts is made to the date established as the date of receipt of evidence on which the fact of death is established.

§ 718.2 Allotments. During such period as a person is in a status of missing, missing in action, interned in a neutral country, captured by an enemy, beleaguered or besieged, allotments from his pay and allowances may be initiated, continued, discontinued, increased, decreased, suspended or resumed in behalf of his dependents and for such other purposes as are justified by the circumstances and are in the interests of the person or of the Government.

§ 718.3 Transportation of dependents. Whenever a person is officially reported as dead, injured, missing for a period of 30 days or more, interned in a neutral country, or captured by an enemy, upon receipt of such official report by his dependents, and upon application by them, such dependents, household and personal effects including one privately owned motor vehicle, where the vehicle is located outside the continental limits of the United States or in Alaska, may be moved to such location as may have been determined in advance or as may be subsequently approved, except that a reasonable relationship must exist between the condition and circumstances of the dependents and the destination to which transportation is requested. In the case of a person in an injured status, transportation of his dependents or household and personal effects may be authorized only when the hospitalization or treatment of the injured person will be of prolonged duration. Payment in money of amounts equal to such commercial transportation costs for the whole or such part of the travel for which transportation in kind is not furnished, may be authorized, when such travel has been completed.

§ 718.4 Delegations. The Secretary of the Navy has delegated to the Director, Personal Affairs Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel with respect to personnel of the Navy, and to the Head, Casualty Section, Personal Affairs Branch, Personnel Department, United States Marine Corps, with respect to personnel of the Marine Corps, authority to make all determinations necessary to administer the act.

Dated: June 9, 1952.

DAN A. KIMBALL,
Secretary of the Navy.

No payment or reimbursement shall be made unless application therefor, supported by an itemized statement of the expenses, losses and damages so incurred shall have been submitted to the Secretary of the Air Force within one year following the date of such vacating (sec. 501 (b), Pub. Law 155, 82d Cong.).

§ 836.132 Definitions of terms as used in §§ 836.131 to 836.138.—(a) The act. Public Law 155, 82d Congress, approved September 28, 1951.

(b) Owner. Any owner of land, who moves himself, his family, or his possessions because of acquisition of his land pursuant to the act.

(c) Tenant. One who under proper authority uses or occupies land and who moves himself, his family, or his possessions because of acquisition of such land pursuant to the act.

(d) Acquisition pursuant to the act. Acquisition by the Air Force of any interest in land for any project authorized by the act.

(e) Date of vacating. The date the owner or tenant moves himself, his family and his possessions.

(f) Fair value. The value of the land as determined in accordance with Air Force appraisal procedure.

§ 836.133 Scope. Pursuant to the provisions of the act, reimbursement may only be made to the extent determined fair and reasonable for items of expenses and other losses and damages incurred by owners or tenants in the process and as a direct result of the moving of themselves and their families and possessions. The types of reimbursable items and non-reimbursable items described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section are not intended to be exclusive.

(a) Types of reimbursable items. (1) Moving expenses, such as costs of transportation, insurance, crating and uncrating.

(2) Temporary storage expenses.

(3) Expenditures for obtaining new site or land such as cost of appraisals, surveys, and title searches, where such expenses are normally borne by the purchaser. This does not include any part of the purchase price for the new site or any expenditures for the purpose of adding to the value or utility of the new site.

(b) Types of non-reimbursable items. (1) Costs of conveying property to the Government.

§ 836.136 Limitation of amount of payment. The act provides that the total amount of reimbursement to all owners and tenants of any parcel of land shall not exceed 25 per centum of the fair value of such parcel of land. In the event that the approved amount of reimbursement for all owners and tenants exceeds 25 per centum of the fair value of the land, each applicant will receive the same proportion of the 25 per centum of the fair value as the approved amount for each application is of the total amount approved for all applications.

§ 836.137 Conditions of reimbursement. In determining whether reimbursement will be made and the extent and amount thereof, consideration will be given to the following:

(a) Reimbursement shall not be made unless and until reasonable proof of the expenses or other losses and damages incurred, in the form of receipts therefor or the next best evidence thereof when receipts are not available, have been submitted.

(b) Reimbursement shall not be made to the extent the applicant's negligence, or wrongful act has contributed to the amount of the expenses, losses or damages.

[NPA Order M-78, as Amended June 13, 1952]

M-78—MAINTENANCE, REPAIR, OPERATING SUPPLIES, AND CAPITAL ADDITIONS FOR MINING INDUSTRY

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this order as amended, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

NPA Order M-78, as amended by Amendment 1 of September 21, 1951, and as further amended by Amendment 2 of January 30, 1952, is still further amended by raising from $2,000 to $5,000 the limit on minor capital additions as defined in section 2 (e) and by making a corresponding change in the definition of "major capital additions" in section 2 (f). Producers are permitted to use 20 percent of their quota base, or $5,000, whichever is greater, for minor capital additions There is added a new section 16 which makes provision for emergency repairs. The provisions relating to foreign producers are clarified, and various provisions of the order are changed to bring them into line with the latest amendments to CMP Regulation No. 5 on which regulation this order is based.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order as amended provides a procedure for priorities assistance to certain producers in the mining industry (other than producers of solid fuel, petroleum, uranium, or natural gas) for whom the Defense Materials Procurement Agency is claimant under NPA Delegation 5, as from time to time amended. The procedure permits use of the allotment numbers and ratings set forth in section 3 of this order to obtain limited quantities of controlled material and products and materials other than controlled material for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies (hereinafter collectively referred to as "MRO") and minor capital additions, and provides for application for major capital additions.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other organized group, and includes any business enterprise, Government agency, or institution. If in the calendar year 1950, or in his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951, a person operated more than one plant, division, department, branch, or other unit, and maintained for any such unit separate records showing expenditures therefor for MRO, he may elect to treat any one or more of such units as a separate person for the purposes of this order, or to treat his entire operation as a single person. In the absence of a contrary election, each such unit shall be treated for such purposes as if it were a separate person. An election so made may not thereafter be changed without prior written approval of the Defense Materials Procurement Agency.

(b) "Maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to continue any plant, facility, or equipment in sound working condition. "Repair" means, with respect to any person, the restoration of any plant, facility, or equipment to sound working condition when it has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like, and where such repair is not capitalized according to his established accounting practice. Neither "maintenance" nor "repair" includes the replacement of any plant, facility, or equipment; nor does it include the improvement of any plant, facility, or equipment by replacing material which is still in sound working condition with material of a new or different kind, quality, or design.

(c) "Operating supplies" means any kind of material carried by a producer as operating supplies according to his established accounting practices in effect on December 31, 1950. Materials incorporated in a product are operating supplies of a producer if, but only if, they were carried as operating supplies according to established accounting practice in effect on December 31, 1950. It also includes expendable tools and equipment used in production regardless of the accounting practice of the producer.

(d) "MRO" means materials for maintenance, repair, and operating supplies. It does not include capital additions.

(e) "Minor capital addition" means any replacement, improvement, or addition of a kind carried by a person as capital according to his established accounting practice, the total cost of which (excluding the purchaser's cost of labor) does not exceed $5,000 for any one complete capital addition. No capital addition may be subdivided for the purpose of bringing it or any part of it within this definition. In computing the cost of such replacement, improvement, or addition, for the purpose of this order, the cost of all materials obtained for such replacement, improvement, or addition shall be included whether or not acquired by use of an allotment number or rating, and whether or not ordered or delivered at different times and obtained from different suppliers. Where the capital addition, replacement, or improvement involves construction as defined in Revised CMP Regulation No. 6, the procedure provided for herein may not be used to obtain materials therefor.

(f) "Major capital addition" means any improvement, replacement, or addition of a kind carried by a producer as capital according to his established accounting practice, the total cost of the materials or equipment for which, acquired by such producer, exceeds $5,000. This definition does not include machinery or equipment for use in connection with a construction project authorized pursuant to Revised CMP Regulation No. 6.

(g) "Materials" means any raw, in-process, or manufactured commodity, equipment, component, accessory, part, or product of any kind.

(h) "DMPA" means the Defense Materials Procurement Agency.

(i) "Producer" means any person actually engaged in operations for which claimant responsibility has been delegated to DMPA by NPA Delegation 5, as amended. Those operations include: (1) The extraction, by surface, open-pit, quarry, dredging, or underground methods, or in the beneficiation, concentration, or preparation for shipment, of the products of mining activities; (2) the production of nonferrous metals by smelting and refining; or (3) the operation of any prospecting enterprise for the discovery, exploration, or development of new or additional mining projects (including the construction of access roads). This definition does not include operations relating to solid fuels, petroleum, uranium, or natural gas.

(j) "Domestic producer" means any person operating as a "producer" within the United States, its territories and possessions.

(k) "Foreign producer" means any person operating as a "producer" outside the United States, its territories and possessions, and Canada, who: (1) Has a valid serial number issued by the Defense Minerals Administration or DMPA, and (2) has a duly authorized agent within the United States, its territories or possessions, responsible for the producer's compliance with the provisions of this order.

(l) "Controlled materials" means steel, copper, and aluminum, in the forms and shapes indicated in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1.

(m) "Delivery order" means any purchase order, contract, or shipping or other instruction calling for delivery of any material or product on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of time.

(n) "MSA" means the Mutual Security Agency.

(o) "OIT" means the Office of International Trade of the Department of Commerce.

(p) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Allotment numbers and ratings. Allotment numbers are used to obtain controlled materials. The allotment number, preceded by "DO", is known as a rating and is used to obtain materials or products other than controlled materials. Subject to the limitations of this order, producers are hereby assigned the right to use the following allotment numbers and ratings for maintenance, repairs, operating supplies, and minor capital additions:

As defined in NPA Order M-78	Allotment No.	Rating
Domestic producers	H-6	DO-H-6
Foreign producers in countries having MSA programs	W-4	DO-W-4
Foreign producers in other countries	W-2	DO-W-2

SEC. 4. How a person obtains controlled materials. (a) Subject to the limitations and restrictions specified in subsequent sections of this order, every producer shall have the right to use the allotment number assigned him in section 3 of this order on his delivery orders for controlled materials for MRO and minor capital additions. The assignment of the right to use an allotment number does not constitute the making of an allotment. The allotment number may be used to acquire only that amount of controlled materials actually needed for MRO and minor capital additions.

(b) A delivery order bearing an allotment number assigned in section 3 of this order, and certified as provided in section 14 of this order shall constitute an authorized controlled material order for the purposes of all CMP regulations. A producer who manufactures a Class A or Class B product, not for sale, but solely for his own use as MRO, or as a minor capital addition, may obtain the controlled material required for such production by using the allotment number assigned in section 3 of this order. A producer who manufactures such a Class A or Class B product may not apply to an industry division or claimant agency on Form CMP-4A or on Form CMP-4B for an allotment of controlled materials, or for a DO rating for such production, nor may he use the self-authorization procedure provided in Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 5. How a person obtains products and materials other than controlled materials. (a) Subject to the limitations and restrictions specified in subsequent sections of this order, every producer shall have the right to use the appropriate "DO" rating assigned him in section 3 of this order on his delivery orders for products and materials other than controlled materials for MRO and minor capital additions. The rating may be used to acquire only that amount of such products and materials actually needed for MRO and minor capital additions.

(b) A delivery order bearing a rating assigned in section 3 of this order, together with the certification provided for in section 14 of this order, shall constitute a rated order with an allotment number for the purpose of all regulations and orders of NPA. A producer who manufactures a Class A, Class B, or any other product, not for sale but for his own use as MRO, or as a minor capital addition, may obtain the products and materials other than controlled material required for such production by using the rating assigned in section 3 of this order.

SEC. 6. Limitations on types of use of allotment numbers and ratings. (a) The allotment numbers H-6, W-2, and W-4, and the ratings DO-H-6, DO-W-2, and DO-W-4 may not be applied or extended by a producer to obtain any of the materials listed in Schedule I or II of CMP Regulation No. 5, as from time to time amended, or to obtain any equipment pursuant to any lease.

(b) The allotment numbers and ratings assigned in section 3 of this order shall not be applied by a producer to obtain in any quarter (calendar or fiscal) materials for minor capital additions exceeding in the aggregate 20 percent of his quarterly MRO quota or $5,000, whichever is greater. This paragraph shall be construed to place no limitation on the acquisition of additional products or materials other than controlled materials for minor capital additions without the use of an allotment number or rating.

SEC. 7. Quarterly MRO quotas.—(a) Computing the quota base. A producer who applies an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order must establish his quarterly MRO quota if he has not already done so. In calculating the MRO quota base a producer shall include all expenditures made by him in the base period for MRO except materials included in List A of NPA Reg. 2. Expenditures during the base period for capital additions shall not be included in the quota base.

(b) Standard base period. The standard base period is the calendar year 1950.

(c) Fiscal year base period. If a producer operated on the basis of a fiscal year prior to March 1, 1951, he may elect to take as his base period his last fiscal year ending prior to that date. After such an election has been made, it may not thereafter be changed without the prior written approval of DMPA.

(d) Standard quota. The standard quarterly quota is 30 percent of the quota base.

(e) Seasonal quota. A producer may elect to establish seasonal quarterly quotas. An election so made may not be changed thereafter without the prior written approval of DMPA. Such seasonal quota for any quarter shall be 120 percent of the expenditures by the producer for MRO during the corresponding quarter in 1950, or during the corresponding quarter in the last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951.

(f) Producers not in operation throughout the base period. A producer not in operation throughout his entire base period shall establish his quarterly MRO quota as follows:

(1) Producers operating during part of the base period. A producer who was in operation during a part but not all of the calendar year 1950 (or a part but not all of his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951), shall determine his quota base by computing the amount he would have spent for MRO (except materials listed in List A of NPA Reg. 2) in his base period had he continued to spend therefor through the year at the same rate as during the part of the year in which he was in operation, making necessary corrections to compensate for seasonal or other exceptional characteristics of the period in which he was in operation. Such producer's standard quarterly MRO quota shall be 30 percent of his quota base. If such producer elects to establish seasonal quarterly quotas, as above provided, he may divide 120 percent of his quota base into four quarterly MRO quotas in accordance with the seasonal demands of the activity in which he is engaged.

(2) Producers not in operation during the base period. If a producer was not in operation in any part of the calendar year 1950 (or of his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951), his quarterly MRO quota (standard or seasonal) shall be the amount he determines to be necessary for his operation. The quota of such producer may not, however, exceed $10,000 for any quarter without prior written approval of DMPA.

(3) Notice to DMPA. A domestic producer who, on or after the effective date of this order, establishes a quarterly MRO quota in excess of $10,000 pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section shall, within 30 days after he first applies an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order, notify DMPA in writing of the quota he has established, the base period he has used, the method he used in computing his quota, and the corrections he made for seasonal or other factors.

(g) Quota applications by foreign producers. Each foreign producer who has received a serial number under DMPA Mineral Order 7, shall file with DMPA on Form DMPA-28 (formerly MF-400) an application to establish an MRO quota if he has not already applied for such a quota. Such application shall be made within 60 days of the receipt of such serial number.

(h) Small quotas. Any domestic producer whose quarterly MRO quota is less than $10,000 as calculated pursuant to the provisions of this section, may nevertheless order (or receive) in any quarter MRO aggregating not more than $10,000 through the use of the appropriate allotment number or rating.

SEC. 8. Charges against quota.—(a) When to charge against quota. A producer may elect to charge expenditures against his MRO quota for the quarter (calendar or fiscal) in which his purchase order specifies delivery is to be made (the delivery basis) or against his MRO quota for the quarter in which the materials are actually received (the receipts basis). Having elected to use one method, he may not thereafter change to the other without the prior written approval of DMPA.

(b) What to charge against quota. A producer shall charge against his MRO quota in each quarter all expenditures for materials for MRO (except materials in List A of NPA Reg. 2) ordered for delivery (or, if on the receipts basis, received) during the quarter, whether or not the materials are obtained by the use of an allotment number or rating.

(c) Exception. Any producer who uses an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order to order for delivery (or, if on the receipts basis, to receive) during any quarter materials for MRO which aggregate not more than 20 percent of his MRO quota for such quarter may, in addition, order for delivery (or receive) other material for MRO without use of an allotment number or rating and without regard to quota limitations.

SEC. 9. Obligation to supply MRO under lease or other agreement. A person who is obligated to maintain, repair, or operate any plant, facility, or equipment under the terms of any lease or other agreement for the use of such property by another producer may apply the allotment number or rating pursuant to this order to obtain materials needed for such purposes. Expenditures for such materials shall be charged to the MRO quota of the person who is applying the allotment number or rating, except that if his purchase is made on a reimbursable basis for the account of the producer using the property, the MRO quota of the latter shall be charged.

SEC. 10. Use of materials for another purpose. If a producer has obtained materials for MRO or minor capital additions by applying an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order, he may use the materials for a different purpose if, under an authorized production schedule or authorized construction schedule, he could have applied any other allotment number or symbol or rating to acquire them for such purpose. However, if he does use them for such other purposes he may not use an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order to replace them in inventory. To replace such materials in inventory he may use only the allotment number or symbol or DO rating under such authorized production or construction schedule which he might have applied to obtain them for the purpose for which he used them. If he uses such materials obtained by applying an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order for such other purpose, his records must be adequate to show that his purchases of materials are substantially proportionate to his authorized uses.

SEC. 11. Restrictions on receipts and inventories. In accordance with the provisions of NPA Reg. 1 and notwithstanding the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 2, no producer shall receive any delivery of MRO material under the provisions of this order which would increase his inventory of such MRO material to an amount greater than the minimum necessary to sustain his current level of operations; and the ratio of such inventory to current production shall in no event exceed the ratio of average inventory to average production for the years 1948, 1949, and 1950.

SEC. 12. Supplier receiving improperly rated orders. When a supplier has received a purchase order bearing an allotment number or rating mentioned in section 3 of this order, which number or rating he knows or has reason to believe has been used in violation of any NPA regulation or order, the supplier shall refuse to accept it as an authorized controlled material order or rated order, as the case may be. In such event, the supplier shall advise the buyer of his reason for such refusal and shall also advise DMPA of his receipt of the order, his refusal to accept it, and his reason for such refusal.

SEC. 13. Adjustments of quotas. (a) Any application for an adjustment in quota must be filed on Form DMPA-28 (formerly MF-400) prior to the expiration of the quarter for which adjustment is requested, and the established base quota must not be exceeded unless and until the DMPA-28 application is approved.

(b) If a producer's quarterly MRO quota is increased by specific authorization of DMPA, he may continue to operate with the increased quota as his standard quota unless the increase is granted on a temporary or seasonal basis or is otherwise restricted by the terms of the authorization, but any increase granted shall not be retroactive.

SEC. 14. Certification. Each producer who, pursuant to this order, places a delivery order for controlled materials or a rated order for other products or materials for MRO or minor capital additions shall set forth on such order, or on a separate paper attached thereto, the appropriate allotment number or rating and the certification:

Certified under NPA Order M-78

and shall sign the certification as provided in NPA Reg. 2. This certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA and DMPA that the producer is authorized to use the allotment number or rating under the provisions of this order to obtain the materials covered by the delivery order.

SEC. 15. Major capital additions. (a) Any domestic producer who has a serial number under Mineral Order 7 may apply to DMPA for priorities assistance to obtain machinery, equipment, or materials for major capital additions. Such application shall be made by letter in duplicate giving all of the following information: (1) Name and adress of applicant; (2) mine serial number; (3) description and price of machinery, equipment, or materials required; (4) name and address of prospective supplier; (5) date and number of purchase order; (6) delivery dates promised by supplier with and without rating assistance; and (7) need for machinery, equipment, or materials, and expected results.

(b) Any domestic producer who does not have a serial number under Mineral Order 7 may apply to DMPA for priorities assistance giving all the information required in paragraph (a) of this section, except the serial number, and shall give in addition a description of the property (location and pertinent facts regarding ore body), production in 1950 and 1951, and current rate of production.

(c) Foreign producers shall apply for priorities assistance in obtaining major capital additions by filing Form IT-835 with OIT or MSA, as appropriate. Any items of machinery or equipment costing more than $5,000 which are required for foreign operations must be applied for on Form IT-835 regardless of whether they are for replacement, addition, or improvement, unless they form part of an expansion which is handled on a project basis in accordance with instructions available from OIT or MSA.

(d) Such applications, when approved by DMPA and NPA, will authorize the producer to use an allotment number or rating specified in this order.

SEC. 16. Emergency assistance. In the event of any major breakdown caused by extraordinary cause such as explosion, fire, sabotage, act of the public enemy, flood, storm, or similar catastrophe, a domestic producer may use the allotment number H-6 and the rating DO-H-6 to obtain materials and equipment in excess of his established quota to the extent necessary to reestablish operation by the use of no greater amount of materials than those rendered unfit for service. In so doing he shall place the word "emergency" after the allotment number or rating on his order and, within 10 calendar days after the placing of such order, he shall report the placing of such order to DMPA by letter in duplicate, listing the kinds, quantities, and value of materials and equipment so ordered, explaining the nature of the emergency, and giving full justification for the use of this emergency procedure.

SEC. 17. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, that any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each such request, except as otherwise provided in section 13 of this order, shall be in writing, by letter in duplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 18. Records and reports.—(a) Records to be kept. Each domestic producer who makes any use of an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order, and the United States agent of each foreign producer who makes any use of an allotment number or rating pursuant to this order, shall make and preserve at his regular place of business for at least 3 years, accurate and complete records showing as to such producer, what his quarterly MRO quotas are, how he computed them, the factual justification for them and for corrections and revisions thereof, any elections made as to the use of seasonal quotas, methods of figuring quotas and charges against them, or other options exercised, and records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use of all materials for MRO, minor capital additions, or major capital additions obtained pursuant to this order, whether or not such materials were obtained by use of an allotment number or rating, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This requirement does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) Inspection and audit. All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA or of DMPA at the usual place of business where maintained.

TITLE 33—NAVIGATION AND NAVIGABLE WATERS

Chapter I—Coast Guard, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter L—Security of Waterfront Facilities

[CGFR 52-30]

PART 126—HANDLING OF EXPLOSIVES OR OTHER DANGEROUS CARGOES WITHIN OR CONTIGUOUS TO WATERFRONT FACILITIES

DESIGNATED DANGEROUS CARGO

The purpose for amending 33 CFR 126.09 is to redefine "designated dangerous cargo" in order to remove an inequality between shipments of Classes B and C military explosives and shipments of Classes B and C commercial explosives. At present 33 CFR 126.29 requires that a Captain of the Port will issue a designated waterfront facility permit for each transaction of handling, storing, stowing, loading, or discharging or transporting designated dangerous cargo in amounts exceeding 500 pounds, provided, among other conditions, the facility offers isolation and remoteness from populous areas which compare favorably with the distances required by the American Table of Distances for inhabited buildings, unbarricaded. The amendment to 33 CFR 126.09 will eliminate isolation requirements for the handling of Classes B and C military explosives at designated waterfront facilities and will thereby remove the inequality existing between shipments of Classes B and C military explosives and shipments of Classes B and C commercial explosives. It is hereby found that compliance with the notice of public rule making, public rule making procedure thereon, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable because it is necessary to expedite the handling of Classes B and C military explosives shipped by, for, or to the United States Armed Forces, or similar types of explosives shipped by, for, or to the government of any country whose defense is deemed vital to the defense of the United States.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Executive Order 10173, as amended by Executive Order 10277, and Executive Order 10352, the following regulation is prescribed which shall become effective on and after the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER:

Section 126.09 is amended to read as follows:

§ 126.09 Designated dangerous cargo. The term "designated dangerous cargo" shall mean explosives (commercial or military), Class A, as classified in 46 CFR Part 146.

(40 Stat. 220, as amended; 50 U. S. C. 191, E. O. 10173, Oct. 18, 1950, 15 F. R. 7005, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp., as amended by E. O. 10277, Aug. 1, 1951, 16 F. R. 7537, 3 CFR, 1951 Supp., as amended by E. O. 10352, May 19, 1952, 17 F. R. 4607)

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 2—FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS AND RADIO TREATY MATTERS; GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

TABLE OF FREQUENCY ALLOCATIONS; DELETION OF FOOTNOTE

In the matter of amendment of § 2.104 (a) of the Commission's rules and regulations.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 4th day of June 1952;

The Commission, having under consideration footnote US9 to the Table of Frequency Allocations, which footnote permitted use of the frequency band 225–231 Mc for distance indicator systems at certain United States terminals of International air routes, and, where Amateur use of 220–225 Mc would interfere with the distance indicator system, permitted Amateur use of the frequency band 235–240 Mc in lieu thereof for a period not to extend beyond January 1, 1952; and

It appearing, that there is no longer a requirement for the allocation exceptions contained in footnote US9 to the Table of Frequency Allocations; and

It further appearing, that the termination of authority contained in footnote US9 to the Table of Frequency Allocations ordered herein, is only carrying out the provisions of the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations, paragraph 207, which also permitted the use of 220–231 Mc for distance measuring equipment for a period not to extend beyond January 1, 1952; and

It further appearing, that notice of proposed rule-making in accordance with section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary; and

It further appearing, that authority for the amendment ordered herein is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (e) and 303 (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended;

It is ordered, That effective immediately, footnote US9 of § 2.104 (a) of the Commission's rules and regulations is deleted.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Part 302]

[Procedural Regulations Draft Release No. 8]

RULES OF PRACTICE IN ECONOMIC PROCEEDINGS

CONSOLIDATION OF HEARINGS

JUNE 9, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that the Civil Aeronautics Board has under consideration a revision of § 302.12 of the Procedural Regulations (14 CFR 302.12). This revision relates to the filing of motions for consolidation of two or more proceedings or for contemporaneous consideration thereof.

The present § 302.12 of the procedural regulations (rules of practice) contemplates that consolidation motions shall be filed not later than the prehearing conference, but does not make this an express requirement.

The Board believes that this practice should be made a procedural requirement and that consolidation motions or motions for contemporaneous consideration of applications filed after such date should be dismissed in the absence of a clear showing of good cause for failure to file the motion on time. The Board further believes that the regulations should be clarified to make clear that the burden of seeking consolidation or contemporaneous consideration of applications rests on the parties thereto and not on the Board. Although the Board may from time to time consolidate proceedings or give contemporaneous consideration thereto upon its own initiative, the Board does not believe that it should assume the burden of searching out of its docket every application which could be consolidated or heard contemporaneously.

The Board believes that this clarification of consolidation procedures will insure a more orderly handling of proceedings and eliminate the possibilities of delay and burden upon other parties inherent in a less definite procedure. Board prehearing conferences are designed to establish the outlines of proceedings and future procedural dates. These clearly must depend upon the scope of applications included. If later filed motions to consolidate or hear applications contemporaneously are permitted except under unusual circumstances, the other parties are faced with the need for new preparation, in many cases new exhibits, and are encouraged as a matter of the protection of their interest to seek procedural postponements. The further advanced the case has become in its various procedural stages, the more pronounced becomes this problem.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate and addressed to the Secretary, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C. All communications received by July 15, 1952, will be considered by the Board before taking further action upon the proposed rule. Copies of such communications will be available after July 15, 1952, for examination by interested persons in the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

This rule is proposed under the authority of sections 205 (a), 52 Stat. 984, 49 U. S. C. 425; Interpret or apply section 1001, 52 Stat. 1017, 49 U. S. C. 641.

Dated June 9, 1952, at Washington, D. C.

[SEAL] M. C. MULLIGAN,
Secretary.

§ 302.12 Consolidations. (a) The Board, upon its own initiative or upon motion, may consolidate for hearing or for other purposes or may contemporaneously consider two or more proceedings which involve substantially the same parties, or issues which are the same or closely related, if it finds that such consolidation or contemporaneous hearing will be conducive to the proper dispatch of its business and to the ends of justice and will not unduly delay the proceedings. Although the Board may, in any particular case, consolidate or contemporaneously consider two or more proceedings on its own motion, the burden of seeking consolidation or contemporaneous consideration of a particular application shall rest upon the applicant and the Board will not undertake to search its docket for all applications which might be consolidated or contemporaneously considered.

(b) Time for filing. A motion to consolidate or contemporaneously consider an application with any other application shall be filed not later than the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which consolidation or contemporaneous consideration is requested, and shall relate only to a then pending application. If made at such conference the motion may be oral. All motions for consolidations or for consideration of issues which enlarge, expand, and change the nature of a proceeding shall be addressed to the Board. A motion which is not timely filed shall be dismissed unless the movant shall clearly show good cause for his failure to file such motion on time. A motion which does not relate to an application pending at the time of or before the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which consolidation or contemporaneous consideration is requested shall likewise be dismissed unless the movant shall clearly show good cause for his failure to file the application within the prescribed period.

(c) Answer. If a motion to consolidate two or more proceedings is filed with the Board, any party to any of such proceedings, or any person who has a petition for intervention pending, may file an answer to such motion within such period as the Board may permit. The Examiner may require that answers to such motions be stated orally at the prehearing conference in the proceeding with which the consolidation is proposed.

The general area is one that is used extensively for health and recreational purposes.

2. As to applications regularly filed prior to 9:00 a. m., March 1, 1949, and are for the type of site for which the land is classified, this order shall become effective upon the date it is signed.

3. This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of such lands until 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to applications under the Small Tract Act as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the public lands affected by this order shall be subject only to application under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their application by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

5. All of the lands will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres, each being approximately 330 by 660 feet, the longer dimension to extend east and west.

6. Preference right leases referred to in paragraph 2 will be issued for the land described in the application irrespective of the direction of the tract, provided the tract conforms to or is made to conform to the area and the dimension specified in paragraph 5.

7. Where only one 5-acre tract in a 10-acre subdivision is embraced in a preference right application, an application for the remaining 5-acre tract extending in the same direction will be accepted in order to fill out the subdivision notwithstanding the direction specified in paragraph 5.

8. Leases will be for a period of three years at an annual rental of $5.00 payable for the entire lease period in advance of the issuance of the lease. Leases will contain an option to purchase clause at the appraised value of $20.00 per acre. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government, or the State, County, or municipality in which the tract is situated, or by any agency thereof. The rights-of-way may, in the discretion of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, be definitely located prior to the issuance of the patent. If not so located they may be subject to location after patent is issued.

10. All inquiries relating to these lands should be addressed to the Manager, Los Angeles Land Office, Los Angeles, California.

CHARLES CO., ET AL.

SUSPENSION ORDER

A hearing having been held in the above-entitled matter on the 29th day of May 1952, before Joseph Sloane, a Hearing Commissioner of the National Production Authority, on a statement of charges made by the General Counsel, National Production Authority, in accordance with the National Production Authority General Admistrative Order 16-06 (16 F. R. 8628), dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 to National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16-06 (16 F. R. 8799), dated August 30, 1951; and

The respondents Charles Sussman, David Sussman, and Morris Sussman, individually and doing business as The Charles Company (hereinafter referred to as the respondents), having been duly apprised of the specific violations charged and the administrative action which may be taken, and having been fully informed of the rules and procedures which govern these proceedings, and each of them being represented by Arthur E. Dennis, an attorney at law, 1204 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and

The respondents having stipulated to a statement of facts to be filed in lieu of the presentation of other evidence in support of and in opposition to the statement of charges, the following findings of fact as stipulated between the parties hereto are found:

Findings of fact. 1. The respondents herein committed acts prohibited by sections 17 (a), 19 (c), and 19 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951, as amended November 23, 1951, in that they placed orders with suppliers during the calendar quarter commencing July 1, 1951, and requested delivery of 113,900 pounds of aluminum when they were lawfully entitled to place orders and request delivery of no more than 56,700 pounds during said period.

2. The respondents herein committed acts prohibited by sections 17 (a), 19 (c), and 19 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951, as amended November 23, 1951, in that they placed orders with suppliers during the calendar quarter commencing October 1, 1951, and requested delivery of 70,496 pounds of aluminum when they were lawfully entitled to place orders and request delivery of no more than 43,439 pounds during said period.

3. The respondents herein committed acts prohibited by section 13 of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951, as amended November 23, 1951, in that they failed to cancel or reduce authorized controlled material orders which they had placed with suppliers upon receipt of a reduction in their authorized allotment of aluminum for the quarter commencing October 1, 1951, to the extent that said orders exceeded their allotment as reduced.

4. The respondents herein committed acts prohibited by section 17 (b) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951, as amended November 23, 1951, in that they used an allotment to obtain 62,457 pounds of aluminum in the fourth quarter of 1951 and used the said material for unauthorized purposes.

5. The respondents herein committed acts prohibited by section 23 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951, as amended November 23, 1951; section 10 of CMP Regulation No. 2, as amended October 12, 1951; and section 16 (a) of NPA Reg. 1, as amended October 22, 1951, in that they failed to maintain accurate records of allotments received, and procurement pursuant to such allotments; and failed to maintain adequate records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use of aluminum.

Conclusions. During the calendar quarters commencing July 1, 1951, and October 1, 1951, the respondents herein violated the provisions of National Production Authority regulations and orders as hereinabove cited by placing orders with suppliers and requesting delivery from said suppliers of more aluminum than they were entitled to order or to request delivery of during said period, by using at least 62,457 pounds of aluminum for unauthorized purposes, by failing to maintain accurate records of allotments received and procurement pursuant to allotments, and by failing to maintain adequate records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use of aluminum.

In order to correct the unauthorized use of aluminum occasioned by the violations found herein and in order to prevent future violations of National Production Authority regulations, orders, and directives by these respondents,

It is accordingly ordered:

1. That all priority assistance be withdrawn and withheld from the respondents for a period of four (4) months commencing from the date of issuance of this order;

2. That all allocations and allotments of material be withheld from the respondents for a period of four (4) months commencing from the date of issuance of this order;

3. That the respondents be prohibited from producing or acquiring Class "A" products and from producing Class "B" products (as defined in National Production Authority CMP Regulation No. 1, as amended November 23, 1951, and as may be amended hereafter), and from acquiring, using, or disposing of any materials under control of the National Production Authority, except as may be directed by the Administrator of the National Production Authority for a period of four (4) months commencing from the date of issuance of this order; and

4. In the event that the allocations and allotments of aluminum which would have been made to the respondents during the period of four (4) months commencing from the date of issuance of this order do not equal 62,457 pounds of aluminum, then all allocations and allotments of aluminum which may be made in accordance with established procedures to the respondents herein during the quarter commencing October 1, 1952, and succeeding quarters, shall be reduced by one-third (33⅓%) until such time as 62,457 pounds of aluminum shall have been withheld from the respondents herein.

Issued this 29th day of May 1952.

Hearing Commissioner.

[File No. 812-786]

ST. LOUIS MIDWEST CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JUNE 10, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that St. Louis Midwest Company (Applicant) has filed an application pursuant to section 6 (c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 for an order granting exemption from the provisions of section 17, 18 (a) and 30 of said act so as to permit certain sales and purchases between Applicant and persons who may be promoters or affiliated persons of Applicant; to permit Applicant to issue and sell senior securities not meeting the requirements of section 18(a); and to relieve Applicant of certain requirements of the act concerning the filing of reports.

Applicant is incorporated under the laws of Missouri and is a closed end, non-diversified, investment company and has filed a registration statement under the Investment Company Act of 1940.

The application alleges that Applicant was created as a means by which employees, officers and directors of Midwest Piping and Supply Company, Inc. (Midwest Piping) will be permitted to acquire part of Midwest Piping's common stock for a small cash payment in order to assure for the future, so far as possible, the continuance of the present personnel and management of Midwest Piping. It is further alleged that the plan under which Applicant was created contemplates the sale by Boatman's National Bank, and A. G. Stoughton, E. A. Kerbey, F. J. Blum and N. B. Champ (Trustees), individual trustees under the wills of Hugo F. Urbauer and Ina C., his wife, both deceased, of 155,938 shares of Midwest Piping stock; 100,938 shares in a distribution to the public and 55,000 shares to Applicant. The sale to Applicant provides for a cash payment of $12.50 per share and delivery of two purchase money 8 year notes at 4 percent interest per annum. Applicant's shares are to be sold to G. H. Walker & Co. (Walker), a principal underwriter of the above mentioned public distribution of Midwest Piping's stock, and Walker is to offer the shares to the employees, officers and directors of Midwest Piping. A ten year voting trust for the 55,000 shares is to be created, the original trustees of which will be the aforementioned Trustees. The voting trust certificates will be deposited as collateral for the repayment of the above described notes. At the expiration of five years from the date of purchase of the 55,000 shares, holders of Applicant's stock, upon surrender of same and upon payment of a pro rata portion of any indebtedness remaining unpaid on account of the purchase of such shares, will be entitled to receive, free from pledge and from the terms of the voting trust, a pro rata portion of the shares of Midwest Piping.

Re exemption from section 17 of the Investment Company Act. Under the Urbauer wills, the Trustees may direct disposition of the Midwest Piping shares. The Trustees have approved the plan for the sale of the shares, in cooperation with Walker, and may be deemed to be promoters of Applicant within the meaning of section 2 (a) (29) or an affiliated person within the meaning of section 2 (a) (3) of the act. Trustees may also be among the purchasers of Applicant's shares. Consequently, such sales and purchases may be prohibited by section 17 (a) (1) or (2) of the act and exemption from the section is requested.

Re exemption from section 18 (a) of the Investment Company Act. As part of the plan, Applicant desires to issue two eight year notes at 4 percent interest in addition to its common stock. Section 18 (a) of the act prohibits the issuance of senior securities by closed end investment companies except under certain conditions. Since the proposed issuance of the notes does not come within the excepted conditions of the section, exemption therefrom is requested.

Re exemption from section 30 of the Investment Company Act. Section 30 of the act requires every registered investment company to file annually with the Commission such information, documents and reports as investment companies having securities registered on a national securities exchange are required to file annually pursuant to section 13 (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and the rules and regulations thereunder, as well as other reports either semi-annually or quarterly and certain periodic or interim reports. The Applicant alleges that, in view of the limited purposes of Applicant and its limited functions, which will be limited to receipt of dividends in respect of shares of Midwest Piping to be purchased by it, payments on account of its purchase money notes and administrative expenses and possibly the disbursement of limited dividends to its shareholders, the reports required by the section will contain little information of value and will involve considerable administrative expenses, and requests exemption from the reporting requirements of the section and to be permitted in lieu thereof to file with the Securities and Exchange Commission annually, within 90 days after the close of its fiscal year, an annual report which will fairly reflect the financial condition of Applicant at the close of such fiscal year.

Applicant states that the price to be paid by it for the stock of Midwest Piping is fair and reasonable and that no commissions, expenses or fees are to be paid by it in connection with the purchase, and that the transaction as a whole represents a special price available only to Applicant by reason of the fact that all, or substantially all, of Applicant's common stock is expected to be owned by persons active in the business of Midwest Piping in order to afford the stabilization and continuity of employment management and control which will permit the public offering of the remaining shares of Midwest Piping owned by the Urbauer Trusts. It further states that the terms of the plan and the transactions thereunder are fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of anyone concerned and that the exemptions sought are appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the act.

Notice is hereby given that an order granting the application, in whole or in part and upon such conditions as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate, may be issued by the Commission on or at any time after 12:00 o'clock noon, e. d. s. t., on June 23, 1952, unless prior thereto a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission, as provided by Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act. ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32, Supplementary Regulation 2, Section 3, Special Order 16]

BAUGH-STRAWN FIELD, SCHLEICHER COUNTY, TEXAS

CRUDE PETROLEUM CEILING PRICES ADJUSTED ON AN IN-LINE BASIS

Statement of considerations. This special order adjusts the ceiling price for the purchase of sweet crude petroleum produced from the Baugh-Strawn Field, Schleicher County, Texas.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been requested to eliminate the differentials heretofore imposed upon sweet crude petroleum produced from the Baugh-Strawn Field, Schleicher County, Texas. During the base period full production had not been attained and there was a lack of low cost pipe line transportation and as a result the crude petroleum produced from the Baugh-Strawn Field, Schleicher County, Texas, was sold at a lower price than that which is being and has been paid for crude petroleum of comparable quality in the same general area. It appears that this condition has now been eliminated and these differentials should no longer be imposed.

From the information available to this office, it appears that the ceiling prices as posted during the base period for sweet crude petroleum produced in this same general area are: $2.65 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity lower than 40°, down to $2.23 per barrel for below 20° API gravity; and $2.58 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity lower than 40° down to $2.23 per barrel for below 20° API gravity. A ceiling price of $2.58 per barrel is requested for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 40°, down to $2.16 per barrel for below 20° API gravity. This ceiling price does not exceed the ceiling price of comparable crude petroleum produced in this same area.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to the provisions of Section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 32, it is ordered:

1. That the ceiling price at the lease receiving tank for sweet crude petroleum produced from the Baugh-Strawn Field, Schleicher County, Texas, shall be: $2.58 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 40°, down to $2.16 per barrel for below 20° API gravities.

2. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 32, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the commodities covered by this order.

3. This order may be amended, modified or revoked by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective on June 13, 1952.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32, Supplementary Regulation 2, Section 3, Special Order 17]

CERTAIN FIELDS IN GAINES COUNTY, TEXAS

CRUDE PETROLEUM CEILING PRICES ADJUSTED ON AN IN-LINE BASIS

Statement of consideration. This special order adjusts the ceiling price for the sale of crude petroleum produced from the Doss Canyon, Robertson Canyon, Robertson Lower Clear Fork, Robertson Devonian and Robertson Ellenburger Fields, all located in Gaines County, Texas.

The Office of Price Stabilization has been requested to eliminate the differentials heretofore imposed upon the crude petroleum produced from the Doss Canyon, Robertson Canyon, Robertson Lower Clear Fork, Robertson Devonian, and Robertson Ellenburger Fields, all in Gaines County, Texas. During the base period there was a lack of competitive factors and as a result, the crude petroleum produced from these fields was sold at a lower price than is being and has been paid for crude petroleum of comparable quality produced in this same general area. It now appears that this condition has been eliminated and these differentials should no longer be imposed.

From the information available to this office, it appears that the price as posted during the base period for sweet crude petroleum produced in this same general area was: $2.65 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential for each degree of gravity lower than 40°, down to $2.23 per barrel for below 20° API gravity. This price is now requested as the ceiling price for sweet crude petroleum produced in the above-named fields. This price does not exceed the ceiling price of comparable crude petroleum produced in this same area.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to the provisions of Section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34, it is ordered:

1. That the ceiling price at the lease receiving tank for crude petroleum produced from the Doss Canyon, Robertson Canyon, Robertson Lower Clear Fork, Robertson Devonian and Robertson Ellenburger Fields in Gaines County, Texas shall be: $2.65 per barrel for 40° API gravity and above with a 2-cent differential less for each degree of gravity below 40°, down to $2.23 per barrel for below 20° API gravity.

2. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 32, except as inconsistent with the provisions of this order, shall remain in full force and effect as to the commodities covered by this order.

3. This order may be amended, modified, or revoked by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective on June 13, 1952.

must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions of this section effective not later than June 20, 1952. A reasonable determination as to the supply of, and the demand for, such peaches must await the development of the crop and adequate information thereon was not available to the Elberta Peach Commodity Committee until May 23, 1952; recommendation as to the need for, and the extent of, regulation of shipments of such peaches was made at the meeting of said committee on May 23, 1952, after consideration of all available information relative to the supply and demand conditions for such peaches, at which time the recommendation and supporting information was submitted to the Department; necessary supplemental data for consideration in connection with the specification of the provisions of this section were not available until June 9, 1952; shipments of the current crop of such peaches are expected to begin on or about June 20, 1952, and this section should be applicable to all shipments of such peaches in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time of this section.

(b) Order. (1) During the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., P. S. t., June 20, 1952, and ending at 12:01 a. m., P. S. t., November 1, 1952, no shipper shall ship:

(i) Any package or container of Elberta peaches containing peaches which are not well matured (as such term is defined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph), with a tolerance of twenty (20) percent, by count, for peaches which are mature but not well matured in addition to any tolerance for immature peaches allowed by the U. S. No. 1 grade;

(ii) Any package or container of Elberta peaches containing peaches which are smaller than a size that will pack 72 peaches of the size known commercially as size 70 in a No. 12B California peach box in accordance with the requirements prescribed for a standard pack: Provided, That, for the purpose of determining whether ripe Elberta peaches meet the aforesaid minimum size requirement, such peaches shall be fairly tightly packed rather than tightly packed, as prescribed for a standard pack; and the aforesaid size known commercially as size 70 is defined more specifically in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph; or

(iii) Any package or container of Elberta peaches containing peaches which do not meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 1 grade: Provided, That (a) with respect to ripe Elberta peaches which are not smaller than size 70, as aforesaid, the requirements of such grade shall not include freedom from damage, other than serious damage, caused by bruises; and (b) with respect to Elberta peaches which are not smaller than the size known commercially as size 55, a tolerance of 5 percent for defects not causing serious damage shall be allowed in addition to the tolerances provided for such grade; and the aforesaid size known commercially as size 55 is defined more specifically in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(2) "Peaches which are well matured" means peaches which, at the time of picking: (i) are not hard; (ii) have shoulders and sutures well filled out; (iii) when ring cut, have flesh that separates from the pit readily and cleanly, and is red colored next to the pit; and (iv) have skin and flesh yellowish green to yellow in color. "Peaches which are not hard" yield to moderate pressure at least slightly at the suture and tip and at least very slightly elsewhere.

(3) As used in this section, the size of Elberta peaches known commercially as size 70 is defined more specifically as being the size that will pack the aforesaid California peach box in accordance with the aforesaid standard pack specifications with two tiers having six rows of six peaches each with no peach small enough to pass through, without using pressure, a rigid ring of inside diameter of 2⅜ inches.

(4) As used in this section, the size of Elberta peaches known commercially as size 55 is defined more specifically as being the size that will pack the aforesaid California peach box in accordance with the aforesaid standard pack specifications with two tiers, one tier having two rows of five peaches each and three rows of six peaches each and the other tier having two rows of six peaches each and three rows of five peaches each with no peach small enough to pass through, without using pressure, a rigid ring of inside diameter of $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

(5) Each shipper, prior to making each shipment of Elberta peaches, shall, during the period set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, have the peaches included in each such shipment inspected by a duly authorized representative of the Federal-State Inspection Service, heretofore designated by the Elberta Peach Commodity Committee and hereby approved; and each such shipper shall submit promptly, or cause to be submitted promptly, to the Elberta Peach Commodity Committee, Federal-State shipping point inspection certificates stating the grades and sizes of the Elberta peaches contained in each such lot or shipment: Provided, That, in case the following conditions exist in connection with any such shipment:

(i) A written request for inspection is made to the Federal-State Inspection Service not later than 5:00 p. m. of the day before the fruit will be available for inspection;

(ii) The shipper designates in such request the date and hours when the fruit will be available for inspection; and

This proceeding was heard by Abner E. Lipscomb, hearing examiner, theretofore duly designated by the Commission, upon the complaint of the Commission, respondents' answer and a hearing at which counsel for the respondents and counsel in support of the complaint entered into an oral stipulation on the record.

In said stipulation counsel for the respondents admitted certain allegations of the complaint to be true, made further admissions regarding the potential testimony of witnesses who could be produced in support of certain other allegations of the complaint and made qualifying statements in regard to other allegations. Such stipulation was supplemented by a letter from counsel for respondents, dated October 30, 1951, which was duly incorporated into the record.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 121, Amdt. 2]

CPR 121—PRINTING, PRINTED PRODUCTS, ALLIED PRODUCTS AND CERTAIN PAPER PRODUCTS

BROADENING THE LANGUAGE IN THE RAW MATERIAL FACTOR

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 121 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

All tailored regulations do not establish "dollars and cents ceiling prices" within the strict meaning of these words. Through inadvertence this language was used in section 4 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 121. As a result, a printer buying his raw material from a seller who priced under a tailored regulation which did not spell out dollars and cents prices would be limited in his raw material factor to the ceiling price of the raw material on July 31, 1951. This result was not intended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 4 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Raw material factor. Your raw material factor for any material may not exceed the ceiling price for that material in effect on July 31, 1951, until such time as a tailored regulation is issued which establishes ceiling prices for any of your raw materials. Thereafter for such raw materials, the raw material factor shall not exceed the ceiling price as originally established by such tailored regulation. Subject to the above limitation, if you had adopted or employed the practice of averaging or otherwise computing your raw material costs during the base period, you shall continue such practice in the same manner.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Supplementary Regulation 5]

CPR 7—RETAIL CEILING PRICES FOR CERTAIN CONSUMER GOODS

SR 5—SPECIAL METHODS FOR DETERMINING INBOUND TRANSPORTATION COST INCREASES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738) this supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Supplementary Regulation permits retailers operating under CPR 7 to adjust their ceiling prices so as to reflect certain increases in transportation costs for merchandise shipped to them from their sources of supply. These increases have resulted from the rate increases which were granted since the issuance date of CPR 7.

Since May 1951, transportation rates (including parcel post rates) have gone up from 6 percent to 25 percent and in some cases much more; for some furniture articles, less-than-carload-lot rail rates in certain regions have gone up from 35 percent to 130 percent, depending on the particular article. The impact on retail operations of these substantial rate increases varies considerably and is difficult to measure on an over-all basis because of a number of complex factors. Nevertheless, it is evident that they represent a major burden to retailers.

For some retailers these increased transportation costs may amount to as much as three-quarters of one percent of their sales volume. While such an increase may not appear to be large, it may often account for a major fraction of the retailer's current net profits—as much as one-third or one-half. Moreover, they must be considered in conjunction with increases in retailers' operating expense ratios and in markdown ratios which have resulted in a significant decline in net profit ratios. For example, the 1951 net profit ratio (before Federal Income Taxes) of department stores, an important segment of retail trade, was 3.0 percent of sales—compared with 4.8 percent for the previous year.

Published data as to retailers' earnings before taxes, as related to net worth, for the years 1946 to 1949 and currently, are far from adequate to permit general application of the industry earnings standard. Moreover, these data do not indicate the extent to which any deficiency in current earnings may be due to sales below ceiling rather than to the level of ceiling prices. On the other hand, these data do lead the Director to the conclusion that the adjustment of retailers' ceiling prices so as to reflect certain increases in inbound transportation costs, is required by the industry earnings standard and that such an adjustment as is provided by this action is consistent with the spirit and intent of the standard.

Because of the innumerable complexities in transportation rate structures, it has not proven possible to reflect in all instances, either by commodity, by destination, or by transportation medium (rail, water, truck, express, parcel post, etc.) the actual percentages of rate increases. Any regulation tailored to all the varied and numberless rate situation encountered in daily trade would have been so complex as to be impossible of application by the retailer. Instead, the OPS, after careful analysis and extended consultations, has determined the approximate over-all rate increases by grouping, wherever feasible, the transportation media, territories and classes of commodities involved in these rate increases.

Two general methods for reflecting the increases in freight rates since CPR 7 went into effect are provided by this Supplementary Regulation. The seller must elect to use either one or the other, but not both of these general methods in any 6-month period. The first of these general methods permits calculation of the increase either on the basis of actual dollar differences in freight or through application of a specific factor to current transportation costs. These alternatives of the first method of calculation may be used interchangeably. The second method which is presented in several variations involves calculation by the retailer of his pre-CPR 7 ratio of total transportation costs to total purchases.

The base period and current actual freight calculation which is permitted in the first general method, allows the retailer who can determine (1) the actual "pre-CPR 7" transportation cost for an article of merchandise, and (2) the current transportation cost for the same article shipped from the same source of supply via the same transportation method, to subtract (1) from (2) in order to determine the amount of the increased transportation cost which can be added directly to the ceiling price. It should be noted that this method allows the retailer to pass through actual rather than average or approximate increases in transportation costs.

The specific factor calculation also permitted in the first general method requires that the applicable freight rate increase factor which is set forth in the regulation be applied to each current transportation bill. The result is the total increase for a freight bill which could then be apportioned to the individual items of merchandise in the shipment covered by the freight bill.

A retailer using the second general method multiplies his pre-CPR 7 percentage ratio of total transportation costs to total purchases by an applicable increase factor set forth in the regulation. The result is a new percentage which, applied to a current merchandise invoice cost, yields the increase which may be added to the retailer's ceiling price to reflect increases in transportation costs. A variation of this method permits retailers to use ratios for certain groups of their suppliers, grouped according to specified distances from the retailer's place of business.

In the preparation of his CPR 7 chart the retailer was required to list his "no costs"; no freight could be added to the net invoice costs. Since the net invoice costs were subtracted from the offering prices, the effect, in essence, is that the percentage markups on the chart include transportation costs based on rates effective prior to the issuance of this regulation; that is, the amount of the transportation cost before the current rate increases is part of the present margin under CPR 7. Therefore it is necessary to separate the retailers' total current transportation cost for any article of merchandise into (1) the previous amount of transportation cost already contained in the existing CPR 7 margin and (2) the increased amount of transportation cost resulting from current rate increases, in order to allow a pass-through of the increase. The two methods outlined above, as was seen, make this separation possible.

It is apparent that the increases allowed by this regulation will only approximate the actual dollar-and-cent increases in transportation costs for specific articles of merchandise shipped to particular retailers. However, the increases allowed by this regulation will generally reflect the approximate over-all increase in inbound transportation costs on the major portion of the retailer's total volume of business. Furthermore, special increase factors allowed by this regulation make it possible to reflect the exceptionally high increases in transportation costs of certain articles effected by the cancellation of exception ratings for less-than-carload-lot rail shipments of those articles.

The transportation cost increase factors and the ratio increase factors set forth in this regulation reflect changes in transportation rates from the list date of CPR 7 to the issuance date of this regulation and also reflect changes in the level of prices from the list date to the issuance date. The Director of Price Stabilization may, where warranted, revise these increase factors if there should be further significant changes in transportation rates, the level of prices, or other factors.

In the preparation of this supplementary regulation, frequent and extensive conferences were held with the Retail Industry Advisory Committee and with other representative groups of retail sellers, including representatives of trade associations; and their views and recommendations have been given careful consideration in the promulgation of this regulation.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 7 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 16 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation modifies the ceiling prices determined under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 (except those ceiling prices determined (a) by use of a chart for categories 701–752 prepared pursuant to section 5 of Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7, or (b) pursuant to section 43 of CPR 7 or (c) pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7) to permit those prices to reflect increases in freight rates since Ceiling Price Regulation 7 went into effect.

SEC. 2. When this regulation may be used. This regulation may be used by you to reflect increases in transportation costs incurred by you after June 16, 1952 for articles covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 7. (See definition of "transportation costs" in section 7.)

SEC. 3. Choice of methods. Two general methods are set forth in this regulation for determining the amount you may add to the ceiling price of an article otherwise determined under CPR 7 for transportation cost increases. You may elect to use either method and must use that method for a period of at least six months. Before determining the increase which may be added to your ceiling price for any article pursuant to this regulation you must make a record indicating which method you elect to use and the date you begin to use that method; if after six months you change to the other method, you must indicate such change on your record and record the date on which you begin to use the other method.

SEC. 4. Method I, determination of transportation increases by use of transportation bills. This method permits you to reflect the changes in transportation costs incurred by you by reference to transportation bills. Two alternative ways of using this method are available and may be used interchangeably. The first (paragraph (a)) permits determination of actual increases by subtracting a base period transportation cost from a "current" transportation cost. The second (paragraph (b)) provides for determination of increases by application of factors set forth in the regulation to the "current" transportation bill.

You must record the calculations made under this section and must keep them and the supporting data available for inspection by the OPS.

Only one method of apportioning transportation costs may be applied to a single freight bill under this section.

(a) Subtracting base period transportation cost from actual current transportation cost for a specific article. This alternative method (identifiable as "Method IA") may be used only for an article which is the same as one which you had received at any time in the base period and which is shipped from the same place via the same transportation method, and in the same size of shipment, as was the article in the base period. The term "base period" for purposes of this paragraph is the period July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951, inclusive. (As used in this paragraph the terms "same article," "same place," "same transportation method," and "same size of shipment," have specialized meanings. "Same article" means an article which actually is the same model, style or lot number as the base period article, or any article of the same weight as the base period article and subject to the identical current transportation rate as the base period article. "Same place" means the same city or rail terminal as that from which the base period article was shipped. "Same transportation method" means the identical carrier as transported the base period shipment or a carrier whose charges for the current shipment are the same as or less than the current charges of the base period carrier. "Same size of shipment" means that the number of units in the shipment being compared must be roughly equal.) If the two articles, that is, the base period article and the article for which a ceiling price is being determined, meet the foregoing tests, you determine the increase in transportation costs by subtracting the transportation cost for the base period article (determined from any base period transportation bill) from the current transportation cost. The result is the increase in transportation cost, which may be added to the ceiling price otherwise determined under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

(1) Base period transportation cost of an article may be determined by apportioning the total transportation bill among the articles covered by the bill in any generally accepted manner, that is, by weight, value, or number of units.

(2) Current transportation cost is determined by apportioning the total transportation bill among the articles covered by the bill in the same manner as the apportionment of the base period bill.

(3) If the current transportation bill for a rail shipment covers some articles which were subject to cancelled L. C. L. exception ratings (see Appendix Y) and some articles which were not subject to such exception ratings in the base period, the increases attributable to articles subject to such cancelled L. C. L. exception ratings can be most precisely ascertained by apportioning the current transportation bill among the articles on the basis of the weight of the respective articles multiplied by the appropriate freight rate for those articles as shown on the freight bill.

EXAMPLE 1: Chest No. 66 purchased from ABC Company, Grand Rapids, Mich., shipped by rail in carload lots in December 1950 and again on January 2, 1952.

Current transportation cost per chest	$6.86
Base period transportation cost per chest	6.36
Increase	.50
Ceiling price of Chest No. 66 (determined under CPR 7)	79.95
Increase in freight	.50
Adjusted ceiling price	$80.45

(b) Use of transportation rate increase factors applied to current transportation costs. This alternative method (identifiable as "Method IB") may be used for any article for which you have paid inbound transportation costs by applying an appropriate factor to the "current transportation" bill.[1] Appendix X sets forth a table of rate increase factors for rail, motor and water common-carrier, railway express and parcel post shipments. Appendix Y, accompanied by a map to permit identification of the applicable freight increase factor, sets forth a list of articles whose rail transportation rates have been increased more substantially by cancellation of certain exception ratings, definitions of various kinds of shipments, and a table of increase factors.

(1) Determining increases for "unmixed" shipments. An "unmixed" shipment is one composed wholly of articles not covered by Appendix Y or composed wholly of articles covered by Appendix Y if all the articles are subject to the same factor. If the article was included in an unmixed shipment, you may determine the amount of the increase in freight pursuant to this subparagraph.

(i) Apply the appropriate factor found in Appendix X or Appendix Y to the total freight bill.

(ii) Allocate the result among the articles covered by the transporation bill in any reasonable manner (by weight, value or number of units).

(iii) An amount allocated under (ii) to an article may be added to the ceiling price of the article otherwise determined under CPR 7.

(See Example 2)

(2) Determining increases for mixed shipments. A "mixed shipment" is a rail shipment composed both of articles covered by Appendix Y and of articles not covered by Appendix Y or composed of articles covered by Appendix Y sub-

[1] This method of adjustment for increases in freight is the only one available to sellers who were not in business prior to the list dates of CPR 7.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LIBRARIES

ject to more than one factor listed in Appendix Y. If the article was included in a mixed shipment, you determine your increase under this subparagraph.

(i) Allocate the amount of the current transportation bill among the articles covered by it in any reasonable manner (by weight, value or number of units). If, however, some of the articles were covered by Appendix Y and some of the articles were not covered by Appendix Y, the increases attributable to articles subject to cancelled L. C. L. exception ratings (articles covered by Appendix Y) can be most precisely ascertained by apportioning the current transportation bill among the articles on the basis of the weight of the respective articles multiplied by the appropriate freight rate for those articles as shown on the freight bill.

(ii) Multiply the amounts allocated to the articles not covered by Appendix Y by the appropriate factor in Appendix X. The result is the increase in freight for each article which may be added to the ceiling price for the article otherwise determined under CPR 7.

(iii) For the articles in the shipment covered by Appendix Y select from column 3 or 4 in Appendix Y the appropriate increase factor. (If the articles constitute a set, purchased at a unit price and to be sold at a unit price, one or more of the articles of which set are covered by Appendix Y, you may use either the factor shown in Appendix Y for the article in the set having the greatest weight or you may use the average of the factors for all of the articles in the set covered by Appendix Y.) Multiply the amount of freight allocated to each article covered by Appendix Y by the appropriate factor. The result is the increase in freight which may be added to the ceiling price otherwise determined under CPR 7.

(See Example 3)

EXAMPLE 2: Determining total freight increase and allocating thereafter:

Assume 2 articles in shipment: Couch No. 142 ceiling price under CPR 7, $89.50; dresser No. 16A, ceiling price under CPR 7, $39.40. Total freight bill for rail shipment from Zone I to Zone II for:

1 upholstered couch No. 142 (shipped SU in package 3F) weight (pounds)	100
1 dresser No. 16A (shipped SU in package 5F) weight (pounds)	85
Total weight (pounds)	185
Total freight bill (including tax)	$16.48
Flat increase factor (from Appendix X) (percent)	12.5
Increase in freight ($16.48×0.125=$2.06)	$2.06

Freight increase allocated by weight:

Adjusted ceiling price of couch No. 142: $89.50+$1.11=$90.61.

Adjusted ceiling price of dresser No. 16A: $39.40+$0.95=$40.35.

EXAMPLE 3: Allocating freight bill among articles and then determining increase for each:

Assume 3 articles were covered by freight bill. Two of the articles, the couch and dresser as in preceding example, were not subject to cancelled L. C. L. exception ratings which affected their rates. The third article was a group of chairs No. 72 (wooden chairs, in the white, SU, loose (item number 42 in Appendix Y)), ceiling price under CPR 7, $15.21 each. Allocation of the freight bill determined by weight and rates shown on the current bill should be used if the seller wishes to be reimbursed for the greater increase affecting the item the rate of which was affected by such a cancelled L. C. L. exception rating.

Allocation technique: Two methods of allocation are shown:

(a) Allocation as percentage of bill by weight:

Item	Weight (pounds)	Allocated amounts
8 chairs, No. 72 (Y)	100	$12.04
1 couch, No. 142	160	12.04
1 dresser, No. 16A	85	10.22
Total freight bill (including tax)		34.30

Adjustment for couch and dresser, the articles not covered by Appendix Y (Appendix X increase factor 12.5 percent):

Couch, $12.04×.125=1.51+89.50=$91.01 adjusted ceiling price.

Dresser, $10.22×.125=1.28+39.40=$40.68 adjusted ceiling price.

Adjustment for the chairs No. 72, the articles covered by Appendix Y, using .52, the factor shown in column 4 of that appendix, is $12.04×.52=$6.26÷8=$0.78 per chair.

Adjusted ceiling price, $15.21+$0.78=$15.99.

(b) Allocation by weight and rate shown on current bill:

Item	Weight and rate per 100 lbs.	Tax	Allocated current freight
8 chairs No. 72 (Y)	100 lbs at $17.30=$17.30	+$0.52	=$17.82
1 couch No. 142.	100 lbs. at $8.65=$8.65	+0.26	=8.91
1 dresser No. 16A.	85 lbs. at $8.65=$7.35	+0.22	=7.57
			34.30

Adjustment for couch and dresser, the articles not covered by Appendix Y:

Couch, $8.91×.125=1.11+89.50=$90.61 adjusted ceiling price.

Dresser, $7.57×.125=.95+39.40=$40.35 adjusted ceiling price.

Adjustment for chairs number 72, the articles covered by Appendix Y, using the factor shown in column 4 of that appendix ($17.82×.52=$9.27÷8=$1.16).

Adjusted ceiling price of chair $15.21+$1.16=$16.37.

SEC. 5. Method II, freight to purchases ratio method. This method permits you to determine the percentage ratio of your total dollar merchandise transportation costs in a base period to your total dollar merchandise purchases in that period and to apply an appropriate percentage increase factor to that percentage ratio as set forth in paragraph (c) below. The result is the percentage of the articles' net costs which may be added to reflect increases in transportation costs. In order to use this method a seller must find his freight to purchases ratio in a base period. The freight to purchases ratio must be determined for each seller. However, a departmentalized establishment instead of determining the freight to purchases ratio for each of its departments may use the storewide freight to purchases ratio for all departments. An alternative method is provided in paragraph (b) by which freight to purchases ratios may be determined by certain groups of suppliers rather than by all suppliers. (If the article is covered by Appendix Y, a special adjustment involving the use of an appropriate multiplier is provided in paragraph (e).)

You must record the calculations made under this section and must keep them and the supporting data available for inspection by the OPS.

Merchandise purchases and inbound merchandise transportation costs shall be determined according to any generally accepted accounting method. Only such transportation costs may be included as are included in the definition of that term in section 7.

The base period for the purposes of this section is the calendar year 1950, or the fiscal year ending closest to December 31, 1950.

(a) Freight to purchases ratio for shipments from all suppliers. A seller (or an entire establishment) determines his freight to purchases ratio based on purchases from all his suppliers as follows:

(1) Determines from his records the total inbound merchandise transportation costs for his base period.

(2) Determine from his records the total of his merchandise purchases in his base period.

(3) Determine the percentage ratio of freight to purchases by dividing the total transportation costs by the total cost of purchases.

(b) Freight to purchases ratios by groups of suppliers. This alternative method permits you to group certain of your suppliers and to determine your increases in transportation costs on your purchases from them by use of a separate freight to purchases ratio for each group.

(1) Suppliers to be included within a group. You may determine separate freight to purchases ratios (or if you are a departmentalized establishment for your entire establishment) for each of the following three groups of suppliers if during the base period you had received at least 10 shipments from the group. In order properly to group these base period suppliers you must list their shipping points, showing the distance from their shipping points to your place of business. The three groups of base period suppliers are:

(i) The nearby group, that is all those whose shipping points are located less than 250 miles from your place of business;

(ii) The intermediate group, that is, all those whose shipping points are located 250 to 1000 miles from your place of business;

(iii) The distant group, that is all those whose shipping points are located 1000 or more miles from your place of business.

(2) Method of determining freight to purchases ratio for each group. You compute the freight to purchases ratio for each group from which you had at least 10 shipments as follows:

(i) Determine from your records for each group of suppliers the total inbound merchandise transportation costs on shipments from those suppliers in your base period.

(ii) Determine from your records the total of your merchandise purchases from each group of suppliers in your base period.

(iii) Divide the transportation cost total found under (i) by the total of purchases found under (ii). The result is your freight to purchases ratio for the group.

(3) Use of group factors. The percentage determined for a group under paragraph (2) may be used only in determining increases in transportation costs on shipments from base period suppliers included in the group. For determining increases in transportation costs on shipments from suppliers not included in a group or from suppliers for which you are unable to determine a group ratio because you had fewer than 10 shipments from suppliers in the group, you must determine a freight to purchases ratio under paragraph (a)[1] of this section and use that to determine the increases in transportation costs from such suppliers.

(c) Determination of percentage increases in freight to purchases ratios. Multiply the percentages determined under paragraph (a) (3) or (b) (2) (iii) by the appropriate increase factor from subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph to determine the percentage of increase. Subparagraph (1) sets forth a factor applicable to sellers generally; subparagraph (2) permits sellers whose parcel post payments are 19 percent or more of total dollar inbound transportation costs to reflect their higher rate increases. The percentages determined under this paragraph indicate the increases in the seller's cost attributable to increases in inbound transportation costs. The freight to purchases ratio increase factors are as follows:

(1) Sellers generally. Your increase factor is 16 percent unless you qualify for and elect to use a higher increase factor under subparagraph (2).

(2) Sellers whose parcel post payments were 19 percent or more of total inbound transportation costs in the base period. Determine what percentage of your total dollar transportation costs in the base period were parcel post payments. You must compute from your records the dollar amount of the parcel post charges paid by you for incoming shipments and the dollar amount of the other transportation costs incurred during the base period. Divide the dollar amount of inbound parcel post charges by the total dollar amount of all inbound merchandise transportation costs, and if your parcel post payments constituted 19 percent or more of your total dollar transportation costs you may use the appropriate freight to purchases ratio increase factor shown in the table below:

If your percentage of inbound parcel post cost to total inbound transportation cost is:	Your ratio increase factor is:
19% to 29%	17 percent
29% to 38%	18 percent
38% to 48%	19 percent
48% to 57%	20 percent
57% to 67%	21 percent
67% to 76%	22 percent
76% to 86%	23 percent
86% to 95%	24 percent
95% through 100%	25 percent

(d) Determination of amounts of increases. You determine the amount of transportation increase permitted to be added to your ceiling price otherwise determined under CPR 7 by multiplying the net invoice cost of the article for which a ceiling price is being determined by the appropriate increase in freight to purchases ratio as determined under paragraph (c). The result is the permissible adjustment for increases in transportation costs which may be added to the ceiling price otherwise determined under CPR 7, except that for articles covered by Appendix Y, if the increase is determined by use of the factor for sellers generally (see (c) (1) above), the result may be multiplied by an appropriate multiplier as described in paragraph (e).

EXAMPLE 4: Seller (who is covered by paragraph (c) (1)—sellers generally) located in Chicago has base-period freight to purchases ratio of (percent) 4

Freight to purchases increase factor (under paragraph (c) (1)) (percent) 16

Increase in freight to purchases ratio (0.04×0.16=0.0064) (percent) 0.64

Net invoice cost of blouse No. 77 $4.00

Ceiling price of blouses determined under CPR 7 $7.95

Increase in freight ($4.00×0.0064=$0.026) $0.03

Adjusted ceiling price ($7.95+$0.03) $7.98

(e) Determination of adjustment for articles covered by Appendix Y. If the article for which a ceiling price is being determined is covered by Appendix Y:

(1) Determine an adjustment under paragraph (d) by using the factor for sellers generally; then

(2) Select from column 5 or 6 in Appendix Y the appropriate multiplier for the article, and multiply that result by that multiplier. The result is the total freight adjustment for the article covered by Appendix Y and this amount may be added to the ceiling price otherwise determined under CPR 7.

EXAMPLE 5: Seller located in Erie, Pennsylvania received two cartons of chairs from manufacturer in High Point, North Carolina. In one carton were chairs (No. 702), finished and not upholstered beyond the seat pad and inside of the back and were shipped set up (SU) in package type "5F" (this number was found on both the freight bill and on the front panel of the carton). Chairs No. 42, in the second carton, were "in the white," were knocked down other than flat, and were shipped in package type "9F." These two items are determined to be covered by Appendix Y by reference to column 2 of that appendix. The net cost of chair No. 702 was $36.00; of chair No. 42 was $14.00.

Seller's base period freight to purchases ratio percentage was 10 percent. Seller determined his transportation increase percentage under paragraph (c) to be 10 percent×0.16=1.6 percent. Applying 1.6 percent to current net invoice cost of each chair he finds his first adjustment (under paragraph (d)) for each chair to be:

Chair No. 702—$36.00×0.016=$0.576 or $0.58.

Chair No. 42—$14.00×0.016=$0.224 or $0.22.

The final adjustment for articles covered by Appendix Y may then be determined. Column 6 in Appendix Y indicates that for shipments between points in Zone 1 and Zone 2 the specific factor for chair No. 702 (item number 31 in Appendix Y), "chairs or stools, wooden or with wooden frames, finished, not upholstered beyond seat and inside of back, SU in package 5F," is 5.3; for chair No. 42 (item number 41 in Appendix Y), "chairs or stools, wooden or with wooden frame, in the white (unfinished), KD other than flat in package 9F," is 1.8.

Final adjustment for chair No. 702 is $0.58×5.3=$3.07.

Final adjustment for chair No. 42 is $0.22×1.8=$0.40.

These adjustments may be added to the respective ceiling prices of the articles as determined under CPR 7.

SEC. 6. Records. The records required by this section must be kept for as long as the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, remains in effect and for two years thereafter. A seller electing to determine ceiling prices under any provision of this supplementary regulation must:

(a) Preserve for inspection by the OPS all freight bills, receipts, or other documents showing freight or transportation charges, used in establishing adjustments under this regulation.

(b) Attach the freight bills or other documents to the invoice covering the articles, or put a reference number or other identification of the freight bills or other documents on the invoice and keep the freight bills or other documents in any accepted manner, so long as ready reference to the original can be had.

(c) In addition to the information required by section 52 (b) (2) of CPR 7 (Retailing invoices), and the reference, if any, required by paragraph (b) of this section, you must note on the invoice which of Methods IA, IB, or II and which item number of Appendix Y, if any, you used in making the adjustment.

(d) Keep a record indicating the basis you used under Method I for allocating freight as between articles of different kinds or groups of articles of the same kind on a given invoice. Only one method of allocation may be applied to a single freight bill or for a single invoice.

(e) Preserve for inspection by the OPS the record required by section 3 indicating which method of freight adjustments you are using for your articles; and make a record of the fiscal year, if any, used under section 5 and preserve it for inspection with the records required by sections 4 and 5.

SEC. 7. Definitions. (a) "Transportation Costs." The term "transportation costs" means actual transportation charges paid to independent transportation companies either by you or on your behalf for bringing merchandise from

2. KD ("knocked down"), means that the portion of the article described as KD has been disassembled and the component parts have been shipped; items described as "flat," "collapsed," "knocked-down-flat," "fully collapsed," "folded," or "compressed," are not equivalent to KD.

3. An item which is described on the invoice or freight bill as "flat," "collapsed," "knocked-down-flat," "fully collapsed," "folded," "compressed," or other similar description is not covered by the term KD, in appendix Y, unless Column 2 mentions "flat" or "collapsed," or some similar description in addition to KD.

4. "Loose" indicates that the articles are not packaged; "in bundles" indicates that the articles are not packaged, but are tied together in groups.

5. The terms, "SU," "KD," "Loose," "In Bundles," etc., are generally shown on the freight bill.

6. Package numbers referred to in Column 2 (for example, 1F, 2F, 3F, etc.) are usually shown on the front panel of packages; they are also generally shown on freight bill and on shipping orders.

7. NOIBN means "not otherwise indexed by name"; when used in this appendix it means that the factors apply to the article if no other item number in the appendix more precisely describes the article.

[F. R. Doc. 52-6713; Filed, June 16, 1952; 4:00 p. m.]

[Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, Supplementary Regulation 4]

CPR 9—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

SR 4—SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR INCREASING CEILING PRICES OF SELLERS WHOSE COSTS ARE INCREASED BY WEST COAST STRIKE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The maritime strike on the west coast of the United States makes it imperative that the Office of Price Stabilization take action to provide some relief for sellers of food products in the Territory of Hawaii who, because of the strike, necessarily incur increased shipping costs. Some food products covered by CPR 9, Revision 1, will have to be shipped from ports in the continental United States other than west coast ports. This supplementary regulation will permit the seller of food products in the Territory of Hawaii to pass through any increase in overland or ocean freight charges incurred by him by reason of such shipments.

CPR 9, Revision 1, provides for a markup over "direct cost." Direct cost includes only such freight charges as were customarily included in base period cost. Since shipments of most food products are made from west coast ports the direct cost usually does not include the cost of shipment from Gulf or Atlantic Coast ports.

Upon settlement of the strike the Office of Price Stabilization anticipates the revocation of this supplementary regulation as to all food products not actually delivered or in transit at that time.

Because of the nature of this supplementary regulation consultation with industries affected has not be practicable.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Ceiling prices.
2. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 and 2 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Ceiling prices. If you sell a food product for which a ceiling price is established by Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, and if the food product sold is, at the time of sale, located in the Territory of Hawaii, and if the food product was shipped from a port in the continental United States other than the port from which your supplier customarily ships to you, your ceiling price is that price which would otherwise be your ceiling price under CPR 9, Revision 1, plus the difference between the following amounts:

(a) Shipping charges actually incurred by you on the last shipment of the commodity shipped from the continental United States prior to May 26, 1952, which was included in your direct cost for the purpose of computing your ceiling price.

(b) Shipping charges incurred by you on the shipment of the food products covered by this supplementary regulation.

The term "shipping charges" as it is used in this supplementary regulation means and is limited to charges for rail or truck transportation in the continental United States and the charges for ocean freight and marine and war risk insurance.

The term "food products" as it is used in this supplementary regulation means food for human consumption and food for consumption by domestic animals.

SEC. 2. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1. All of the provisions of CPR 9, Revision 1, except as modified by this supplementary regulation, continue in full force and effect.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 9, Revision 1, is effective June 13, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

GCPR, SR 53—ADJUSTMENT OF CIGARETTE "LOSS-LEADER" PRICES COVERED BY STATE STATUTE

EXTENSION OF SR 53 TO ALABAMA

Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation (SR) 53, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) extended the coverage of SR 53 to sellers in the State of Alabama. In amending SR 53, section 2 of that regulation was amended to change the word "statute" to "statutes". Due to an oversight, however, the last part of the section was not included in the amendment. Accordingly, this correction includes the omission and section 2 will read as follows:

SEC. 2. Adjustment of ceiling prices. If you are covered by this regulation you may increase your ceiling prices for cigarettes up to the minimum required to be charged under the statutes referred to in section 1 of this regulation, except that, if the price paid by you for cigarettes on or after November 1, 1951, exceeds the price paid by you for cigarettes before November 1, 1951, because of an increase in Federal cigarette taxes on or after November 1, 1951, you may reflect that increase in your cigarette ceiling prices only pursuant to the provisions of section 20 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended.

CPR 24—CEILING PRICES OF BEEF SOLD AT WHOLESALE

ZONE DIFFERENTIALS, DISTRIBUTION POINT, AND LOCAL DELIVERY

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 11 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATION

This amendment makes several changes in the provisions of this regulation, applicable to distribution point, local delivery, and zone differentials. Specifically, the following changes are made:

1. Section 30, Distribution Point, is amended, so as to delete the provisions relating to the method for determining a substituted distribution point where no freight rates are available. In view of the fact that the new Appendix 11, more fully described below, provides dollars-and-cents zone differentials for each county and municipality in the United States, the provisions for determination of a substituted distribution point are no longer required. Moreover, the provisions of Section 30 relating to distribution point in connection with local delivery are amended in conformity with the changes made in the local delivery section, which are referred to below.

2. Section 40, Zone Differential, is amended so as to provide that on sales of any item for which a specific ceiling price is established by Sections 20 or 26 of this regulation, the zone differential applicable to the distribution point is determined directly by reference to the dollars-and-cents amount listed in a new Appendix 11 to this regulation. Moreover, on sales of any item for which a specific ceiling price is established by Sections 21 through 25, inclusive, and Sections 27 and 28, the allowable zone differential may now be calculated by applying the formula contained in each of these sections to the dollars-and-cents zone differentials listed in the new Appendix 11.

3. Section 41, Local Delivery, is amended so as to make it clear that this addition is allowed in all cases of local delivery on both carload and less than carload sales, whether such local delivery is made by the seller or the seller pays a carrier to make it. Corresponding changes have been made in the section defining the distribution point concept, so as to eliminate any distinction which may have resulted heretofore from the language of this regulation, as between local delivery made by the seller or local delivery made by a carrier and paid for by the seller.

4. Finally, a new Appendix 11 has been added to this regulation, which contains the allowable dollars-and-cents zone differentials for each county and municipality in the United States. Separate columns have been provided for different grades, where the grade of the beef results in a different zone differential. In the case of some states or portions of states, where the actual freight rates from the basing point to the various counties are the same or nearly the same, a uniform zone differential has been provided in the appendix for such state or portion of a state. Moreover, provision is made for the case of municipalities outside of the political limits of any county where no specific zone differential for such municipality is listed in the appendix. In those cases, the highest rate applicable to any adjacent county shall apply.

The purpose of adding this new appendix and substituting specific dollars-and-cents zone differentials for the method heretofore provided by this regulation, is to eliminate the difficulties encountered by many sellers in attempting to obtain reliable freight rate quotations for the various distribution points all over the country. In response to urgent requests by the industry, this appendix has been compiled as a result of a careful survey of actual freight rates applicable all over the continental United States. In some instances extreme inequities or inconsistencies of freight rates have been corrected by eliminating differentials now existing and replacing them by uniform or nearly uniform amounts of applicable zone differentials.

Every effort has been made to conform this amendment to existing business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provisions of this regulation may operate to compel changes in the business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Titles I and IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization they also comply with all the applicable standards of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In formulating this amendment the Director has consulted with representatives of industry, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable under the circumstances and has given consideration to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 21 is amended by adding an asterisk (*) immediately following the title of the section, as follows:

SEC. 21. Schedule II—Fabricated cuts.*

and by adding a footnote to read as follows:

*Compute the zone differential allowance for any grade of fabricated cut by multiplying the applicable addition for the corresponding grade, listed in Apendix 11 to this regulation, times 1.3, and adjust to the nearest 10 cents per cwt.

2. Section 30 (c) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The seller's place of business if the seller makes (or pays a carrier to make) a local delivery beginning at his place of business and continuing to the buyer's place of business; or

3. Section 30 (d) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) The seller's place of business if the seller makes (or pays a carrier to make) a local delivery beginning at his place of business and continuing to the buyer's place of business; or

4. Section 30 (e) is deleted in its entirety.

5. Section 40 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 40. Addition 1—Zone differentials. (a) On sales of any item for which a specific ceiling price is established by Sections 20 or 26 of this regulation you may add the zone differential applicable to the distribution point for such sale. The applicable zone differentials are listed in Appendix 11 to this regulation.

(b) On sales of any item for which a specific ceiling price is established by sections 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 27, or 28, you may add a zone differential calculated by applying the formula contained in each of these sections to the zone differentials listed in Appendix 11 to this regulation

6. Section 41 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 41. Addition 2—Local delivery—(a) 3,000 pounds or less. Where you make (or pay a carrier to make) a local delivery of not more than 3,000 pounds in any one day to the delivery point designated by the buyer, you may add to the ceiling prices specified in Schedules I through IX, inclusive, the amount indicated for the distances set forth below:

[The charge for local delivery for any fraction of a hundredweight shall be reduced proportionately]

Amount (per hundredweight).	Distance of delivery[1]
$0.40	Up to 35 miles.
0.50	35 to 75 miles.
1.00	75 to 150 miles.
1.30	Over 150 miles.

[1] In terms of shortest railroad and/or truck route.

(b) Over 3,000 pounds. Where you make (or pay a carrier to make) a local delivery of more than 3,000 pounds in any one day to the delivery point designated by the buyer, you may add for local delivery to the ceiling prices specified in Schedules I through IX, inclusive, the lower of the following amounts:

(1) The regular commercial rate; or

(2) The amount specified in section 41 (a) above for local delivery for a corresponding distance.

(c) Peddler truck sales. You may not add a local delivery addition under this section on any peddler truck sale.

7. A new Appendix 11—Beef Zone Differentials, is added to read as follows:

[Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, Supplementary Regulation 1]

CPR 69—FOOD PRODUCTS SOLD IN THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII

SR 1—SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR INCREASING CEILING PRICES OF SELLERS WHOSE COSTS ARE INCREASED BY WEST COAST STRIKE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The maritime strike on the west coast of the United States makes it imperative that the Office of Price Stabilization take action to provide some relief for sellers of food products in the Territory of Hawaii who, because of the strike, necessarily incur increased shipping costs. Some food products covered by Ceiling Price Regulations 69, Revision 1, will have to be shipped from ports in the continental United States other than west coast ports. This supplementary regulation will permit the seller of food products in the Territory of Hawaii to pass through any increase in overland or ocean freight charges incurred by him by reason of such shipments.

The articles of Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, which deal with the sale of retail and wholesale groceries, provide for a fixed markup over direct cost. Direct cost includes freight charges for deliveries by a customary means of delivery. Since shipments of most food products are made from west coast ports, the customary means of delivery does not include shipment from Gulf or Atlantic Coast ports.

Upon settlement of the strike the Office of Price Stabilization anticipates the revocation of this supplementary regulation as to all food products not actually delivered or in transit at that time.

Because of the nature of this supplementary regulation consulation with industries affected has not been practicable.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Ceiling prices.
2. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 and 2 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2101-2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Ceiling prices. If you sell a commodity for which a ceiling price is established by Article II or Article V of Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, and if the commodity was shipped from a port in the continental United States other than the port from which your supplier customarily ships to you, your ceiling price is that price which would otherwise by your ceiling price under CPR 69, Revision 1, plus the difference between the following amounts:

(a) Shipping charges actually incurred by you on the last shipment of the commodity shipped from the continental United States prior to May 26, 1952, which was included in your direct cost for the purpose of computing your ceiling price.

(b) Shipping charges incurred by you on the shipment of the food products covered by this supplementary regulation.

The term "shipping charges" as it is used in this supplementary regulation means and is limited to charges for rail or truck transportation in the continental United States and the charges for ocean freight and marine and war risk insurance.

SEC. 2. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revison 1. All of the provisions of CPR 69, Revision 1, except as modified by this supplementary regulation, continue in full force and effect.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 69, Revision 1, is effective June 13, 1952.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 2 to Supplementary Regulation 61, Correction]

GCPR, SR 61—ADJUSTMENT OF PROCESSED BEEF CEILING PRICES EXTENSION OF FILING DATE AND CLARIFICATION OF DEFINITION OF "SPECIALTY BEEF PRODUCT"

Due to a clerical error the intended substitution of the term "District Office of Price Stabilization" for "Regional Office of Price Stabilization" in Item 1 of Amendment 2 to SR 61, was inadvertently omitted.

Accordingly, the amendatory provisions of Amendment 2 to SR 61 to the GCPR are corrected so as to substitute the word "District" for the word "Regional" where it appears in Item 1. As thus corrected, Item 1 of the amendatory provisions of Amendment 2 to SR 61 now reads as follows:

1. Section 20 (a) is amended by changing the first sentence thereof to read as follows:

(a) If you are a processor of a commodity covered by this regulation, you must file by registered mail, return receipt requested, with your District Office of Price Stabilization, on or before June 30, 1952, a separate OPS Public Form No. 89 for each such commodity you process.

[CMP Regulation No. 3, Direction 4 of June 16, 1952]

CMP REG. 3—PREFERENCE STATUS OF DELIVERY ORDERS UNDER THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

DIR. 4—SPECIAL PREFERENCE STATUS OF CERTAIN DO RATED ORDERS

This direction under CMP Regulation No. 3 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this direction, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the direction affects many different industries.

Sec.
1. What this direction does.
2. Status of certain DO rated orders.
3. Applicability of other regulations and orders.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 3 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply sec. 101, 64 Stat. 799, Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. SECTION 1. What this direction does. The purpose of this direction is to channel into defense programs, so far as practicable, Class A and B products containing steel. This will be accomplished by temporarily according special preference status to DO rated orders for such products placed in support of certain military, atomic energy, and machine tool programs.

SEC. 2. Status of certain DO rated orders. Any DO rated order for a Class A product containing steel or a Class B product containing steel, bearing a program identification listed in Schedule I of this direction, calling for delivery on or before September 15, 1952, must be accepted and filled in preference to all other DO rated orders for Class A products containing steel or Class B products containing steel, previously or subsequently received, but which do not bear a program identification listed in Schedule I of this direction: Provided, however, That such a DO rated order need not be accepted if filling it would stop or interrupt the supplier's operations during the next 15 days in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operations. All DO rated orders (including those previously placed) for Class A products containing steel or Class B products containing steel, which bear a program identification listed in Schedule I of this direction, shall have equal preferential status.

SEC. 3. Applicability of other regulations and orders. The provisions of CMP Regulation No. 3, NPA Reg. 2, including the directions and amendments thereto, and of any other NPA regulation and order heretofore issued, are superseded to the extent to which they are inconsistent with the provisions of this direction, but in all other respects the provisions of such regulations and orders shall remain in full force and effect.

This direction shall take effect June 16, 1952.

[NPA Order M-2, Amendment 2 of June 16, 1952]

M-2—RUBBER

PRIVATE IMPORTATION OF DRY NATURAL RUBBER PROHIBITED

This amendment is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense. It is issued pursuant to both the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and the Rubber Act of 1948, as amended. In the formulation of this amendment, consultation with industry representatives has been impossible because of the need for immediate action.

NPA Order M-2, as last amended June 6, 1952, is further amended to eliminate from section 4 the prohibition previously imposed upon private importation of natural rubber latex, but to continue the prohibition upon private importation of dry natural rubber until July 1, 1952.

As so amended section 4 reads as follows:

SEC. 4. Private importation of dry natural rubber prohibited. No person other than the Administrator of General Services, shall, prior to July 1, 1952, import into the United States, including its territories and possessions, any dry natural rubber as defined in section 3 (b) of this order, except as specifically authorized in writing by the Administrator of General Services: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to any private importation required by a contract which was made prior to December 29, 1950, and which is registered with the General Services Administration on or before January 5, 1951, except as any such private importation may be disapproved by the Administrator of General Services. For purposes of this section, the term "import" includes any physical movement of rubber into the United States, its territories or possessions, whether placed in general order or in a foreign-trade zone, or whether entered for consumption, bonded customs custody, or otherwise, except where the rubber moves through the United States, its territories or possessions, in transit, under bond, from a consignor in one foreign country to a consignee in another foreign country.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

This amendment shall take effect June 16, 1952.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Parts 3, 13]

[Docket No. 10214]

LICENSE REQUIREMENTS OF OPERATORS OF CERTAIN STANDARD AND FM BROADCASTING STATIONS AND FOR THE REMOTE CONTROL OPERATION OF SUCH STATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it a petition filed February 1, 1952, and amended May 13, 1952 by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, Washington, D. C., requesting rule making proceedings to amend the Commission's rules and engineering standards with respect to the license requirements of operators of transmitters for certain Standard and FM Broadcasting Stations and to provide for the operation of such stations by remote control.

3. Except for certain non-commercial educational FM stations, the present rules provide that one or more radiotelephone first class operators shall be on duty at the place where the transmitting apparatus of each station is located and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being operated. There is no provision in the rules at the present time for remote control of commercial broadcasting transmitters. The amendments requested would permit: (1) Persons holding a restricted radiotelephone operator permit, a radiotelephone third class operator permit, a radiotelephone second class operator license, or a radiotelephone first class operator license to stand the required regular transmitter watches for standard and FM broadcasting stations employing nondirectional antennas and operating with powers of 10 kw or less; and (2) remote control of such stations. For the information of interested parties, there is set forth below, that portion of the petition filed by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters containing proposed amendments to the Commission rules and standards.

4. The Commission believes that the information contained in the petition filed by the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters raises questions of sufficient importance as to warrant the institution at this time of rule making proceedings looking toward the possible adoption of amendments to the Commission's rules of the nature discussed in the petition. Any interested party who is of the opinion that an amendment to the Commission rules of the nature herein discussed, should be adopted or should be adopted in some particular manner, or who is of the opinion that no such amendment should be adopted, may file with the Commission, on or before August 4, 1952 a written statement or brief with respect thereto. Replies to any comments may be filed within 20 days thereafter. The Commission will consider all comments that are received before taking final action in the matter, and if any comments are received which, considered with the petition, appear to warrant further proceedings, notice of the time and place will be given such interested parties. The Commission especially requests data and other pertinent information in response to the following questions:

(a) What duties should an operator perform during a transmitter watch and what duties must he perform during a transmitter watch which require significant technical training when operating either standard or FM broadcasting transmitters of each power value provided for in the Commission's rules, with non-directional antennas.

(b) If a transmitter failure occurs during a watch, what steps, if any, should be taken by the operator on duty to restore transmitter operation when operating either standard or FM broadcasting transmitters of each power value provided for in the Commission's rules with non-directional antennas?

(c) If a transmitter failure occurs during a watch, what steps, if any, could be taken to restore service by station personnel holding radiotelephone third class operator permits or restricted radiotelephone operator permits?

(d) To what extent may the amendments requested be expected to affect the percentage of technical transmission difficulties?

(e) To what extent would personnel holding radiotelephone third class operator permits or restricted radiotelephone operator permits be subjected to physical danger when operating either standard or FM broadcasting transmitters of each power value provided for in the Commission's rules with non-directional antennas?

(f) What are the advantages or disadvantages of permitting remote control of standard or FM broadcasting transmitters of each power value provided for in the Commission's rules with non-directional antennas?

(g) What degree of control of the transmitting apparatus is necessary at the broadcast operating position in order to provide satisfactory operation by remote control?

(h) To what extent would it be feasible to permit holders of restricted radiotelephone operator permits to change a standard broadcasting transmitter from one frequency to another and from one power to another in times of emergency in order to comply with plans for emergency operation such as the Conelrad Program?

(i) To what extent would it be feasible to permit remote control of standard broadcasting transmitters and still provide for compliance with Conelrad operating objectives?

(j) What contingencies, if any, with respect to conditions of improper operation, interference to other stations, loss of service, damage to equipment, and injury to persons or property would possibly and probably arise from the adoption of the amendments requested and to what extent should the Commission attempt to prevent these conditions by prescribing operator requirements and qualifications?

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

(1) AM Broadcast Stations:

a. In § 3.60 Frequency monitor, change first sentence to read: "The licensee of each standard broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter or at the approved remote control point a frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter."

b. In § 3.65 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment, change paragraph (a) to read: "Make a visual or other authorized observation of the tower lights at least once every 25 hours to insure that all lights are functioning properly as required."

c. Add a new § 3.66 to read as follows:

§ 3.66 Remote control of operation. The transmitter of each broadcast station to the extent that such station is authorized for omnidirectional operation with power of 10 kw or less may, upon prior authorization from the Commission, be operated by remote control. An application for authorization to operate by remote control may be made as a part of an application for construction permit or license, or modification thereof. For the purpose of this section, remote control is defined as the operation of a transmitter by a licensed operator from an operating position from which the transmitter is not directly accessible to but is under the control of the operator. Authority for operation by remote control shall be subject to the following conditions and applications for such authority shall clearly indicate the means whereby the conditions will be met:

(a) The equipment at the operating and transmitting position shall be on premises under the control and supervision of the licensee at all times and shall not be accessible to persons other than the licensee or his agents.

(b) The control circuits from the operating position to the transmitter shall provide positive on and off control and shall be such that open circuits, short circuits, grounds or other line faults will not actuate the transmitter and any fault causing loss of such control will automatically place the transmitter in an inoperative condition.

(c) Control and monitoring equipment shall be installed so as to allow the operator either at the remote control point or at the transmitter to perform all of the functions required by the Commission's rules and standards to be performed by operators on duty at the transmitter in the absence of remote control.

d. In § 3.165 Operator requirements, change paragraph (a) to read:

(a) The licensee of each station shall have a licensed operator or operators of the grade specified by the Commission on duty during all periods of actual operation of the transmitter at the place where the transmitting equipment is located, or at the authorized remote control point.

e. Add a new paragraph (c) to § 3.165 to read:

(c) The transmitter of each broadcast station to the extent that such station is authorized for omnidirectional operation with power of 10 kw or less may be operated by an operator with a restricted or other radiotelephone authorization: Provided, however, That any operator other than a first class radiotelephone operator may not undertake any internal tuning adjustments, major repairs or overhauls, except under the immediate supervision of such first class operator, the duties of operators other than first class radiotelephone operators being limited to such operations as placing the station on or off the air, keeping the transmitter log, making external tuning adjustments, making such other minor adjustments as may be required as a result of primary power supply variations and failures, and replacement only of such defective parts as tubes, fuses and other items designed for simple plug-in replacement.

f. Add a new paragragh (d) to § 3.165 to read:

(d) Each broadcast station shall employ a holder of a radiotelephone first class license as its chief engineer or other technical supervisor who shall be responsible for and make, or directly supervise the making of, all internal tuning adjustments, major repairs and overhauls, and all other technical installations or corrections not authorized to be undertaken by an operator of another class under paragraph (c) of this section. Such radiotelephone first class operator shall not be required to be in the full-time employ of the broadcast station but shall be on call and reasonably available to fulfill his specified duties.

g. In § 3.181 Logs, change paragraph (c) (2) to read: "The time the daily visual or other authorized observation of the tower lights was made."

(2) FM Broadcast Stations:

a. In § 3.252 Frequency monitor, change the first sentence to read: "The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter or at the authorized remote control point an approved frequency monitor independent of the frequency control of the transmitter."

b. In § 3.253 Modulation monitor, change the first sentence to read: "The licensee of each FM broadcast station shall have in operation at the transmitter or at the authorized remote control point an approved modulation monitor."

c. In § 3.257 Changes in equipment and antenna system, add the following subparagraph to paragraph (b):

(8) Change in the authorized transmitter remote control point.

d. In § 3.265 Operator requirements, change first sentence to read: "One or more licensed radiotelephone first-class operators shall be on duty at the place where the transmitter apparatus of each station with a transmitter power output in excess of 10 kw is located and in actual charge thereof whenever it is being so operated."

e. Add a new paragraph (b) to § 3.265 to coincide with the proposed new paragraph (c) to § 3.165.

f. Add a new paragraph (c) to § 3.265 to coincide with the proposed new paragraph (d) to § 3.165.

g. In § 3.270 Inspection of tower lights and associated control equipment, change paragraph (a) to read: "Make a visual or other authorized observation of the tower lights at least once every 24 hours to insure that all lights are functioning properly as required."

i. In § 3.281 Logs, change paragraph (c) (2) to read: "The time the daily visual or other authorized observation of the tower lights was made."

(3) Non-commercial Educational FM Broadcast Stations:

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Section 7, Special Order 8]

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION, STURTEVANT DIVISION

CEILING PRICES FOR SALES OF OPTIONAL FIVE YEAR WARRANTY PLAN; AIR CONDITIONER COMPRESSOR UNITS

Statements of considerations. In accordance with section 7 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, applicant in the accompanying special order has applied for approval of its proposed ceiling prices for sales of its Optional Five Year Warranty Plans on hermetically sealed motor compressor units of self-contained air-conditioning equipment. Ceiling

Price Regulation 34 requires that a seller of a service who is unable to price under any other provision of that regulation file an application with the Director of Price Stabilization for approval of his proposed ceiling prices.

It appears that applicant, during the base period, sold several models of air-conditioning units, including in the sale price of each as a usual term and condition of sale, a standard one year warranty covering repair or replacement of defective parts due to manufacture. A principal component of each of these units is the hermetically sealed motor compressor unit. It further appears that applicant wishes to offer for the greater protection of the consumer a new warranty covering these compressor units which would extend to the removal, repair or replacement, and reinstallation, freight free, for a five year period from the date of original installation. The prohibitions found in CPR 22, under which applicant established its ceiling prices for the sales of the air conditioner units, against altering the terms or conditions of sale, tie-in sales and unauthorized increases in ceiling prices made it necessary for applicant to offer the new warranties as additional services rather than in lieu of the standard one year warranty. In addition, applicant was required to apply for ceiling prices for these new services under CPR 34.

This special order makes it mandatory that applicant's purchasers have full option to purchase or reject the five year warranty and requires that the standard one year warranty be continued as a term and condition of sale of the air conditioner units irrespective of whether or not the purchaser elects to buy the five year warranty.

It appears that the ceiling prices granted in this order are in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by the regulation and are consistent with the level of ceiling prices established by CPR 22, under which applicant's ceiling prices for the sale of the air conditioner units are established.

The warranties covered by this special order are, in actuality, the manufacturer's warranties. Ultimately, all responsibility to the consumer for the services covered by these warranties will come to rest with the applicant. For that reason, this order establishes ceiling prices to the actual consumer and prohibits dealers or other resellers from offering the applicable services to their customers at additional cost. Applicant is also required to send to each of its distributors, dealers or other classes of reseller of the covered services and related commodities, a copy of this special order.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations hereto, and pursuant to section 7 of CPR 34, as amended, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1. (a) The ceiling prices for the sale of Optional Five Year Warranty Plans on hermetically sealed motor compressor units of self-contained air-conditioning equipment as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Sturtevant Division, Hyde Park, Boston, Massachusetts, referred to hereafter as "the seller", are as follows:

Self-contained air conditioning unit covered:	Ceiling price
2 hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	$30
3 hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	30
5 hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	35
7½ hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	50
10 hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	60
15 hp. self-contained air conditioning unit	72

In addition to sales after the effective date of this order, the above Optional Five Year Warranty Plans may be sold to original purchasers in cases where installation of the related air conditioner units took place on or after February 12, 1952, but prior to the effective date of this order. In each such case the ceiling price of the applicable Optional Five Year Warranty Plan otherwise established by this order shall be reduced by 1/60th for each calendar month or fraction thereof between the date of such installation and the date of sale of the Optional Five Year Warranty Plan.

(b) The Optional Five Year Warranty Plan on hermetically sealed motor compressor units of self-contained air-conditioning equipment, in each case for which a ceiling price has been established in paragraph (a) of this section, shall be as follows:

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION

This Warranty Plan applies only to the motor compressor unit, and does not provide for adjustments or alterations to the Air Conditioner other than the supply and installation of a replacement motor compressor unit or part thereof when the unit fails to operate under the conditions described above. The foregoing shall constitute the complete obligation of Westinghouse and the Seller and no person is authorized to assume for either any other liability in connection with the sale of the Westinghouse Air Conditioner (except One-Year Warranty). FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE SURPLUS MANPOWER COMMITTEE CONCERNING THE LEWISTON, MAINE, AREA UNDER DEFENSE MANPOWER POLICY NO. 4

Under date of May 21, 1952, the Defense Manpower Administration of the Department of Labor certified to this Committee, under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the existence of the Lewiston area as a surplus labor area under standards established by the Secretary of Labor. The Lewiston area is composed of the cities of Auburn and Lewiston and the towns of Durham, Greene, Lisbon, Mechanic Falls, Minot, Poland, Turner and Webster in Androscoggin County.

FINDINGS

The Committee finds:

1. That the Lewiston area, as defined by the Defense Manpower Administration, is an area of current labor surplus, including a surplus of manpower possessing skills necessary to the fulfillment of Government contracts;

2. That there exist in the Lewiston area a comparatively small number of suitable facilities for the performance of additional Government contracts;

3. That in order to accomplish the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the public interest dictates the need for the negotiation of available Government contracts at reasonable prices in the Lewiston area, provided that a substantial portion of the work involved in the execution of the contracts will be performed in the Lewiston area, and provided further that contractors in the said area will be afforded the opportunity to meet prices obtainable elsewhere;

4. That no price differential for the Lewiston area is considered necessary in order to effectuate the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, provided that the operations under the notification recommended herein will be reviewed within a reasonable period of time to determine whether the establishment of an appropriate maximum price differential is required in order to effectuate Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 for the Lewiston area;

5. That the apparel industry, to the extent that it exists in the Lewiston area, should not be included in the application of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 in the Lewiston area; consideration will be given to separate recommendations applying to the entire apparel industry.

RECOMMENDATION

The Committee recommends that the Director of Defense Mobilization conclude that it is in the public interest to give preference to the Lewiston area in the placement of contracts in accordance with the Committee's findings, and that the Director so notify the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator of the General Services Administration.

That in order to accomplish the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the public interest dictates the need for the negotiation of available Government contracts at reasonable prices in the San Juan area provided that a substantial portion of the work involved in the execution of the contracts will be performed in the San Juan area, and provided further that contractors in the said area will be afforded the opportunity to meet prices obtainable elsewhere;

4. That no price differential for the San Juan area is considered necessary in order to effectuate the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, provided that the operations under the notification recommended herein will be reviewed within a reasonable period of time to determine whether the establishment of an appropriate maximum price differential is required in order to effectuate Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 for the San Juan area.

5. That the apparel industry, to the extent that it exists in the San Juan area, should not be included in the application of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 in the San Juan area; consideration will be given to separate recommendations applying to the entire apparel industry.

RECOMMENDATION

The Committee recommends that the Directors of Defense Mobilization conclude that it is in the public interest to give preference to the San Juan area in the placement of contracts in accordance with the Committee's findings, and that the Director so notify the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator of the General Services Administration.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
ARTHUR S. FLEMMING,
Chairman, Surplus Manpower Committee.

[File No. 70-2860]

NORTHERN STATES POWER CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION HERETOFORE RESERVED WITH RESPECT TO TERMS OF SALE OF BONDS, AND WITH RESPECT TO CERTAIN FEES AND EXPENSES

JUNE 11, 1952.

Northern States Power Company ("the Company"), a Minnesota corporation which is both a registered holding company and an operating utility company, having filed a declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("the act") and Rule U-50 thereunder proposing to issue and sell at competitive bidding 1,108,906 additional shares of its common stock (with subscription warrants) and $21,500,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, Series due June 1, 1982; and

The Commission by order dated May 23, 1952, having permitted said declaration as amended to become effective, subject to the condition that such sales should not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 should have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and further orders entered by the Commission in the light of the record so completed, and subject also to the reservation of jurisdiction with respect to all fees and expenses; and

The Company on June 4, 1952, having filed a further amendment to its declaration setting forth the action taken by it to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 as regards the sale of said common stock, and the Commission having thereupon entered its supplemental order releasing jurisdiction with respect thereto but continuing its reservation of jurisdiction with respect to the sale of said bonds and with respect to all fees and expenses; and

The Company on June 11, 1952 having filed a further amendment to its declaration setting forth the action taken by it to comply with the requirements of Rule U-50 as regards the sale of said bonds, stating that, pursuant to the invitation for competitive bids, the following bids for said bonds were received:

Bidder	Annual interest rate (percent)	Price to company [1] (percent of principal)	Annual cost to company (percent)
Lehman Bros. and Riter & Co.	3¼	100.5096	$ 3.2295
Smith Barney & Co.	3¼	100.5259	$ 3.2347
Glore, Forgan & Co.	3¼	100.37666	$ 3.2903
Halsey, Stuart & Co. Inc.	3¼	100.530	$ 3.2731
Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane, Kidder, Peabody & Co., and White, Weld & Co.	3¼	100.27	$ 3.2910
Equitable Securities Corp. and Union Securities Corp.	3¼	100.22	$ 3.2894
Kuhn, Loeb & Co.	3½	102.197	$ 3.2967

[1] Exclusive of accrued interest from June 1, 1952.

The amendment further stating that the Company has accepted the bid of Lehman Brothers and Riter & Co. for said bonds, as set forth above, and that the bonds will be offered to the public at a price of 101.153 percent of their principal amount, plus accrued interest from June 1, 1952, resulting in an underwriter's spread of 0.5931 percent of the principal amount of the bonds, or an aggregate amount of $127,516.50; and

The record having been further amended with respect to fees and expenses, estimated at $124,000 in connection with the bonds and $189,000 in connection with the common stock, and including the following fees for legal and accounting services:

Flynn & Clerkin, counsel to the Company, $27,500, which is allocated $12,500 to the bonds and $15,000 to the common stock;

Haskins & Sells, accountants, $3,500, which is allocated $2,000 to the bonds and $1,500 to the common stock; and

The record being also amended with respect to the fees of Gardner, Carton & Douglas, independent counsel to the underwriters, in the amount of $13,000, divided equally between the bonds and the common stock; and

It appearing that the fees and expenses of the subscription agents and the non-affiliated service company in connection with the issuing and processing of the subscription warrants, depending primarily upon the extent to which the Company's 58,000 common stockholders shall exercise their subscription rights, will not be ascertainable until the expiration of the subscription period on June 23, 1952; and

The Commission having examined said amendments and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be received for the bonds, the interest rate thereon, the redemption prices thereof, or the underwriters' spread; and the Commission also finding that the fees and expenses in said transactions, in so far as now determined, are not unreasonable; and it appearing to the Commission that the jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the transactions until the results of competitive bidding should be made a matter of record in this proceeding, and over all fees and expenses except those of the subscription agents and the service company, should be released:

It is ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the issue and sale of said bonds until the results of competitive bidding should be made a matter of record in this proceeding be, and the same hereby is, released; and that said declaration as amended, in so far as it relates to the issue and sale of said bonds be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the provisions of Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That the jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the issue and sale of said bonds and also in connection with the issue and sale of the additional common stock be, and the same hereby is, released except as respects the fees and expenses of the subscription agents and service company, and that jurisdiction with respect to the latter charges is continued pending the further order of the Commission.

By the Commission.

eral judicial district in which the appeal board has jurisdiction for the purpose of securing an advisory recommendation from the Department of Justice.

(2) If the registrant has claimed, by reason of religious training and belief, to be conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form and by virtue thereof to be conscientiously opposed to participation in both combatant and noncombatant training and service in the armed forces, and the local board has classified the registrant in Class I–O, the appeal board shall proceed with the classification of the registrant. If, in such a case, the local board has classified the registrant in any class other than Class I–O, the appeal board shall transmit the entire file to the United States Attorney for the Federal judicial district in which the appeal board has jurisdiction for the purpose of securing an advisory recommendation from the Department of Justice.

(b) Whenever a registrant's file is forwarded to the United States Attorney in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, the Department of Justice shall thereupon make an inquiry and hold a hearing on the character and good faith of the conscientious objections of the registrant. The registrant shall be notified of the time and place of such hearing and shall have an opportunity to be heard. If the objections of the registrant are found to be sustained, the Department of Justice shall recommend to the appeal board (1) that if the registrant is inducted into the armed forces, he shall be assigned to noncombatant service, or (2) that if the registrant is found to be conscientiously opposed to participation in such noncombatant service, he shall in lieu of induction be ordered by his local board to perform for a period of twenty-four consecutive months civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest. If the Department of Justice finds that the objections of the registrant are not sustained, it shall recommend to the appeal board that such objections be not sustained.

(c) Upon receipt of the report of the Department of Justice, the appeal board shall determine the classification of the registrant, and in its determination it shall give consideration to, but it shall not be bound to follow, the recommendation of the Department of Justice. The appeal board shall place in the Cover Sheet (SSS Form No. 101) of the registrant the letter containing the recommendation of the Department of Justice.

5. (a) Subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b) of § 1628.4 of Part 1628, Physical Examination, is amended to read as follows:

(1) Prepare an original and three copies of the Record of Induction (DD Form No. 47), by completing all of Section I except item 2, and item 18 of Section II thereof, and send the original to the medical advisor to the local board for completion of item 19 of Section II after the medical interview.

(b) Paragraph (b) of § 1628.5 of Part 1628 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Upon receiving such request for transfer for medical interview the registrant's own local board shall forward the original and three copies of the Record of Induction (DD Form No. 47), after completing all of Section I except item 2, and item 18 of Section II thereof, to the local board of transfer and shall enter under "Minutes of Actions by Local Board and Appeal Board" on the Classification Questionnaire (SSS Form No. 100) the date such forms were forwarded and the designation of the local board of transfer.

(c) Subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a) of § 1628.13 of Part 1628 is amended to read as follows:

(2) Prepare an original and three copies of the Record of Induction (DD Form No. 47), by completing all of Section I except item 2, and item 18 of Section II thereof, for each such registrant for whom such form has not previously been completed.

6. Section 1630.4 of Part 1630, Volunteers, is amended to read as follows:

§ 1630.4 Classification of volunteers. When a man files an Application for Voluntary Induction (SSS Form No. 254) under the provisions of § 1630.1, he shall be classified as soon as possible and placed in a class available for military service unless:

(a) Disregarding all other grounds for deferment, he would be classified in Class II–A, Class II–C, or Class III–A;

(b) He is the Vice President of the United States, a Governor of a State, any State official chosen by the voters of the entire State, a member of the Congress of the United States, a member of a State legislative body, or a judge of a court of record of the United States or of a State, required to be deferred by law;

(c) He is the sole surviving son of a family of which one or more sons or daughters were killed in action or died in line of duty while serving in the Armed Forces of the United States, or subsequently died as a result of injuries received or disease incurred during such service, whose induction is prohibited by law; or

(d) Under the provisions of § 1622.44 of this chapter he is found to be physically, mentally, or morally unfit.

(b) Former employees of such an agency or department who (1) are serving in a public international organization, (2) have served continuously in such organization since May 10, 1946, and (3) left war service indefinite or probational or permanent civil service appointments to take their present employment.

Determination of status will be made by the Commission on request of a Federal agency or the transferee. Unless all conditions precedent to acquisition of competitive status under section 2 of Executive Order 9721 have been met on or before the end of the 3-year period, no rights accrue under that section. Such reemployment shall be in the employee's former position or in a position of like seniority, status and pay.

He shall be given the seniority and, to the extent consistent with law the pay to which he would have been entitled had he remained continuously with the agency in his former position. He shall be considered as having competitive status and tenure and shall be given full credit for completion of probation for service in the international organization since acquisition of status. Any sick leave to his credit at the time of his separation for transfer shall be recredited to him.

§ 26.9 Report to the Commission. (a) A transfer under Executive Order 9721 shall be reported to the Commission on the regular notification of personnel changes. In any case where the provisions of Executive Order 9721 are, with the consent of the Federal agency in which he was formerly employed, made applicable to a former employee of the agency, the action shall be reported as a transfer effective as of the date the employee left the Federal agency to take employment with the public international organization.

§ 26.10 Appeals to the Commission. There shall be no appeal to the Commission from a denial by the head of the agency or department or his designated representative of transfer under Executive Order 9721. The Commission shall make final decision as to the acquisition of status of an employee under section 2 of Executive Order 9721. An employee transferred under Executive Order 9721 who has been denied reemployment may appeal to the Commission, and the Commission shall make final determination of his right to reemployment.

§ 26.11 Effective date. This part shall be effective as of May 10, 1946.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Production and Marketing Administration (Sugar Branch), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter I—Determination of Prices

[Sugar Determination 876.4]

PART 876—HAWAII

FAIR AND REASONABLE PRICES FOR 1952 CROP OF HAWAIIAN SUGARCANE

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948 (herein referred to as "act"), after investigation, and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the public hearing held in Honolulu and in Hilo, Territory of Hawaii, on January 23 and 25–26, 1952, respectively, the following determination is hereby issued.

§ 876.4 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of Hawaiian Sugarcane. Fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of Hawaiian sugarcane to be paid by a processor who, as a producer, applies for payment under the act shall be not less than the prices provided in adherent planter or independent grower sugarcane purchase contracts, or toll agreements, heretofore entered into between such processor-producer and other producers of sugarcane or in independent grower sugarcane purchase contracts hereafter entered into between a processor-producer listed in paragraph (b) of this section and adherent planters otherwise eligible to become independent growers: Provided,

(a) That under adherent planter agreements, the price per ton for 1952 crop sugarcane shall be not less than the price as calculated under such agreements for the 1950 crop;

(b) That under independent grower agreements entered into by the processor-producers listed in this paragraph, the price per ton for 1952 crop sugarcane shall be not less than the price calculated as follows:

	Rate of payment [1]	Standard quality ratio [2]
(1) Kohala Sugar Co., the net proceeds from 72 percent of the sugar manufactured from the sugarcane delivered to the processor-producer by the producer	1.22	(3)
(2) Olaa Sugar Co.
(3) Hilo Sugar Plantation Co., Onomea Sugar Co., Pepeekeo Sugar Co., Hakalau Plantation Co.	1.09	9.5
(4) Hawaiian Agricultural Co.	1.36	8.5

[1] Rate of payment for each 1 cent of the average net proceeds from sales of sugar and molasses expressed in cents per pound of sugar, raw value (referred to in the prior determination as 96° D. A. raw sugar).

[2] Tons of sugarcane required to produce one ton of sugar, raw value. The price per ton of sugarcane shall be increased or decreased proportionately as the actual quality ratio of sugarcane is lower or higher, respectively, than the standard quality ratio.

[3] Average quality ratio of sugarcane purchased from producers during the 3 years, 1947–49.

(c) That in instances where payment for sugarcane is based on net returns, the processor-producer shall submit for approval to the Hawaiian Area Office, PMA, Honolulu, Hawaii, the average gross proceeds realized from sales of sugar and molasses, and those deductible selling and delivery expenses actually incurred, limited to those items specifically enumerated by the processor-producer and approved by the Hawaiian Area Office for the 1951 crop;

(d) That elements of expense properly chargeable and added to the direct cost of labor, material and services to develop the rates of charge for such labor, material and services furnished by a processor-producer to other producers shall be the same in 1952 as in 1951;

(e) That nothing in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section shall be construed as prohibiting modifications which may be necessary because of unusual circumstances which may arise in the future, any such modifications to be subject to approval by the Hawaiian Area Office, PMA, Honolulu, Hawaii; and

(f) That the processor-producer shall not reduce returns to the producer below those determined in this section through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination establishes the level of prices to be paid by a processor-producer (i. e., a producer who is also, directly or indirectly, a processor of sugarcane—hereinafter referred to as "processor") for sugarcane of the 1952 crop purchased from other producers. It prescribes the minimum requirements with respect to prices which must be met as one of the conditions for payment under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act. In determining fair and reasonable prices, the act requires that public hearings be held and investigations made. Accordingly, on January 23 and January 25–26, 1952, public hearings were held in Honolulu and Hilo, Territory of Hawaii, at which time interested persons presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of sugarcane. In addition, investigations have been made of conditions relating to the sugar industry in Hawaii. In determining fair and reasonable prices, consideration has been given to testimony presented at the hearings and to information resulting from investigations.

(c) 1952 price determination. The price determination for 1952 crop sugarcane continues the requirements of the 1951 crop fair price determination and further provides: (1) In instances where payments to producers are based on net returns from sugar or sugar and molasses, the requirement that processors submit for approval by the Hawaiian Area Office of the Production and marketing Administration the average gross proceeds realized from sales of sugar and molasses; (2) the requirement that items of selling and delivery expense used in the computation of payments for 1952 crop sugarcane be the same as those specifically enumerated by the processor and approved by the Hawaiian Area Office for the 1951 crop; and, (3) the requirement that elements of expense properly chargeable and added to the direct cost of labor, material and services to develop a rate of charge for such items furnished by a processor to producers be the same in 1952 as in 1951. The requirements indicated in (2) and (3) above may be modified in the event of unusual circumstances after approval by the PMA Hawaiian Area Office. Changes made in the 1952 price determination are based upon information obtained at the public hearings and in supplemental briefs and are designed to conform practices in the 1952 crop year to those obtaining during the 1951 crop year.

At the public hearing, representatives of processors recommended that prices payable under negotiated agreements with adherent planters and independent growers be approved as fair and reasonable for the 1952 crop. One spokesman further recommended that processors be permitted to charge producers for certain services for which no charge was made in prior years, in the event higher rates of payment were required. Representatives of two producers' associations recommended that the prices specified in the 1951 price determination, which for independent growers are higher than those provided in most agreements, be continued as fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop. A representative of another producers' association recommended a minimum price per ton for sugarcane, such minimum to be increased whenever the price of sugar exceeds a base level. Another producer representative expressed dissatisfaction with the adherent planter agreement currently in effect at one plantation and recommended that adherent planters receive the entire Sugar Act payment on sugarcane which they produce and that they share in the processor's proceeds from molasses.

Each of these recommendations has been examined in the light of returns, costs and profits to producers and processors which are expected to prevail in 1952. Consideration has also been given to other testimony at the public hearing, to the contracts negotiated between the parties, to historical sharing relationships and to data obtained as the result of investigating conditions affecting the sugar industry. This analysis did not justify the adoption of certain of the recommendations. On the basis of the examination made, the prices provided in this determination for 1952 crop sugarcane are deemed to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing price determination will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Security Agency

PART 1—REGULATIONS FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT

DRUGS AND DEVICES; LABELING REQUIREMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 502 (b), 701 (a), 52 Stat. 1050, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 352 (b), 371 (a)), the regulations for the enforcement of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 CFR 1) are amended in the following respects:

In § 1.102 Drugs and devices; labeling requirements, paragraph (m) is amended by changing the period at the end of subparagraph (2) to ", or" and by adding the following subparagraph:

(3) It is an ointment, is labeled "Sample" or "Physician's Sample," or with a substantially similar statement, and the contents of the package do not weigh more than 8 grams.

This order shall become effective upon its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since the exemption from certain labeling requirements of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act which is established by this order for small packages of ointment intended as samples imposes no burden upon the affected industry, but rather relieves such a burden and is in the public interest since it will remove a presently existing deterrent to the distribution of samples of such drugs.

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 101, Amdt. 4]

CPR 101—CEILING PRICES OF VEAL SOLD AT WHOLESALE

COMBINATION DISTRIBUTOR AND HOTEL SUPPLY HOUSE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 101 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment changes the definition of "hotel supply house" and "combination distributor" and revises certain ceiling prices for hotel supply house and combination distributor sales.

This amendment parallels and is substantially identical with Amendment 12 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24, issued concurrently herewith. The Statement of Considerations issued in connection with that amendment applies equally to this amendment and therefore is incorporated herein.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 101 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 20, Schedule I, Special Adjustment 5 is amended to read as follows:

(5) If you are a hotel supply house, and you do not obtain any veal from any source affiliated with you, you may add $1.50 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b) except on sales to purveyors of meals, in which case you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b). If you are a hotel supply house, and you obtain some of your veal from a source affiliated with you, you may add $1.50 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b), on sales of any of these items which are derived from veal which you obtained from an unaffiliated source, except on sales to purveyors of meals, in which case you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b) regardless of source; however, you may not take this addition (except on sales to purveyors of meals) unless the item sold bears the appropriate registration number of the non-affiliated source required by Distribution Regulation 1, Revision 1, or any wrapping or packaging bearing the name or identification of the non-affiliated source from whom you bought. If you are a ship supplier you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the ceiling prices listed above in Schedule I (b) on sales to ship operators. In all cases, you may not charge the additions permitted in this adjustment unless the item sold was physically within the cooler of your selling establishment prior to delivery.

2. Section 20, Schedule I, Special Adjustment 6 is amended to read as follows:

(6) If you are a combination distributor, and you do not obtain any veal from any source affiliated with you, you may add to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b) $4.00 per hundredweight on sales to purveyors of meals and $2.00 per hundredweight on sales to all other buyers. If you are a combination distributor and you obtain some of your veal from a source affiliated with you, you may add $2.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b) on sales of any of these items which are derived from veal which you obtained from an unaffiliated source, except on sales to purveyors of meals, in which case you may add $4.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above in Schedule I (b) regardless of source; however, you may not take this addition (except on sales to purveyors of meals) unless the item sold bears the appropriate registration number of the non-affiliated source required by Distribution Regulation 1, Revision 1, or any wrapping or packaging bearing the name or identification of the non-affiliated source from whom you bought. If you are a ship supplier you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the ceiling prices listed above in Schedule I (b) on sales to ship operators. In all cases, you may not charge the additions permitted in this adjustment unless the item sold was physically within the cooler of your selling establishment prior to delivery.

3. Section 22, Schedule III, Special Addition 1 is amended to read as follows:

(1) If you are a hotel supply house, and you do not obtain any veal from any source affiliated with you, you may add $1.50 per hundredweight to the prices listed above, except on sales to purveyors of meals in which case you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above. If you are a hotel supply house and you obtain some of your veal from a source affiliated with you, you may add $1.50 per hundredweight to the prices listed above on sales of any of these items which are derived from veal which you obtained from an unaffiliated source, except on sales to purveyors of meals, in which case you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above regardless of source; however, you may not take this addition (except on sales to purveyors of meals) unless the item sold, other than item 3, 6 and 7, bears the appropriate registration number of the nonaffiliated source required by Distribution Regulation 1, Revision 1, or any wrapping or packaging bearing the name or identification of the non-affiliated source from whom you bought. If you are a ship supplier, you may add $5.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above on sales to ship operators. In all cases, you may not charge the additions permitted in this Special Addition unless the item sold was physically within the cooler of your selling establishment prior to delivery.

4. Section 22, Schedule III, Special Addition 2 is amended to read as follows:

(2) If you are a combination distributor and you do not obtain any veal from any source affiliated with you, you may add to the prices listed above $4.00 per hundredweight on sales to purveyors of meals and $2.00 per hundredweight on sales to all other buyers. If you are a combination distributor, and you obtain some of your veal from a source affiliated with you, you may add $2.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above on sales of any of these items which are derived from veal which you obtained from an unaffiliated source, except on sales to purveyors of meals, in which case you may add $4.00 per hundredweight to the prices listed above regardless of source; however, you may not take this addition (except on sales to purveyors of meals) unless the item sold, other than items 3, 6 and 7, bears the appropriate registration number of the nonaffiliated source required by Distribution Regulation 1, Revision 1, or any wrapping or packaging bearing the name or identification of the nonaffiliated source from whom you bought. In all cases, you may not charge the addition permitted in this Special Addition unless the item sold was physically within the cooler of your selling establishment prior to delivery.

5. Section 50 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Combination distributor means any establishment which does not sell to ultimate consumers more than 50 percent of the total volume by weight of all meats, including sausage, variety meats and edible byproducts, sold or delivered by it; and which sold or delivered to purveyors of meals during 1950 not less than 25 percent of the total volume by weight of all meats, including sausage, variety meats and edible byproducts, sold or delivered by it, excluding sales to defense procurement agencies.

6. Section 50 (g) is amended to read as follows:

(g) Hotel supply house means any establishment which sold or delivered to purveyors of meals during 1950 not less than 70 percent of the total volume by weight of all meats, including sausage, variety meats and edible by-products, sold or delivered by it, excluding sales to defense procurement agencies.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

CPR 24—CEILING PRICES OF BEEF SOLD AT WHOLESALE

COMBINATION DISTRIBUTOR AND HOTEL SUPPLY HOUSE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 12 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Statement of Considerations applies to Amendment 12 to Ceiling Price Regulation (CPR) 24, Amendment 6 to CPR 74, Amendment 6 to CPR 92 and Amendment 4 to CPR 101.

This amendment changes CPR 24 to comply with the decision of the Emergency Court of Appeals in Davidson Meat Co., Inc., et al. v. Arnall, F. 2d (E. C. A. May 14, 1952) and also makes several minor changes in CPR 24.

This amendment and the companion amendments to the other meat regulations carry out the mandate of the Court by redefining the terms "hotel supply house" and "combination distributor" so as to eliminate the concept of affiliation from these definitions. These new definitions thus treat all hotel supply houses and combination distributors alike, irrespective of affiliation.

Different ceiling prices have heretofore been provided in sections 20, 21 and 22 for sales of primal, fabricated, and boneless cuts by packers (including packer branch houses), combination distributors, and hotel supply houses, the lowest prices being provided for packer (and packer branch house) sales, with higher prices being established for sales of the same items by combination distributors and hotel supply houses. Slaughterers frequently maintain combination distributor and hotel supply house establishments in the same city in which they have their slaughterhouses or branch houses. Under the new definitions of combination distributor and hotel supply house, it would be simple for these packers to route their primal, fabricated and boneless cuts through their affiliated combination distributor or hotel supply house establishments, rather than to sell them through the slaughterhouse or branch house, and thereby obtain the higher ceiling prices provided for sales by the more specialized units even though those units performed no special services on these sales. This would, of course, result in substantially higher prices.

It does not appear that it was the intention of the Court, in the Davidson case, to prohibit the Office of Price Stabilization from preventing this type of price pyramiding. Accordingly, this amendment prevents this possible price pyramiding by providing that the additions allowed for sales by affiliated hotel supply houses and combination distributors to retailers of primal cuts and boneless cuts in sections 20 and 22 are limited to those cuts which bear the registration number, or wrapping or packaging bearing the name of, a source unaffiliated with the particular hotel supply house or combination distributor. Thus, there will be no incentive for slaughterers to divert these sales to their affiliated combination distributors and hotel supply houses, since they would not be able to sell to retailers the beef they slaughter at higher prices from these establishments than from their slaughterhouse or branch house. At the same time, this provision will permit an affiliated hotel supply house to get the full hotel supply house addition on all beef it procures from unaffiliated slaughterers. As an additional safeguard to prevent evasion, it is provided that the additions may not be charged if the meat was not physically in the cooler of the selling establishment prior to delivery.

The additions provided for hotel supply houses and combination distributors on sales to purveyors of meals are the same irrespective of the source of beef in order to assure continuance of the supply of primal and boneless cuts from these customary suppliers to these purchasers. These sellers are given substantially higher ceiling prices for fabricated cuts, irrespective of source, than for boneless and primal cuts for the reasons stated in the following paragraph. Therefore, they would sell to purveyors of meals only in the form of fabricated cuts the beef they obtain from affiliated sources if they were not permitted the addition on boneless and primal cuts sold to purveyors of meals irrespective of source. While this will result in a substantial addition on sales to purveyors of meals, these buyers will realize off-setting economies by being able to buy a larger volume of primal and boneless cuts which are, despite the addition, less expensive than fabricated cuts. It is unnecessary to make a similar provision for sales to retailers, since the prohibition against sales of fabricated cuts to retailers eliminates the opportunity to discontinue the sale of primal cuts and boneless cuts to these customers.

No differentiation based on the source of beef is made at this time in the additions for hotel supply houses and combination distributors on sales of cuts which do not normally bear a registration number of, or wrapping or packaging bearing the name of, an unaffiliated source, since such a provision would not be feasible for these cuts because of enforcement difficulties. The Director is concerned, however, that slaughterers may stop preparing and selling such cuts, for example, fabricated cuts, at their branch houses and prepare and sell them through their affiliated hotel supply houses and combination distributors in order to obtain the benefit of the latter's higher ceiling prices. Therefore, consideration is being given to alternative feasible provisions which would prevent this abuse. However, in order to issue this amendment promptly so that it can become effective in accordance with the Court's mandate, this amendment is being issued at this time before these alternative plans have been fully explored.

Corresponding changes have also been made in Section 27, Schedule VIII. The ceiling price differential between sales of processed beef products by affiliated and unaffiliated distributors has been eliminated.

In the formulation of Amendment 12 to CPR 24, Amendment 6 to CPR 74, Amendment 6 to CPR 92 and Amendment 4 to CPR 101, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of each of these four amendments are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, are necessary and appropriate to promote the National Defense, and comply with all the applicable standards of the act.

All standards prescribed in these four amendments were, prior to the issuance of the regulations to which they apply, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of the meats to which these regulations apply since no practicable alternative exists for securing effective price control of these meats.

It is not believed that any of these four amendments will cause any substantial changes in business practice, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes are compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulations to which these amendments apply.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

[General Wage Regulation No. 19, Revised]

GWR 19—HEALTH AND WELFARE PLANS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (64 Stat. 816, as amended by Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.); Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Executive Order 10233 (16 F. R. 3503), and General Order No. 3, Economic Stabilization Administrator (16 F. R. 739), this General Wage Regulation No. 19, Revised is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

On December 23, 1951, the Board issued GWR 19 and Board Resolution 78, governing the establishment of new plans and the amendment of existing plans providing for certain health and welfare benefits. Based upon its experience in administering this policy, the tripartite Health and Welfare Committee, established by the Wage Stabilization Board pursuant to GWR 19, unanimously recommended to the Board on May 29, 1952 the adoption of the basic policy set forth in this revision of GWR 19.

Health and Welfare plans are so varied that detailed requirements in terms of benefits, costs, or a combination of these and other factors unduly limit the parties in their choice of a plan which is best adapted to their particular needs. This amended regulation, like GWR 21 dealing with pension plans, sets up a limited number of basic requirements which health and welfare plans must meet to qualify for approval. Otherwise, it permits a wide area within which employers, or employers and unions, may determine for themselves the provisions of new or amended plans. The regulation provides, however that the Board shall disapprove any plan which it deems to be unstabilizing. The report and review procedure will prevent institution of health and welfare plans which are unstabilizing.

Parties desiring to establish or amend plans covered by this regulation are required to file a report on a prescribed form with the Board. The report will be acknowledged and, unless the parties are notified to the contrary within 30 days after the date of the letter of acknowledgement, they may thereupon put the plan into effect as of the effective date provided for in the plan. Reports of plans providing health and welfare benefits not specifically listed in this regulation, or providing benefits which may appear, on preliminary review, to be unstabilizing are treated as petitions for specific Board approval and the parties will be notified accordingly. Such plans may not be put into effect unless and until the parties receive notification of Board approval.

Section 6 provides continuing review of this regulation by a tripartite committee. Should that experience indicate the need for further changes in Board policy, such changes will be made in sufficient time to prevent impairment of the wage stabilization program.

In the formulation of this regulation, the Board has given due consideration to the standards and procedures set forth in Title IV and Title VII of the Defense Production Act, as amended. This amended regulation has received the approval of the Economic Stabilization Administrator.

(b) Unless the parties receive a further communication pertaining to such plan from the Board within 30 days from the date of the acknowledgement letter, they may put such plan into effect as of the effective date of the plan.

(c) Reports of plans which do not satisfy the requirements of sections 1 or 2, or which may appear, on preliminary review, to be unstabilizing, shall be treated as petitions for Board approval, and the parties notified accordingly. Such plans may not be put into effect unless and until the parties receive notification of Board approval.

SEC. 6. Tripartite Health and Welfare Committee. There is hereby established a tripartite committee, to be called the Health and Welfare Committee. This Committee shall review cases which do not meet the definitions in section 1 or which may appear to be unstabilizing. The Committee shall perform such other functions as the Board may determine. The Committee shall review this Regulation in the light of experience hereunder and shall report to the Wage Stabilization Board its actions and recommendations from time to time.

Such benefits may not be put into effect through an unexpended balance, available under the self-administering provisions of GWR 6 or under any other Board regulation or resolution.

[NPA Order M-6A, Direction 1 as Amended June 16, 1952]

M-6A—STEEL DISTRIBUTORS

DIR. 1—TREATMENT OF PURCHASE ORDERS BEARING CERTAIN ALLOTMENT SYMBOLS

This amended direction to NPA Order M-6A is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority granted by the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this amended direction consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action.

Sec.
1. What this direction does.
2. Treatment of authorized controlled material orders bearing certain allotment symbols.
3. Additional tonnage for authorized controlled material orders bearing certain allotment symbols.
4. Certification and identification.
5. Expiration.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply sec. 101, 64 Stat. 799, Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong.; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2071; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.; secs. 402, 405, E. O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. This direction requires steel distributors to accept authorized controlled material orders bearing allotment symbols A, B, C, or E, and a digit, or Z-2, in preference to other authorized controlled material orders, whenever the particular product ordered may be filled from the inventory of a steel distributor. It provides that the minimum tonnage required to be shipped by producers to steel distributors under NPA Order M-6A must be increased upon certification by a steel distributor that he is entitled to additional tonnage because of deliveries by him from inventory on authorized controlled material orders bearing allotment symbols N-8 or Z-2.

SEC. 2. Treatment of authorized controlled material orders bearing certain allotment symbols. Each steel distributor is hereby required to accept authorized controlled material orders bearing allotment symbols A, B, C, or E, and a digit, or Z-2, in preference to other authorized controlled material or other purchase orders, whenever the particular product ordered may then be filled from the inventory of such steel distributor. This requirement is subject to the right of a steel distributor to reject any such order if the person seeking to place such order is unwilling or unable to meet such distributor's regularly established prices and terms of sale or payment, and is also subject to the provisions of section 4 of CMP Regulation No. 4.

SEC. 3. Additional tonnage for authorized controlled material orders bearing certain allotment symbols. (a) Commencing January 21, 1952, a steel distributor who, during the months of November and December 1951, has delivered any one or more steel products from his inventory to fill authorized controlled material orders bearing the allotment symbol N-8 or Z-2 may place a purchase order or orders in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section requiring shipment to him of a tonnage of each such steel product equivalent to $12\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the total tonnage of such product so delivered on such N-8 or Z-2 orders during the months of November and December 1951. The tonnage of any product determined by the percentage specified in the preceding sentence is hereinafter called "additional tonnage."

(b) In any month commencing with February 1952, a steel distributor who, during the calendar month immediately preceding such month, has delivered any one or more steel products from his inventory to fill authorized controlled material orders bearing the allotment symbol Z-2 may place a purchase order or orders in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section requiring shipment to him of a tonnage of each such steel product equivalent to 25 percent of the total tonnage of such product so delivered on Z-2 orders during such preceding calendar month. The tonnage of any product determined by the percentage specified in the preceding sentence shall be hereinafter called "additional tonnage."

(c) Each producer is hereby required to accept any purchase order or orders from a steel distributor customer for additional tonnage under and pursuant to the provisions of this section, and identified and certified as required by section 4 of this direction; and any such additional tonnage shall be in addition to the tonnage required to be shipped by such producer to such steel distributor customer pursuant to section 4 of NPA Order M-6A. Orders placed pursuant to this section with producers must be placed in accordance with the lead times for the various steel products set forth in Schedule III of CMP Regulation No. 1, as amended from time to time, and in conformance with NPA Order M-6A and any other applicable NPA orders and regulations. If more than one producer supplied a steel distributor with any steel product, an additional tonnage of which steel product he is entitled to receive hereunder, such steel distributor shall order from each such producer a proportion of the total additional tonnage of such steel product which such distributor is entitled to order under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section based on the proportion that the base tonnage of such steel product supplied to him by each producer bears to the total base tonnage of such steel product supplied by all producers.

SEC. 4. Certification and identification. (a) In ordering additional tonnage of steel products from producers pursuant to section 3 of this direction, each steel distributor is hereby required to identify each purchase order as a Direction 1, M-6A order. Such identification shall be placed or stamped on each purchase order in a prominent place so that the order may readily be identified as a Direction 1, M-6A purchase order.

(b) In ordering additional tonnage of steel products from producers pursuant to section 3 of this direction, each steel distributor is hereby required to certify said purchase order in the following form:

Certified under Direction 1 to NPA Order M-6A

Such certification shall be signed as provided in NPA Reg. 2, and shall constitute a representation that, subject to the criminal penalties provided for in applicable statutes of the United States, the steel distributor is authorized by the provisions of section 3 of this direction to place such purchase order and that the amount ordered is within the total additional tonnage authorized by that section.

SEC. 5. Expiration. This direction shall expire on December 31, 1952. The expiration of this direction on December 31, 1952, shall not relieve any person of any obligation or liability incurred hereunder, nor deprive any person of any rights received or accrued prior to said date, it being the intent hereof that steel distributors may place orders with producers for additional tonnage pursuant to section 3 of this direction until December 31, 1952.

This direction shall take effect June 16, 1952.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 51]

U. S. STANDARDS FOR PERSIAN (TAHITI) LIMES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the United States Department of Agriculture is considering the issuance of revised United States Standards for Persian (Tahiti) Limes under the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087; 7 U. S. C. 1621 et seq.) and the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1952 (Pub. Law 135, 82d Cong., approved Aug. 31, 1951) to supersede United States Standards for Persian (Tahiti) Limes effective May 1, 1939.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed standards should file the same with M. W. Baker, Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, South Building, Washington 25, D. C., not later than 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., on the thirtieth (30) day after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The proposed standards are as follows:

§ 51.272 Standards for Persian (Tahiti) limes—(a) Grades—(1) U. S. No. 1. U. S. No. 1 consists of Persian Limes which are firm, fairly well formed, of fairly smooth texture, which are free from decay, stylar end breakdown or other internal discoloration, broken skins which are not healed, bruises (except those incident to proper handling and packing), hard or dry skins, and free from damage caused by freezing, dryness or mushy condition, sprayburn, exanthema (ammoniation), scars, thorn scratches, scale, sunburn, scab, blanching, discoloration, buckskin, dirt or other foreign material, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

(i) The limes shall have a good green color: Provided, That lots of limes which meet all the requirements of this grade except as to color shall be designated as "U. S. No. 1 Turning" if the limes in each container have started to show yellow color, or as "U. S. No. 1 Mixed Color" if the limes in each container fail to meet the color requirements of either U. S. No. 1 or U. S. No. 1 Turning.

(ii) The fruit shall have a juice content of not less than 42 percent, by volume.

(iii) In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruit in any lot may fail to meet the color requirements. In addition, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruit in any lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade, but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for decay, stylar end breakdown, broken skins which are not healed, or defects causing serious damage, including not more than one-half of 1 percent for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination.

(2) U. S. No. 2. U. S. No. 2 consists of Persian Limes which are fairly firm, which are not badly deformed, and not of excessively rough texture, which are free from decay, stylar end breakdown or other internal discoloration, broken skins which are not healed, bruises (except those incident to proper handling and packing), and hard or dry skins, and free from serious damage caused by freezing, dryness or mushy condition, sprayburn, exanthema (ammoniation), scars, thorn scratches, scale, sunburn, scab, discoloration, buckskin, dirt or other foreign material, disease, insects or mechanical or other means.

(i) The limes shall have good green color: Provided, That lots of limes which meet all the requirements of this grade except as to color shall be designated as "U. S. No. 2 Turning" if the limes in each container have started to show yellow color, or as "U. S. No. 2 Mixed Color" if the limes in each container fail to meet the color requirements of either U. S. No. 2 or U. S. No. 2 Turning.

(ii) The fruit shall have a juice content of not less than 42 percent, by volume.

(iii) In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruit in any lot may fail to meet the color requirements. In addition, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the fruit in any lot may be below the remaining requirements of this grade, but not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, shall be allowed for decay, stylar end breakdown, and broken skins which are not healed, including not more than one-half of 1 percent for decay at shipping point: Provided, That an additional tolerance of 2½ percent, or a total of not more than 3 percent, shall be allowed for decay en route or at destination.

(iii) No part of the above tolerances shall be allowed to reduce for the lot as a whole, the 75 percent of U. S. No. 1 limes required in the U. S. Combination Grade, but individual containers may have not less than 65 percent of the higher grade.

(b) Unclassified. Unclassified consists of Persian Limes which have not been classified in accordance with any of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(c) Application of tolerances to individual packages. (1) The contents of individual packages in the lot, based on sample inspection, are subject to the following limitations: Provided, That the averages for the entire lot are within the tolerances specified for the grade.

(i) For a tolerance of 10 percent or more, individual packages in any lot may contain not more than one and one-half times the tolerance specified, except that when the package contains 15 specimens or less, individual packages may contain not more than double the tolerance specified.

(ii) For a tolerance of less than 10 percent, individual packages in any lot may contain not more than double the tolerance specified, provided at least one specimen which does not meet the requirements shall be allowed in any one package.

(d) Definitions. (1) "Firm" means that the fruit is not soft or flabby.

(2) "Fairly well formed" means that the fruit shows normal characteristic shape for the Persian variety and is not materially flattened on one side.

(3) "Fairly smooth texture" means that the fruit is comparatively free from lumpiness and that pebbling is not abnormally coarse. Coarse pebbling is not objectionable as it is indicative of good keeping quality and is characteristic of the fruit, especially that from young trees.

(4) "Stylar end breakdown" is a physiological breakdown starting as a sunken area at the base of the nipple. A brownish discoloration develops in the rind. As it progresses the color of the affected area becomes light drab to drab but the area remains firm unless infected with secondary organisms that cause soft decay.

(5) "Damage" means any defect that materially affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as damage:

(i) Dryness or mushy condition which extends into all segments more than one-eighth of an inch at the stem end, or more than the equivalent of this amount, by volume, when occurring in other portions of the fruit;

(ii) Sprayburn which changes the color to such an extent that the appearance of the fruit is materially affected, or which causes scarring that in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle one-fourth inch in diameter;

(iii) Exanthema (ammoniation) which materially detracts from the appearance of the fruit, or which occurs as small, thinly scattered spots over more than 10 percent of the fruit surface, or as solid scarring (not cracked), or depressions which in the aggregate exceed the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter;

(iv) Scars which are dark, rough, or deep and in the aggregate exceed the area of a circle one-fourth inch in diameter, or scars which are fairly light in color, slightly rough, or of slight depth and in the aggregate exceed the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter, or scars which are light colored, fairly smooth, with no depth and aggregate more than 10 percent of the fruit surface;

(v) Thorn scratches, when the injury is not well healed, or when dark colored, rough or deep and in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle one-fourth inch in diameter, or when light colored, fairly smooth and concentrated and in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter, or light colored and scattered thorn injury which detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the aggregate area of one-half inch permitted for light colored concentrated injury;

(vi) Scale, when more than ten medium to large California red or purple scale adjacent to button at stem end, or scattered over the fruit, or any scale which affects the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent;

(vii) Sunburn which causes appreciable flattening of the fruit, drying of the skin, material change in the color of the skin, appreciable drying of the flesh underneath the affected area or affects more than 5 percent of the fruit surface;

(viii) Scab which materially affects the shape or texture;

(ix) Blanching, when more than 10 percent of the surface of the fruit shows a whitish area owing to shading, resting on the surface of the ground, or contact with other fruits on the tree. These whitest areas are not to be confused with fruit that is turning, the color of which is more of a greenish yellow;

(x) Discoloration caused by rust mite, melanose or other means, when fairly smooth and more than 10 percent of the fruit surface is affected, or when slightly rough and in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter; and,

(xi) Buckskin, when more unsightly than the maximum of discoloration allowed, or the fruit texture is materially affected.

(6) "Good green color" means that the skin of that part of the lime free from permissible injury shall be of a good green color characteristic of the Persian variety.

(7) "Fairly firm" means that the fruit is not soft or excessively flabby.

(8) "Badly deformed" means that the fruit is seriously misshapen from any cause.

(9) "Excessively rough texture" means that the skin is badly ridged or very decidedly lumpy.

(10) "Serious damage" means any defect which seriously affects the appearance, or the edible or shipping quality of the fruit. Any one of the following defects, or any combination of defects, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect, shall be considered as serious damage:

(i) Dryness or mushy condition which extends into all segments more than one-fourth of an inch at the stem end, or more than the equivalent of this amount, by volume, when occurring in other portions of the fruit;

(ii) Sprayburn which changes the color to such an extent that the appearance of the fruit is seriously injured or which causes scarring that in the aggregate exceeds the area of a circle one-half inch in diameter;

(iii) Exanthema (ammoniation) which occurs as small spots over more than 25 percent of the fruit surface, or as solid scarring (not cracked), or depressions which aggregate more than 10 percent of the fruit surface;

(iv) Scars which are dark, rough, or deep and aggregate more than 5 percent of the fruit surface, or scars which are fairly light in color, slightly rough, or of slight depth and aggregate more than 10 percent of the fruit surface, or scars which are light colored, fairly smooth, with no depth and aggregate more than 25 percent of the fruit surface;

(v) Thorn scratches, when the injury is not well healed, or when dark colored, rough or deep and aggregates more than 5 percent of the fruit surface, or when light colored, fairly smooth and concentrated and aggregates more than 10 percent of the fruit surface, or light colored and scattered thorn injury which detracts from the appearance of the fruit to a greater extent than the 10 percent light colored concentrated injury;

(vi) Scale, California red or purple scale concentrated as a ring or blotch when the average outside diameter exceeds one-half inch, or more than the equivalent of this amount when scattered over the fruit surface;

(vii) Sunburn which causes decided flattening of the fruit, marked drying or dark discoloration of the skin, material drying of the flesh underneath the affected area, or which affects more than 10 percent of the fruit surface;

(viii) Scab which seriously affects shape or texture;

(ix) Discoloration caused by rust mite, melanose or other means, when fairly smooth and more than 50 percent of the fruit surface is affected, or when slightly rough and more than 25 percent of the fruit surface is affected; and,

(x) Buckskin, when more unsightly than the maximum of discoloration allowed or the fruit texture is seriously affected.

[Docket No. AO-179-A9]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CLEVELAND, OHIO, MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT, AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Allerton Hotel, 1802 East Thirteenth Street, Cleveland, Ohio, beginning at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., June 25, 1952, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to proposed amendments hereinafter set forth or appropriate modification thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement as heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cleveland, Ohio, marketing area (7 CFR 975.0 et seq.). The amendments proposed have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic conditions which relate to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth:

The following amendment has been proposed by the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland:

Proposal No. 1. Delete § 975.61 and substitute the following:

§ 975.61 Class I milk prices. The price to be paid by each handler f. o. b. his plant for the portion of skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers and from an association of producers which is classified as Class I milk shall be computed by the Market Administrator as follows:

(a) Add to the basic formula price $1.10 during the months of May and June, $1.45 during the months of March, April, July and August and $1.90 during the months of January, February, September, October, November and December, and add or subtract a "supply-demand adjustment," computed as follows:

(1) Divide the total receipts of producer milk in the immediately preceding delivery period by the total gross volume of Class I milk for such period, multiply the result by 100, and round to the nearest whole number. The result will be known as the "current supply-demand relationship."

(2) Compute a net deviation of percentage by determining the difference between the "current supply-demand relationship" computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, and the "representative supply-demand index" shown below.

Delivery period for which Class I price is computed	Delivery period used to compute relationship	Representative supply-demand (index)
January	December	122
February	January	129
March	February	133
April	March	142

June	May	180
July	June	175
August	July	153
September	August	140
October	September	133
November	October	129
December	November	120

(3) Determine the amount of supply-demand adjustment from the following schedule:

Provided, That with respect to Class I milk in sweet or sour cream for fluid consumption, the amount added to the basic formula price shall be the amount set forth in this paragraph less 45 cents.

(b) The price of butterfat shall be the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section multiplied by 120.

(c) The price of skim milk shall be computed by (1) multiplying the price of butterfat pursuant to (b) of this section by 0.035; (2) subtracting such amount from the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section; (3) dividing such net amount by 0.965; and (4) rounding off to the nearest full cent.

The following amendments have been proposed by the Cleveland Milk Market Survey Committee:

Proposal No. 2. Amend § 975.14 to read as follows:

§ 975.14 Other source milk. "Other source milk" means all skim milk and butterfat received at any pool plant other than from producers or other pool plants and all skim milk and butterfat received at a pool plant from any other pool plants in excess of the total amount received at the latter pool plant from producers; except skim milk and butterfat classified and priced as Class I under another Federal Order.

Proposal No. 3. Amend § 975.32 (b) to read as follows:

(b) If such plant furnished to a pool plant described in § 975.30 (a) or to a pool plant described in § 975.30 (b) for delivery to a pool plant described in § 975.30 (a) less than 10 percent of its dairy farm supply of milk and or butterfat in any month except April, May, June, or July and less than 50 percent of such supply during more than one of the months of October, November, December, and January: Provided, That upon receipt by the market administrator prior to the delivery period of a written request made by the handler, all pool plants operated by such handler shall be considered, for such delivery period, as one plant for the purpose of meeting the minimum percentage requirements of this paragraph: And provided further, That this paragraph shall not apply to the plant of the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland.

Proposal No. 4. Amend § 975.51 (c) (1) to read as follows:

(c) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce butter; butteroil, cheese (except cottage cheese); bulk condensed skim milk or whole milk (sweetened or unsweetened); evaporated or condensed milk (or skim milk) in hermetically sealed cans; casein; nonfat dry milk solids, dry whole milk; condensed or dry buttermilk; whey; powdered malted milk; lactose; and all skim milk and butterfat dumped or disposed of for livestock feeding.

Proposal No. 5. Amend § 975.56 (b) to read as follows:

(b) For the delivery periods of September, October, November, December, January and February, if the total pounds of butterfat received from producers and pool plants is less than 120 per cent of the total pounds of butterfat classified as Class I milk, not including reconstituted skim milk or Class I milk transferred to pool plants or nonpool plants subtract pro rata from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class the pounds of butterfat received in other source milk.

Proposal No. 6. a. Amend § 975.61 to read as follows:

§ 975.61 Class I milk prices. The respective minimum prices per cwt. to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, during a delivery period, which is classified as Class I milk, shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(a) Add to the basic formula price $1.85 for each monthly delivery period, subject to the following adjustment:

(1) When the producers' production is less than 120 percent of handlers' Class I utilization of producer milk, subtract the production percentage from 120 percent, multiply the difference by 3 cents, and add the result to the basic formula price plus $1.85 per hundredweight.

(2) When the producers' production is more than 120 percent of handlers' Class I utilization of producer milk, subtract 120 percent from the producers' production percentage, multiply the difference by 2 cents, multiply the result by percentage of producers' utilization in Class I, and subtract this amount from the basic formula price plus $1.85 per hundredweight.

(b) The price of butterfat shall be the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section, after making the adjustments in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (a), multiplied by 20.

(c) The price of skim milk shall be computed by (1) multiplying the price of butterfat pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section by 0.035; (2) subtracting such amount from the adjusted amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section; (3) dividing such net amount by 0.965; and (4) rounding off to the nearest full cent.

(d) With respect to Class I milk in sweet or sour cream for fluid consumption, the amount added to the basic formula price for each monthly delivery period shall be $1.40 per hundredweight subject to the same adjustment as is outlined in paragraphs (a) (1) and (2) of this section.

b. Amend § 975.62 to read as follows:

§ 975.62 Class II milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association, during a delivery period, which is classified as Class II milk, shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(a) The price of butterfat shall be the average price of butter as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of § 975.60, multiplied by 120.

(b) The price of skim milk shall be the simple average (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of the carlot prices per pound of spray process, non-fat dry milk solids, in barrels for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5: Provided, That when the producers' production is more than 140 percent of handlers' Class I utilization of producer milk, subtract 120 percent from the producers' production percentage, multiply the difference by 2 cents, multiply the result by the percentage of handler's utilization of producer milk in Class II and then subtract this amount from the skim value in Class II.

c. Amend § 975.63 to read as follows:

§ 975.63 Class III milk prices. The respective minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his plant, for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers or from a pool plant of a cooperative association during a delivery period, which is classified as Class III milk, shall be as follows, as computed by the market administrator:

(a) The price per hundredweight of butterfat shall be the average price of butterfat as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1), of § 975.60, multiplied by 110.

(b) The price per hundredweight of skim milk shall be the weighted average of the carlot prices per pound of roller process, non-fat dry milk solids, in barrels for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5: Provided, That when the producers' production is more than 140 percent of handlers' Class I utilization of producer milk, subtract 120 percent from the producers' production percentage, multiply the difference by 2 cents, multiply the result by the percentage of handlers' utilization of producer milk in Class III and then subtract this amount from the skim value in Class III

Proposal No. 7. Delete paragraphs (j) (1) and (2) of § 975.22 and substitute the following in lieu thereof:

(j) Publicly announce by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he may deem appropriate the prices determined for each delivery period as follows:

(1) On or before the 14th day after the end of such delivery period, the uniform price computed pursuant to § 975.73, the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 975.82 and the minimum class prices for Class I, Class II, and Class III milk computed pursuant to §§ 975.61, 975.62 and 975.63, respectively.

Proposal No. 8. In § 975.80 Time and method of payment, delete the word "15th day" in paragraph (c) and substitute in lieu thereof "18th day."

Proposal No. 10. In § 975.85 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund delete the word "18th day" and substitute in lieu thereof "22d day."

Proposal No. 11. Amend § 975.62 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

(a) The price of butterfat shall be the average price of butter as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of § 975.60 multiplied by 120.

(b) The price of skim milk shall be the simple average (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of the carlot price per pound of spray process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, for the weeks ending within the delivery period as reported by the Department of Agriculture, less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5.

Proposal No. 12. Amend § 975.63 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

(a) The price per hundredweight of butterfat shall be the average price of butter as computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of § 975.60, multiplied by 110.

(b) The price per hundredweight of skim milk shall be the weighted average of the carlot prices per pound of roller process nonfat dry milk solids in barrels for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published for the delivery period by the Department of Agriculture, less 5.5 cents, multiplied by 8.5: Provided, That during the months of April, May, June and July the price shall be the amount set forth above in this paragraph, less 20 cents.

b. Amend § 975.81 Location adjustments to producers so as to increase the adjustment for each zone provided therein, except the 30 to 69 mile zone, in the amount of 10 cents; except that the amount of such adjustment shall be limited on a percentage basis to the actual amount of the adjustment allowed to handlers under § 975.71 on a market-wide basis; and amend § 975.73 and such other sections of the order which must be amended to effectuate the foregoing changes.

Proposal No. 15. Amend § 975.72 (a) to read as follows:

(a) For each delivery period the obligation to the producer-settlement fund for each handler (except a producer-handler) who operates a nonpool plant out of which a route is operated which extends into the marketing area, shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the respective prices for skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat disposed of as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drink, sweet or sour cream or any mixture of milk and cream within such delivery period on each such route, and subtracting therefrom an amount computed by multiplying such volume of skim milk and butterfat by the higher of the prices for skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class III milk.

[7 CFR Part 991]

HANDLING OF MILK IN ROCKFORD-FREEPORT, ILL., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVELY APPROVED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), hereinafter referred to as the "act," and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Rockford-Freeport, Illinois, marketing area.

Interested parties may file exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, Room 1353, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the 12th day after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing on proposed amendments to the order was held by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, on December 4, 5 and 6, 1951, and on March 17 and 18, 1952. Proposals to amend the order were submitted by the Stephenson County Pure Milk Association, the Midwest Dairymen's Company, the Central Dairy Company, Inc., et al., the Union Dairy Farms and Volken Bros. Dairy, Inc., the Townview Dairy (Dakota, Ill.), and the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

The major issues presented on the record of the hearing and covered by this decision were whether the order should be amended to provide for:

(1) Revision of the price differentials (over the basic formula price) for Class I milk and Class II milk, as currently defined, and the establishment of a method of computing separate prices for skim milk and butterfat in each class (including present Class III milk);

(2) Reclassification of the products covered by the present Class II milk definition to Class I milk;

(3) Revision of the method of computing uniform prices to producers;

(4) Introduction of individual-handler pools in lieu of the present market-wide pool for the distribution of moneys due producers for milk produced;

(5) Elimination of the shrinkage allowance included in the lowest-priced class;

(6) Reduction in the size of the marketing area by removing the city of Freeport and its suburbs;

(7) Modification of the rules governing the transfer or diversion of milk, skim milk or cream by a handler to an unapproved plant;

(8) Revision of the definitions of "producer-handler" and "handler";

(9) The substitution of the average wholesale price of cheese at Wisconsin primary markets for the price of cheese presently used in computing the basic formula and Class III milk prices; and

(10) Certain changes of an administrative character.

The application for hearing submitted by the cooperative associations referred to above included a request that "emergency action" be taken with respect to their proposals. The notice of hearing contained a statement that "Consideration will be given also to the question of whether such (economic marketing) conditions require emergency action with respect to any or all amendments deemed necessary as the result of the hearing." No testimony was introduced to support emergency action with respect to any of the proposed amendments considered and no request for emergency procedure and findings in connection with the issuance of a decision was made. It is concluded that the evidence does not warrant the omission of a recommended decision concerning any of the amendments proposed, as set forth herein.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the issues decided herein are hereby made upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

(1) The price differential (over the basic formula price) for Class I milk should be modified; the butterfat differential applicable to the Class I milk price should be revised; and separate prices for skim milk and butterfat in each class should be computed and announced each month.

At the hearing convened in December 1951 producer associations proposed an increase of 12 cents per hundredweight in the Class I price differential, alleging such increase to be necessary to provide producers with a return for milk equivalent to that received by Chicago producers in the same production area, including the "premiums" which are being paid currently by Chicago handlers over and above the minimum uniform price for the 55–70 mile zone computed under the Chicago order. In this connection, it was testified that (a) proponents are incurring losses in the handling of the market's reserve supply which reduces the possible "pay-out" price to members below the price to nonmember producers and below the price (including premiums) received by neighboring Chicago producers, (b) the class price for fluid milk and cream should be restored to the level of the 55–70 mile zone under the Chicago order since principal competition from Chicago handlers originates at plants in such zone, (c) increasing production costs warrant a higher level of producer prices, and (d) the difference in accounting systems employed in the Chicago and Rockford-Freeport orders for computing the quantities of milk in Class I and Class II uses results, at the same class price levels, in a lower net return for Rockford-Freeport producers.

Producer associations in the market have assumed responsibility for diverting market supplies of milk in excess of those required by proprietary handlers to plants not regulated under the order. Such market reserves of milk are substantial in the season of flush milk production. In connection with the disposal of market milk reserves, the associations have incurred losses resulting in part from extra costs in transporting milk to manufacturing plants outside the marketing area and partly from prices received for such diverted milk which generally are lower than the Class III price level under the order at which such milk is accountable to producers. Such losses are estimated at 2 cents per hundredweight of milk produced annually by member producers. Handlers whom the associations regularly supply with milk customarily take from association members only the quantities which can be disposed of readily (mostly for fluid milk and cream trade) and do not incur any appreciable expense in connection with the handling of the market's reserve supply. There has been no direct charge to handlers as an addition to the class prices as reimbursement to the associations for such handling of reserve milk. Handlers, however, have paid premiums from time to time above the uniform price to bring the actual price to producers closer to (sometimes equivalent to) the prices realized by Chicago producers at plants in the 55–70 mile zone.

The Rockford-Freeport market is encompassed by the production area for the larger Chicago market. The city of Rockford is located approximately 85 miles from Chicago near the perimeter of zone 2 in the Chicago order zoning structure. Freeport is located about 30 miles further to the west of Chicago in zone 4 of the Chicago milkshed. Rockford draws its milk supply largely from an area included within the confines of Chicago zone 2 while Freeport's supplies are produced mainly in an area included within zones 3, 4 and 5 of the Chicago milkshed. The record shows also that these communities are closely competitive production-wise and from the standpoint of marketing within the Chicago milkshed although there is little interchange by handlers of either milk supplies or Class I sales between the cities of Rockford and Freeport. More than 50 percent of the fluid milk distributed in the city of Rockford originates at plants regulated by the Chicago order and located in the 55–70 and 70–85 mile price zones under the latter order. Milk and cream from Chicago-regulated plants are readily available to Rockford and Freeport handlers under Order No. 91 for distribution in fluid form. Such plants provide alternative sources of milk supply acceptable under the health requirements in effect in the marketing area and are used as such when local supplies are insufficient. Also, a Chicago-regulated plant was used for several months as a substitute outlet for Rockford-approved milk, which milk has been returned recently to a Rockford plant as part of the local handler's regular supply. In view of these circumstances, it has been concluded previously that, with the exception of the price adjustment described below, the Rockford and Freeport Class I prices should be similar to the zone prices for Class I milk under the Chicago order for similar locations. The losses incurred on handling market reserves as an expense to the cooperative associations do not provide a sufficient basis for adjustment of the Class I price level.

At the December session of the hearing some producer testimony also was directed to the matter of increasing production costs on the farm and their relation to the present level of producer prices. This testimony was offered in support of the proposed price increase but was not stressed to the same extent as that concerning the price relationship of the marketing area to Chicago.

It has been found in connection with the Chicago order that the minimum prices established therein are such prices as will reflect the price of feeds, supplies of feed, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest. As a part of the pricing mechanism of the Chicago market an "adjustment for trend" provision was provided to adjust prices automatically as the recent supply-sales relationship varies from the relationship which prevailed in a base period. The Rockford-Freeport order was amended July 1, 1951, to incorporate a similar provision therein. The decision issued by the Secretary on June 21, 1951, (official notice of which is taken), supported such provision with the finding that a proper price relationship between the two markets would require the same type of adjustment in price to be made to Rockford-Freeport producers because of the "high degree of similarity in conditions affecting the production and marketing of milk for fluid use in the two market areas." It may be noted further from the present record that the weighted average uniform prices for Rockford-Freeport have been higher than the Chicago uniform prices for the 55–70 mile zone during 21 out of the 26 months Order No. 91 has been in effect. Over the same period, such Rockford-Freeport prices have exceeded Chicago uniform prices by an average amount of 5 cents per hundredweight. The number of producers, the average daily delivery of milk per producer, and the total producer supply in recent months have been maintained at a level comparable with the corresponding months a year ago and have kept pace with Class I sales during the past year.

At the reopened hearing on March 17–18, 1952, producer associations proposed Class I differentials of $0.60 for May and June; $1.40 for July through December; and $1.00 for all other months. This would amount to an average increase of approximately 40 cents per hundredweight. Such differentials were proposed in view of the Class I differentials proposed for Order 41 at a hearing held in Chicago March 11–14, 1952 just prior to the reopening of the hearing at Rockford. In this connection it was again testified at Rockford that Chicago order prices and Rockford-Freeport order prices should be closely aligned. A decision recommending an annual average increase in the Chicago Class I price differential of about 14 cents per hundredweight and a revised type of automatic price adjustment was issued May 15, 1952, by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration. Official notice of this decision is taken. For the reasons presented similar changes are appropriate in the Rockford-Freeport market as the basis of pricing Class I milk.

As stated previously, producers also pointed to the difference between the Chicago and Rockford-Freeport accounting systems for classifying fluid milk and cream and compared the effects of the two systems on net returns to producers. It was disclosed that the method of determining the volumes of milk and cream for classification and pricing purposes employed in the Chicago market results, based on utilization data for the Rockford-Freeport market for the most recent 12-month period, in an annual average uniform price approximately 3.3 cents per hundredweight higher than the system now in use in the Rockford-Freeport order. This occurs primarily because under the Chicago accounting system butterfat in cream is converted to its milk equivalent at a 3.5 percent butterfat test while under the Rockford-Freeport order, the amount of milk utilized in cream is computed on the basis of the actual weight of butterfat and skim milk contained in the product.

It is concluded from the record that to offset this difference in accounting systems, 4 cents should be added to the Class I price at "Rockford plants" (new definition in § 991.9). Thus, the minimum Class I price at such plants will be 4 cents per hundred weight higher than the Class I price for the price zone (70–85 miles from Chicago) under the Chicago order in which the city of Rockford lies. Similarly, the Class I price at "Freeport plants" (new definition in §991.10) should be 4 cents per hundredweight higher than the Class I price under the Chicago order for the price zone in which the city of Freeport lies. It is concluded further that class prices for Rockford-Freeport higher than those provided herein are not necessary to insure a sufficient market supply.

The amount of 4 cents per hundredweight discussed in the preceding paragraph which is applicable for both the Rockford and Freeport districts should be allocated to the price of butterfat in Class I milk since, as stated elsewhere, it is concluded that fluid cream should be added to Class I milk. This is accomplished through the Class I butterfat differential which is raised from 1.30 to 1.31 times the price per pound of Chicago wholesale butter, divided by 10. By this means the per hundredweight cost of handlers of Class I milk items other than cream will be left virtually unchanged. The cost of cream, although increased, will continue to be somewhat less than the cost of cream to Chicago handlers under the minimum price provisions of the Chicago order.

At the present time class prices are computed per hundredweight of milk. If the test of the particular class of milk is different from 3.5 percent, a butterfat differential is applied to the class price to ascertain the value of the milk in such class at its actual butterfat test. The testimony indicates that order application will be clarified if separate class prices for the skim milk and butterfat components in milk are computed and announced. Such separate prices are essential in making audit adjustments concerning classification where the adjustment may be related to skim milk or butterfat individually rather than to whole milk. At present it is necessary to derive separate skim milk and butterfat prices by adding an appropriate butterfat differential to the price per hundredweight of milk for use in billings related to audit adjustments, but such prices are not published. The proposal to compute and announce separate class prices for butterfat and skim milk relates to an administrative problem only and no objection or counter evidence was offered. Such a change would not of itself affect the cost to handlers for either class of milk. It is concluded that the proposed change should be adopted.

(2) Class II milk, as currently defined, should be combined with Class I milk; Class III milk should be redesignated as Class II milk to be priced in accordance with the present Class III price formula.

Producers proposed a merger of Class II milk and Class I milk at the Class I price level. It is the practice in this market to ship in as whole milk in fluid form all milk of producers needed in the marketing area for milk, cream and other products for which approved milk is required under local health regulations. Cream for use in the marketing area is not separated at country points but is made at plants in the marketing area. Some cream, however, is shipped into the market during times of shortage from the nearby market of Chicago and Chicago handlers distribute some cream, as well as milk, within the marketing area which is derived from milk covered by Order No. 41. The costs to Rockford-Freeport producers of producing milk for use as cream and other products now in Class II milk, insofar as the sanitary standards have any effect, are comparable to those of producing milk for Class I uses. From the standpoint of bulk and perishability there also is a high degree of comparability between the products now covered by each of such classes. Under present conditions, there is no significant difference in economic value between the skim milk and butterfat in Class I milk as compared with such Class II milk.

The reclassification adopted would increase the price of skim milk in products covered by the present definition of Class II milk by approximately 38 cents per hundredweight. The butterfat component of cream and other Class II products would not be increased in price to any appreciable extent by the proposed change since the butterfat differential for Class II milk has been the same as for Class I and the change in the butterfat differential adopted elsewhere in this decision for the newly defined Class I milk will have only slight effect upon the price of butterfat in such class. It may be noted also that the cost per hundredweight of cream as computed in accordance with the price provisions of the Chicago order is slightly in excess of the cost computed at the Class I prices for skim milk and butterfat under the Rockford-Freeport order. The reclassification does not place on Rockford-Freeport handlers a higher cost for skim milk and butterfat in cream than is paid by Chicago handlers. It is concluded that the proposed change in classification should be made.

This change makes appropriate the redesignation of Class III milk as Class II milk. However, no evidence was offered to change the price formula applicable to milk utilized in the products affected. Such milk will continue to be priced on the basis of the formula currently applied to Class III milk.

(3) The provisions for governing the computation of the uniform prices to producers should be revised.

The principal objective of "pooling" in an order is to distribute returns from the sale of milk equitably among producers. This is also one of the functions of the cooperative associations which represent producers. The record indicates that over a long period the cooperative associations in the Rockford-Freeport market not only have assumed major responsibility for the importation of supplementary supplies of milk for fluid use when necessary but also have assumed the burden of disposing of the daily and seasonal reserves of milk. Prior to the introduction of the market-wide pool in July 1951 the effect of the latter action by the associations, i. e., removing or diverting reserve milk to manufacturing plants, had been to raise the uniform price to the non-member producers whose milk remained in the plants of proprietary handler. This, in turn, reduced relatively the returns available for member producers and placed such producers at a price disadvantage with non-member producers. This was particularly significant to the Freeport association. Had the handlers who purchase milk from such association themselves diverted all the surplus to manufacturing channels, the returns from the sale of milk would have been distributed equitably among all their producers, including association members. The Rockford association was not affected to an important degree in this connection because virtually all producers delivering to Rockford plants are members of the association. Provisions for the payment to all producers (and associations of producers) delivering milk to all handlers of uniform prices for all milk so delivered irrespective of the uses made of such milk by the individual handler to whom it is delivered were introduced into the order in July 1951. These provisions were intended primarily to ameliorate the problem outlined. However, this pooling arrangement provided as well for equalization of returns between producers at Freeport plants and those at Rockford plants.

Freeport's milk supply is sufficient to cover the needs of Freeport handlers in the season of lowest production while at Rockford plants it has been customary to import supplementary supplies. The present record indicates that volume and cost considerations make it impractical for Rockford handlers to utilize reserve milk originating in the Freeport segment of the marketing area when supplementary supplies are needed. Thus, Rockford producers are sharing the higher value of their milk as utilized by Rockford handlers with Freeport producers without the practical possibility of using supplies received by Freeport handlers when shortages develop at Rockford. Without any adjustment in prices between the Rockford and Freeport plants the pool arrangement in operation has not been satisfactory and has resulted in the voluntary re-payment by the Freeport association to the Rockford association of amounts which assure the latter of approximately the total value of their milk as utilized by Rockford handlers. Also, the Rockford plants are affected to a greater extent in the procurement of milk supplies by the somewhat higher prices of Chicago handlers in the inner zones of the Chicago market. In view of these circumstances and customary price differences between Rockford and Freeport plants it is reasonable to provide an adjustment in the uniform price to producers which will result in distribution to Rockford producers of the higher utilization value of their milk as disposed of by Rockford handlers. It is concluded that an adjustment should be made in the uniform price computation which will accomplish such objective.

(4) A separate pool arrangement for each handler should not be adopted.

Rockford handlers proposed the adoption of individual-handler pools to replace the method of distributing among producers the returns due from the sale of their milk. This proposal has been considered in relation to the entire pooling problem and it is concluded that the plan discussed under (3) above will provide a more satisfactory method of distributing producer returns under present circumstances relating to the production and marketing of producer milk. In view of the adoption of the plan discussed under (3) above, the request for individual-handler pools is denied.

(5) The shrinkage allowance in Class III milk (to be redesignated Class II milk) should not be eliminated at this time.

Producer associations proposed elimination of the shrinkage allowance (2 percent maximum) on producer milk at the lowest class price. Under the proposal all losses of skim milk or butterfat would be priced as Class I milk.

This proposal was supported on the grounds that (a) the bulk of shrinkage experienced by Rockford-Freeport handlers results from fluid milk and cream operations since only small volumes of milk are received by such handlers for Class III purposes, (b) the manufacturing price formula applicable to Class III milk allows for the inevitable shrinkage, or loss, which occurs in the processing of milk products, and (c) the classification of milk according to use would be simplified. Handlers opposed the reclassification of the shrinkage allowance mainly on the basis that the distributor of milk in the Rockford market with the greatest volume of sales is regulated under the Chicago order and is permitted a shrinkage allowance at the lowest class price provided by the latter order.

Considered independently of other issues there is some merit to the basis on which the shrinkage proposal was submitted. However, a substantial amount of evidence was introduced into the record by producers in support of the proposition that the Class I cost (per hundredweight) of milk to handlers under the Rockford-Freeport order should be made as comparable as possible to that of the competing Chicago handler referred to above who distributes approximately 50 percent of the bottled milk sold in the city of Rockford. The price proposals presented by producers appear to have this as a main objective and the price and classification changes adopted elsewhere in this decision have been designed with such an aim in mind. It does not appear that the proposed change would assist in improving such cost relationship between handlers under different orders. It is concluded that the shrinkage allowance in question should not be changed at this time.

(6) The size of the marketing area should not be changed.

Rockford and Freeport handlers proposed elimination of the city of Freeport and its environs from the marketing area covered by the order. Producers supplying Freeport, however, urged the continuance of regulation covering the Freeport market and testified as to the benefits received from the order.

In support of their position handlers testified that there is little interchange of milk between Rockford and Freeport and that conditions affecting the production and marketing of producer milk are not comparable for the two areas. The record shows, however, that both communities are within the milkshed of Chicago and have highly similar problems in relation to the latter market. In view of the expansion of the latter market salewise in recent years, a high degree of integration exists among the three markets. It may not be concluded from the record that the three markets are completely separate and distinct in their marketing problems. The amendments adopted should remove the principal objections of the Rockford handlers to a single order covering both communities. Interruption of the benefits which Freeport producers gain from the regulation was not justified on the record. The request for the elimination of Freeport and its suburbs from the marketing area therefore is denied.

(7) The provisions governing the classification of milk, skim milk and cream transferred or diverted by a handler to an unapproved plant should be modified and clarified.

The current provisions governing transfers and diversions of milk, skim milk and cream to unapproved plants located within 100 miles of the marketing area provide that milk or skim milk so moved shall be Class I milk and cream moved shall be Class II unless certain prescribed conditions are met. One of these conditions is the filing of a claim in writing by the handler on or before the 8th day after the end of the delivery period in which the transaction occurred of other utilization of the transferred or diverted item based on written statements by both buyer and seller as to actual use. Experience with this type of provision has shown that it is not always practicable for the receiver to file a statement of utilization in time for use in connection with the monthly pool computation. Since the provision adopted prescribes a definite basis for an audit and ultimate classification at the unapproved plant, it does not appear necessary to involve the buyer with the necessity of making a written statement of utilization to the market administrator within a prescribed period of time. If the handler makes a report of utilization with respect to such milk, skim milk or cream in connection with his regular report of receipts and utilization, the information necessary to the pool computation will be available. It is concluded, therefore, that in dealing with such movements within this market where the ramifications of such movements are not extensive, written statements of utilization concerning such transferred items other than the handler's regular monthly report pursuant to § 991.30 need not be required.

The transfer provisions under consideration should be revised further to insure consistency with the change in classification terminology adopted elsewhere in this decision and to clarify such provisions in certain details.

(8) The definitions of "producer-handler" and "handler" should not be revised so as to provide for certain requested exemptions.

One distributor proposed a revision of the definition of "producer-handler" to include (a) any person who receives milk other than his own production or milk purchased from a blood relative or a relative by marriage, and (b) any operator of an approved plant who processes less than 2500 pounds of milk per day. It was proposed also that the definition of a "handler" be revised to specifically exclude any plant operator who processes less than 2500 pounds of milk per day.

If orderly marketing is to be accomplished and equitable treatment given to those regulated, it is necessary that the order be administered fairly and impartially as to all handlers regardless of size or family relationship. The producer-handler who handles only milk of his own production maintains control of his milk until ultimate disposition and in this respect his situation is entirely different from the regular producer whose milk is marketed by another person (handler). For this reason and because the administrative burden would be increased without assisting in a substantial measure to the stability of the market for other producers, those persons who are producer-handlers in fact have been made exempt from regulation other than for certain reporting requirements. The expansion of activity by a producer-handler through the purchase of milk from another person places him in direct competition purchase-wise with other handlers for milk supplies and the person from whom milk is purchased is placed in the same category as other producers. To exempt a producer-handler who receives milk from other producers might well place such producer-handler in a position to purchase supplies of milk at a price advantage in relation to his competitors in the distribution of milk. Moreover, uniform pricing treatment, as provided by the statute, is required for all producers regardless of any family relationships which may be involved between buyer and seller. Similarly, an exemption based upon the handling of less than 2500 pounds of milk per day (or 75,000 pounds per month) would be a disturbing element in a market of the size of Freeport and might well result in creating a difficult competitive situation for other handlers under the regulation.

Petitioner contended further that he could not comply with the order because the cost of record-keeping involved is prohibited to his operations. This contention may not be considered an appropriate reason for exemption since the order places no obligation on the petitioner different from those applicable to handlers generally. In view of the foregoing considerations, it is concluded that the definitions of "producer-handler" and "handler" should not be changed.

(9) The average wholesale price of cheese ("Cheddars") at Wisconsin primary markets as computed and reported by the United States Department of Agriculture should be substituted for the average wholesale price of cheese ("Cheddars") on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange in the computation of the basic formula price.

The quotation for cheese at Wisconsin primary markets is reported 4 days a week and is based on actual sales of cheese. The Wisconsin Cheese Exchange meets only once a week so that the price determination based on sales or bids and offers for cheese on such Exchange is reported only once a week. The volume of cheese sold on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange generally is small in relation to the total volume of cheese sold at Wisconsin primary markets. Moreover, there have been numerous occasions when no sales of cheese were made on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange. Frequently, it has been necessary to use either bids or offers rather than prices from actual sales for order purposes. Since the Wisconsin primary markets quotation has been available there have been only few instances when sufficient sales have not been made on which to base a report. In view of these facts it is concluded that the price of cheese at Wisconsin primary markets is the more representative report to use for price formula purposes.

The types of transaction on which the two cheese prices discussed above are based are similar—both are for the same type of cheese and are for cheese loaded for shipping at assembling points. The quotations differ, however, in that the price at primary markets includes a charge for certain services such as packaging and assembling while these charges are not included in the Exchange price but are made as a separate charge to the purchaser. The primary markets price customarily is higher than the Exchange price. In the last year or two the difference has averaged about 1.3 cents per pound. Since no evidence was submitted to show that the basic formula price should be increased, 1.3 cents should be deducted from the primary markets price to result in a level comparable with the Exchange price.

(10) Certain changes of an administrative character should be made.

The amendments adopted require revision of certain other provisions in order to provide consistency of language and effect. It is concluded that these and other minor revisions should be made for the purpose of clarification. Among these is the elimination of the definition of "delivery period." All accounting, reports, price computations and payments are made on a monthly basis. The terms "month" and "monthly" used throughout the order in their ordinary and usual meaning as referring to one of the twelve divisions of the year (such as February, June, August, etc.) remove the need of such definition. However, the use of the terms "month" and "monthly" within the text of the order shall not be construed to prevent the issuance by the Secretary of any amendment to the order to be effective on any day of a month.

A suggestion was made at the hearing to allow two days' additional time for the payment of moneys due to or due from the producer-settlement fund and due to producers and associations under the market-wide pool because of unavoidable mail delays. This suggestion has been adopted. This action necessarily requires changes in the dates by which payments must be made by handlers to producers and cooperative associations.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on briefs. Briefs were filed on behalf of the Central Dairy Co., et al., Townview Dairy (Rockford and Freeport handlers), the Midwest Dairymen's Company, and the Stephenson County Pure Milk Association. The briefs contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and argument with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the brief are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 991.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat, in any form, received within the month by a handler, in producer milk, in other source milk, or from another handler shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to the provisions of §§ 991.41 through 991.46.

§ 991.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in § 991.43 and § 991.44 the skim milk and butterfat described in § 991.40 shall be classified separately by the market administrator on the basis of the following classes:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat;

(1) Disposed of (except as provided in paragraph (b) (4) of this section) (i) in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drink, cream, any mixture which contains cream and milk or skim milk (not including ice cream mix) and not less than 6 percent butterfat, and eggnog, and (ii) in fluid or frozen form as concentrated milk, flavored milk, and flavored milk drink not sterilized; and

(2) Not specifically accounted for as any item included under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph or as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat:

(1) Used to produce a milk product other than any of those specified in paragraph (a) (1) of this section;

(2) In actual plant shrinkage of producer milk computed pursuant to § 991.42, but not in excess of 2 percent thereof;

(3) In inventory variation of milk, skim milk, cream or of any Class I milk product;

(4) In skim milk, flavored milk, flavored milk drink or buttermilk dumped or disposed of for livestock feed; and

(5) In actual plant shrinkage of other source milk computed pursuant to § 991.42.

§ 991.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk and in other source milk in the following manner:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, between producer milk and other source milk after deducting receipts from other handlers.

§ 991.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat shall be Class I milk, unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat (except that transferred to a producer-handler) classified in one class shall be reclassified if used or reused by such handler or by another handler in another class.

§ 991.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

(a) As Class I milk if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream, to the regulated plant of another handler (except a producer-handler) unless utilization as Class II milk is mutually indicated in writing to the market administrator by both handlers on or before the 8th day after the end of the month within which such transaction occurred: Provided, That skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk shall be limited to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the plant of the transferee-handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 991.46 (a) (2), and any excess of such skim milk or butterfat, respectively, shall be assigned to Class I milk: And provided further, That in no event shall skim milk or butterfat so transferred or diverted be so classified that other source milk is assigned to any higher class in the plant of the transferring handler than the lowest class to which producer milk (other than allowable shrinkage) is assigned in the plant of the transferee-handler, after application of the allocation provisions of § 991.46.

(b) As Class I milk if moved in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to (1) a producer-handler, or (2) any unapproved plant located 100 miles or more from the marketing area, by shortest highway distance as determined by the market administrator.

(c) According to his reported utilization, if moved in the form of milk, skim milk or cream to any unapproved plant from which no route is operated wholly or partially within the marketing area and which is not a plant covered by paragraph (b) of this section: Provided, That (1) the receiver (operator of the unapproved plant) maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat received at such plant from all sources, (2) if the reported utilization is Class II milk, the quantity of skim milk or butterfat transferred or diverted which may be allowed in such class shall not exceed the total amount of skim milk or butterfat, respectively, which the market administrator can establish definitely on the basis of such books and records as having been used by the receiver in Class II milk (as defined in § 991.41) in the month in which the milk, skim milk or cream so moved was received in the unapproved plant, and (3) any quantity in excess of such established Class II use shall be Class I milk: And provided further, That if such books and records are not made available to the market administrator at his request, the total quantity of skim milk and butterfat contained in the milk, skim milk or cream transferred or diverted by the handler shall be Class I milk.

§ 991.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handler.

§ 991.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. (a) The pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the following computations shall be the pounds in such class allocated to producer milk;

(1) Subtract plant shrinkage of skim milk in producer milk pursuant to § 991.41 (b) (2) from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk;

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk (to the extent available), the pounds of skim milk in other source milk received during September through December, inclusive, in bulk as milk, skim milk or cream, in fluid form from a plant where milk is priced under the class price provisions of a marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for another fluid milk marketing area;

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class, in series beginning with available Class II milk, the pounds of skim milk in other source milk not otherwise subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph;

(4) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the skim milk received from other handlers and assigned pursuant to § 991.44; and

(5) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; or if the remaining pounds of skim milk in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in producer milk, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of skim milk in series beginning with Class II milk.

(b) Allocate classified butterfat to producer milk according to the method prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for skim milk.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 991.50 Class I milk prices. (a) The minimum price per hundredweight, on a 3.5 percent butterfat content basis, for Grade A producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Rockford plants and classified as Class I milk, shall be the price as determined for the month for the 55–70 mile zone pursuant to § 941.52 (a) (1) of this chapter, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area issued pursuant to the act, plus 4 cents.

(b) The minimum price per hundredweight, on a 3.5 percent butterfat content basis, for Grade A producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Freeport plants and classified as Class I milk shall be the price determined for the month for the 85–100 mile zone pursuant to § 941.52 (a) (1) of this chapter, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area issued pursuant to the act, plus 4 cents.

(c) The minimum price per hundredweight for non-Grade A producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Rockford plants and classified as Class I milk shall be the Class I price computed pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, less 10 cents.

(d) The minimum price per hundredweight for non-Grade A producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Freeport plants and classified as Class I milk shall be the Class I price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, less 10 cents.

§ 991.51 Class II milk price. The minimum price per hundredweight, on a 3.5 percent butterfat basis, for producer milk classified as Class II milk shall be the highest of the prices per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content determined by the market administrator for the month pursuant to paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) of this section, computed to the nearest tenth of a cent.

(a) The average of the prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for such month to farmers for milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat content delivered during such month at each of the following listed manufacturing plants or places for which prices are reported to the Department or to the market administrator:

(b) Class II milk. Multiply by 1.20 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month in which the producer milk to be priced was received, and divide the result by 10.

§ 991.53 Computation of prices of skim milk and butterfat. The prices per hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat to be paid by each handler for producer milk in each class shall be computed as follows: For each class, respectively, the price per hundredweight of skim milk shall be the applicable class price for the month (§§ 991.50 and 991.51) less the result of multiplying the applicable class butterfat differential for the month (§ 991.52) by 35. For each class, respectively, the price per hundredweight of butterfat shall be the applicable class price for the month plus the result of multiplying the applicable class butterfat differential for the month by 965.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 991.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 991.40 through 991.46, 991.50 through 991.55, 991.70 through 991.72, and 991.80 through 991.84, shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 991.61 Milk subject to pricing under other Federal orders. Except as follows, milk priced under any other Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act for any other fluid milk marketing area shall not be subject to the provisions of this subpart:

(a) If such milk is disposed of on a route wholly or partially in the marketing area operated by or for a person subject to regulation as a handler under another order, such person shall report as requested by the market administrator, but shall not otherwise be considered a handler under this subpart;

(b) If such milk is received at the regulated plant of a handler subject to the provisions of this subpart in any form other than those stated in § 991.15 (c) and (d), it shall be considered as other source milk; or

(c) If the provisions of the order for the other milk marketing area provide for determination as to the order under which milk shall be priced, the Secretary shall so determine.

§ 991.62 Uniform price and producer payment provisions. Sections 991.70, 991.71, 991.72, and 991.80 through 991.84 shall be applied separately to (a) producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Rockford plants, and (b) producer milk received at, or diverted by a cooperative association from, Freeport plants: Provided, That under both (a) and (b) of this section, further separation shall be made for the purposes of §§ 991.40 through 991.46, 991.70 through 991.72, and 991.80 through 991.84 with respect to non-Grade A producer milk.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICES

§ 991.70 Computation of value of producer milk. The value of producer milk received during each month by each handler shall be computed by the market administrator by multiplying the pounds of skim milk and the pounds of butterfat in each class for such handler pursuant to § 991.46, by the applicable skim milk and butterfat prices computed pursuant to § 991.53, adding together the resulting amounts, and adding to this sum the amounts computed as follows: Multiply the pounds subtracted from the various classes pursuant to §§ 991.46 (a) (5) and 991.46 (b) by the applicable skim milk and butterfat prices.

§ 991.71 Computation of uniform Price. For each month the market administrator shall compute separate "uniform prices" per hundredweight for producer milk (3.5 percent butterfat content) for Rockford plants and for Freeport plants, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 991.70 (and subject to the provisions of § 991.62) for all handlers who made the reports pursuant to § 991.30 except those in default of payments required pursuant to § 991.83 for the preceding month;

(b) Subtract, if the weighted average butterfat test of producer milk represented is greater than 3.5 percent, or add, if such butterfat test is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the difference from 3.5 percent of such weighted average butterfat test, by the producer butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 991.81 and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(c) Add an amount representing the cash balance on hand in the applicable producer-settlement fund less the amount of unpaid obligations to handlers pursuant to §§ 991.84 and 991.87: Provided, That for the first month for which § 991.62 is effective the amount which was deducted pursuant to § 991.71 (e) for the preceding month shall be added under this paragraph on a pro rata basis according to the quantities of producer milk represented by paragraphs (a) and (b) of § 991.62;

(d) Divide by the hundredweight of producer milk; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents but less than 5 cents (adjusting to the nearest full cent) from the amount per hundredweight computed under paragraph (d) of this section.

§ 991.72 Notification to handlers. On or before the 11th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall mail to each handler at his last known address, a statement showing (a) the amount and value of his milk in each class and the totals thereof; (b) the applicable minimum class prices and uniform price; (c) the amount owed by him to, or the amount due him from, the producer-settlement fund, pursuant to § 991.83 or § 991.84; and (d) the amounts to be paid by him pursuant to §§ 991.80, 991.85, 991.86 and 991.87.

PAYMENTS

§ 991.80 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payments as follows:

(a) On or before the 18th day after the end of each month, to each producer, except producers for whom payment is made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, at not less than the applicable uniform price for such month pursuant to § 991.71 adjusted by the producer butterfat differential pursuant to § 991.81, for all milk received from such producer during such month: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 991.84, he may reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight for all producers by an amount not in excess of the per hundredweight reduction in payment from the market administrator: And provided further, That such handler shall make such balance of payment to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

(b) On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, to a cooperative association with respect to milk caused to be delivered from producers' farms to such handler by such association for its account during such month not less than the value of such milk computed at the applicable uniform price, adjusted by the producer butterfat differential pursuant to § 991.81.

§ 991.81 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 991.80 there shall be added to, or subtracted from, the uniform price, for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in such producer milk above or below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter at Chicago as reported by the Department during the month in which the producer milk to be priced was received, by 0.12 and rounding to the nearest tenth of a cent.

§ 991.82 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to § 991.83 and payments related thereto pursuant to § 991.87 and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to § 991.84 and payments related thereto pursuant to § 991.87.

§ 991.83 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator the amount by which the value of producer milk (§ 991.70) received by such handler during such month is greater than the total of amounts to be paid pursuant of § 991.80.

§ 991.84 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 16th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler the amount by which the value of producer milk (§ 991.70) received by such handler during each month is less than the sum of amounts due pursuant to §§ 991.80, 991.85, 991.86 and 991.87: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section, the market administrator shall reduce such payments uniformly per hundredweight and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available.

§ 991.85 Expense of administration. As his prorata share of the expenses incurred pursuant to § 991.22 (d) each handler shall pay the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of each month, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary from time to time may prescribe, with respect to producer milk (including such handler's own production) and other source milk (excluding that subject to administrative expense assessment under another Federal milk marketing agreement or order issued pursuant to the act) received during such month.

§ 991.86 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler for each month shall deduct 5 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 5 cents per hundredweight as may be prescribed by the Secretary, from the payments made to each producer pursuant to § 991.80, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of such month. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to check weights, samples and tests of producer milk received by handlers and to provide producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of producers for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, but for whom such cooperative association does not receive payment for milk, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from the payment to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers and on or before the 15th day after the end of such month pay every such deduction to the cooperative association rendering such services.

§ 991.87 Adjustment of accounts. (a) Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records or accounts disclose errors resulting in moneys due (1) the market administrator from such handler, (2) such handler from the market administrator, or (3) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred following the 5th day after such notice.

(b) An unpaid obligation of a handler shall bear interest at the rate of one-half of one percent per month, such interest to accrue on the first day of the month next following the due date of such obligation and on the first day of each month thereafter until such obligation is paid.

§ 991.88 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this subpart for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the market involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this subpart to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 991.90 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart or any amendments to this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 991.91 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this subpart or any provision of this subpart whenever he finds that this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This subpart shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 991.92 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 991.93 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent, as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

§ 991.94 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 991.95 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this subpart, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

MINIMUM WAGE RATES IN LUMBER AND WOOD PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

NOTICE OF PROPOSED DECISION

On December 12, 1951, pursuant to section 5 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, hereinafter called the act, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, by Administrative Order No. 417, apointed Special Industry Committee No. 11 for Puerto Rico (hereinafter called the "Committee") and directed the Committee to investigate conditions in a number of industries in Puerto Rico specified and defined in the order, including the lumber and wood products industry in Puerto Rico (hereinafter called the "industry"), and to recommend minimum wage rates for employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such industries.

For purposes of investigating conditions in and recommending minimum wage rates for the industry, the Committee included three disinterested persons representing the public, a like number representing employers, and a like number representing employees in the industry, and was composed of residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

After investigating economic and competitive conditions in the industry, the Committee filed with the Administrator a report containing (a) its recommendation that the industry be divided into separable divisions for the purpose of fixing minimum wage rates, (b) the titles and definitions recommended by the Committee for such separable divisions of the industry; and (c) its recommendations for minimum wage rates to be paid employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such divisions of the industry.

Pursuant to notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 15, 1952 (17 F. R. 2285-2288) and circulated to all interested persons, a public hearing upon the Committee's recommendations was held before Hearing Examiner E. West Parkinson, as presiding officer, in Washington, D. C., on April 24, 1952, at which all interested parties were given an opportunity to be heard. After the hearing was closed the record of the hearing was certified to the Administrator by the presiding officer.

Upon reviewing all the evidence adduced in this proceeding, and after giving consideration to the provisions of the act, particularly sections 5 and 8 thereof, I have concluded that the recommendations of the Committee for a minimum wage rate of 42 cents per hour in the lumber and millwork division, and 38 cents per hour in the furniture, woodenware and miscellaneous wood products division, as defined, were made in accordance with law, are supported by the evidence adduced at the hearing, and, taking into consideration the same factors as are required to be considered by the Committee, will carry out the purposes of sections 5 and 8 of the act.

I have set forth my decision in a document entitled, "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 11 for Puerto Rico for Minimum Wage Rates in the Lumber and Wood Products Industry in Puerto Rico," a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) and the rules of practice governing this proceeding, that I propose to approve the recommendations of the Committee for this industry and revise this part to read as set forth below to carry such recommendations into effect.

Within 15 days from publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, interested parties may submit written exceptions to the proposed actions above described. Exceptions should be addressed to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. They should be submitted in quadruplicate, and should include supporting reasons for any exceptions.

NEVADA

CLASSIFICATION ORDER

JUNE 6, 1952.

1. Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Director, Bureau of Land Management, by Order No. 427 dated August 16, 1950, I hereby classify under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609), as amended July 14, 1945 (59 Stat. 467, 43 U. S. C. 682a), as hereinafter indicated, the following described lands in the Nevada land district, embracing approximately 40 acres.

NEVADA SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION NO. 66

For lease and sale for homesites only:

T. 21 S., R. 61 E., M. D. M.
Sec. 32, SE¼NW¼.

The lands are situated in Clark County, Nevada, 12 miles south of the City of Las Vegas, Nevada. Las Vegas is one of the largest towns in the State of Nevada and has all of the usual facilities, such as schools, churches, hospitals, business establishments, etc. They are in an area famous for recreational activities, and the climate is considered ideal from a winter resort standpoint. Summer temperatures are quite high.

2. As to applications regularly filed prior to 11:00 a. m., May 26, 1952, and are for the type of site for which the land is classified, this order shall become effective upon the date it is signed.

3. This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of such lands until 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to applications under the Small Tract Act as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the public lands affected by this order shall be subject only to application under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended, by qualified veterans of World War II, subject to the requirements of applicable law. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. All applications filed under this paragraph after 10:00 a. m. on the said 35th day shall be considered in the order of filing.

(b) Date for non-preference-right filings. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, any lands remaining unappropriated shall become subject to disposal under the Small Tract Act only. All such applications filed either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

4. A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic or other copy (both sides), of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of the service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their application by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

5. All of the lands will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres, each being approximately 330 by 660 feet, the longer dimension to extend north and south.

6. Preference right leases referred to in paragraph 2 will be issued for the land described in the application irrespective of the direction of the tract, provided the tract conforms to or is made to conform to the area and the dimension specified in paragraph 5.

7. Where only one 5-acre tract in a 10-acre subdivision is embraced in a preference right application, an application for the remaining 5-acre tract extending in the same direction will be accepted in order to fill out the subdivision notwithstanding the direction specified in paragraph 5.

8. Leases will be for a period of three years at an annual rental of $5.00 payable for the entire lease period in advance of the issuance of the lease. Leases will contain an option to purchase clause at the appraised value of $150.00 per tract, application for which may be filed during the term of the lease but not more than 30 days prior to the expiration of one year from the date of the lease issuance.

9. Tracts will be subject to all existing rights-of-way and to rights-of-way not exceeding 33 feet in width along or near the edges thereof for road purposes and public utilities. Such rights-of-way may be utilized by the Federal Government, or the State, County or municipality in which the tract is situated, or by any agency thereof. The rights-of-way may, in the discretion of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, be definitely located prior to the issuance of the patent. If not so located, they may be subject to location after patent is issued.

10. All inquiries relating to these lands should be addressed to the Manager, Nevada Land and Survey Office, Reno, Nevada.

L. T. HOFFMAN,
Regional Administrator.

HUGO SALES COMMISSION COMPANY, HUGO, OKLA.

DEPOSTING OF STOCKYARD

It has been ascertained that the Hugo Sales Commission Company, Hugo, Oklahoma, originally posted on November 30, 1949, as being subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act, 1921, as amended (7 U. S. C. 181 et seq.), no longer comes within the definition of a stockyard under said act for the reason that it no longer meets the area requirements. Therefore, notice is given to the owner of such stockyard and to the public that such stockyard is no longer subject to the provisions of said act.

Notice of public rule making has not preceded promulgation of the foregoing rule since it is found that the giving of such notice would prevent the due and timely administration of the Packers and Stockyards Act and would, therefore, be impractical. There is no legal warrant or justification for not depositing promptly a stockyard which no longer meets the area requirements of the act and is, therefore, no longer a stockyard within the definition contained in said act.

The foregoing rule is in the nature of a rule granting an exemption or relieving a restriction and, therefore, may be made effective in less than 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER. This notice shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The use and disposal of 110,000 pounds of primary polyethylene obtained by the application of DO ratings for a purpose other than that for which the rating assistance was given.

In order to correct the unauthorized use of primary polyethylene occasioned by the violations found herein, and in order to prevent future violations of the National Production Authority's regulations, orders, and directives by these respondents,

MISSISSIPPI RIVER FUEL CORP. ET AL.

ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

JUNE 10, 1952.

In the matter of Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, Docket Nos. G-1281, G-1454, G-1490, G-1505, G-1510, G-1524, G-1653, G-1755, and G-1932; St. Charles Gas Corp., Docket No. G-1739; Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, Docket No. G-1797; Interstate Natural Gas Company, Inc., and Hope Producing Company, Docket No. G-1822.

On March 25, 1952, the Commission entered an order in the above-entitled proceedings, exclusive of the proceeding involving the application filed on April 4, 1952, by Mississippi River Fuel Corporation (Mississippi) in Docket No. G-1932, that consolidated the proceedings for purpose of hearing, and that provided that a public hearing be held commencing on May 12, 1952, concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by the applications and other pleadings filed in the proceedings, including but not limited to, as specified in subparagraphs (B) (i), (ii), and (iii) of the order, the matters of: "(i) Mississippi's actual and prospective capacities for the delivery and sale of natural gas, (ii) the need for, if any, change in Mississippi's service rules and regulations, now in effect upon an interim basis, to govern Mississippi's future deliveries and sale of natural gas, and (iii) the character, scope and provisions of any such changes to such service rules and regulations."

In the proceedings consolidated by the aforesaid order dated March 25, 1952, the Commission on May 15, 1952, entered an order denying the motion filed therein by Mississippi on May 5, 1952, requesting that the matters of St. Charles Gas Corp., Docket No. G-1739, and Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, Docket No. G-1797, and the matters set forth in subparagraphs (B) (i), (ii) and (iii) of the said March 25, 1952, order, be severed and considered separately. Paragraph (B) of the aforesaid May 15, 1952, order provided as follows:

(B) The public hearing provided by the Commission's aforesaid order dated March 25, 1952, herein:

(i) Shall proceed forthwith to conclusion upon all matters involved in the above-entitled consolidated proceedings with the exception of the matters involving the applications of St. Charles Gas Corp. in Docket No. G-1739 and Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company in Docket No. G-1797, and with the exception of those matters specified in paragraph (B) (i), (ii), and (iii) of the aforesaid order dated March 25, 1952; and

(ii) Shall thereupon be postponed, subject to further order of the Commission, with respect to the excepted matters specified in the next preceding subparagraph hereof.

Pursuant to the said May 15, 1952, order, the hearing upon the excepted matters specified in paragraph (B) (i) of the order has been postponed; the hearing upon the other matters was concluded on May 15, 1952.

On April 4, 1952, in Docket No. G-1932, Mississippi filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the abandonment, relocation, construction and operation of certain natural gas transmission pipeline facilities, as described in said application now on file with the Commission and open for public inspection. Public notice of the filing of this application has been given, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 1, 1952 (17 F. R. 3863). The proposed abandonment, relocation, construction and operation of the facilities applied for, according to the application, will have the effect of increasing Mississippi's "rated daily sales capacity" to 450,000 Mcf per day. Mississippi has requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided for by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)). Petitions to intervene have been filed in the proceeding in Docket No. G-1932. Additionally, the applicants in Docket Nos. G-1739 and G-1797 have requested that hearings upon their applications be held with or at the same time that a hearing is held upon Mississippi's application in Docket No. G-1932. In the circumstances the proceeding in Docket No. G-1932 does not appear to be a proper one for disposition under the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

The Commission finds: It is appropriate for carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and good cause exists to consolidate for purpose of hearing the proceedings heretofore consolidated for purpose of hearing in Docket Nos. G-1281, G-1454, G-1490, G-1505, G-1510, G-1524, G-1653, G-1739, G-1755, G-1797, and G-1822, as hereinafter provided and ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceeding in Docket No. G-1932 be and the same is hereby consolidated for purpose of hearing with the proceedings heretofore consolidated for such purpose in Docket Nos. G-1281, G-1454, G-1490, G-1505, G-1510, G-1524, G-1653, G-1739, G-1755, G-1797 and G-1822.

(B) Pursuant to authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 5, 7, 15 and 16 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and pursuant to the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR Part 1), a public hearing be held commencing on July 14, 1952, at 10 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning:

(i) The matters involved and the issues presented by the application and other pleadings filed In the Matter of Mississippi River Fuel Corporation, Docket No. G-1932;

(ii) The matters involved and the issues presented by the application and other pleadings filed In the Matter of St. Charles Gas Corp., Docket No. G-1739;

(iii) The matters involved and issues presented by the application and other pleadings filed In the Matter of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company, Docket No. G-1797; and

(iv) The matters involved and issues related to Mississippi's actual and prospective capacities for delivery and sales of natural gas; the need, if any, for change in Mississippi's service rules and regulations, currently in effect upon an interim basis, to govern Mississippi's future deliveries and sales of natural gas; and the character, scope and provisions of any such changes to such service rules and regulations.

(C) The transcript of record in the proceedings held in Docket Nos. G-1281, G-1454, G-1490, G-1505, G-1510, G-1524, G-1653, G-1739, G-1755, G-1797, and G-1822, be and the same is hereby made a part of the record in the proceedings hereby consolidated for purposes of hearing: Provided, however, That this action shall be without prejudice to the issuance by the Commission of such order or orders in the proceedings as may from time to time appear to be appropriate and justified by the facts appearing of record.

(D) Interested state commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: June 12, 1952.

WISCONSIN RIVER POWER CO. ET AL.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER AUTHORIZING MODIFICATION OF STOCK PURCHASE AGREEMENT

JUNE 12, 1952.

In the matter of Wisconsin River Power Company, Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, Wisconsin Power and Light Company; File No. 70-1656.

The Commission by order dated January 29, 1948, having granted and permitted to become effective a joint application-declaration filed by Wisconsin River Power Company ("River"), then a newly organized corporation; Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, a public utility subsidiary of Standard Power and Light Corporation and Standard Gas and Electric Company, both registered holding companies; and Wisconsin Power and Light Company, then a public utility subsidiary of The Middle West Corporation and North West Utilities Company, also registered holding companies, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act, regarding, inter alia, the issuance and sale by River of its common stock and the acquisition thereof by Wisconsin Public Service Corporation, Wisconsin Power and Light Company, and an unaffiliated non-utility company in accordance with the terms of a stock purchase agreement; said stock purchase agreement having provided in substance that the acquiring companies would purchase in approximately equal shares sufficient stock of River to provide all the completed cost of certain hydroelectric plants to be constructed by River which was not provided by the proceeds of the issuance by River of its First Mortgage Bonds; and

Applicants-declarants having filed, pursuant to Rule U-24, a post-effective amendment proposing certain modifications of the stock purchase agreement which will, in effect, permit the use of River's retained earnings in lieu of the sale of additional stock in the event that the completed cost of the project may exceed the proceeds of River's presently outstanding securities, namely $10,000,000 of First Mortgage Bonds and $9,360,000 par value common stock; and

The Commission having examined said post-effective amendment and finding with respect to said application-declaration, as further amended, that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and rules thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said joint application-declaration, as further amended, be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-24 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said joint application-declaration, as further amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

CENTRAL PUBLIC UTILITY CORP. AND CONSOLIDATED ELECTRIC AND GAS CO.

ORDER GRANTING JOINT APPLICATION CONCERNED WITH INDIRECT ACQUISITION BY PARENT HOLDING COMPANIES OF SECURITIES OF NON-AFFILIATED BUS CO.

JUNE 12, 1952.

Central Public Utility Corporation ("Central Public"), a registered holding company, and its direct and wholly owned subsidiary, Consolidated Electric and Gas Company ("Consolidated"), also a registered holding company, having filed with this Commission a joint application and amendments thereto, with respect to certain transactions which are summarized below:

Consolidated owns, among other things, all the capital stock of Carolina Coach Company ("Carolina"), a Virginia corporation engaged in motor bus transportation in the States of North Carolina and Virginia. Carolina proposes to purchase 8,215 shares, the entire issue, of common stock, $10 per share per value, of Red Star Motor Coaches, Inc. ("Red Star"), a motor bus transportation company serving Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Wilmington, Delaware; Baltimore and Annapolis, Maryland; and Norfolk, Virginia. Red Star has a wholly owned subsidiary, Eastern Shore Transit Company, Incorporated ("Eastern Shore"), a bus transportation company serving the eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia.

The total purchase price for the common stock of Red Star, which is the only capital stock of the company, is to be $325,000. To assist it in financing this purchase, Carolina proposes to incur a bank loan of $250,000. This indebtedness is to be evidenced by an unsecured note or notes, payable in semi-annual installments over a period of five years, and bearing interest at a rate not to exceed 4 percent a year on the unpaid balance. Subsequent to the acquisition by Carolina of the capital stock of Red Star, it is proposed that Red Star and Eastern Shore be merged into Carolina.

It is represented that the above described transactions are subject, in whole or in part, to the jurisdiction of the State Corporation Commission of Virginia, the Public Service Commission of Maryland, the Public Service Commission of Delaware, the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and the Interstate Commerce Commission. Applicants urge that because of Rule U-8, promulgated under the act, the only transactions subject to the jurisdiction of this Commission are the indirect acquisitions of the securities of Red Star and Eastern Shore by Central Public and Consolidated. The amended filing contains an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, authorizing and directing Carolina to acquire the securities of Red Star, to effectuate the merger of Red Star and Eastern Shore into Carolina, and to borrow not to exceed $250,000 for the purpose of financing these transactions.

The Commission having issued a notice of filing pursuant to Rule U-23 and not having received a request for a hearing thereon within the period specified in said notice or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding that the proposed transactions meet the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, and that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said joint application, as amended, be granted forthwith:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that the aforesaid joint application, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted forthwith.

By the Commission.

GULF POWER CO.

ORDER PERMITTING SUBMISSION OF BONDS TO COMPETITIVE BIDDING

JUNE 12, 1952.

Gulf Power Co. ("Gulf"), a public utility subsidiary of The Southern Company, a registered holding company, has filed an application-declaration, with amendments thereto, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Gulf proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, $7,000,000 principal amount of Firt Mortgage Bonds __ Percent Series due 1982, to be issued under and secured by Gulf's present Indenture, dated as of September 1, 1941, as last supplemented on April 1, 1949, and to be further supplemented by a Supplemental Indenture to be dated as of July 1, 1952. The interest rate and the price to the company for the bonds will be determined by the competitive bidding, except that the invitation for bids will specify that the price to the company shall not be less than 100 percent nor more than 102¾ percent of the principal amount. The company proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of these new bonds to provide a portion of the funds required for improvements, extensions and additions to the company's property.

The filing states that the issuance and sale of the proposed new bonds have been approved by The Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission. Gulf requests that any order of this Commission granting the application-declaration, as amended, shall become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Due notice having been given of the filing of the application-declaration, as amended, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission, and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers that said application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective:

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application-declaration, as amended, be, and the sme hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and to the further condition that the results of competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, have been made a matter of record herein and a further order shall have been entered with respect thereto, which order shall contain such further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate, for which purpose jurisdiction be, and the same hereby is, reserved.

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO. AND MISSISSIPPI GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING BY A PUBLIC UTILITY COMPANY REGARDING THE SALE OF ITS UTILITY AND OTHER ASSETS

JUNE 12, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that Southern Natural Gas Company ("Southern"), a registered holding company, and its public-utility company subsidiary, Mississippi Gas Company ("Mississippi"), have filed, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), a joint declaration in respect of a proposal by Mississippi to sell its utility and other assets, and to liquidate and dissolve. Declarants designate Subdivisions (d), (c) and (f) of section 12 of the act and Rules U-42, U-43 and U-44 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is hereby further given that any interested person may, not later than June 26, 1952 at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held in respect of the matters proposed in said declaration, stating the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing in respect of such matters. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after June 26, 1952, said declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act or the Commission may exempt the proposed transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to the declaration on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Pursuant to a contract dated May 26, 1952, Mississippi proposes, subject to approval by the Commission, to sell all of its property and assets, including certain leasehold interests, gas supply and other contract rights, but excluding cash, to Mississippi Valley Gas Company ("Valley"), a non-affiliate, for the sum of $3,320,981, plus or minus the amount of certain adjustments as at the closing date, and the assumption by Valley of certain tax liabilities, customer deposits, advances and contributions, and lease and contract obligations, of Mississippi relating to the property being sold.

Upon consummation of the proposed sale of assets, Mississippi proposes to pay its indebtedness, including outstanding bank debt, to distribute the remaining cash to its parent, Southern, in exchange for the surrender by Southern for cancellation of all of Mississippi's outstanding common stock, and to dissolve. It is stated that the sale price was determined by arm's length bargaining and is the only offer obtained after extended effort to procure a purchaser for the property. It is also stated that no fees, commissions, or other remuneration is to be paid by Southern or Mississippi in connection with the sale of said property, except legal fees and incidental expenses estimated at $2,000.

The declaration states that no state commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions, but that the Federal Power Commission has jurisdiction over the sale by Mississippi and the acquisition and operation by Valley of certain gas transmission facilities owned and operated by Mississippi, and that the requisite approval of that Commission will be obtained prior to the closing date.

Declarants request that the Commission enter an order, to become effective upon its issuance, permitting the declaration to become effective.

It is ordered, That a copy of this notice be mailed, by registered mail with return receipt requested, to applicants, Federal Power Commission, North Central Natural Gas District, Calhoun City, Mississippi, and to the mayors of the following cities: Amory, Aberdeen, Brookville, Columbus, Louisville, Macon, Meridian, Nettleton, Okolona, Starkville, Tupelo, and West Point, Mississippi.

§ 601.2053 Eligible soybeans. At the time the soybeans are placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, they must meet the following requirements:

(a) The soybeans must have been produced in the continental United States in 1952 by an eligible producer.

(b) The beneficial interest in the soybeans must be in the producer tendering the soybeans for loan or for delivery under a purchase agreement, and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the soybeans were harvested.

(c) The soybeans must be soybeans of any class, grading No. 4 or better and containing not in excess of 14 percent moisture.

(d) The soybeans must not grade Garlicky or Weevily.

(e) If offered as security for a farm-storage loan, the soybeans must have been stored in the granary at least 30 days prior to inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing unless otherwise approved by the PMA State committee.

§ 601.2054 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts representing soybeans in approved warehouse storage to be placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, must meet the following requirements:

(a) Warehouse receipts must be issued in the name of the producer, must be properly endorsed in blank so as to vest title in the holder, and must be receipts issued on a warehouse approved by CCC under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement which indicate that the soybeans are insured, or must be receipts issued on warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers under tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for which custodian agreements are in effect.

(b) Each warehouse receipt or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate (in duplicate), properly identified with the warehouse receipt, must show: (1) Gross weight or bushels, (2) class, (3) grade, (4) test weight, (5) moisture, and (6) any other grading factor(s) when such factor(s), and not test weight or moisture determine the grade. For soybeans grading No. 3 or 4, the percentage of splits, damage, and foreign material, if any, must also be shown. In the case of warehouse receipts issued for soybeans delivered by rail or barge, the grading factors on the warehouse receipt or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate must agree with the inbound inspection certificate for the car or barge, when such certificate is issued.

(c) A separate warehouse receipt must be submitted for each grade and class of soybeans.

(d) The warehouse receipt may be subject to liens for warehouse charges only to the extent indicated in § 601.2059.

§ 601.2055 Determination of quantity. (a) The quantity of soybeans placed under farm-storage loan may be determined either by weight or by measurement. The quantity of soybeans placed under a warehouse-storage loan or delivered under a farm-storage loan or under a purchase agreement shall be determined by weight.

(b) When the quantity is determined by weight, a bushel shall be 60 pounds of soybeans free of foreign material in excess of 3 percent. In determining the quantity of sacked soybeans by weight, a deduction of ¾ of a pound for each sack shall be made.

(c) When the quantity of soybeans is determined by measurement, a bushel shall be 1.25 cubic feet of soybeans testing 60 pounds per bushel. The quantity determined shall be the following percentages of the quantity determined for 60-pound soybeans.

For soybeans testing	Percent
60 pounds or over	100
59 pounds or over, but less than 60	98
58 pounds or over, but less than 59	97
57 pounds or over, but less than 58	95
56 pounds or over, but less than 57	93
55 pounds or over, but less than 56	92
54 pounds or over, but less than 55	90
53 pounds or over, but less than 54	88
52 pounds or over, but less than 53	87
51 pounds or over, but less than 52	85
50 pounds or over, but less than 51	83
49 pounds or over, but less than 50	82

§ 601.2056 Determination of quality. The class, grade, grading factors, percentage of foreign material, and all other quality factors shall be determined in accordance with the method set forth in the Official Grain Standards of the United States for Soybeans, whether or not such determinations are made on the basis of an official inspection. Foreign material which totals 3 percent or less shall not be deducted from the gross weight of the soybeans. If the total weight of foreign material is in excess of 3 percent, the excess shall be deducted from the total weight of soybeans in the determination of the net number of bushels of soybeans. For the purposes of this determination, foreign material shall be computed in tenths of 1 percent.

§ 601.2057 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than May 31, 1953.

§ 601.2058 Support rates—(a) County rates. (1) Loans will be made, and soybeans delivered under purchase agreements will be purchased, at the support rates set forth in this section. Both farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans will be made at the support rate established for the county in which the soybeans are stored. County support rates per bushel for soybeans of the classes Green Soybeans and Yellow Soybeans grading No. 2, or better, and containing from 13.8 to 14.0 percent moisture, are set forth below:

(2) Where the State Committee determines that State or district weed control laws affect the soybean crop, the support rate will be 10 cents below the applicable county support rate as set forth in the schedule in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. If upon delivery of the soybeans to CCC, the producer supplies a certificate indicating that the soybeans comply with the weed control laws, the producer will be credited with the amount of the differential in determining the settlement value.

(b) Discounts and premiums. The county support rates set forth in paragraph (a) of this section shall be adjusted by the following cumulative discounts and premiums to determine the support rates for soybeans of other classes and other eligible qualities:

(1) Classification discount. The support rates for soybeans of the classes Black Soybeans, Brown Soybeans, and Mixed Soybeans shall be 25 cents per bushel less than the support rates for the classes Green Soybeans and Yellow Soybeans.

(2) Discounts for test weight per bushel, splits, and damaged kernels. The following discounts are applicable to all classes of soybeans:

(b) Warehouse receipts and the soybeans represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers may be subject to liens for warehouse elevation (receiving and delivering) and storage charges from the date of deposit at rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(c) For soybeans stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers, there shall be deducted in computing the loan or purchase price, except as provided in paragraph (c) (2) of § 601.2060, the amount of the approved tariff rate for storage (not including elevation), which will accumulate from the date of deposit through May 31, 1953. The county committee shall request the PMA commodity office to determine the amount of such charges. Where the producer presents evidence showing that the elevation has been prepaid, the amount of the storage charges to be deducted shall be reduced by the amount of the elevation charge prepaid by the producer.

§ 601.2060 Settlement. (a) Farm-storage loans. (1) In the case of soybeans delivered to CCC from farm-storage under the loan program, settlement shall be made at the applicable support rate for the approved point of delivery. The support rate shall be applied to the grade and quality of the total quantity of soybeans delivered.

(2) If the soybeans under farm-storage loan are, upon delivery, of a grade and/or quality for which no support rate has been established, the settlement value shall be the support rate established for the grade and/or quality of the soybeans placed under loan, less the difference, if any, at the time of delivery, between the market price for the grade and/or quality placed under loan and the market price of the soybeans delivered, as determined by CCC.

(3) If farm-stored soybeans are delivered to CCC prior to May 31, 1953, upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, the loan settlement shall be reduced by the applicable rate of storage charges per bushel as set forth in § 601.2059.

(b) Warehouse-storage loans. (1) In the case of warehouse receipts issued on a warehouse approved under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement, if the warehouse loan is not redeemed and the warehouse receipt or the accompanying supplemental certificate contains a statement in substantially the following form "Full storage charges, not including receiving charges, paid through May 31, 1953, $------," a refund in the amount of the smaller of (i) the storage charges prepaid by the producer, or (ii) the amount of the storage charges deducted at the time the loan was completed, will be made to the producer by the PMA county office.

(2) For soybeans stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers, if the warehouse loan is not redeemed and the supplemental certificate and delivery order contains a statement in substantially the following form "Full storage charges paid through May 31, 1953, $------," a refund will be made to the producer by the PMA county office of the amount of storage deducted at the time the loan was completed plus any elevation charge which was prepaid by the producer.

(c) Purchase agreement. (1) Soybeans delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement must meet the requirements of soybeans eligible for loan. The purchase rate per bushel of eligible soybeans shall be the support rate established for the approved point of delivery, subject to deduction of warehouse charges in accordance with § 601.2059, except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

In the case of warehouse receipts issued on a warehouse approved under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement, if the warehouse receipt or the accompanying supplemental certificate representing soybeans stored in the warehouse contains a statement in substantially the following form "Full storage charges, not including receiving charges, paid through May 31, 1953, $------," the producer shall be given credit for the smaller of (i) the storage charges prepaid by the producer, or (ii) the amount of the warehouse storage charges determined according to the time of deposit as provided in § 601.2059 at the time the settlement value of the commodity delivered is determined.

(2) For soybeans stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers, if the supplemental certificate and delivery order representing soybeans stored in the warehouse contains a statement in substantially the following form "Full storage charges paid through May 31, 1953, $------," no deduction for storage shall be made from the support rate at the time the settlement value of the commodity delivered is determined. The producer shall be given credit for the amount of any elevation charge prepaid at the time the settlement value of the commodity delivered is determined, if he presents evidence showing such prepayment.

(d) Track-loading. A track-loading payment of 2 cents per bushel will be made to the producer on soybeans delivered to CCC on track at a country point.

Issued this 16th day of June 1952.

Acting Vice President,
Commodity Credit Corporation.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

[Lemon Regulation 430, Amdt. 1]

PART 953—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 53, as amended (7 CFR Part 953), regulating the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of the quantity of such lemons which may be handled, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice and engage in public rule-making procedure (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona.

(b) Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of § 953.546 (Lemon Regulation 439, 17 F. R. 5387) are hereby amended to read as follows:

(ii) District 2, 850 carloads.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

EXEMPTION OF CERTAIN TRANSACTIONS FROM SECTION 16 (b)

The Securities and Exchange Commission today announced that it had adopted a new rule exempting from the operation of section 16 (b) of the Securities Exchange Act certain acquisitions and dispositions of securities pursuant to mergers or consolidations. Section 16 (b) provides, in general, that where any director, officer or principal holder of a registered equity security has realized a profit from any purchase and sale (or sale and purchase) of any equity security of the company of which he is an officer, director, or stockholder within any period of less than six months, such profit inures to the issuer. The section authorizes the Commission to exempt therefrom any transactions not comprehended within it.

The new rule is designed to exempt from the operation of section 16 (b) certain purchases and sale which take place in the course of mergers and consolidations. The rule applies to both technical mergers and consolidations and sales of assets in return for securities which result in a company that, in practical effect, is a combination of two or more other companies. The exemption is granted whenever a merger or consolidation does not result in any significant change in the character or structure of the company. The text of the Commission action is as follows:

The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to authority vested in it by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 3 (a) (12), 16 (b) and 23 (a) thereof, and deeming such action necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors, and necessary to carry out the provisions of the act, hereby adopts the following rule:

§ 240.16b–7 Exemption from section 16 (b) of certain acquisitions and dispositions of securities pursuant to mergers or consolidations. (a) The following transactions shall be exempt from the provisions of section 16 (b) as not comprehended within the purpose of said subsection:

(1) The acquisition of a security of a company, pursuant to a merger or consolidation, in exchange for a security of a company which, prior to said merger or consolidation, owned 95 percent or more of the equity securities of all other companies involved in the merger or consolidation except, in the case of consolidation, the resulting company;

(2) The disposition of a security, pursuant to a merger or consolidation of a company which, prior to said merger or consolidation, owned 95 percent or more of the equity securities of all other companies involved in the merger or consolidation except, in the case of consolidations, the resulting company;

(3) The acquisition of a security of a company, pursuant to a merger or consolidation, in exchange for a security of a company which, prior to said merger or consolidation, held over 95 percent of the combined assets of all the companies undergoing merger or consolidation, computed according to their book values prior to the merger or consolidation as determined by reference to their most recent available financial statements for a twelve month period prior to the merger or consolidation.

(4) The disposition of a security, pursuant to a merger or consolidation, of a company which, prior to said merger or consolidation, held over 95 percent of the combined assets of all the companies undergoing merger or consolidation, computed according to their book values prior to the merger or consolidation, as determined by reference to their most recent available financial statements for a twelve month period prior to the merger or consolidation.

(b) A merger within the meaning of this rule shall include the sale or purchase of substantially all the assets of one company by another in exchange for stock which is then distributed to the security holders of the company which sold its assets.

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing, if an officer, director or stockholder shall make any purchase (other than a purchase exempted by this rule) of a security in any company involved in the merger or consolidation and any sale (other than a sale exempted by this rule) of a security in any other company involved in the merger or consolidation within any period of less than six months during which the merger or consolidation took place the exemption provided by this rule shall be unavailable to such officer, director or stockholder.

Accordingly, the foregoing action shall be effective June 9, 1952.

(Sec. 23, 48 Stat. 901, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 78w. Interprets or applies sec. 16, 48 Stat. 896; 15 U. S. C. 78p)

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue, Department of the Treasury

Subchapter C—Miscellaneous Excise Taxes

[T. D. 5912; Reg. 15]

PART 190—RECTIFICATION OF SPIRITS AND WINES

PRODUCTION OF VODKA

1. Section 2800 (a) (5) of the Internal Revenue Code was amended by Public Law 355 (82d Cong.), effective July 1, 1952, by deleting the period at the end thereof and adding the following: "or to vodka produced from pure spirits in the manner authorized at registered distilleries." The section now reads:

SEC. 2800. TAX.
(a) Rate—
(1) • • •

• • • • • •

(5) Rectified spirits and wines. In addition to the tax imposed by this chapter on distilled spirits and wines, there shall be levied, assessed, collected, and paid, a tax of 30 cents on each proof gallon and a proportionate tax at a like rate on all fractional parts of such proof gallon on all distilled spirits or wines rectified, purified, or refined in such manner, and on all mixtures produced in such manner, that the person so rectifying, purifying, refining, or mixing the same is a rectifier within the meaning of section 3254 (g): Provided, That this tax shall not apply to gin produced by the redistillation of a pure spirit over juniper berries and other aromatics or to vodka produced from pure spirits in the manner authorized at registered distilleries.

• • • • •

2. In order to conform Regulations 15 (26 CFR Part 190) to such amendment, the regulations are hereby amended as follows:

(a) Section 190.122 is amended; and

(b) Sections 190.468a, 190.468b, 190.468c, 190.468d, 190.468e, 190.468f and 190.468g are added.

SUBPART I—EQUIPMENT

§ 190.122 Receiving tanks. Where rectified products are produced by redistillation, such as gin or cordials, or where spirits are redistilled, or where vodka is produced, the rectifier must provide a requisite number of receiving tanks. Each tank shall be constructed of metal or other suitable material and equipped with a suitable device whereby the contents can be accurately determined. Manheads, inlets, and outlets of such tanks must be provided with facilities for locking with Government locks. Each tank shall have plainly and legibly painted thereon words indicating its use, as "Gin receiving tank," "Cordial receiving tank," "Heads and tails receiving tank," "Vodka receiving tank," etc., followed by its serial number and capacity in gallons. Receiving tanks must be located in the rectifying room.

(53 Stat. 300 as amended, 318, 375; 26 U. S. C. 2801, 2829, 3176)

SUBPART Y—RECTIFICATION

TAX-EXEMPT VODKA

§ 190.468a Production. Vodka may be produced exempt from the rectification tax in accordance with the procedure prescribed by § 190.468b. Vodka so produced must be run into a receiving tank from which it must be promptly (a) drawn into metal, porcelain or glass containers, gauged, stamped, and removed to the finished products room or (b) transferred to a bottling tank, gauged, and bottled and removed to the finished products room or conveyed by pipeline to a contiguous tax-paid bottling house or rectifying plant for bottling. (See §§ 190.615 to 190.672.)

§ 190.468b Methods of production. Vodka may be produced, exempt from the rectification tax, from pure spirits which are reduced to not more than 110 degrees of proof and not less than 80 degrees of proof and which, after such reduction in proof, are so treated by one of the following methods as to be without distinctive character, aroma, or taste:

(a) By causing the spirits to flow continuously through a tank or a series of tanks containing at least 1½ pounds of charcoal for each gallon of spirits contained therein at any one time so that the spirits are in intimate contact with the charcoal for a period of not less than 8 hours, not less than 10 percent of the charcoal being replaced by new charcoal at the expiration of each 40 hours of operation, at a rate which will replace at least 6 pounds of charcoal for every 100 gallons of spirits treated;

(b) By keeping the spirits in constant movement by mechanical means in contact for not less than 8 hours with at least 6 pounds of new charcoal for every 100 gallons of spirits;

(c) By purifying or refining the spirits by any other method which the Deputy Commissioner finds will result in a product equally without distinctive character, aroma, or taste, and which method has been approved by him.

(53 Stat. 298 as amended, 300 as amended, 375; 26 U. S. C. 2800, 2801, 3176)

§ 190.468c Definition of pure spirit. The term "pure spirit" as used in § 190.468b is held to mean alcohol or neutral spirits, distilled at or above 190 degrees of proof (whether or not such proof is subsequently reduced), and free from impurities.

(53 Stat. 300 as amended, 375; 26 U. S. C 2801, 3176)

§ 190.468d Mixing with other spirits or materials prohibited. Vodka produced in accordance with § 190.468b, under exemption from the rectification tax cannot be mixed with other spirits or treated by the addition or abstraction of any substance or material other than pure water after production, nor can any substance or material other than pure water and that specified in § 190.468b be added to the spirits prior to or during production.

(53 Stat. 298 as amended, 300 as amended, 375, 391; 26 U. S. C. 2800, 2801, 3176, 3254)

§ 190.468e Reduction and filtering. Vodka exempt from the rectification tax may be reduced with water in the receiving or bottling tanks and may be filtered when necessary to remove materials held in suspension. The subsequent use of filters or filter-aids which change the composition and character of the vodka will subject the product to the rectification tax. Whether such subsequent filtering changes the composition of the vodka is a question of fact determinable by chemical analysis of samples of the vodka before and after filtration.

TAXABLE VODKA

§ 190.468f Production. Vodka produced at a rectifying plant in any manner or by any means, other than that specified in § 190.468b, is subject to the rectification tax.

(53 Stat. 298 as amended, 300 as amended, 375, 391; 26 U. S. C. 2800, 2801, 3176, 3254)

§ 190.468g Treatment of vodka. The treatment of vodka, after its production in accordance with § 190.468b, with any materials or process which changes its composition, subjects the product to the rectification tax. Such treatment includes the flavoring of vodka in any manner, and the manipulation of vodka by a physical or chemical process, such as redistillation, filtration, or treatment with activated carbon or other materials, which changes its composition or character.

3. The purpose of these amendments is to give effect to the Public Law 355, 82d Congress, which amends section 2800 (a) (5) of the Internal Revenue Code, to relieve from the rectification tax of 30 cents a proof gallon imposed by that section vodka produced by rectifiers by treating pure spirits in the same manner as such spirits are authorized to be treated in producing vodka at registered distilleries.

4. Because the amendments made by this Treasury decision merely conform Regulations 15 to the amendment of the Internal Revenue Code, it is found that it is unnecessary to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946 (5 U. S. C. 1001, et seq.), or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of that act.

5. This Treasury decision shall be effective July 1, 1952, and shall apply only to vodka produced on or after such date.

(53 Stat. 298 as amended, 300 as amended, 318, 375, 391; 26 U. S. C. 2800, 2801, 2829, 3176, 3254)

[SEAL] JOHN B. DUNLAP,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: June 17, 1952.

THOMAS J. LYNCH,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 522—EMPLOYMENT OF LEARNERS

KNITTED WEAR INDUSTRY; DEFINITION OF "LEARNER"

The definition of the term "experienced worker" contained in § 522.77 has previously been amended (16 F. R. 5895) so as to include among others, "any person employed in the manufacture of men's and boys' underwear from any woven fabric who has been employed within the previous two years in the Single Pants, Shirts and Allied Garments, Women's Apparel, Sportswear and Other Odd Outerwear, Rainwear, Robes, and Leather and Sheep-lined Garments Divisions of the Apparel Industry, as defined in § 522.161, for 320 hours or more in the occupations of machine stitcher or presser." For purposes of clarification, it is desirable to add a corresponding provision to the definition of the term "learner" contained in § 522.76.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, § 522.76 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 522.76 Definition of "learner." Only learners may be employed at a subminimum wage under certificates issued. In §§ 522.68 to 522.79 the term learner means a person who has been employed within the previous 2 years in the knitted wear industry for less than 480 hours in the occupation of machine knitter, or 320 hours in the occupations of machine stitcher or presser, or 240 hours in the occupations of winder, dyeing machine operator, brush machine operator, or dryer operator. In the men's and boys' woven underwear division of the knitted wear industry a learner also means a person who has been employed within the previous 2 years for less than 320 hours in the occupations of machine stitcher or presser in the single pants, shirts and allied garments, women's apparel, sportswear and other odd outerwear, rainwear, robes, and leather and sheeplined garments divisions of the apparel industry.

(Sec. 14, 52 Stat. 1068; 29 U. S. C. 214)

In view of the fact that this amendment is merely made for purposes of clarification and makes no substantive change in the regulations contained in this part, it is unnecessary to comply with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act. This amendment shall become effective on the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 12th day of June, 1952.

WM. R. MCCOMB,
Administrator,
Wage and Hour Division.

§ 597.704 Termination clause for research and development contracts. The following clause shall be inserted in all research and development contracts amounting to more than $1,000:

TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT

(a) The performance of work under this contract may be terminated by the Government in accordance with this clause in whole, or from time to time in part, whenever the Contracting Officer shall determine that such termination is in the best interest of the Government. Any such termination shall be effected by delivery to the Contractor of a Notice of Termination specifying the extent to which performance of work under the contract is terminated, and the date upon which such termination becomes effective.

(b) After receipt of a Notice of Termination, and except as otherwise directed by the Contracting Officer, the Contractor shall (1) stop work under the contract on the date and to the extent specified in the Notice of Termination; (2) place no further orders or subcontracts for materials, services or facilities except as may be necessary for completion of such portion of the work under the contract as is not terminated; (3) terminate all orders and subcontracts to the extent that they relate to the performance of work terminated by the Notice of Termination; (4) assign to the Government, in the manner, at the times, and to the extent directed by the Contracting Officer, all of the right, title, and interest of the Contractor under the orders and subcontracts so terminated; (5) settle all claims arising out of such termination of orders and subcontracts, subject to the approval or ratification of the Contracting Officer, which approval or ratification shall be final for all the purposes of this clause; (6) transfer title and deliver to the Government, in the manner, at the times, and to the extent, if any, directed by the Contracting Officer, (i) the fabricated or unfabricated parts, work in process, completed work, supplies, and other material produced as a part of, or acquired in connection with the performance of, the work terminated by the Notice of Termination, and (ii) the completed or partially completed reports, plans, drawings, information, and other property which, if the contract had been completed, would have been required to be furnished to the Government; (7) use its best efforts to sell, in the manner, at the times, to the extent and at the price or prices directed or authorized by the Contracting Officer, any property of the types referred to in provision (6) of this paragraph: Provided, however, That the Contractor (i) shall not be required to extend credit to any purchaser, and (ii) may keep any such property at a price or prices approved by the Contracting Officer; and provided further that the proceeds of any such transfer or disposition shall be applied in reduction of any payments to be made by the Government to the Contractor under this contract or shall otherwise be credited to the price or cost of the work covered by this contract or paid in such other manner as the Contracting Officer may direct; (8) complete performance of such part of the work as shall not have been terminated by the Notice of Termination; and (9) take such action as may be necessary, or as the Contracting Officer may direct, for the protection and preservation of the property related to this contract which is in the possession of the Contractor and in which the Government has or may acquire an interest.

(c) After receipt of a Notice of Termination, the Contractor shall submit to the Contracting Officer its termination claim, in the form prescribed by the Contracting Officer. Such claim shall be submitted promptly but in no event later than one year from the effective date of termination, unless one or more extensions in writing are granted by the Contracting Officer upon request of the Contractor made in writing within such one year period or authorized extension thereof. Upon failure of the Contractor to submit its termination claim within the time allowed, the Contracting Officer shall determine, on the basis of information available to him, the amount, if any, due to the Contractor by reason of the termination.

(d) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (c), the Contractor and the Contracting Officer may agree upon the whole or any part of the amount or amounts to be paid to the Contractor by reason of the total or partial termination of work pursuant to this clause. The contract shall be amended accordingly, and the Contractor shall be paid the agreed amount. Such amendment shall be final and conclusive upon the Contractor and the Government.

(e) In the event of the failure of the Contractor and the Contracting Officer to agree as provided in paragraph (d) upon the whole amount to be paid to the Contractor by reason of the termination of work pursuant to this clause, the Government, but without duplication of any amounts agreed upon in accordance with paragraph (d), shall pay to the contractor the total amount of its costs allocable to the contract up to the time of termination and reasonable costs of settlement including accounting, legal, clerical, and other expenses reasonably necessary for the preparation of settlement claims and supporting data together with reasonable storage, transportation, and other costs incurred in connection with the protection or disposition of termination inventory.

(f) Any determination of costs under paragraph (c) or (e) hereof shall be governed by the Cost Principles set forth in Section XV of the Armed Services Procurement Regulation, as in effect on the date of this contract.

(g) The Contractor shall have the right of appeal, under the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes," from any determination of the amount due to the Contractor made by the Contracting Officer under paragraphs (c) or (e) above, except that if the Contractor has failed to submit its claim within the time provided in paragraph (c) above and has failed to request extension of such time, he shall have no such right of appeal. In any case where the Contracting Officer has made a determination of the amount due under paragraph (c) or (e) above, the Government shall pay to the Contractor the following: (i) if there is no right of appeal hereunder or if no timely appeal has been taken, the amount so determined by the Contracting Officer, or (ii) if an appeal has been taken, the amount finally determined on such appeal; any such determination being final and conclusive upon the Contractor and the Government.

(h) In arriving at the amount due the Contractor under this clause there shall be deducted (1) all unliquidated advance or other unliquidated payments on account theretofore made to the Contractor, (2) any claim which the Government may have against the Contractor in connection with this contract, and (3) the agreed price for, or the proceeds of sale of, any materials, supplies, or other things kept by the Contractor or sold, pursuant to the provisions of this clause, and not otherwise recovered or credited to the Government.

(i) Unless otherwise provided for in this contract, or by applicable statute, the Contractor, from the effective date of termination and for a period of three years after final settlement under this contract, shall preserve and make available to the Government at all reasonable times at the office of the Contractor but without expense to the Government, all its books, records, documents, and other evidence on the cost and expenses of the Contractor under this contract and relating to the work terminated hereunder, or, to the extent approved by the Contracting Officer, photographs, microphotographs, or other authentic reproductions thereof.

PART 601—LABOR

Part 601 is amended by adding a new Subpart J, including §§ 601.1001, 601.1050–601.1054, as follows:

SUBPART J—WAGE STABILIZATION

§ 601.1001 Basic considerations. Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), as amended, authorizes the President to issue regulations and orders to stabilize wages. Part IV, Executive Order No. 10161, September 9, 1950, delegated this authority to the Economic Stabilization Administrator, who has established three agencies for the promulgation of wage stabilization policies and procedures. These agencies are the Wage Stabilization Board, the Salary Stabilization Board, and the Construction Industry Stabilization Commission. In certain respects, regulations and procedures issued by these agencies affect Procuring Activities. In order to achieve effective coordination and to insure consistency of actions within the Department of the Army, policy and procedures are hereby established to govern the relationship of the Department of the Army with those agencies, principally the Wage Stabilization Board, with regard to problems involving employees of military contractors or suppliers. (The policy and procedures set forth below are not applicable to civilian personnel employed within the Department of the Army.)

§ 601.1050 Applicability. Except for the specifically exempted areas and categories listed below, geographical coverage with respect to wage and salary stabilization extends throughout all States, Territories and Possessions of the United States (including the District of Columbia). Currently exempted areas and categories are as follows: (a) Puerto Rico, (b) Virgin Islands, (c) Panama Canal Zone, and (d) American employees employed in foreign countries.

§ 601.1051 Enforcement of wage and salary regulations—(a) General. The current wage and salary stabilization program is implemented by the issuance of regulations and orders applicable to certain practices of employee remuneration. The Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, provided that agencies of the Government, in determining the costs or expenses of contractors, may be required to disregard any wage, salary, or other compensation payment made in contravention of wage or salary stabilization regulation or orders.

(b) Determination of unlawful payments. Primary responsibility for determining violations of wage and salary regulations rests with the wage and salary stabilization agencies. Enforcement commissions of those agencies will undertake necessary reviews and investigations to insure compliance with stabilization regulations. Insofar as Army contractors are determined to have made wage, salary, or other compensation payments in contravention of regulations, certifications with respect thereto will be submitted to the Under Secretary of the Army.

(c) Responsibility of the Department of the Army. Upon appropriate certification by a stabilization agency to the effect that an Army contractor has made payments of wages, salaries or other compensation in contravention of existing regulations, the Army is charged with the responsibility of disallowing such payments.

(d) Responsibility of procuring activities. The aforementioned certifications, which will specify the amount to be disallowed and the military contracts to which such amount is applicable, will be forwarded by the Under Secretary of the Army to Heads of Procuring Activities, through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4. It is the responsibility of the Heads of Procuring Activities to institute action whereby the amounts specified in said certifications as having been paid in contravention of regulations will be disallowed in determining payments to a contractor under the contract of the Army. Heads of Procuring Activities will notify the Under Secretary of the Army (Attn: Office of Labor Adviser) through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, when action has been completed pursuant to the certification.

(e) Violations discovered by procuring activities. Whenever, in the course of routine auditing or examination of the records of an Army contractor, or in the course of any other routine dealing with such an employer, representatives of the Procuring Activities come into possession of information indicating that wage, salary, or other compensation payments may have been made by such an employer in contravention of stabilization regulations, the Procuring Activity concerned will transmit to the Under Secretary of the Army (Attn: Office of Labor Adviser), through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, notice of that fact, together with as much information regarding the possible violation or violations as is available. This requirement is not intended to increase the regular responsibility of any Procuring Activity in making any such audit, examination or in any other way dealing with such an employer.

(f) Reporting. Reporting required by subparagraphs (d) and (e) above is exempt from Reports Control in accordance with paragraph 4c, AR 305–15.

§ 601.1052 Procedures pertaining to applications filed on grounds of present or imminent manpower shortages—(a) Basic considerations. It is the policy of the Government that wage adjustments should ordinarily be used for purposes of attracting or retaining labor. The Wage Stabilization Board will not consider requests for approval of increases in wages and other compensation greater in amount than might otherwise be authorized, except in rare and unusual cases involving manpower shortages in essential defense activities, or activities essential to the national health, safety, and interest. In those cases the Wage Stabilization Board will consider such requests only if governmental agencies concerned with the production and manpower problems certify to the Board that a concerted program has been undertaken to remedy the manpower shortages by means other than wage adjustments.

(b) Implementing procedures established by the Wage Stabilization Board. An employer seeking relief from manpower shortages through wage increases must file nine copies of his petition with the local office of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor. Wage and Hour offices will forward several copies to the regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board, which will determine to what extent wage increases may be granted under current regulations other than for manpower purposes. Other copies of the petition will be transmitted through the national office of the Wage Stabilization Board to the Defense Manpower Administration. If, upon a preliminary check, the latter agency finds that the petition is worthy of the Wage Stabilization Board's consideration and if the regional office of the Wage Stabilization Board did not grant a wage increase in the amount requested by the employer, the Defense Manpower Administration will proceed to obtain production information from the procurement agencies concerned. The Wage Stabilization Board, in turn, will then consider the case on the basis of all pertinent data submitted to it by the Defense Manpower Administration, including the production data supplied by procurement agencies.

(c) Responsibility of procuring activities. In connection with the procedure spelled out in paragraph (b) of this section, Procuring Activities, upon specific request will submit to the Under Secretary of the Army (Attn: Office of Labor Adviser), through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, information which will provide the basis for transmitting to the Wage Stabilization Board, the following facts:

(1) The relative importance of the product or service in the achievement of essential defense or civilian production or procurement goals.

(2) The extent to which the product or service is or will be behind schedule and the consequence of failure to remedy such situations.

(3) The extent to which factors other than manpower will result in failure to meet production or procurement schedules.

§ 601.1053 General relationship with the Wage Stabilization Board—(a) Basic policy. Under current policy of the Department of Defense, agencies of the Department of the Army are precluded from making statements to the Wage Stabilization Board recommending approval or disapproval of any application submitted to the Board. However, Procuring Activities are authorized to maintain liaison with the Board for the purpose of expediting consideration of pending applications, exchanging and obtaining information, supplying background, material on specific cases, or furnishing statements of fact relating to the importance of the product or service to the procurement program.

(b) Coordination. Should a Procuring Activity wish to obtain a formal interpretation, clarification of policy, a revision of procedure or other action having implications for more than one Procuring Activity, its proposed request will be coordinated with the Office of the Under Secretary of the Army (Attn: Office of Labor Adviser), through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, prior to submission to the Wage Stabilization Board.

§ 601.1054 Sources of information on Wage Stabilization matters. In view of the considerable complexities involved in wage stabilization problems and the complex regulations issued by the Wage Stabilization Board, Procuring Activities should avoid the responsibility of independently advising contractors, either definitively or informally, with respect to interpretations of regulations, orders or procedures. The evaluation of interpretative, informational, and procedural questions is the function of Wage and Hour field offices and regional Wage Stabilization Boards. Specifically these two agencies have been delegated the following functions:

Wage and Hour Field Offices: (1) To answer questions pertaining to interpretations of regulations or orders and pertaining to procedures; (2) to receive applications and petitions; and (3) to make pro forma rulings on relatively simple issues.

Regional Wage Stabilization Boards: (1) To make final decisions on certain questions; (2) to refer questions of policy to the national office of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Representatives of Procuring Activities should submit their questions and those referred to them by contractors to applicable offices of said organizations. It is noted that questions pertaining to interpretation of regulations and to general information should be directed to Wage and Hour field offices.

§ 878.24 Medal of Freedom. (a) The Medal of Freedom is a circular bronze medallion bearing the head of the goddess of freedom with a ribbon of red silk centering four white lines. A gold palm spray clasped to the ribbon denotes the highest of four degrees of this award. Silver and bronze palm sprays and the plain ribbon are the other degrees in descending order.

(b) The Medal of Freedom, established by Executive Order, may be awarded to any person not hereinafter specifically excluded, who, on or after December 7, 1941, has performed a meritorious act or service which has:

(3) Furthered the interests of the security of the United States or of any nation allied or associated with the United States during any period of national emergency declared by the President or the Congress, and for which act or service the award of any other United States medal or decoration is considered inappropriate.

NOTE: In special circumstances and without regard to the existence of a state of war or national emergency, the Medal of Freedom may also be awarded by, or at the direction of, the President to any person, not hereinafter specifically excluded, for performance of a meritorious act or service in the interests of the security of the United States.

(c) The Medal of Freedom will not be awarded to a citizen of the United States for any act or service performed within the continental limits of the United States; neither will it be awarded to a member of the Armed Forces of the United States.

(d) The Medal of Freedom, in four degrees, is awarded to civilians, not citizens of the United States, who have otherwise qualified for this award under the conditions prescribed in this section. The degrees are similar to the degrees of the Legion of Merit (see § 878.13) and mark the order of merit of the achievement or service. Awards to citizens of the United States will be without degree.

On the reverse side of the medal, within a rim, is the inscription "For Service in Defence of the Principles of the Charter of the United Nations." The medal is suspended from a silk ribbon two inches in length and 1.33 inches in width, consisting of 17 stripes, nine of United Nations blue and eight of white, alternating, each stripe 0.08 inch in width. If eligibility cannot be established from official records, requests for determination of eligibility may be forwarded individually to the Director of Military Personnel, Headquarters United States Air Force, Attention: Personnel Services Division, Washington 25, D. Also, the lower grades of rendered fats, such as those obtained from catch basin skimmings, are termed "greases" regardless of whether the source of the original raw material was from cattle, sheep, or hogs. In general, tallows are firmer in texture than greases, ranging in titre or hardness from 40 to 45 C., while greases range from 34° to 39.9° titre.

[Definition of "inedible greases" added by Amdt. 2]

CPR 15—CEILING PRICES OF CERTAIN FOODS SOLD AT RETAIL IN GROUP 3 AND GROUP 4 STORES

CORRECTION

Due to a clerical error Amendment 14 to this regulation excluded citrus juices in commodity group heading 11 and placed them in commodity group heading 12 in Table A under section 37 (a). Accordingly, Table A is corrected by deleting the words "and citrus juices" where they appear in commodity group heading 11 and commodity group heading 12. Citrus juices will continue to be under commodity group 11.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, Supplementary Regulation 19]

CPR 34—SERVICES

SR 19—WHOLESALE LAUNDRIES IN THE NEW YORK CITY AREA

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation 19 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Supplementary Regulation 19 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 permits an increase in ceiling prices for wholesale laundry services to retail hand laundries supplied by power laundries situated in the Counties of Bronx, New York, Kings, Queens, Richmond, Westchester, Nassau, and Suffolk, in New York State.

A study of the operating costs and profit margins of a representative number of the power laundries supplying wholesale laundry services to retail hand laundries, which it is estimated amounted to five and one-half million dollars in 1951, reveals that increased labor and material costs have impaired the pre-Korean earnings of such power laundries. In addition in May, 1952, new wage contracts were negotiated granting substantial wage increases to all classes of workers. The wage increases are all within the formula of Wage Stabilization Board regulations or have received Wage Stabilization Board approval with the result that the earnings of these power laundries will be further impaired. The amount granted herein has been determined to be the minimum necessary to maintain the financial stability of these power laundries in order to assure a continued supply of these essential wholesale laundry services.

Under the provisions of this supplementary regulation the charges of these power laundries for their wholesale laundry services to retail hand laundries may be increased by 5 percent. This uniform increase was determined in accordance with the standards for individual adjustment under section 20 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Such an adjustment may be applied to the total amount of each invoice rendered to the customer, and identified as the "OPS permitted price increase." If this method is used to apply the amount of the increase, the seller need not make the supplementary filing required by section 10 (c) of CPR 34. At the option of the individual power laundry, however, the ceiling price for each item may be increased by not more than 5 percent. Adjusted flat prices must within ten days after their determination be filed with the appropriate Office of Price Stabilization district office.

In the future, power laundries subject to this supplementary regulation may not obtain an adjustment of their ceiling prices for their wholesale laundry services under section 20 of CPR 34.

In addition, the ceiling prices established by this supplementary regulation apply to all such power laundries' wholesale laundry services to their retail hand laundries, irrespective of any adjustment of ceiling prices heretofore granted under the provisions of CPR 34. Consequently, any adjustments granted under that regulation are automatically revoked as of the effective date of this supplementary regulation.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation the Director has consulted insofar as practicable with representative suppliers of these services, including representatives of trade associations, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the increases permitted by this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes to Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 19 to CPR 34 shall become effective June 18, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirement of the regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

CPR 34—SERVICES

SR 20—POWER LAUNDRIES IN THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Supplementary Regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 permits an increase in ceiling prices for certain services supplied by power laundries situated in the City of St. Louis, Missouri. This supplementary regulation does not permit the increase to be applied to the diaper supply, linen supply and dry cleaning services of such laundries.

A study of the operating costs and profit margins of a representative number of the power laundries in the City of St. Louis, which provide 90 percent of the total sales of services furnished by these laundries amounting to an estimated seven and one-half million dollars in 1951, reveals that increased labor and material costs have impaired the pre-Korean earnings of such laundries. In addition, in December 1951, new two-year wage contracts were entered into with labor unions representing the employees of these laundries which resulted in substantial wage increases to all classes of workers. These wage increases are all within the formula of Wage Stabilization Board regulations or have received Wage Stabilization Board approval, with the result that earnings of these laundries will be further impaired. The price increase granted herein has been determined to be the minimum necessary to maintain the financial stability of these laundries in order to assure a continued supply of these essential services. The uniform increase has been determined in accordance with the standards for individual adjustments under section 20 of CPR 34.

Under the provisions of this supplementary regulation, ceiling prices of such power laundries may be increased by 7 percent, such adjustment to be applied to the total amount of each invoice rendered to the customer and identified as the "OPS permitted price increase." If this method is used to apply the amount of the increase, the seller need not make the supplementary filing required by section 18 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. At the option of the individual laundry, however, the flat ceiling price for each article may be increased by 7 percent. Adjusted flat ceiling prices must, within ten days after their determination, be filed with the appropriate Office of Price Stabilization district office as required by section 18 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

In the future, power laundries subject to this supplementary regulation may not obtain an adjustment of their ceiling prices for power laundry services under section 20 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34. Any adjustment of ceiling prices under section 20 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 heretofore granted is automatically revoked as of the effective date of this supplementary regulation.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation, the Director has consulted insofar as practicable with representative suppliers of these services, including representatives of trade associations, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the increases permitted by this supplementary regulation are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

If you use this method of applying your ceiling price increase, you need not make the supplementary filing required by section 18 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

Any order adjusting the ceiling prices of any such supplier's power laundry services under section 20 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, is hereby revoked as of the effective date of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 5. Definitions. (a) "Power laundry" or "power laundries" as used in this regulation are laundries which in the laundry trade are customarily known and designated as such, and do not include hand laundries, launderettes or laundries using home-type laundry equipment to supply laundry services.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 20 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 shall become effective June 23, 1952.

CPR 74—CEILING PRICES OF PORK SOLD AT WHOLESALE

HAMS—REGULAR, BONE-IN, OVER 20 POUNDS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, delegation of authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to meat, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5, Revision, this Amendment 7 to Ceiling Price Regulation 74 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation (CPR) 74 adds two items to Schedule I of section 20 and establishes ceiling prices therefor:

(1) Hams—Regular, bone-in, weighing 20 to 28 pounds and

(2) Hams—Regular, bone-in, weighing over 28 pounds.

This will not affect adversely the cut standardization prescribed by CPR 74 nor interfere with the effective administration of that amendment.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted so far as practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the act.

All standards prescribed in this regulation were, prior to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 74, in general use in the meat industry. Such standards as are prescribed are indispensable to price control of pork, since no practicable alternative to such standardization exists for securing effective price control of this commodity. It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices, cost practices, or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Ceiling Price Regulation 74, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 74 is amended in the following respects:

1. Item 1 of Schedule I of Section 20 is amended by deleting all of Item 1 and substituting therefor the following:

All prices are on a dollar per hundredweight loose basis; the price for any fraction of a hundredweight shall be reduced proportionately. Weights are by range and not by average]

[Ceiling Price Regulation 110, Correction]

CPR 110—COPPER WIRE MILL PRODUCTS

DELETION OF CERTAIN ITEMS APPEARING IN BOOK C

Due to inadvertence there appear in the official copy of Book C price sheets for the items of military shipboard cables, Mil–C–915, consisting of nine pages, bearing Nos. 1 through 9, issued November 1, 1950, and Mil–C–2194 and 15–C–14, consisting of two pages, bearing Nos. 1 and 2, issued November 1, 1950. These sheets cover items made especially to military specifications and differing substantially from items sold for non-military purposes. It was not intended that such items be covered by CPR 110. Accordingly, the official copy of Price Book C is corrected by the deletion from it of the following sheets relating to the following military shipboard cable items:

Shipboard Cables, Mil–C–915, Sheets Nos. 1 through 9.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 134, Amdt. 2]

CPR 134—CEILING PRICES FOR EATING AND DRINKING ESTABLISHMENTS

REPORTING, RECORD-KEEPING, POSTING AND PRICING OF NEW ITEMS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), as amended by Public Law 96 (82d Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 134 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment revises a number of provisions of CPR 134 dealing with record-keeping and reporting, posting of ceiling prices, and the method of fixing ceiling prices for new items.

1. Prior to this amendment when the operator of an eating or drinking establishment desired to introduce a meal, food item or beverage which he had not offered since April 1, 1951, he was required to use as his ceiling price for the new item the ceiling price of his most comparable item having the same or a lower raw food cost. The purpose of that provision was to permit operators to fix ceiling prices for new items in line with the ceiling prices of comparable items. It now appears, however, that, in many cases, the effect of this provision is to require operators to have ceiling prices for relatively expensive items substantially out of relation to the raw food cost of those items. In addition, difficulty has arisen in many cases in determining what meal, food item or beverage is "most comparable" to the new item.

As a result of the present amendment, ceiling prices for new items will continue to be fixed in line with other items sold by the operator and having the same or lower raw food cost. He will not, however, be required to fix ceiling prices in this way when all the items for which he already has ceiling prices have a raw food cost more than five percent below the raw food cost of the new item. In any case in which this turns out to be true, the operator will apply to OPS for a ceiling price for the new item.

2. It appears that many smaller eating and drinking establishments do not have adequate records of their food cost and sales for their base period specified in CPR 11. As a matter of fact, in a number of instances they have no records at all for that period. Moreover, many small drug stores and similar establishments selling other commodities or services in addition to meals, food items and beverages cannot, except with great difficulty, segregate their food and beverage sales from their other sales. Since the sales volume of these establishments is comparatively small, the Director of Price Stabilization has determined that excusing these establishments from the requirement carried over from CPR 11 for the filing of base period sales and cost reports will not seriously impair the effectiveness of CPR 134. Section 12 (d) of the latter regulation is, therefore, now being amended to provide that eating and drinking establishments whose gross sales for 1951 were not more than $24,000 (or an average of $2,000 a month if the establishment was open only part of the year) need not file such reports. In addition, in order to deal with the special problem of drug stores and similar businesses having eating facilities, section 12 (d) is also being amended to excuse from the reporting requirements those establishments which did not have records in 1951 for sales of food and beverage separate from their other sales and whose purchases of such items did not exceed $12,000 for the year (or an average of $1,000 a month if the establishment was not open for the whole year). Similar exemptions are also provided under this amendment with regard to the record-keeping requirements of Section 18.

3. It has come to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization that some operators have misunderstood the requirements in regard to listing their principal items both on the statements they have to file and on their posters. Section 12 has, therefore, been amended to make it clear that, in listing the principal meals, food items and beverages, the operator must identify the items sufficiently for the customers to know what those items are. The way in which items are to be listed is specifically set forth in the amendment.

4. Section 13 has been clarified so as to remove doubts which have apparently arisen as to the manner of listing items on the posters. The amendment makes it clear that where an operator has separate ceiling prices for a particular item because that item was offered on a particular day of the week or at a particular time of the day during the freeze week or other designated period, he must indicate on the poster that he has such separate ceiling prices. It is not, however, necessary to make such an indication where an operator has a separate ceiling price for an item by reason of its being served on one of the holidays or special events designated in the regulation.

In view of the nature of this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has found it impracticable to consult formally with official advisory committees or trade association representatives. However, representatives of a substantial segment of the industry have been consulted informally and consideration was given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 134 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) If the particular meal, food item or beverage was not offered at any time from April 1, 1951 to February 3, 1952, your ceiling price for that meal, food item or beverage is the same as the ceiling price for a meal, food item or beverage having a raw food cost the same as or not more than five percent less than the raw food cost of the new meal, food item or beverage. The raw food cost shall be determined as of the date when the new meal, food item or beverage is first offered.

2. Section 12 (a) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) A statement listing 40 of the principal meals, food items and non-alcoholic beverages you sell which have ceiling prices fixed under section 6, 9 or 10 of this regulation. You must also state the ceiling price for each item listed. If you sell alcoholic beverages, you must also list your ceiling prices for 20 alcoholic beverages which you sell, including the number of ounces of alcoholic and malt beverages served in each drink. The items you list must be the principal ones which you customarily sell and your list must not include those which you sell only occasionally. They are the items you will post in your establishment. (See section 13.) If you do not offer as many as 40 meals, food items or non-alcoholic beverages, or as many as 20 alcoholic beverages, list on the statement all that you do offer.

3. Section 12 (a) is amended by adding a new subparagraph (3) to read as follows:

(3) The meals, food items and beverages included in the statement described in paragraph (a) (2) of this section must be listed in the following way:

(i) For meals, list the entree and then indicate the type of meal, for example, steak dinner, pork dinner, vegetable plate luncheon and ham loaf luncheon;

(ii) For alcoholic beverages, list highballs, wine or beer by brand name and not by type except where all brands of the same type, such as bourbon, scotch, beer, domestic sauterne, imported sherry, etc., have the same ceiling prices.

(iii) For all food items, identify each of the items so your customers will know what those items are, as, for example, baked ham sandwich, chicken salad sandwich, club sandwich, fruit salad or waldorf salad. Do not use merely general designations such as "plain sandwiches", "regular sandwiches", "fancy sandwiches" or "salads".

4. Paragraph (d) of section 12 is amended to read as follows:

(d) If you are required to fix your ceiling prices under this regulation and if, prior to the effective date of this regulation, you were required to file a base period report under CPR 11 which you have not filed, you must file that report with your OPS District Office within fifteen days after the effective date of this regulation. However, this requirement is not applicable to you under the following circumstances:

(1) Your gross sales for 1951 were not more than $24,000, or not more than an average of $2,000 a month if you were not open throughout 1951; or

(2) You did not maintain throughout 1951 or during the portion of the year you were in operation, records of your sales of meals, food items and beverages separate from your other sales and your total food and beverage purchases for that year were not more than $12,000, or not more than an average of $1,000 a month if you were not open throughout 1951.

5. Section 13 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) You must list in the appropriate column on an official OPS poster the meals, food items and beverages with the ceiling price for each item as listed on the statement which you filed with your OPS District Office. If any meal, food item or beverage has separate ceiling prices because that meal, food item or beverage was offered on a particular day of the week or at a particular time of day, you must indicate on the poster that a higher price is charged at different times of the day or on different days of the week. You may obtain an official OPS poster from your OPS District Office.

6. Section 18 is amended by adding a paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) Paragraphs (a) (1), (b) (1) and (b) (2) of this section are not applicable to you if you did not maintain throughout 1951 or during the portion of the year you were in operation, records of your sales of meals, food items and beverages separate from your other sales and your total food and beverage purchases for that year were not more than $12,000, or not more than an average of $1,000 a month if you were not open throughout 1951. In addition, if you are excused under section 12 (d) (1) from filing your CPR 11 base period report, you are not required to comply with the provisions of paragraphs (a) (1) and (b) (1) of this section.

Effective date. This Amendment 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 134 is effective June 23, 1952.

GCPR, SR 66—CEMENT—ADJUSTMENT FOR OUT-OF-AREA PURCHASES

ADJUSTMENT FOR OUT-OF-AREA PURCHASES OF SAND, GRAVEL AND CRUSHED STONE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 1 to Supplementary Regulation 66 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Supplementary Regulation 66 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation permits ceiling price adjustments for dealers in sand, gravel, and crushed stone and manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete who are required to obtain sand, gravel and crushed stone from "out-of-area" sources of supply.

SR 66 originally provided ceiling price adjustments for dealers in cement and manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete who were required to procure cement from "out-of-area" sources of supply. This amendment permits manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete and dealers to make similar adjustments for "out-of-area" purchases of sand, gravel and crushed stone. Freight on these bulky commodities constitutes a large portion of total costs, and any purchases from more distant than usual sources of supply result in sharp cost increases and correspondingly severe cuts in normal profit margins. In recent weeks, flood conditions have made it necessary for some buyers, who formerly had been supplied from deposits located near rivers and in river bottoms, to obtain these materials from sources many miles distant. This amendment will enable these buyers to pass through some of the cost increases until conditions return to normal. The price relief granted by this amendment is deemed necessary to maintain the supply of ready-mixed concrete needed for rehabilitation of the flooded areas and to otherwise supply their normal needs.

Depletion of deposits located near the major population centers is another important cause of "out-of-area" purchases. This amendment is equally applicable to "out-of-area" purchases caused by depletion.

The ceiling price increase granted by this amendment is limited to the actual additional costs incurred by the dealers and concrete manufacturers and it, therefore, does not provide any financial incentive to purchase sand, gravel and crushed stone from distant sources.

In the formulation of this amendment, special circumstances, one of them being the present flood emergency, have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 66 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended as follows:

1. Section 2 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Meaning of terms used in this supplementary regulation. (a) "Cement" includes standard Portland Cement, special Portland Cement such as high early strength masonry or mortar, low and moderate heat, oil-well, sulphate-resisting, white Portland; or any other cement generally classified as special Portland cement, alumina cement, natural cement, puzzolan (slaglime) cement; and masonry cement of the natural cement class; but excluding hydraulic lime.

The term "sand, gravel and crushed stone," as used in this supplementary regulation, means these materials only when they are used as a concrete, masonry or plaster aggregate.

(b) "Out-of-area" means the location of a source of supply of cement, or of sand, gravel and crushed stone, which is more distant, freightwise, than the most distant, freightwise, sources from which you bought cement, or sand, gravel and crushed stone, during the calendar year 1950. If you made isolated purchases of cement, or of sand, gravel and crushed stone, from a source more distant, freightwise, than your normal sources of supply, and did not weigh such cost into your base (normal) prices in 1950, but charged the additional cost to the specific customer or customers purchasing such cement, or sand, gravel and crushed stone, or the ready-mixed concrete in which such cement, or sand, gravel and crushed stone, was used, you may treat that source as an "out-of-area" supplier for the purposes of this supplementary regulation: Provided, however, That you also eliminate these purchases, and the costs thereof, from your calculations, under section 3, 4, 6 or 7 of this supplementary regulation, of the weighted average delivered cost of "in-area" cement or sand, gravel and crushed stone.

(c) "In-area" means any location which is not "out-of-area."

(d) "Delivered cost" means the mill or plant price plus actual inbound freight charges paid by you, or charged to you.

(e) "Accounting period" means the regular period, not longer than a calendar month, at which you bill or invoice your customers for deliveries made to them; it may be monthly, semi-monthly or shorter, depending upon your practice.

(f) "Base accounting period" means an "accounting period" in which out-of-area cement, or sand, gravel and crushed stone, is delivered to your plant.

(g) "Current accounting period" is the accounting period immediately following the "base accounting period."

(h) "GCPR" means the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

(i) "Recent representative quarter" means any of the following 3-month periods:

May, June, and July 1951; June, July, and August 1951; or July, August, and September 1951.

(j) "Current weighted average delivered cost" of cement, or of sand, gravel and crushed stone is the weighted average cost of cement, or of sand, gravel and crushed stone purchased during a "recent representative quarter."

2. Section 5 is amended by adding the words "sand, gravel and crushed stone" after the word "cement" in the eleventh line of that section so that the amended section 5 reads as follows:

SEC. 5. Notification to buyers. During any period in which you, as a dealer in cement, sand, gravel and crushed stone or as a manufacturer of ready-mixed concrete, apply this supplementary regulation you are required to state on each invoice to any of your customers the following information, or any information substantially to the same effect: "The extra charge stated in this invoice represents additional cost of purchases of 'out-of-area' cement, sand, gravel and crushed stone, and does not exceed the amount permitted to be added by the seller to the ceiling price by Supplementary Regulation 66 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation."

3. Two new sections are added to read as follows:

SEC. 6. Dealers in sand, gravel and crushed stone. (The term "sand, gravel and crushed stone," as used in this section, means these materials only when they are used as a concrete, masonry, or plaster aggregate.) If you are a dealer in sand, gravel and crushed stone, which you are required to obtain from out-of-area sources of supply, you may increase your ceiling prices for sand, gravel and crushed stone, using the method prescribed by section 3 of this supplementary regulation.

For the purposes of applying the method of section 3 to obtain the adjustment provided by this section, substitute in section 3 the terms "sand, gravel and crushed stone," "ton," and "per ton" for the terms "cement," "bag or barrel," and "per bag or barrel" respectively.

SEC. 7. Adjustment for out-of-area purchases of sand, gravel and crushed stone. (a) If you are a manufacturer of ready-mixed concrete who is required to procure sand, gravel and crushed stone from "out-of-area" sources of supply, you may increase your ceiling prices for ready-mixed concrete using the method prescribed by section 4 of this supplementary regulation.

(b) In computing this adjustment, the term "out-of-area" means the location of a source of supply of sand, gravel and crushed stone which is more distant, freightwise, than the most distant, freightwise, sources from which you bought sand, gravel and crushed stone during the calendar year 1950. If you made isolated purchases of sand, gravel and crushed stone from a source more distant, freightwise, than your normal sources of supply, and did not weigh such cost into your base (normal) prices in 1950, but charged the additional cost to the specific customer or customers purchasing the concrete-mix in which such sand, gravel and crushed stone were used, you may treat that source as an "out-of-area" supplier for the purposes of this section: Provided, however, That you also eliminate these purchases, and the costs thereof, from your calculations, under section 4 of this supplementary regulation, of the weighted average delivered cost of "in-area" sand, gravel and crushed stone. Terms other than "out-of-area" are as defined by section 2.

(c) For the purposes of applying the method of section 4 to obtain the adjustment provided by this section, substitute in section 4 and in Appendix A the terms "sand, gravel and crushed stone," "ton", and "per ton" for the terms "cement", "bag or barrel", and "per bag or per barrel" respectively.

(d) The adjustment provided by this section is in addition to any adjustment to which you may otherwise be entitled by this supplementary regulation.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Bureau of Animal Industry

[9 CFR Part 95]

SANITARY CONTROL OF ANIMAL BYPRODUCTS (EXCEPT CASINGS), AND HAY AND STRAW, OFFERED FOR ENTRY INTO THE UNITED STATES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the provisions of section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (a)) that the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to authority conferred upon him by section 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (sec. 2, 32 Stat. 792, as amended, 21 U. S. C. 111), is considering amendments to the regulations governing the sanitary control of animal byproducts (except casings), and hay and straw, offered for entry into the United States (9 CFR Part 95, as amended), as follows:

1. Section 95.1 (l) would be amended to read as follows:

§ 95.1 Definitions. • • •

(l) Bone meal. "Bone meal" means ground animal bones and hoof meal and horn meal.

• • • • • •

2. Section 95.11 would be amended to read as follows:

§ 95.11 Bones, horns, and hoofs for trophies or museums. Clean, dry bones, horns, and hoofs, that are free from undried pieces of hide, flesh, and sinew and are offered for entry as trophies or for consignment to museums may be imported without other restrictions.

3. Section 95.12 (c) would be amended by changing the first sentence to read as follows:

§ 95.12 Bones, horns, and hoofs; importations permitted subject to restrictions. • • •

(c) They shall be handled at the establishment under the direction of an inspector in a manner to guard against the dissemination of anthrax, foot-and-mouth disease, and rinderpest, and the bags, burlap, or other containers thereof, before leaving the establishment, shall be disinfected by heat or otherwise, as directed by the Chief of Bureau or burned at the establishment. • • •

• • • • • •

4. Present § 95.14 would be revoked. Present § 95.13 would be redesignated § 95.14 and would be amended to read as follows:

§ 95.14 Blood meal, tankage, and similar products for use as fertilizer or animal feed; requirements for entry. Dried blood or blood meal, lungs or other organs, tankage, meat meal, wool waste, wool manure, and similar products for use as fertilizer or as food for domestic animals shall not be imported unless such products:

(a) Originated in and were shipped directly from a country not declared by the Secretary of Agriculture to be infected with foot-and-mouth disease or rinderpest; or

(b) Are accompanied by the certificate of a consular officer showing that in the process of manufacture the particular product was heated throughout to a temperature of not less than 156° Fahrenheit (68.9° Centigrade).

5. A new § 95.13 would be added to read as follows:

§ 95.13 Bone meal for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals; requirements for entry. Steamed or degelatinized or special steamed bone meal, which, in the normal process of manufacture, has been prepared by heating bone under a minimum of 20 pounds steam pressure for at least one hour at a temperature of not less than 250° Fahrenheit (121° Centigrade), may be imported without further restriction for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals if such products are free from pieces of bone, hide, flesh, and sinew and contain no more than traces of hair and wool. Bone meal for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals which does not meet these requirements will not be eligible for entry.

The purpose of the foregoing proposed amendments is to restrict the entry of all animal bones, including crushed bones, to be used as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals; to permit the entry of such bones only when consigned to an establishment approved by the Department for handling and further processing in a manner to prevent the dissemination of anthrax, foot-and-mouth disease, and rinderpest; to permit the entry of specially treated bone meal (including hoof meal and horn meal) which has been treated in a manner to assure the destruction of any anthrax spores present in such product; to prohibit the entry of any other bone meal (including hoof meal and horn meal) for use as fertilizer or as feed for domestic animals which does not meet these requirements; and to impose stricter requirements upon the importation of tankage, meat meal, wool waste, wool manure and similar products than are presently imposed.

Any person who wishes to submit written data or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them with the Chief, Bureau of Animal Industry, Agricultural Research Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within thirty days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 907]

[Docket No. AO-212-A4]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MILWAUKEE, WIS., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED NEW MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED OTHER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on May 19 and 20, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 8, 1952 (17 F. R. 4353).

The material issues of record related to:

1. Revision of the price differentials over the basic formula price for Class I milk and Class II milk;

2. Revision of the "supply-demand price adjustment" provision;

3. Revision of the alternate basic price formula which employs market prices of butter and cheddar cheese;

4. Adoption of a new price formula to be applicable to milk used in cheese (Class IV milk);

5. Revision of the provisions relating to milk priced under another marketing agreement or order and disposed of within the marketing area;

6. Inclusion of a "bracket schedule" for Class I and Class II milk prices;

7. Revision of the provisions relating to transfers of milk, skim milk and cream from a handler to the plant of a producer-handler;

8. Adoption of a rule under which a handler shall have the option to pay producers on either base and excess prices or a blended price for all deliveries for the months of April, May and June;

9. Several proposed changes in order language for clarity and administrative purposes; and

10. The emergency character of marketing conditions and the need for immediate change in the order provisions.

Issues numbered 1, 2, 4, 6, 9, and 10 above are decided herein. The remaining issues are reserved for subsequent decision. The proposed amendments relating to issues 4 and 6 were abandoned by proponents and were not supported by evidence in the record. They are hereby denied. Findings and conclusions with respect to issues 1, 2, 9 and 10 are set forth below:

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the issues decided herein are hereby made upon the basis of the record of the hearing:

(1) The price differentials added to the basic formula price for Class I milk and Class II milk should be revised; the formula for automatic adjustment of such differentials should be modified (issues 1 and 2).

Certain producers' cooperative bargaining associations presented proposals to (1) increase the Class I and Class II price differentials by $0.20 during July through November, $0.40 during December and $0.10 during all other months, (2) adopt a provision which would change such differentials automatically as local market supplies change in relation to Class I sales from a selected base, and (3) eliminate the 4 cent difference between the Milwaukee Class I and Class II prices and the corresponding class prices for the 55–70 mile zone under the Chicago order.

In the decision issued June 20, 1951, in connection with the promulgation of certain order amendments, including amendments designed to increase the levels of Class I and Class II prices, the following findings and conclusions were made:

Geographically, the Chicago and Milwaukee markets are very closely related, Milwaukee being located about 85 miles from Chicago and within an important segment of the Chicago milkshed Farms of producers for both the Milwaukee and Chicago markets are intermingled to a large extent in certain zones of the Chicago production area, and are affected similarly by the prices and supplies of feeds and other production conditions in these locations.

At least one handler under the Chicago order (as recently revised) operates distribution routes in the Milwaukee marketing area in competition with Milwaukee handlers. In recognition of the exceedingly close competitive relationship between the two marketing areas as to both the purchase of milk from producers and the distribution of milk by handlers, it was concluded in connection with the promulgation of the original Milwaukee order that the class prices should correspond with the zone 3 prices of the Chicago order. The result has been to maintain a close relationship of prices for milk disposed of in fluid form as milk and cream in the two markets * * * In view of the showing of a high degree of similarity in conditions affecting the production and marketing of milk for fluid use in the two market areas, it is concluded that any adjustment in the Class I and Class II price differentials under such provision of the Chicago order would be equally appropriate at this time in connection with the Class I and Class II price differentials under the Milwaukee order and would tend to promote orderly marketing conditions * * * Although available information does not indicate identical seasonal production patterns in the two markets the variation in the production zones where overlapping occurs is not sufficiently large to warrant different class price schedules seasonally. Since some milk is distributed within the Milwaukee marketing area by a handler regulated by the Chicago order it is deemed important to maintain a close alignment on a monthly basis. The proximity of portions of the enlarged marketing area recently adopted under the Chicago order to the Milwaukee marketing area also indicates the desirability of maintaining such price alignment.

Official notice is taken of such decision.

The quoted findings and conclusions of the June 20, 1951, decision are equally supported by the present hearing record. Both handler and producer witnesses testified to the competition between the Chicago and Milwaukee markets for dairy farm supplies of milk in the production area adjacent to both markets.

The recent recommendation to introduce higher price differentials for Class I and Class II milk as defined in the Chicago order would place the Milwaukee market in the position of not being able to compete successfully for the supplies necessary to meet the increasing requirements of the market unless higher prices are paid by Milwaukee handlers either by order requirement or by means of premiums. The necessity of maintaining and even increasing market supplies is indicated by the milk utilization statistics of the market which show that on an annual average basis more than 91 percent of the producer milk delivered is used for Class I and Class II milk products. Milk production in recent months has held at approximately last year's level for the same period while Class I and Class II sales have increased. In the fall and winter months just passed, the amounts of milk needed for such sales exceeded the total deliveries of producers and supplementary supplies in greater quantities than were imported in the same months a year ago were needed for such products. The record discloses also that prices of feed and farm machinery and the wages of farm labor have advanced appreciably since a year ago increasing milk production costs. In view of the above it is concluded that class prices for the Milwaukee market should be raised to the extent contemplated by the recent decision on price amendments to the Chicago order.

As to other proposals which would (a) increase the December price level relative to increases for other months, (b) apply an automatic price "mover" to local supply and sales relationships (12 month moving average), and (c) eliminate the 4 cent difference between Milwaukee Class I and Class II prices and those of corresponding classifications for the 55–70 mile zone under the Chicago order, it is concluded that such proposals should be denied. As pointed out by producer proponents the record shows that December production is relatively low as compared with other months and that production does not increase sharply from the low point of the year on a seasonal basis until after December has passed. December also is a month in the period during which producers make "base" for the following spring months. However, the inclusion of December among the months when the class price differentials are highest seasonally would aggravate the competitive supply situation between the Milwaukee and Chicago markets. For the two Decembers since the Milwaukee order has been in effect the average uniform price has been 14 cents and 9 cents, respectively, higher than the uniform price under the Chicago order for zone 3. If the annual level of prices is sufficient to induce adequate supplies for September, October and November, it is not likely that the market supply will be short in the month of December. The price level to result from the attached amending order is designed to accomplish such result. Also, if the base and excess plan of payment operates successfully additional December deliveries will be encouraged. The above considerations outweigh the reasons presented for raising the Class I and Class II price differentials in December relative to the other months.

The application of the automatic price "mover" to local supply and demand data in the manner proposed would raise the levels of Class I and Class II prices well out of line with prices for corresponding classes under the Chicago order. At similar class price levels the monthly average uniform prices for Milwaukee exceed uniform prices in zone 3 under the Chicago order by much more than the difference in costs for farm to plant hauling of milk for the two markets. For the year 1951 this difference in uniform prices amounted to 14 cents per hundredweight. Even in the months of shortest production when competition for supply between the two markets is most intense the difference in uniform prices was in favor of Milwaukee by from 2 to 9 cents per hundredweight. It may be noted also that Chicago plants serve as sources of supplementary milk and cream supplies for the Milwaukee handlers. In addition, there are no quality considerations indicated which present a difficult barrier to the disposition of Chicago approved milk in the Milwaukee marketing area or make milk production for Milwaukee substantially more costly than for Chicago in the same segment of the milkshed. At comparable prices, after giving effect to the slightly higher farm to plant haul for Milwaukee, it may be reasonably expected under present circumstances that if dairy farmers in the area where the Chicago and Milwaukee milksheds overlap are induced to produce for the Chicago market they will be equally attracted to the Milwaukee market. In view of past relationships of uniform prices which have favored Milwaukee because of the higher percentage of supplies utilized in Class I milk, adoption of the revised Chicago price adjustment formula should induce adequate supplies for the marketing area.

The price proposals include also a suggestion to relate Milwaukee prices to the 55–70 mile zone level of Chicago rather than to the zone 3 level. The Class I price to handlers for the 55–70 mile zone for Chicago is 4 cents higher than the zone 3 price in recognition of the cost involved in the transportation of milk between plants in the respective zones. On the producer side a 4 cent difference in uniform prices is provided between such zones to reflect the location advantage of producers shipping to plants in the 55–70 mile zone as compared with those shipping to zone 3 plants in relation to the Chicago market as the outlet for their milk. Such difference in zone prices should not be reflected in Milwaukee class prices since the Milwaukee marketing area is located mainly within zone 3 of the Chicago milkshed and its milk supplies are received by handlers by direct delivery from farm to plant at the expense of the producers.

(2) Several amendments of an administrative nature should be adopted (issue 9).

Administrative experience under the order indicates that the wording of certain provisions of the order, including those relating to other source milk, computation of shrinkage, the method of converting concentrated milk to its whole milk equivalent for classification purposes, and the rules governing the application of producer bases should be revised and clarified to reduce the latitude for administrative interpretation where possible. It is concluded that several such changes should be made and they are included in the attached amending order. Such revisions do not, however, alter substantially present administrative practice under the order.

(3) The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, and the opportunity for exceptions thereto (issue 10).

The conditions complained of are such that it is urgent that remedial action be taken as soon as possible. Delay beyond the minimum time required to make the attached order effective would defeat the purpose of such amendments. Accordingly, the time necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of a recommended decision, and exceptions thereto, would make such relief ineffective. A request for the use of emergency promulgation procedures was made on the record.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of March 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area, in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

Rulings on briefs. Briefs were filed on behalf of certain Milwaukee, Wisconsin, producers and handlers. The briefs contained proposed findings of fact, conclusions and arguments with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions herein before set forth. To the extent that such suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the requests to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the order set forth below which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of June 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area

§ 907.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.) and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 907.14 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 907.14 Other source milk. "Other source milk" means all milk and milk products, except packaged butter, packaged cottage cheese, and other products already packaged or processed when received by the handler, other than producer milk or receipts from other handlers.

2. Delete § 907.41 (d) (3) and substitute therefor the following:

(3) Actual shrinkage but not to exceed 2½ percent of the total pounds of butterfat in producer milk and actual shrinkage of butterfat in other source milk (including in each instance that computed pursuant to § 907.42 (b))

3. Delete § 907.42 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Prorate the resulting amount among the receipts of butterfat in producer milk, other source milk, and receipts (excluding milk or milk products in packaged form and not reprocessed by the receiving handler) from other handlers in accordance with the total volumes of butterfat received from each such source.

4. Delete § 907.46 (c) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Convert to pounds on the basis of 2.15 pounds per quart (in the case of non-concentrated flavored milk and flavored milk drinks 2.0 pounds per quart) the volume disposed of as each of the several items of Class I milk, except in the case of converting milk, flavored milk or flavored milk drinks in concentrated form such conversion shall apply to the volume of milk used in the production of the concentrated product rather than to the volume of finished product: Provided, That if a satisfactory record of the volume of milk used in the production of the concentrated product is not available, the 3.5 percent milk equivalent of the volume of butterfat in the finished product shall be used for the purposes of this paragraph;

5. Delete § 907.51 (a) and (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. The price for Class I milk shall be the basic formula price plus the following amounts as indicated: May and June, $0.56; July through November, inclusive, $1.06; all other months, $0.76: Provided, That such class I price differential shall be increased or decreased, respectively, 3 cents for each full percent that the current supply-demand ratio computed pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section is greater or less than 72 percent.

(b) Class II milk. The price for Class II milk shall be the basic formula price plus the following amounts as indicated: May and June, $0.40; July through November, inclusive, $0.70; all other months, $0.50: Provided, That such Class II price differential shall be adjusted by the amount of any adjustment made in the Class I price differential for the same month pursuant to the proviso of paragraph (a) of this section.

6. Delete § 907.51 (e) and substitute therefor the following:

(e) Automatic price adjustment. On or before the last day of each month the market administrator shall make the following computations based upon the reported receipts and utilization of handlers as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, as computed by the market administrator under the latter order:

(1) Determine the total receipts of Grade A milk from all producers (including receipts from own farm production) for the most recent 12-month period.

(2) Determine the total pounds of Grade A milk actually utilized in Class I milk and Class II milk products during the most recent12-month period and subtract therefrom the amount of Class II milk represented by frozen cream and plastic cream moving into storage during such 12-month period.

(3) Divide the amount obtained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph by the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and round to the nearest full percent, which resulting percentage shall be known as the "current supply-demand ratio".

(4) In making the computations specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, the market administrator shall use the reported receipts and utilization of handlers of Grade A milk under both Order 41 and former Order 69 (Suburban Chicago, Illinois, marketing area) when it is necessary to use data for months prior to July 1, 1951.

7. Delete § 907.60 (b) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Any producer entering the market following twelve or more consecutive months without producer status, shall have his milk deliveries considered as non-base milk for the first April–June period (or any part thereof) following his qualification as a producer; or upon notifying the market administrator prior to April 1 next following such qualification as a producer, he may elect to have a base computed in the manner provided in paragraph (a) of this section with respect to his deliveries of milk to any fluid milk plant, receiving station, or non-fluid plant, such deliveries to be subject to verification by the market administrator: Provided, That this paragraph shall not be construed to conflict with § 907.61 (a) or (b).

8. Delete § 907.61 (e) and substitute therefor the following:

(e) The market administrator on or before March 1 shall notify each handler of the base (computed pursuant to § 907.60) of each of the producers delivering to his plant(s): Provided, That this shall not preclude the market administrator from notifying any producer (or a cooperative association if such producer is a member) of the producer's base.

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Marketing Area, and Designation of Agent To Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Milwaukee, Wisconsin, marketing area) who, during the month of March 1952, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order (amending the aforesaid order) which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

H. H. Erdmann is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

[Docket No. AO-225-A2]

HANDLING OF MILK IN DETROIT, MICHIGAN MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Detroit, Michigan, on May 12–16, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on April 17, 1952 (17 F. R. 3415).

The material issues of record related to almost all the substantive provisions of the order, including marketing area, classification and pricing, and the pooling and other features involving the distribution of returns to producers.

This decision will consider only the issues relating to proposals for the separate classification and pricing of milk utilized for the manufacture of butter and nonfat dry milk solids. The proposals were identified as numbers 10, 29, and 30 in the Notice of Hearing. A recommended decision with respect to all other issues will be issued at a later date.

Findings and conclusions. 1. Credits, based upon a butter-powder formula price, should be allowed on that portion of Class II milk which remains after allocation to other Class II products and is manufactured into butter or nonfat dry milk solids during May, June, and July. The butter-powder formula should be that now included as one of the two alternative Class II prices but with a "make" allowance of 67 cents in lieu of 62.6 cents. The credit should be the amount by which the Class II price exceeds this butter-powder formula, and should be allocated at the rate of 18 percent per pound of butterfat and 36 percent per hundredweight of skim milk. This change should be accomplished as an emergency action in order to make the change effective at the earliest possible date.

Under the present order, Class II is the only classification applicable to milk in excess of primary fluid needs. It includes milk used for fluid cream as well as that used in the various manufactured dairy products. The Class II price is the higher of two alternatives, one being an average of prices paid at 5 local plants and the second a butter-powder formula price. The butterfat differential, which determines the relative values of butterfat and skim milk in Class II, is computed by multiplying the local plant price by the percentage which butterfat represents of the basic formula butter-powder price. During the first 8 months the order was in effect, Class II butterfat values ranged from 81 cents per pound in September 1951 to 93 cents in February 1952 and skim milk values from 72 cents to $1.06 per hundredweight in the respective months.

The combining of milk used for all these products into a single classification at a single price not only simplifies the accounting problem but also encourages each handler to use a maximum proportion of his Class II milk in fluid cream, ice cream, and other of the more remunerative uses. Maximum quantities are thereby utilized in products for which consumers have the highest demand.

The quantities of milk in Class II are very large during the flush production season of May, June and July. The peak of production in the Detroit area is expected about June 15 or shortly thereafter and the flush season supplies will continue large throughout July. The outlets for such production as fluid cream, ice cream mix, cottage cheese, and the like are limited, and large quantities of milk are manufactured into butter and non-fat dry milk solids during these months. Butter and non-fat solids are storable commodities, can readily be sold on a national market, and the equipment for the utilization of large supplies of milk in their manufacture is more readily available than for the manufacture of alternative dairy products. The prices of these products should regulate the value of the milk used to make them.

The problem of pricing milk manufactured into butter and in non-fat dry milk solids can be dealt with expeditiously and appropriately by allowing a credit from the effective Class II price equal to the excess of such price over the Class II butter-powder formula price with a "make" allowance of 67 cents instead of the 62.6 cents. The credit per hundredweight of milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat will be allocated to butterfat and skim milk at the rate of 18 per cent per pound of butterfat (63 per cent for 3.5 pounds) and 36 per cent per hundredweight of skim milk. In case the milk is transferred to a plant which does not qualify as a handler's plant under the order, these credits will be allowed only on such quantities of skim milk and butterfat in Class II milk as are used in the manufacture of butter or nonfat dry milk solids after the allocation of such butterfat and skim milk to any uses other than the manufacture of butter and nonfat dry milk solids.

The recommended credits would establish prices paid for milk used for butter and nonfat solids directly on the market values of these products. It was testified that the make allowance of 67 cents in the Detroit Class II butter-powder formula is comparable to the make allowance of 75.2 cents provided for milk manufactured into butter under the Chicago order since the butter-powder formula in the Chicago order is based upon 93-score butter, spray process nonfat dry milk solids, and a butter yield of 1.21. It was further testified that costs at Michigan plants were higher than at Wisconsin plants. However, it is also true that market prices at Michigan plants are normally higher than in Chicago because of lower transportation costs to the major consuming centers and the butter produced in Michigan competes on the same national market as butter produced in Wisconsin.

Credits are allowed on both the butterfat and the skim milk used to make butter and powder. Some handlers will be utilizing whole milk in such operations while others will be utilizing large quantities of cream. The recommended credit on skim milk is almost twice as large a proportion of the net value of skim milk for drying as the butter-fat credit is of the value of fat in cream. This reflects the fact that the comparatively much greater bulk of skim milk makes is more difficult and costly to handle, transport, or hold for later processing in times when large volumes of Class II milk must be handled.

The allocation of Class II milk to uses other than butter and powder will assure producers that their milk is not used at the lower price to manufacture these products while other sources of milk are freed for use in fluid cream or other higher-valued uses.

Pricing provisions of the Detroit order were first effective in September, 1951, so this is the first flush season of operation under the order in this market. The hearing in May was the first opportunity for a general review of the order and for assessment of experience under the Class II pricing provisions under flush season conditions.

2. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, and the opportunity for exception thereto, on the above issue.

The conditions complained of are such that it is urgent that remedial action be taken as soon as possible. Delay beyond the minimum time required to make the attached order effective would defeat the purpose of such amendment. Accordingly, the time necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of a recommended decision, and exceptions thereto, would make such relief ineffective.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs filed by interested parties contained suggested findings of fact, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the proposals discussed at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions contained in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the requests to make such findings or to reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the findings and conclusions in this decision.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to § 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which effect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of April, 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such order.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Detroit, Michigan, Marketing Area" and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Detroit, Michigan, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the order set forth below which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C. this 13th day of June 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Detroit Marketing Area

§924.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Detroit, Michigan marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

Amend § 924.52 by inserting at the end of the first paragraph after the word "section" the following: "Provided, That for the months of May, June, and July, there shall be credited to each handler with respect to butterfat used in the manufacture of butter and skim milk used in the manufacture of non-fat dry milk solids in the handler's plant, or transferred to and so used in a plant not operated by a handler after first allocating such butterfat and skim milk to any uses in such plant other than for the manufacture of butter and non-fat dry milk solids, an amount per pound of butterfat equal to the excess of the Class II price determined under this paragraph over a price computed as the sum of the prices determined under (1) and (2) of subparagraph (a) of this paragraph less 67 cents, such excess to be multiplied by 0.18, and an amount per hundredweight of skim milk equal to such excess multiplied by 0.36."

[F. R. Doc. 52-6731; Filed, June 18, 1952; 8:55 a. m.]

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

[Docket No. AO-101-A13]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CHICAGO, ILL., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Chicago, Illinois, on March 11-14, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on March 5, 1952 (17 F. R. 2018).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on May 15, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision. Notice of such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 20, 1952 (17 F. R. 4579).

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52-5587, 17 F. R. 4579) are hereby approved and adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein subject to the following revisions:

Delete the third paragraph beginning in Column 2, 17 F. R. 4581 (F. R. Doc. 52-5587) and substitute therefor the following:

During 1950 the total demand for Class I and Class II milk products, including bulk sales to distant markets, was 71.7 percent of the total receipts of milk from producers, including "own farm" production. This also is approximately the same as the average of the monthly base percentages used in connection with the former 6 months' moving average adjustment when adjusted for outside market sales. The current supply-demand ratio will be compared with a percentage figure of 72 percent (the above figure rounded to the nearest full percent) in determining the amount of price adjustment to be made. When the current percentage increases above or decreases below 72, the rate of adjustment should apply for each full point of deviation.

Rulings on Exceptions. Exceptions relating to the findings, conclusions and amendment action recommended by the Assistant Administrator with respect to issues (1), (2), and (3) of the recommended decision were filed by the following parties:

1. Beatrice Foods Company et al.
2. Consolidated Badger Cooperative et al.
3. Baldwin Cooperative Creamery et al.
4. Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association of Cook County.
5. Associated Milk Dealers, Inc.
6. Pure Milk Association.

In arriving at the findings, conclusions and amendment action decided in this decision, each of these exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions, and amendment action decided upon herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the said marking agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of February 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order, as amended.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the order set forth below, which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 13th day of June 1952.

Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area

§ 941.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act") (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 941.51 and substitute therefore the following:

§ 941.51 Supply and demand ratio. On or before the last day of each delivery period the market administrator shall make the following computations based upon information obtained from handlers' reported receipts and utilization:

(a) Determine the total receipts of Grade A milk from all producers (including receipts from own farm production) for the most recent 12-month period.

(b) Determine the total pounds of Grade A milk actually utilized in Class I milk and Class II milk products during the most recent 12-month period and subtract therefrom the amount of Class II milk represented by frozen cream and plastic cream moving into storage during such 12-month period.

(c) Divide the amount obtained in paragraph (b) of this section by the amount obtained in paragraph (a) of this section and round to the nearest full percent, which resulting percentage shall be known as the "current supply-demand ratio".

(d) In making the computations specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, the market administrator shall use the reported receipts and utilization of handlers of Grade A milk under both Order 41 and former Order 69 (Suburban Chicago, Illinois, marketing area) when it is necessary to use data for delivery periods prior to July 1, 1951.

2. Delete § 941.52 (a) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. (1) The price for Grade A Class I milk, except as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, shall be the basic formula price plus the following amount for the delivery periods indicated: May and June, $0.60; July, August, September, October, and November, $1.10; all others, $0.80; Provided, That such Class I price differential shall be increased or decreased, respectively, 3 cents for each full percent that the current supply-demand ratio is greater or less than 72 percent.

3. Delete § 941.52 (b) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(b) Class II milk. (1) The price for Grade A Class II milk, except as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, shall be the basic formula price plus the following amount for the delivery periods indicated: May and June, $0.40; July, August, September, October, and November, $0.70; all others, $0.50; Provided, That such class II price differential shall be adjusted by the amount of any adjustment made in the Class I price differential for the same delivery period pursuant to the proviso of paragraph (a) (1) of this section.

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk in the Chicago, Illinois, Marketing Area, and Designation of Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area) who, during the month of February 1952 were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

Jesse L. Cook is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket Nos. G-1267, G-1954]

NORTHEASTERN GAS TRANSMISSION CO., AND CONNECTICUT GAS CO.

ORDER PERMITTING INTERVENTION CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

JUNE 12, 1952.

In the matters of Northeastern Gas Transmission Company, Docket No. G-1267; and the Connecticut Gas Company, Docket No. G-1954.

On April 8, 1952, the Northeastern Gas Transmission Company (Northeastern), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business at 31 Hillman Street, Springfield, Massachusetts, filed a petition pursuant to section 16 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's general rules and regulations for amendment of the order of November 8, 1950, accompanying Opinion No. 202, Docket No. G-1267, issuing a certificate of public convenience and necessity to Northeastern.

Northeastern petitions to have said order amended in, and only in, the following particulars:

(1) Amend the words "The Connecticut Light & Power Company (Winsted)" and "The Connecticut Light & Power Company (Norwalk)" appearing in lines 4, 5, 6 and 7 on page 40 of said order and opinion issued November 8, 1950, and wherever else contained or referred to in said order so as to substitute therefor the words "The Connecticut Gas Company (Norwalk)" and "The Connecticut Gas Company (Winsted)" respectively.

(2) Amend said order and opinion, and specifically page 40 thereof, to authorize Northeastern to sell up to 7,000 Mcf of natural gas per day to the Haverhill Gas Light Company in lieu of selling 5,400 Mcf per day to Haverhill Gas Light Company and 1,600 Mcf per day to Haverhill Electric Company as presently authorized.

(3) Amend said order and opinion, and specifically page 40 thereof, to authorize Northeastern to sell 4,100 Mcf of natural gas per day to the Central Massachusetts Gas Company in lieu of selling 2,900 Mcf per day to the Worcester County Electric Company and 1,200 Mcf per day to the Spencer Gas Company as presently authorized.

Northeastern states that the above amendments are made necessary by (1) creation of a subsidiary, (2) merger and consolidation, and (3) acquisition of facilities. No increase in the volume of natural gas to be delivered over that authorized in the Commission's order of November 8, 1950, hereinbefore mentioned, is requested.

Due notice of the filing of the petition has been given, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 23, 1952 (17 F. R. 3618).

On May 7, 1952, The Connecticut Gas Company (Connecticut Gas), a Connecticut corporation having its principal place of business at Berlin, Connecticut, filed, in Docket No. G-1954, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities, to-wit: 4-inch natural gas pipeline extending from a metering and regulating station of Northeastern to a gas plant of the Connecticut Light and Power Company (Power Company), a distance of approximately 4,500 feet, at Winsted, Connecticut; an 8-inch natural-gas pipeline extending from a metering and regulating station of Northeastern to a plant of Power Company, a distance of approximately 9,300 feet, at Norwalk, Connecticut; a 12-inch and 10-inch pipeline extending from a metering and regulating station of the Algonquin Gas Transmission Company (Algonquin) to a gas plant of Power Company, a distance of approximately 5,800 feet, at Waterbury, Connecticut; a 4-inch natural-gas pipeline extending from a metering and regulating station of Algonquin to a plant of the Power Company, a distance of approximately 5,000 feet, at Willimantic, Connecticut; a 4-inch pipeline extending from a metering and regulating station of Algonquin to a gas plant of the Power Company, a distance of approximately 120 feet, at Putnam, Connecticut.

Connecticut Gas also seeks authority to sell and deliver natural gas to Power Company at each of the aforementioned gas plants of Power Company for resale in the respective communities.

Connecticut Gas is a wholly owned subsidiary of Power Company; and it states in its application that the operation of the proposed facilities will be supervised at cost by personnel of the Power Company.

The estimated total over-all capital cost of the proposed facilities, including all expenditures involved in the installation thereof and all incidental costs, is $176,274. Connecticut Gas proposes to disburse funds from its treasury to pay for cost of such facilities.

Connecticut Gas has requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided by § 1.32 (b) (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Due notice of the filing of the application has been given, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 22, 1952 (17 F. R. 4664).

On June 4, 1952, Northeastern filed a petition for leave to intervene in Docket No. G-1954.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause has not been shown for granting Connecticut Gas' request that its application be heard under the shortened procedure as provided by the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and said request should be denied as hereinafter ordered.

(2) The participation of Northeastern in Docket No. G-1954 may be in the public interest.

CENTRAL PUBLIC UTILITY CORP. ET AL.

ORDER PERMITTING ACQUISITION BY NON-UTILITY SUBSIDIARY OF REGISTERED HOLDING COMPANIES OF CAPITAL STOCK OF BUS TERMINAL COMPANY

JUNE 13, 1952.

In the matter of Central Public Utility Corporation, Consolidated Electric and Gas Company, Carolina Coach Company, File No. 70-2836.

Central Public Utility Corporation ("Central Public"), a registered holding company, Consolidated Electric and Gas Company ("Consolidated"), also a registered holding company and a direct and wholly owned subsidiary of Central Public, and Carolina Coach Company ("Carolina"), a bus transportation company and a direct subsidiary of Consolidated, having filed a joint application-declaration and certain amendments thereto, pursuant to the act, with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Carolina, a Virginia corporation, is a non-utility company engaged in the motor bus transportation business in Virginia and North Carolina. At the present time Carolina and Virginia State Lines Inc. ("Virginia"), a non-affiliated bus transportation company, use joint terminal facilities in Richmond, Virginia. Because of the inadequacy of these facilities, Carolina and Virginia propose to create Trailways Bus Terminal, Inc. ("Terminal Company"), which will construct a bus terminal in Richmond, Virginia. The capitalization of Terminal Company will consist of 30,000 shares of capital stock, par value $10 a share, of which 15,000 shares are to be owned by Carolina and 15,000 shares are to be owned by Virginia. Carolina will pay for its portion of this capital stock by transferring to Terminal Company cash in the amount of $14,052.90 and land valued at $135,947.10, it being represented that Carolina is selling this land at the actual price paid therefor by it. It is also represented in the filing that Virginia will transfer to Terminal Company $13,000 in cash and land valued at $137,000 as full payment for Virginia's portion of its capital stock of Terminal Company.

The construction of the proposed terminal will be financed through the borrowing by Terminal Company of not to exceed $275,000 from The First and Merchants National Bank of Richmond. This borrowing will be evidenced by a note or notes payable not more than three years from the date of issuance. The payment of said note or notes will be guaranteed by Carolina and Virginia. The filing proposes that the interest rate on the note or notes will be not less than 4 percent, nor more than 5½ percent per annum. However, by the terms of an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission issued with respect to these proposed transactions, the interest rate may not exceed 5 percent.

It is estimated that it will take approximately two years to construct the terminal. Upon completion, it is anticipated that Terminal Company will sell the property to an insurance company at a price to be determined later and that the insurance company will, in turn, lease such property to Terminal Company for a period of 30 years. The proceeds from the sale of the property of Terminal Company to the insurance company will be applied to the discharge of the note or notes of Terminal Company.

The filing contains a copy of an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, authorizing Carolina to act as co-guarantor of the note or notes to be issued by Terminal Company. The filing urges that, because of this authorization and the provisions of Rule U-8 promulgated under the act, the jurisdiction of the Securities and Exchange Commission in the premises is limited to passing upon the direct acquisition by Carolina of the stock of Terminal Company and the indirect acquisition of this stock by Central Public and Consolidated.

The fees and expenses in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated by applicants-declarants not to exceed $2,100, $1,600 representing legal fees and $500 representing out of pocket expenses.

Notice of the filing of this joint application-declaration having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to said joint application-declaration, as amended, that all the applicable statutory standards have been satisfied and that there is no basis for any adverse findings and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said joint application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that the application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

DUQUESNE LIGHT CO.

ORDER PERMITTING ISSUANCE OF FOUR-MONTH BANK LOAN NOTE

JUNE 13, 1952.

Duquesne Light Company ("Duquesne"), a public utility subsidiary of Philadelphia Company, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to the act, particularly sections 6 (a) and 7 thereof, with regard to the transaction therein set forth which is summarized as follows:

Duquesne presently has outstanding a $9,725,000 3 percent promissory bank loan note due January 2, 1953, and intends in the immediate future to make an additional short-term bank borrowing of $85,000 under an exemption asserted to be available to it pursuant to section 6 (b) of the act, whereupon its short-term bank loan indebtedness will aggregate $9,810,000. Duquesne proposes in the instant declaration to issue a $5,000,000 four-month note bearing interest at 3 percent per annum, such note to be issued to Mellon National Bank and Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Duquesne will have the right to prepay such note at any time prior to maturity, without premium. The company proposes to use the proceeds from such note to defray part of the cost of its current construction program involving an estimated total cost of about $30,000,000 for the year 1952. The company has expressed its intention to pay off all outstanding short-term notes with the proceeds expected to be derived from a permanent financing program now being formulated. It is stated that no fees or expenses will be incurred in connection with the proposed $5,000,000 borrowing, other than miscellaneous expense estimated at not more than $100. Declarant states that no State Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Said declaration and amendment thereto having been filed and notice of said filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act, and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said declaration, as amended, within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to said declaration, as amended, that the requirements of the applicable provisions of the Act and Rules thereunder are satisfied, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration, as amended, be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

Applicant has designated section 6 (b) of the act and Rule U-23 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the transactions proposed in said application-declaration, which are summarized as follows:

Gas Company, prior to the registration of Appliance Corp. as a holding company, negotiated a firm commitment to issue and sell to the State of Wisconsin Investment Board, for cash at the principal amount thereof plus accrued interest, $150,000 aggregate amount of unsecured serial notes. Said notes may be prepaid at any time, in whole or in part, at their principal amount plus accrued interest and upon payment of a premium of three percent of the principal amount if prepaid before May 1, 1956, with such premium declining at the rate of one-half of one percent for each 12 months thereafter.

The application-declaration states that no finders' fee, commissions or brokers' expenses will be incurred or paid in connection with the sale of the said notes.

The Public Service Commission of Wisconsin, by order dated April 25, 1952, has expressly authorized the issuance and sale of the notes and the application-declaration states that no other State Commission nor any Federal regulatory agency, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

§ 8.107 Promotions, demotions, reassignments, and transfers without reemployment rights. (a) All promotions after September 1, 1950, shall be indefinite (except that:

(1) An agency may promote any employee permanently to a position if such promotion will not increase the number of employees holding permanent positions in the grade of such position in such agency above the number in such grade in such agency prior to September 1, 1950.

(2) Permanent promotions may be made to any position in a category for which the Civil Service Commission authorizes permanent appointments.

(b) All reassignments of an employee on and after December 1, 1950, to positions above the grade (or level) which he last occupied on a permanent basis shall be indefinite unless he is made permanent at that grade (or level) under one of the exceptions in paragraph (a) of this section. All reassignments within his last permanent grade (or level) may be either permanent or indefinite in the discretion of the head of the agency, except that any reassignment to the position last held on a permanent basis shall be permanent.

(c) All demotions of an employee on and after December 1, 1950, to positions above the grade (or level) which he last occupied on a permanent basis shall be indefinite unless he is made permanent at that grade (or level) under one of the exceptions in paragraph (a) of this section. All demotions to positions below his last permanent grade (or level) shall be permanent. All demotions to positions within his last permanent grade (or level) may be either permanent or indefinite in the discretion of the head of the agency, except that a demotion to the position last held on a permanent basis shall be permanent.

(d) The transfer of a permanent employee from one agency to another shall be permanent. However, when such transfer is to a position above the grade (or level) the employee last occupied on a permanent basis, his occupancy of the higher grade position shall be on an indefinite basis, unless the promotion is made permanent under one of the exceptions in paragraph (a) of this section.

* * * * *

§ 8.109 Restrictions on promotion, transfer or appointment to a higher grade, and reassignment to a different line of work—(a) Reassignment and promotion after competitive appointment. No person shall be reassigned to a different line of work, promoted, transferred or appointed at a higher grade or in a different line of work in the same grade within three months after his last competitive appointment under § 2.113 or § 2.115 (a) or (b) of this chapter.

(b) Application of the following paragraphs. (1) The restrictions on promotion in the following paragraphs apply to transfer to a higher grade, and appointment and reemployment at a higher grade within one year after separation from employment of an indefinite or permanent nature.

(2) These restrictions apply when both the position last held and the position being filled are subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended. However, they do not apply when the position last held is outside the competitive service and in the legislative or judicial branches of the government. The restrictions apply to movements from positions not subject to the Classification Act to positions subject to the act only if the employee has held a position subject to the act within the preceding year.

(3) The periods of service required by paragraphs (c), (d), and (f) of this section shall include all service at the appropriate or higher level in the Federal civilian service. However, when two periods of service under the Classification Act are interrupted for less than one year by other service, such latter service shall be counted as a continuation of the prior service in the position subject to the Classification Act.

(c) Promotions to positions at GS–12 or above. An employee may be promoted to a position at GS–12 or above after he has served one year at the next lower grade.

(d) Promotions to positions at GS–6 through GS–11. (1) An employee may be promoted to a position at GS–6 through GS–11 which is in a line of work properly classified at two-grade intervals after he has served one year in a position two grades lower.

(2) An employee may be promoted to a position at GS–6 through GS–11 which is in a line of work properly classified at one grade intervals after he has served one year at the next lower grade.

(e) Promotions to positions at GS–5 or below. An employee may be promoted to a position at GS–5 or below which is not more than two grades above the lowest grade he held within the past year under permanent or indefinite appointment. However, an employee may be promoted to any grade at GS–5 or below which he previously held or to which he could have previously been promoted under this paragraph.

(f) Normal line of promotion. An employee of the agency who has one year of service two grades lower than the position being filled may, with the prior approval of the Commission, be promoted without regard to the restrictions of paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section if there is no position in the normal line of promotion at the next lower grade.

(g) Training agreements. The restrictions of this section shall not apply to any employee who is being promoted in accordance with a training agreement which has been approved by the Commission. Promotions of more than two grades in one year may not be made solely on the basis of a training agreement or series of training agreements.

(h) Reduction in force. The restrictions in this section shall not apply to any person who is being advanced to any grade or level up to that from which he had ever been demoted or separated by any agency because of reduction-in-force.

(i) Persons within reach on register. The restrictions of this section shall not apply to any person who is within reach on a civil service register for competitive appointment to the position to be filled.

(j) Undue hardship or inequity. In order to avoid undue hardship or inequity, the Commission may when requested by the head of the agency involved authorize promotions in individual cases of meritorious nature without regard to the restrictions of this section.

§ 8.110 Tenure after change of position. (a) The promotion, demotion, or reassignment of a permanent employee shall not change his status as a permanent employee of the agency. A permanent employee transferred from one agency to another, shall have the status of a permanent employee in the new agency at the grade or level of his permanent position in the agency from which transferred, unless he is transferred to a higher grade and the promotion is made permanent under one of the exceptions in paragraph (a) of § 8.107.

However, when the position to which transferred is in a lower grade or level than such permanent position, he shall have the status of a permanent employee in the new agency at the grade or level to which transferred. At the time he leaves his permanent position the agency shall record in his Official Personnel Folder sufficient information to identify clearly the position he last held on a permanent basis.

Chapter IX—Production and Marketing Administration (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 912—HANDLING OF MILK IN DUBUQUE, IOWA, MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

§ 912.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary to and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order; and all previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933) as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Supps., 900.1 et seq.), a public hearing was held at Dubuque, Iowa, on November 28, 1951, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The parity prices for milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than July 1, 1952. Any delay beyond July 1, 1952, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will seriously disrupt the orderly marketing of milk for the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected, substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order effective July 1, 1952 (see sec. 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping the milk covered by this order amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the act of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (March 1952), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete § 912.5 (a) (1) and substitute therefor the following:

(1) Class I milk. The price established per hundredweight of Class I milk under Order No. 44, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Quad Cities marketing area, minus 10 cents.

2. Revise the list of plants contained in § 912.5 (a) (2) (i) to read as follows:

Present Operator of Plant and Location

Amboy Milk Products Co., Amboy, Ill.
Borden Co., Dixon, Ill.
Borden Co., Sterling, Ill.
Carnation Co., Morrison, Ill.
Carnation Co., Oregon, Ill.
Carnation Co., Waverly, Iowa.

INTRODUCTION

§ 136.1 Definitions. (a) In the United States the term "notary" or "notary public" means a public officer qualified and bonded under the laws of a particular jurisdiction for the performance of notarial acts, usually in connection with the execution of some document.

(b) The term "notarial act" means an act recognized by commercial custom and general usage as pertaining to the office of a notary public. It includes the administration of oaths or affirmations, the taking of affidavits, acknowledgments, and depositions, the authentication of documents, and the certification of copies of documents.

(c) The term "notarial certificate" means a written statement attesting to the performance of a notarial act, executed by the notarial officer and either inserted on, or appended to, the notarized document.

§ 136.2 Description of notarial function of the Foreign Service. The notarial function of officers of the United States Foreign Service is similar to the function of a notary public in the United States and consists of the activities described in this part.

§ 136.3 Jurisdiction of Foreign Service posts. Where definite consular districts have been established, the geographic limits of the district determine the jurisdiction in notarial matters of the officers assigned to the Foreign Service post, i. e., the area in which notarial acts can be performed by the consular officer. (See § 136.41 (b) regarding the authentication of the seals and signatures of foreign officials outside the consular district.) As a rule, notarial services should be performed only at the office of the post. However, they may, when necessary, be performed elsewhere within the consular district, with the understanding that, in addition to the prescribed Foreign Service fees for such services, the expenses incurred by the notarizing officer in going to the place where the notarial service is performed and returning to his office will be borne by the interested party or parties. Within those national jurisdictions where no consular districts have been established, notarial services should be performed at the most accessible Foreign Service post.

§ 136.4 Authority of officers of the Foreign Service under the Federal law. (a) Section 1195, title 22 of the United States Code, requires every United States consular officer to perform notarial acts, upon request, "within the limits of his consulate." This provision is construed as mandatory with respect to notarial acts performed within the Foreign Service office but not with respect to notarial acts performed outside the Foreign Service office. In addition, section 1203, title 22 of the United States Code, authorizes every secretary of embassy or legation and every consular officer to perform notarial acts. Notarial acts should be performed, however, only if their performance is authorized by treaty provisions or permitted by the laws or authorities of the country wherein the consular officer is stationed.

(b) These acts may be performed for any person regardless of nationality so long as the document in connection with which the notarial service is required is for use within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government of the United States or within the jurisdiction of one of the States or Territories of the United States. (However, see also § 136.6.) Within the Federal jurisdiction of the United States, these acts, when certified under the hand and seal of office of the notarizing officer are valid and of like force and effect as if performed by any duly authorized and competent person within the United States. Documents bearing the seal and signature of the notarizing officer are admissible in evidence within the Federal jurisdiction without proof of any such seal or signature being genuine or of the official character of the notarizing officer. (R. S. 1750, sec. 3, 34 Stat. 100; 22 U. S. C. 1203)

(c) Every secretary of embassy or legation and every consular officer may perform notarial acts for use in countries occupied by the United States or under its administrative jurisdiction, provided the officer has reason to believe that his notarial act will be recognized in the country where it is intended to be used. These acts may be performed for United States citizens and for nationals of the occupied or administered countries who reside outside such countries, except in areas where another government is protecting the interests of the occupied or administered country.

(d) Chiefs of mission, that is, ambassadors and ministers, have no authority under Federal law to perform notarial acts except in connection with the authentication of extradition papers (see § 136.40).

(e) Consular agents have authority to perform notarial services but acting consular agents do not.

§ 136.5 Acceptability of notarial acts under state or territorial law. The acceptability within the jurisdiction of a State or Territory of the United States of a certificate of a notarial act performed by an officer of the Foreign Service depends upon the laws of the State or Territory. Most States and Territories recognize the notarial acts of United States diplomatic or consular officers, whether such acts are performed for United States citizens or for aliens. However, some of the States and Territories have, by statute, specified the legal requirements which notarized documents or notarial certificates must meet. For this reason, before performing a notarial act for use in a State or Territory, an officer of the Foreign Service should, unless he is already certain of the provisions of the pertinent state or territorial law, consult the appropriate law digest to determine whether it may be expected that the certificate of his notarial act will be acceptable in the State or Territory. If, in a particular instance, no statutory provision on this point can be found, the applicant for the notarial service should be informed of that fact, preferably in writing, and a statement regarding the giving of this information should be entered in the Record of Fees.

§ 136.6 Authority of officers of the Foreign Service under international practice. Although such services are not mandatory, officers of the Foreign Service may, as a courtesy, perform notarial acts for use in countries with which the United States has formal diplomatic and consular relations. Generally the applicant for such service will be a United States citizen or a national of the country in which the notarized document will be used. The officer's compliance with a request for a notarial service of this type should be based on the reasonableness of the request and the absence of any apparent irregularity. When an officer finds it advisable to do so, he may question the applicant to such extent as may be necessary to assure himself

(a) That his notarial certificate may reasonably be expected to satisfy the legal requirements of the country in which the notarized document will be used;

(b) That the notarial service is legally necessary and cannot be obtained otherwise than through the United States diplomatic or consular officer without loss or serious inconvenience to the applicant; and

(c) That the notarial certificate will be used solely for a well-defined purpose, as represented by the applicant for the service. (See also § 136.4 (c) regarding notarial services for use in countries occupied by the United States or under its administrative jurisdiction.)

§ 136.7 Responsibility of officers of the Foreign Service. As indicated in §§ 136.4, 136.5 and 136.6, United States diplomatic officers, except chiefs of mission, as well as United States consular officers are generally recognized as having authority to perform notarial acts. However, since this is generally considered to be a consular function, United States diplomatic officers should not exercise this authority unless specifically required to do so by the laws of the jurisdiction where the notarized document will be used, or in the event that an officer with a consular title is not assigned to the post. At a diplomatic mission where an officer is assigned both in a diplomatic and consular capacity, he should perform notarial acts under his consular commission. For ease of reference, the term "consular officer" will be used in this part in discussing the notarial function of the Foreign Service.

GENERAL NOTARIAL PROCEDURES

§ 136.8 Compliance with request for notarial services. A consular officer should comply with all proper requests for the performance of notarial services within the limitations prescribed in this part. (See particularly §§ 136.3 to 136.7.) Moreover, as a representative of the United States Government, the consular officer, when acting in a notarial capacity, should take great care to prevent the use of his official seal in furthering any unlawful or clearly improper purpose. (See § 136.9 regarding refusal to perform notarial services in certain cases.)

§ 136.9 Refusals of requests for notarial services. (a) A consular officer should refuse requests for notarial services, the performance of which is not authorized by treaty provisions or permitted by the laws or authorities of the country in which he is stationed. (See § 136.4 (a).) Also, a consular officer should refuse to perform notarial acts for use in transactions which may from time to time be prohibited by law or by regulations of the United States Government such, for example, as regulations based on the "Trading With the Enemy Act", as amended.

(b) A consular officer is also authorized to refuse to perform a notarial act if he has reasonable grounds for believing that the document, in connection with which his notarial act is requested will be used for a purpose patently unlawful, improper or inimical to the best interests of the United States. Requests for notarial services should be refused only after the most careful deliberation.

§ 136.10 Specific waiver in notarial certificate. If the consular officer has reason to believe that material statements in a document presented for notarization are false, and if no basis exists for refusing the notarial service in accordance with § 136.9, he may consider the advisability of informing the applicant that he will perform the service only with a specific waiver of responsibility included in the notarial certificate. Furthermore, a consular officer may, in his discretion, add to the specific waiver in the notarial certificate a statement of verifiable facts known to him, which will reveal the falsity of material in the document. However, normally a consular officer shall exercise great caution not to limit the general privilege of a United States citizen while abroad to execute under oath any statement he sees fit to make, including mistaken, unnecessary, and even frivolous statements: Provided, That substantial and compelling reasons do not exist which impel restraining action on the part of the consular officer. On the other hand, experience has shown the desirability of including, as standard practice, a specific waiver of responsibility in all authentications (§ 136.38) executed in connection with divorce proceedings.

§ 136.11 Preparation of legal documents—(a) By attorneys. When a document has been prepared by an attorney for signature, a consular officer should not question the form of document unless it is obviously incorrect.

(b) By consular officers. A consular officer should not usually prepare for private persons legal documents for signature and notarization. (However, see the provisions in § 136.24 regarding the preparation of affidavits.) When asked to perform such a service, the consular officer should explain that the preparation of legal forms is normally the task of an attorney, that the forms used and the purposes for which they are used vary widely from jurisdiction to jurisdiction, and that he could not guarantee the legal effectiveness of any document which he might prepare. The person desiring the preparation of a legal document should be referred to such publications as Jones Legal Forms and The Lawyers Directory with the suggestion that he select or adapt the form which appears best suited to his needs. The consular officer may, in his discretion, arrange to have a member of his office staff type the document. If the document is typed in the Foreign Service office, the fee for copying, prescribed in item 34 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, should be collected.

§ 136.12 Necessity for certification of notarial acts. A consular officer must execute a written certificate attesting to the performance of a notarial act. This certificate may be inserted on or appended to the notarized document (see § 136.17 regarding the fastening of sheets). The certificate evidences the performance of the notarial act. Failure to execute this certificate renders the notarial act legally ineffective. Each notarial act should be evidenced by a separate certificate; two or more distinct notarial acts should not be attested to by one certificate.

§ 136.13 Form of notarial certificate. The form of a notarial certificate depends on the nature of the notarial act it attests. (See §§ 136.18 to 136.43 for discussions of the various forms of notarial certificates.) Rules pertaining to venue, and signing and sealing, are common to all notarial certificates.

§ 136.14 Venue on notarial certificates. (a) The term "venue" means the place where the certificate is executed. The venue must be shown on all notarial certificates to establish the qualifications and sphere of authority of the notarizing officer to perform the notarial act. The items characteristic of a typical venue, in the order of their appearance in the certificate, are as follows:

(1) Name of country (or dominion, Territory, colony, island, as appropriate);

(2) Name of province or major administrative region (if none, this may be omitted);

(3) Name of local community (city, town, or village);

(4) Name of the Foreign Service post.

(b) When a notarial act is performed, and the notarial certificate executed, at a locality in a consular district other than the locality in which the Foreign Service office is situated, the venue should mention only the name of the country (or dominion, territory, colony, island, as appropriate), and the name of the consular district.

(c) The venue used at a Foreign Service post which has not been officially designated as an embassy, legation, consulate general, consulate, or consular agency should bear the notation "American Consular Service" in place of the post name.

§ 136.15 Signing notarial certificate. The notarizing officer should sign a notarial certificate on the lower right-hand side. The name and full official title of the consular officer should be typed, stamped with a rubber stamp, or printed in ink on two separate lines immediately below his signature. When the notarizing officer is assigned to a Foreign Service post in both a diplomatic and consular capacity, he should use his consular title in the notarial certificate. (See § 136.7.)

§ 136.16 Sealing the notarial certificate. The notarizing officer should seal a notarial certificate with the impression seal of the post on the lower left-hand side of the certificate. A notarial certificate executed at a Foreign Service post which has not been officially designated as an embassy, legation, consulate general, consulate, or consular agency should be sealed with an impression seal bearing the legend "American Consular Service" and the name of the locality.

§ 136.17 Fastening of pages. When the instrument or document to which a notarial act relates consists of more than one sheet, or when the notarial certificate will be attached and not written on the document itself, the consular officer should bring all the sheets comprising the document together under his official seal.

SPECIFIC NOTARIAL ACTS

§ 136.18 Oaths and affirmations defined—(a) Oath. An oath is an outward pledge given by the person taking it that his attestation or promise is made under an immediate sense of his responsibility to God. In a broad sense the word "oath" includes all forms of attestation by which a person signifies that he is bound in conscience to perform an act faithfully and truly, and in this sense it includes "affirmation".

(b) Affirmation. An affirmation is a solemn and formal declaration or asservation in the nature of an oath that a statement, or series of statements, is true. When an oath is required or authorized by law, an affirmation in lieu thereof may be taken by any person having conscientious scruples against taking an oath. As a general rule, an affirmation has the same legal force and effect as an oath.

§ 136.19 Administering an oath. The usual formula for administering an oath is as follows: The officer administering the oath requests the person taking the oath to raise his right hand while the officer repeats the following words: "You do solemnly swear that the statements set forth in this paper which you have here signed before me are true. So help you God." Whereupon the person taking the oath answers, "I do."

§ 136.20 Administering an affirmation. In administering an affirmation the procedure followed is generally the same as in the case of an oath, but the formula is varied by the use of the following words: "You do solemnly, sincerely, and truly affirm and declare that _____, and this you do under the pains and penalties of perjury".

§ 136.21 Notarial certificate to oath or affirmation. The written statement attesting to the administration of an oath or affirmation is known as a jurat. The jurat must be signed and sealed by the notarizing officer (see §§ 136.15 and 136.16 on signing and sealing notarial certificates).

§ 136.22 Affidavit defined. An affidavit is a written declaration under oath made before some person who has authority to administer oaths, without notice to any adverse party that may exist. One text of the sufficiency of an affidavit is whether it is so clear and certain that it will sustain an indictment for perjury, if found to be false. An affidavit differs from a deposition in that it is taken ex parte and without notice, while a deposition is taken after notice has been furnished to the opposite party, who is given an opportunity to cross-examine the witness.

§ 136.23 Taking an affidavit. The consular officer taking an affidavit should

(a) Satisfy himself, as far as possible, that his notarial act will be acceptable under the laws of the jurisdiction where the affidavit is to be used (see § 136.5);

(b) Require the personal appearance of the affiant at the time the affidavit is taken;

(c) Require satisfactory identification of the affiant; and

(d) Administer the oath to the affiant before the affiant signs the affidavit.

§ 136.24 Usual form of affidavit. Affidavits are usually drawn by competent attorneys or are set out in established forms. The form and substantive requirements of an affidavit depend principally upon the purpose for which it is made and the statutes of the jurisdiction where it is intended to be used. When a consular officer finds it necessary in the discharge of his official duties to prepare an affidavit, or when he assists a private person in preparing an affidavit (see § 136.11 (b)), he should, where possible, consult the pertinent statutory provisions.

§ 136.25 Title of affidavit. Generally an affidavit taken for use in a pending cause must be entitled in that cause so that it will show to what proceedings it is intended to apply, and may support an indictment for perjury in case it proves to be false. If there is no suit pending at the time the affidavit is taken or if the affidavit is not to be used in any cause in court, no title need be given.

§ 136.26 Venue on affidavit. The venue must always be given and should precede the body of the affidavit. (See § 136.14 regarding venue on notarial certificates generally.)

§ 136.27 Affiant's allegations in affidavit—(a) Substance of allegations. Although a consular officer is generally not responsible for the correctness of the form of an affidavit or the manner in which the allegations therein are set forth (see § 136.11 (a) regarding the preparation of legal documents by attorneys; § 136.11 (b) regarding the preparation of legal documents by consular officers; and § 136.24 regarding the form of an affidavit), he may, in appropriate instances, draw the affiant's attention to the following generally accepted criteria as regards the substance of the allegations:

(1) Material facts within the personal knowledge of the affiant should be alleged directly and positively. Facts are not to be inferred where the affiant has it in his power to state them positively and fully.

(2) If the matters stated in the affiant's affidavit rest upon information derived from others rather than on facts within his personal knowledge, he should aver that such matters are true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

(3) If the allegations made on information and belief are material, the sources of information and grounds of belief should be set out and a good reason given why a positive statement could not be made.

(4) If the conclusions of the affiant are drawn from the contents of documents, such contents should be set out or exhibited, so that the authority to whom the affidavit is presented may determine whether the affiant's deductions are well founded.

(b) Veracity of allegations. Consular officers are not required to examine into the truth of the affiant's allegations or to pass upon any contentious questions involved. In many instances the matters referred to in an affidavit will be of a technical or special nature beyond the officer's general knowledge or experience. However, he may, in certain circumstances, refuse to take an affidavit. (See § 136.9 regarding the types of situations in which an officer might properly refuse to perform a notarial service; also see § 136.10 regarding the waiver and other statements which may be included in a notarial certificate where evidence exists of falsity in the affiant's declaration.)

§ 136.28 Signature of affiant on affidavit. The signature of the affiant is indispensable. The affiant should always sign the affidavit in the presence of the notarizing officer.

§ 136.29 Oath or affirmation to affidavit. Affidavits made before consular officers must be sworn to or affirmed (see § 136.23 (d)).

§ 136.30 Acknowledgment defined. An acknowledgment is a proceeding by which a person who has executed an instrument goes before a competent officer or court and declares it to be his act and deed, to entitle it to be recorded or to be received in evidence without further proof of execution. An acknowledgment is almost never made under oath and should not be confused with an oath (see § 136.18 (a) for definition of oath). Moreover, an acknowledgment is not the same as an attestation, the latter being the act of witnessing the execution of an instrument and then signing it as a witness. Instruments requiring acknowledgment generally are those relating to land, such as deeds, mortgages, leases, contracts for the sale of land, and so on.

§ 136.31 Taking an acknowledgment—(a) Officer's assurance of acceptability of notarial act. A consular officer taking an acknowledgment should, if possible, ascertain the requirements of the jurisdiction in which the acknowledged document is to be used and execute the certificate in accordance with those requirements. Not all States or Territories will accept certificates of acknowledgment executed by consular officers other than consuls. Therefore consuls general, vice consuls, and consular agents who are called upon to perform this notarial act should consult the applicable state or territorial law to ascertain whether their certificates of acknowledgment will be acceptable. (See § 136.5 regarding acceptability of consular notarial acts under state or territorial law.) Furthermore, public policy generally forbids that the act of taking and certifying an acknowledgment be performed by a person financially or beneficially interested in the transaction to which the acknowledged document relates. Consular officers should keep this point in mind, especially in connection with acknowledgments by members of their families.

(b) Personal appearance of grantor(s). A consular officer taking an acknowledgment should always require the personal appearance of the grantor(s), i. e., the person or persons who have signed the intrument to be acknowledged. Since the officer states in his certificate that the parties did personally appear before him, failure to observe this requirement invalidates the notarial act and makes the officer liable to the charge of negligence and of having executed a false certificate. A consular officer should never take an acknowledgment by telephone.

(c) Satisfactory identification of grantor (s). The consular officer must be certain of the identity of the parties making an acknowledgment. If he is not personally acquainted with the parties, he should require from each some evidence of identity, such as a passport, police identity card, or the like. The laws of some States and Territories require that the identity of an acknowledger be proved by the oath of one or more "credible witnesses", and that a statement regarding the proving of identity in this manner be included in the certificate of acknowledgment. (See § 136.21 (b) regarding forms of certificates of acknowledgment generally.) Mere introduction of a person not known to the notarizing officer, without further proof of identity, is not considered adequate identification for acknowledgment purposes.

(d) Explanation of contents of instrument. The consular officer must assure himself that the person acknowledging an instrument understands the nature of the instrument. If the person does not understand it, the officer is legally and morally bound to explain the instrument in such a way as to make the person who has signed it realize the character and effect of his act. This duty is particularly important where the signer of a document has little or no knowledge of the language in which the document is written.

(e) Acknowledgments of married women. Some of the States still require that a married woman who has executed an instrument of conveyance jointly with her husband be examined separately by the notarizing officer at the time the acknowledgments of the couple are taken. Consular officers should consult the applicable statutory provisions before taking the acknowledgments of a husband and wife to a document which they have both executed.

§ 136.32 Notarial certificate to acknowledgment—(a) Title. The notarial certificate evidencing the taking of an acknowledgment is commonly known as a "certificate of acknowledgment" or sometimes simply as an "acknowledgment".

(b) Form. The form of a certificate of acknowledgment varies widely depending on the laws of the jurisdiction where the acknowledged document is intended to be used, the purpose for which the document is intended, and the legal position of the persons who have executed it. Instruments to be acknowledged are frequently prepared on printed forms, the entire contract or deed being on one sheet together with the certificate of acknowledgment. Often the document, including the certificate of acknowledgment, is drawn up in advance by an attorney. In these cases, the consular officer may use the certificate which is already on the document, making whatever modifications are manifestly required to show that the certificate was executed by a consular officer. However, if he finds it necessary to prepare the certificate of acknowledgment, the officer should consult the appropriate reference work for guidance as to the proper form. When no prescribed form can be found, the officer should use the language in Form FS-88, Certificate of Acknowledgment of Execution of an Instrument, inserting the certificate immediately at the close of the deed on the last page if space permits, or, if a separate sheet is necessary, using the printed Form FS-88 itself.

§ 136.33 Execution of certificate of acknowledgment—(a) When certificate should be executed. A consular officer should execute a certificate of acknowledgment immediately after the parties to the instrument have made their acknowledgment. Allowing several days or weeks to elapse between the time the acknowledgment is made and the certificate executed is undesirable, even though the officer may remember the acknowledgment act.

(b) Venue. The venue must be shown as prescribed in § 136.14.

(c) Date. The date in the certificate must be the date the acknowledgment was made. This is not necessarily the same as the date the instrument was executed. In fact, there is no reason why an instrument may not be acknowledged a year or more after the date of its execution, or at different times and places by various grantors.

(d) Names of parties. The name or names of the person or persons making the acknowledgment should appear in the certificate in the same form as they are set out in the acklowledged document, and in the same form as their signature on the instrument.

(e) Additional statements. When executing a certificate of acknowledgment on Form FS-88, the notarizing officer may include any necessary additional statements in the blank space below the body of the certificate.

(f) Signing and sealing certificate. The certificate of acknowledgment shall be signed and sealed as prescribed in §§ 136.15 and 136.16.

§ 136.34 Fastening certificate to instrument. The proper place for the certificate of acknowledgment is after the signature of the parties to the instrument. If the instrument is a printed form, the certificate will almost invariably be a part of the form. When Form FS-88 is used or when the certificate must be prepared on a sheet separate from the instrument, it should be fastened to the instrument as the last sheet. The method of fastening notarial certificates is prescribed in § 136.17.

§ 136.35 Errors in certificate of acknowledgment. A consular officer having taken an acknowledgment of an instrument and made a certificate of that fact, cannot afterwards amend or change his certificate for the purpose of correcting a mistake. This can be done only by the parties reacknowledging the instrument. However, typographical errors may be corrected by striking out the erroneous characters and inserting the correct ones above. Such changes should be initialed by the parties who executed the instrument and by the notarizing officer.

§ 136.36 Authentication defined. An authentication is a certification of the genuineness of the official character, i. e., signature and seal, or position of a foreign official. It is an act done with the intention of causing a document which has been executed or issued in one jurisdiction to be recognized in another jurisdiction. Documents which may require authentication include legal instruments notarized by foreign notaries or other officials, and copies of public records, such as birth, death, and marriage certificates, issued by foreign record keepers.

§ 136.37 Authentication procedure. (a) The consular officer must compare the foreign official's seal and signature on the document he is asked to authenticate with a specimen of the same official's seal and signature on file either in the Foreign Service office or in a foreign public office to which he has access. If no specimen is available to the consular officer, he should require that each signature and seal be authenticated by some higher official or officials of the foreign government until there appears on the document a seal and signature which he can compare with a specimen available to him. However, this procedure of having a document authenticated by a series of foreign officials should be followed only where unusual circumstances, or the laws or regulations of the foreign country require it.

(b) Where the State law requires the consular officer's certificate of authentication to show that the foreign official is empowered to perform a particular act, such as administering an oath or taking an acknowledgment, the consular officer must verify the fact that the foreign official is so empowered.

(c) When the consular officer has satisfactorily identified the foreign seal and signature; (and, where required, has verified the authority of the foreign official to perform a particular act), he may then execute a certificate of authentication, either placing this certificate on the document itself if space is available, or appending it to the document on a separate sheet (see § 136.17 on the fastening of notarial certificates).

§ 136.38 Forms of certificate of authentication. The form of a certificate of authentication depends on the statutory requirements of the jurisdiction where the authenticated document will be used (see § 136.39 regarding the provisions of Federal law). Before authenticating a document for use in a State or Territory of the United States, a consular officer should consult the pertinent law digest to ascertain what specific requirements must be met, or he should be guided by any special information he may receive from the attorney or other person requesting the document with regard to the applicable statutory requirements. (See § 136.41 (e) regarding material which should not be in the certificate of authentication.) If no provisions relating to authentications can be found in a particular State or Territorial law digest, and in the absence of any special information from the attorney or other person requesting the document, the officer should prepare the certificate of authentication in the form which seems best suited to the needs of the case. When in his opinion the circumstances seem to warrant, and always in connection with certificates of marriage or divorce decrees, a consular officer should include in the body of his certificate of authentication a qualifying statement reading as follows: "For the contents of the annexed document I assume no responsibility."

§ 136.39 Authenticating foreign public documents (Federal procedures). (a) A copy of a foreign public document intended to be used as evidence within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government of the United States must be authenticated in accordance with the provisions of section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 948, sec. 92 (b), 63 Stat. 103; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1741). This provision of Federal law provides that a copy of any foreign document of record, or on file in a public office of a foreign country or political subdivision thereof, if certified by the lawful custodian thereof, may be admitted in evidence when authenticated by a certificate of a United States consular officer resident in the foreign country, under the seal of his office.

(b) The consular officer's certificate should indicate that the copy has been certified by the lawful custodian.

§ 136.40 Authentication of foreign extradition papers. Foreign extradition papers are authenticated by chiefs of mission.

§ 136.41 Limitations to be observed in authenticating documents—(a) Unknown seals and signatures. A consular officer should not authenticate a seal and signature not known to him. See § 136.37 (a) regarding the necessity for making a comparison with a specimen seal and signature.

(b) Foreign officials outside consular district. A consular officer should not authenticate the seals and signatures of foreign officials outside his consular district.

(c) Officials in the United States. Consular officers are not competent to authenticate the seals and signatures of notaries public or other officials in the United States. However, diplomatic and consular officers stationed at a United States diplomatic mission may certify to the seal of the Department of State (not the signature of the Secretary of State) if this is requested or required in particular cases by the national authorities of the foreign country.

(d) Photostat copies. Consular officers should not authenticate facsimiles of signatures and seals on photographic reproductions of documents. They may, however, authenticate original signatures and seals on such photographic reproductions.

(e) Matters outside consular officer's knowledge. A consular officer should not include in his certificate of authentication statements which are not within his power or knowledge to make. Since consular officers are not expected to be familiar with the provisions of foreign law, except in a general sense, they are especially cautioned not to certify that a document has been executed or certified in accordance with foreign law, nor to certify that a document is a valid document in a foreign country.

(f) United States officials in foreign countries. An authentication by a United States consular officer is performed primarily to cause the official characters and positions of foreign officials to be known and recognized in the United States. Consular officers should not, therefore, undertake to authenticate the seals and signatures of other United States officials who may be residing in their consular districts.

(g) Officers of the Foreign Service in other countries. An officer of the Foreign Service stationed in one country is not expected to authenticate the signature or seal of an officer of the Foreign Service stationed in another country. When it is necessary for the seal and signature of an officer of the Foreign Service to be authenticated, such authentication will be done in the Department of State. An official of a foreign government requesting the authentication of the seal and signature of an officer of the United States Foreign Service who is, or was, stationed in another country should be informed that the document to be authenticated will have to be sent to the Department for this purpose. Any document bearing the seal and signature of an officer of the Foreign Service which is received at a Foreign Service post from a person in the United States with the request that it be further authenticated should be referred to the Department of State.

§ 136.42 Certification of copies of foreign records relating to land titles—(a) Authority to certify copies. Section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948 (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 948; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1742) authorizes any person having custody of laws, judgments, orders, decrees, journals, correspondence, or other public documents of any foreign government or its agents, relating to the title to lands claimed by or under the United States, to authenticate and certify copies thereof under his hand and seal, when this is requested by the head of a department or agency of the United States.

(b) Certification procedure. When a consular officer is requested to certify a copy of a foreign record relating to a land title, he should carefully compare the copy with the original to assure himself that they agree in every particular. He should then execute a certificate under his hand and seal of office.

(c) Transmission of certified copies. United States diplomatic and consular officers who certify such copies should forward them to the Department of State for transmission to the General Counsel for the Treasury Department, who will file them in his office and cause them to be recorded in a book kept for that purpose.

(d) Legal effect of certification. A copy so certified and filed may be read in evidence equally with the original in any court where the title to land claimed by or under the United States may come into question.

§ 136.43 Fees for oaths and affirmations. For administering an oath or affirmation and making a certificate thereof, a fee of $2 must be charged, as prescribed in item 24 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of Fees for performing the service without charge. (See § 136.48 regarding the performance of services gratis under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees.) If an oath or an affirmation is administered concurrently to several persons and only one consular certificate (jurat) is executed, only one fee is collectible.

§ 136.44 Fees for affidavits. The notarial service involved in the taking of an affidavit is essentially the administration of the oath or affirmation to the affiant. The fee charged is the fee for administering the oath or affirmation. See § 136.43 regarding fees for oaths and affirmations.

§ 136.45 Fees for acknowledgments. For taking an acknowledgment and executing a certificate thereof, a fee of $2 must be charged, as prescribed in item 28 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of Fees for performing the service without charge. (See § 136.48 regarding the performance of services gratis under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees.) If more than one person joins in making an acknowledgment but only one certificate is executed, only one fee should be charged.

§ 136.46 Fees for authentications. For each certificate of authentication a fee of $2 must be charged, as prescribed in item 31 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of Fees for performing the service without charge. (See § 136.48 regarding the performance of services gratis under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees.)

§ 136.47 Fees for certifying copies of documents. For certifying to the correctness of a copy of a document a fee of $2 must be charged, as prescribed in item 35 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of Fees for performing the service without charge. (See § 136.48 regarding the performance of services gratis under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees; see § 136.11 (b) regarding the charging of fees when legal documents are prepared by consular officers.) When issuing certified copies of, or extracts from, any record or document, the fee prescribed in item 35 must be charged for the certificate attesting to the correctness of the copy, in addition to the copying fee (see § 136.76 (b)).

§ 136.48 No-fee services under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees. (a) Item 38 of the Tariff of Fees prescribes, in part, the performance without charge of "any and all notarial services, such as the administration of oaths or the taking of acknowledgments, in connection with the execution of forms or other documents issued by or to be presented to any department or agency of the Government of the United States, the gratis performance of which is not otherwise provided for in the Tariff of Fees". The documents referred to in this provision are those presented to United States Government departments or agencies which the Government has taken the initiative in requiring, such as affidavits relating to the loss of, or to the relinquishment of, ownership of United States Government checks and affidavits executed when United States bonds are cashed. This provision does not include documents submitted to a Government agency for the individual's own purposes and on his own initiative.

(b) Item 38 also prescribes the performance without charge of "any and all notarial services performed for members of the armed forces of the United States or for any civilian employees of the Government of the United States". This does not include members of the families of persons in these categories nor does it include persons who were formerly in these categories. When several persons join in one notarial proceeding (such as when more than one person makes an acknowledgment and only one certificate is executed) and when one or more of the persons—but not all of them—belong in either of these categories, the usual fee for the service should be charged, unless the gratis performance of the service is otherwise provided for in the Tariff of Fees. In a case of this kind the notarial service should be performed without charge only when all of the persons joining in the notarial proceeding are either members of the armed forces of the United States or employees of the Government of the United States.

DEPOSITIONS AND LETTERS ROGATORY

§ 136.49 Deposition defined. A deposition is the testimony of a witness taken in writing under oath or affirmation, before some designated or appointed person or officer, in answer to interrogatories, oral or written. (For the distinction between a deposition and an affidavit see §136.22.)

§ 136.50 Use of depositions in court actions. Generally depositions may be taken and used in all civil actions or suits. In criminal cases in the United States, a deposition cannot be used, unless a statute has been enacted which permits a defendant in a criminal case to have a deposition taken in his own behalf, or unless the defendant consents to the taking of a deposition by the State for use by the prosecution. (For exception in connection with the proving of foreign documents for use in criminal actions, see § 136.65.)

§ 136.51 Methods of taking depositions in foreign countries. Rule 28 (b) of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States provides that depositions may be taken in foreign countries by any of the three following methods:

(a) On notice before a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States;

(b) By commission, before such person or officer as may be appointed by the commission;

(c) Under letters rogatory, before an appropriate foreign court.

Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure provides that depositions may be taken in the same manner as in civil cases, but only upon order of court. The statutes of the States define the methods which may be employed for taking depositions in foreign countries for use in State courts and the provisions vary from one jurisdiction to another. However, provision is usually made for one or all of the aforementioned methods.

§ 136.52 "Deposition on notice" defined. A "deposition on notice" is a deposition taken before a competent official after reasonable notice has been given in writing by the party or attorney proposing to take such deposition to the opposing party or attorney of record. Under the Federal law, diplomatic and consular officers are defined as competent officials for taking depositions on notice in foreign countries (see § 136.51). This method of taking a deposition does not necessarily involve the issuance of a commission or other court order.

§ 136.53 "Commission to take depositions" defined. A "commission to take depositions" is a written authority issued by a court of justice, or by a quasi-judicial body, or a body acting in such capacity, giving power to take the testimony of witnesses who cannot appear personally to be examined in the court or before the body issuing the commission. In Federal practice, a commission to take depositions is issued only when necessary or convenient, on application and notice. The commission indicates the action or hearing in which the depositions are intended to be used, and the person or persons required to take the depositions, usually by name or descriptive title (see § 136.55 for manner of designating consular officers). Normally a commission is accompanied by detailed instructions for its execution.

§ 136.54 "Letters rogatory" defined. "Letters rogatory" is a formal communication from a court in which an action is pending to a foreign court requesting that the testimony of a witness or witnesses residing in the jurisdiction of the foreign court be taken under the direction of that court and transmitted to the court making the request. Like commissions to take depositions, letters rogatory are sometimes issued by quasi-judicial bodies. In Federal practice, letters rogatory are issued only when necessary or convenient, on application and notice. When the name of the foreign court is not known, the letters are usually adressed "To the Appropriate Judicial Authority in (name of country in which the foreign court is situated)".

§ 136.55 Consular authority and responsibilities for taking depositions. Any United States consular officer may be requested to take a deposition on notice, or designated to execute a commission to take depositions. A commission or notice should, if possible, identify the officer who is to take the depositions by his official title only, as in the following manner: "Any Consul or Vice Consul of the United States of America at (name of locality)". The consular officer responsible for the performance of notarial acts at a post should act on a request to take a deposition on notice, or should execute the commission, when the documents are drawn in this manner. However, when the officer (or officers) is designated by name as well as by title, only the officer (or officers) so designated may take the depositions. In either instance, the officer must be a disinterested party. Rule 28 (c) of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States prohibits the taking of a deposition before a person who is a relative, employee, attorney, or counsel of any of the parties, or who is a relative or employee of such attorney or counsel, or who is financially interested in the action. Consular officers are under no obligation to find witnesses whose testimony may be desired, and they have no authority to compel the attendance of witnesses. Furthermore, in countries where the right to take depositions is not secured by treaty, consular officers may take depositions only if the laws or authorities of the national government will permit them to do so. Consular officers in countries where the taking of depositions is not permitted who receive notices or commissions for taking depositions should return the documents, through the Department, to the parties from whom they are received, explaining why they are returning them and indicating what other method or methods may be available for obtaining the depositions, whether by letters rogatory or otherwise.

§ 136.56 Summary of procedure for taking depositions. In taking a deposition on notice or executing a commission to take depositions, a consular officer should conform to any statutory enactments on the subject in the jurisdiction in which the depositions will be used. He should also comply with any special instructions which accompany the request for a deposition on notice or a commission. Unless otherwise directed by statutory enactments or special instructions, the officer should proceed as follows in taking depositions:

(a) Request the witnesses, whose testimony is needed, to appear before him; or, at the request of any party to the action or proceeding, request designated persons to supply him or the requesting party with needed records or documents in their possession, or copies thereof;

(b) When necessary, act as interpreter or translator, or employ some qualified person to act in this capacity;

(c) Before the testimony is taken, administer oaths (or affirmations in lieu thereof) to the interpreter or translator (if there is one), to the stenographer taking down the testimony, and to each witness;

(d) Have the witnesses examined in accordance with the procedure described in §§ 136.57 to 136.60;

(e) Either record, or have recorded in his presence and under his direction, the testimony of the witnesses;

(f) Take the testimony, or have it taken, stenographically in question-and-answer form and transcribed (see § 136.58) unless the parties to the action agree otherwise (rules 30 (c) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States);

(g) Be actually present throughout the examination of the witnesses, but recess the examination for reasonable periods of time and for sufficient reasons;

(h) Mark or cause to be marked, by identifying exhibit numbers or letters, all documents identified by a witness or counsel and submitted for the record.

§ 136.57 Oral examination of witnesses. When a witness is examined on the basis of oral interrogatories, the counsel for the party requesting the deposition has the right to conduct a direct examination of the witness without interruption except in the form of objection by opposing counsel. The opposing counsel has the same right on cross-examination. Cross-examination may be followed by redirect and recross-examinations until the interrogation is complete. The consular officer taking the deposition should endeavor to restrain counsel from indulging in lengthy colloquies, digressions, or asides, and from attempts to intimidate or mislead the witness. The consular officer has no authority to sustain or overrule objections but should have them recorded as provided in § 136.59. Instead of taking part in the oral examination of a witness, the parties notified of the taking of a deposition may transmit written interrogatories to the consular officer. The consular officer should then question the witness on the basis of the written interrogatories and should record the answers verbatim. (Rules 30 (c) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.)

§ 136.58 Examination on basis of written interrogatories. Written interrogatories are usually divided into three parts:

(a) The direct interrogatories or interrogatories in chief;

(b) The cross-interrogatories; and

(c) The redirect interrogatories.

Recross-interrogatories sometimes follow redirect interrogatories. The consular officer should not furnish the witness with a copy of the interrogatories in advance of the questioning, nor should he allow the witness to examine the interrogatories in advance of the questioning. Although it may be necessary for the officer, when communicating with the witness for the purpose of asking him to appear to testify, to indicate in general terms the nature of the evidence which is being sought, this information should not be given in such detail as to permit the witness to formulate his answers to the interrogatories prior to his appearance before the consular officer. The officer taking the deposition should put the interrogatories to the witness separately and in order. The written interrogatories should not be repeated in the record (unless special instructions to that effect are given), but an appropriate reference should be made thereto. These references should, of course, be followed by the witness' answers. All of the written interrogatories must be put to the witness, even though at some point during the examination the witness disclaims further knowledge of the subject. When counsel for all of the parties attend an examination conducted on written interrogatories, the consular officer may, all counsel having consented thereto, permit oral examination of the witness following the close of the examination upon written interrogatories. The oral examination should be conducted in the same manner and order as if not preceded by an examination upon written interrogatories.

§ 136.59 Recording of objections. All objections made at the time of the examination to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, or to the manner of taking it, or to the evidence presented, or to the conduct of any party, and any other objection to the proceedings must be noted in the deposition. Evidence objected to will be taken subject to the objections. (Rules 30 (c) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.)

§ 136.60 Examination procedures—(a) Explaining interrogatory to witness. If the witness does not understand what an interrogatory means, the consular officer should explain it to him, if possible, but only so as to get an answer strictly responsive to the interrogatory.

(b) Refreshing memory by reference to written records. A witness may be permitted to refresh his memory by referring to notes, papers, or other documents. The consular officer should have such occurrence noted in the record of the testimony together with a statement of his opinion as to whether the witness was using the notes, papers, or other documents to refresh his memory or for the sake of testifying to matters not then of his personal knowledge.

(c) Conferring with counsel. When the witness confers with counsel before answering any interrogatory, the consular officer should have that fact noted in the record of the testimony.

(d) Examining witness as to personal knowledge. The consular officer may at any time during the examination of a witness propound such inquiries as may be necessary to satisfy himself whether the witness is testifying from his personal knowledge of the subject matter of the examination.

(e) Witness not to leave officer's presence. The consular officer should request the witness not to leave his presence during the examination, except during the recesses for meals, rest, etc., authorized in § 136.56 (g). Failure of the witness to comply with this request must be noted in the record.

§ 136.61 Transcription and signing of record of examination. After the examination of a witness is completed, the stenographic record of the examination must be fully transcribed and the transcription attached securely to any document or documents to which the testimony in the record pertains. (See § 136.63 regarding the arrangement of papers.) The transcribed deposition must then be submitted to the witness for examination and read to or by him, unless such examination and reading are waived by the witness and by the parties to the action. Any changes in form or substance desired by the witness should be entered upon the deposition by the consular officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making the changes. The witness should then sign the transcript of his deposition and should initial in the margin each correction made at his request. However, the signature and initials of the witness may be omitted if the parties to the action by stipulation waive the signing or if the witness is ill, refuses to sign, or cannot be found. If the deposition is not signed by the witness, the consular officer should sign it and should state on the record the reason for his action, i. e., the waiver of the parties, the illness or absence of the witness, or the refusal of the witness to sign, giving the reasons for such refusal. The deposition may then be used as though signed by the witness, except when, on the motion to suppress, the court holds that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require the rejection of the deposition in whole or in part. (Rules 30 (e) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.)

§136.62 Captioning and certifying depositions. The counselor officer should prepare a caption for every deposition; should certify on the deposition that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness; and should sign and seal the certification in the manner prescribed in §§ 136.15 and 136.16. (Rules 30 (f) (1) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.)

§ 136.63 Arrangement of papers. Unless special instructions to the contrary are received, the various papers comprising the completed record of the depositions should usually be arranged in the following order from bottom to top:

(a) Commission to take depositions (or notice of taking depositions), with interrogatories, exhibits, and other supporting documents fastened thereto.

(b) Statement of fees charged, if one is prepared on a separate sheet.

(c) Record of the responses of the various witnesses, including any exhibits the witnesses may submit.

(d) Closing certificate.

All of these papers should be fastened together with ribbon, the ends of which should be secured beneath the consular officer's seal affixed to the closing certificate.

§ 136.64 Filing depositions—(a) Preparation and transmission of envelope. The notice or commission, the interrogatories, the record of the witnesses' answers, the exhibits, and all other documents and papers pertaining to the depositions should be fastened together (see § 136.63 regarding the arrangement of papers) and should be enclosed in an envelope sealed with the wax engraving seal of the post. The envelope should be endorsed with the title of the action, and should be marked and addressed. If the notice or commission and the interrogatories were initially received under cover of instructions from the Department, the sealed envelope should be returned to the Department, for transmission to the court. If the documents were initially sent direct to the Foreign Service post and not through the Department, the sealed envelope should be either returned through the Department or forwarded by registered mail direct to the court in which the action is pending. (Rules 30 (f) (1) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.

(b) Furnishing copies. The original completed depositions should not be sent to any of the parties to the action or to their counsel. However, the consular officer may furnish a copy of a deposition to the deponent or to any party to the action upon the payment of the fee prescribed in item 34 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees. (Rules 30 (f) (2) and 31 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States.) If certification of the copy of the deposition is desired, the fee of $2.00 for certification, which is prescribed in item 35 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, should also be charged.

§ 136.65 Depositions to prove genuineness of foreign documents—(a) Authority to execute commission. Under the provisions of section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 834, sec. 53, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3492), a diplomatic or consular officer may be commissioned by an United States court to take the testimony of a witness in a foreign country either on oral or written interrogatories, or partly on oral and partly on written interrogatories, for the purpose of determining the genuineness of any foreign document (any book, paper, statement, record, account, writing, or other document, or any portion thereof, of whatever character and in whatever form, as well as any copy thereof equally with the original, which is not in the United States) which it is desired to introduce in evidence in any criminal action or proceeding in any United States court under the provisions of section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948 (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 945; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1732). Such testimony may also be taken to determine whether the foreign document was made in the regular course of business and whether it was the regular course of business to make such document. The term "business" includes business, profession, occupation, and calling of every kind. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 945, 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1732.)

(b) Disqualification to execute commission. Any diplomatic or consular officer to whom a commission is addressed to take testimony, who is interested in the outcome of the criminal action or proceeding in which the foreign documents in question are intended to be used or who has participated in the prosecution of such action or proceeding, whether by investigations, preparation of evidence, or otherwise, may be disqualified on his own motion or on that of the United States or any other party to such criminal action or proceeding made to the court from which the commission issued at any time prior to the execution thereof. If, after notice and hearing, the court grants the motion, it will instruct the diplomatic or consular officer thus disqualified to send the commission to any other diplomatic or consular officer of the United States named by the court, and such other officer should execute the commission according to its terms and will for all purposes be deemed the officer to whom the commission is addressed. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 834, sec. 53, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3492.)

(c) Execution and return of commission. (1) Commissions issued in criminal cases under the authority of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended, to take testimony in connection with foreign documents should be executed and returned by officers of the Foreign Service in accordance with section 1 of that act, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 835; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3493, 3494), and in accordance with any special instructions which may accompany the commission. For details not covered by such section or by special instructions, officers of the Foreign Service should be guided by such instructions as may be issued by the Department of State in connection with the taking of depositions generally. (See §§ 136.55 to 136.64.)

(2) Section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948 (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 835; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3493) provides that every person whose testimony is taken should be cautioned and sworn to testify the whole truth and should be carefully examined. The testimony should be reduced to writing or typewriting by the consular officer, or by some person under his personal supervision, or by the witness himself in the presence of the consular officer, and by no other person. After it has been reduced to writing or typewriting, the testimony must be signed by the witness. Every foreign document with respect to which testimony is taken must be annexed to such testimony and must be signed by each witness who appears for the purpose of establishing the genuineness of such document.

(3) When counsel for all of the parties attend the examination of any witness whose testimony will be taken on written interrogatories, they may consent that oral interrogatories, in addition to those accompanying the commission, be put to the witness. The consular officer taking the testimony should require an interpreter to be present when his services are needed or are requested by any party or his attorney. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 835, 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3493.)

(4) Section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948 (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 835; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3494) provides that the consular officer, who executes any commission authorized under the same section, as amended (sec 1, 62 Stat. 834, sec 53, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3492), and who is satisfied, upon all the testimony taken, that a foreign document is genuine, should certify such document to be genuine under the seal of his office. This certification must include a statement that the officer is not subject to disqualification under the provisions of section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 834, sec. 53, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3492). No fee should be charged for issuing this certificate, since no item of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees is applicable.

(5) The consular officer should then forward such foreign documents, together with the record of all testimony taken and the commission which has been executed, to the Department of State for transmission to the clerk of the court from which the commission issued. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 835; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3494.) (See § 136.64 regarding the filing of depositions generally.)

§ 136.66 Depositions taken before foreign officials or other persons in a foreign country—(a) Customary practice. Under the Federal law (rule 28 (b), Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States) and under the laws of some of the States a commission to take depositions can be issued to a foreign official or to a private person in a foreign country. However, this method is rarely used; commissions are generally issued to United States consular officers. In those countries where United States consular officers are not permitted to take testimony (see § 136.55) and where depositions must be taken before a foreign authority, letters rogatory are usually issued to a foreign court (see § 136.54 for definition of letters rogatory).

(b) Transmission of letters rogatory to foreign officials. Letters rogatory may theoretically be sent directly from court to court. However, foreign governments almost invariably require that such documents be submitted through the diplomatic channel. The Department always transmits letters rogatory to the appropriate United States diplomatic mission under cover of special instructions. The Department requires an advance deposit of $30 or $80 (depending upon the country of execution) to defray any expenses which may be involved in the execution and return of the letters rogatory. The letters rogatory, as well as the interrogatories and other papers included with them must be accompanied by a complete translation into the language of the country of execution.

(c) Return of letters rogatory executed by foreign officials. (1) Letters rogatory executed by foreign officials are returned through the same channel by which they were initially transmitted. When such documents are returned to a United States diplomatic mission, the responsible officer should endorse thereon a certificate stating the date and place of their receipt. This certificate should be appended to the documents as a separate sheet. The officer should then enclose the documents in an envelope sealed with the wax engraving seal of the post and bearing an endorsement indicating the title of the action to which the letters rogatory pertain. The name and address of the United States court or quasi-judicial body from which the letters rogatory issued should also be placed on the envelope, and it should then be transmitted to the Department. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 948; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1781.)

(2) If the executed letters rogatory are returned to the diplomatic mission from the Foreign Office in an envelope bearing the seals of the foreign judicial authority who took the testimony, that sealed envelope should not be opened at the mission. The responsible officer should place a certificate on the envelope showing the date it was received at his office and indicating that it is being forwarded in the same condition as received from the foreign authorities. He should then place that sealed envelope in a second envelope, sealed with the wax engraving seal of the post, and bearing the title of the action and the name and address of the United States court or quasi-judicial body from which the letters rogatory issued. The sealed package should then be transmitted to the Department. No charge should be made for executing either of the certificates mentioned in this section.

(d) Transmission of commissions to foreign officials or other persons. A commission to take depositions which is addressed to an official or person in a foreign country other than a United States diplomatic or consular officer may be sent directly to the person designated. However, if such a commission is sent to the United States diplomatic mission in the country where the depositions are intended to be taken, it should be forwarded to the Foreign Office for transmission to the person appointed in the commission. If sent to a United States consular office, the commission may be forwarded by that office direct to the person designated, or, if the consular officer deems it more advisable to do so, he may send the commission to the United States diplomatic mission for transmission through the medium of the Foreign Office.

(e) Return of commissions executed by foreign officials or other persons. The executed commission, if it is returned through the medium of a United States Foreign Service post, should be transmitted to the Department in the same manner as that indicated for executed letters rogatory (see paragraph (c) of this section).

(f) Inquiries concerning execution of letters rogatory abroad. Officers of the Foreign Service should refer to the Department of State all inquiries concerning the execution of letters rogatory in foreign countries.

§ 136.67 Execution of letters rogatory in the United States—(a) Answering inquiries. A person who inquires regarding the execution of letters rogatory in the United States should be given the information which appears in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and in § 136.71.

(b) Authority and procedure. So far as the Federal Government is concerned, the deposition of any witness within the United States for use in any judicial proceeding pending in any court in a foreign country with which the United States is at peace, may be taken before a person authorized to administer oaths, who is designated by the district court of the United States of any district where the witness resides or may be found. The practice and procedure in taking such depositions conforms generally to the practice and procedure for taking depositions for use in United States courts. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 749, sec. 93, 63 Stat. 103; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1782.) The procedure for taking depositions is covered in rules 26 through 37, Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts of the United States. The taking of depositions in State courts for use in the courts of foreign countries is governed by the laws of the individual States.

(c) Addressing letters rogatory. Letters rogatory for execution in the United States should generally be directed as follows: "To Any Judge or Justice Having Civil Jurisdiction at (name of locality)". Letters rogatory in civil actions will usually be executed in the State courts, and those in criminal actions, in the District Courts of the United States. However, the District Courts of the United States may execute letters rogatory in any judicial proceeding, whether criminal or civil. Such letters rogatory should be directed to:

The United States District Court for the ---------- District of ----------,
(City) (State)

Letters rogatory should request the district court to take or cause to be taken the testimony of the witnesses whose testimony is desired, stating whether the testimony is intended to be taken upon oral or written interrogatories. If the party on whose behalf the testimony is intended to be taken will not be represented by counsel, written interrogatories should accompany the letters rogatory. Letters rogatory and interrogatories in a foreign language should be accompanied by English translations.

(d) Transmitting letters rogatory to courts in the United States. Although most foreign countries require the presentation of letters rogatory through the foreign office, this practice is not followed in the United States. Letters rogatory for execution in a court in the United States should be forwarded directly to the court by the appropriate diplomatic or consular officer of the country in which the depositions are intended to be used. The Department of State does not act as intermediary in such instance. Letters rogatory directed to a district court of the United States should be sent in an envelope addressed to the clerk of the district court.

§ 136.68 Foreign Service fees to be collected for taking depositions—(a) Amount of fees. For taking a deposition on notice or for executing a commission to take depositions, the fee prescribed in item 32 ($10 for taking depositions or executing commission, including the first 500 words of transcript; 50 cents for each additional 100 words or fraction thereof) of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service fees must be charged, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of fees for performing the services without charge. For preparing the typewritten record of the depositions the fee prescribed in item 34 (50 cents per hundred words for copying) of the Tariff must be charged, with duplicate fees being charged for each copy prepared, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of fees for performing the service without charge. When appropriate the fees prescribed in item 33 ($1.00 for every 100 words of translating or every hour of interpreting by a member of the consular staff) and item 36 ($1.00 per hour for services performed outside consulate) of the Tariff must also be charged.

(b) Advance deposit to cover fees. Since a consular officer cannot determine accurately the amount of fees due until the deposition has been taken, he should request an advance deposit of funds to cover such fees from the party desiring the depositions. When a notice or commission to take depositions is forwarded through the Department of State, the Department will request a minimum deposit of $50 from the party from whom the documents are received, subject to refundment of any unexpended balance remaining after the depositions have been taken. When a notice or commission is sent directly to a Foreign Service post, the advance deposit should, if possible, be made with the post. However, if definite arrangements are made in advance to have the fees paid by an interested party in the foreign country, no advance deposit need be made with the Department or with the post.

§ 136.69 Fees payable to foreign officials, witnesses, foreign counsel and interpreters—(a) Execution of letters rogatory by foreign officials. See § 136.66 (b) regarding the advance deposit required to defray expenses involved in the execution of letters rogatory by foreign officials.

(b) Execution of commissions by foreign officials or other persons abroad. When the Department of State acts as intermediary in the transmission of a commission to a foreign official or a private person in a foreign country, an advance deposit of at least $50 will be requested from the party from whom the commission is received. If such a commission is sent directly to a Foreign Service post for onward transmission, the advance deposit may be made with the post. However, if definite arrangements are made in advance to have the expenses paid by an interested party in the foreign country, no advance deposit need be made with the Department or with the post.

(c) Witness fees and allowances when depositions are taken pursuant to commission from United States court. A witness attending in any United States court or before a United States commissioner or person, taking his deposition pursuant to any order of a United States court, is entitled to receive $4 for each day's attendance and for the time necessarily occupied in going to and returning from the same, and 7 cents per mile for going from and returning to his place of residence. Witnesses who are not salaried employees of the United States Government and who are not in custody and who attend at points so far removed from their respective residence as to prohibit return thereto from day to day are entitled to an additional allowance of $5 per day for expenses of subsistence including the time necessarily occupied in going to and returning from the place of attendance. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 950, 63 Stat. 65, sec. 94, 63 Stat. 103; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1821.) Witnesses giving depositions before consular officers pursuant to a commission issued by the United States court are entitled to these fees and allowances, and the officer should make payment thereof in the same manner as payment is made of other expenses involved in the execution of the commission, charging the advance deposit provided by the party at whose request the depositions are taken (see § 136.68 (b)). In any case to which the United States (or an officer or agency thereof) is a party, and when the commission to take the depositions is issued at the request of the United States (or an officer or agency thereof), the United States marshal for the district will pay all fees of witnesses on the certificate of the United States Attorney or Assistant United States Attorney, and in the proceedings before a United States Commissioner, on the certificate of such commissioner. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 951; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1825.)

§ 136.70 Special fees for depositions in connection with foreign documents—(a) Fees payable to witnesses. Each witness whose testimony is obtained under a commission to take testimony in connection with foreign documents for use in criminal cases will be entitled to receive compensation at the rate of $10 a day for each day of attendance, plus 7 cents a mile for going from his place of residence or business to the place of examination, and returning, by the shortest feasible route. When, however, it is necessary to procure the attendance of a witness on behalf of the United States or an indigent party, an officer or agent of the United States may negotiate with the witness to pay compensation at such higher rate as may be approved by the Attorney General, plus the mileage allowance stated above. The expense of the compensation and mileage of each witness will be borne by the party, or parties, applying for the commission unless the commission is accompanied by an order of court that all fees, compensations, and other expenses authorized by these regulations are chargeable to the United States under section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 836, sec. 54, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3495).

(b) Fees payable to counsel. Each counsel who represents a party to the action or proceeding in the examination before the commissioner will receive compensation for each day of attendance at a rate of not less than $15 a day and not more than $50 a day, as agreed between him and the party whom he represents, plus such actual and necessary expenses as may be allowed by the commissioner upon verified statements filed with him. If the commission is issued on application of the United States, the compensation and expenses of counsel representing each party are chargeable to the United States. If the commission is issued on application of any other party, the cost of the compensation and expense of counsel will be borne by the party whom such counsel represents, unless the commission is accompanied by an order of court that all fees, compensation, and other expenses authorized by these regulations are chargeable to the United States under section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 836, sec. 54, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3405).

(c) Fees payable to interpreters and translators. Each interpreter and translator employed by the commissioner under these regulations will receive an allowance of $5 a day, plus 7 cents a mile for going from his place of residence or business to the place of examination and returning, by the shortest feasible route. The compensation and mileage of interpreters and translators will be chargeable to the United States.

(d) Time for paying fees. Witnesses, counsel, interpreters, and translators will be paid, in accordance with the foregoing regulations, by the commissioner at the conclusion of their services. Other expenses authorized by these regulations will be paid by the commissioner as they are incurred.

(e) Payment of fees by the United States. When it appears that the commission was issued on application of the United States or when the commission is accompanied by an order of court that all fees, compensation, and other expenses authorized by these regulations are chargeable to the United States under section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948, as amended (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 836, sec. 54, 63 Stat. 96; 18 U. S. C. Sup. 3495), the commissioner should execute the commission without charge for his service as commissioner in connection therewith. The commissioner should pay witnesses, counsel, interpreter, or translator, and other expenses authorized by these regulations through the disbursing officer in his area in accordance with instructions which will be issued in each case.

(f) Payment of fees by other parties. When fees, compensation, and other expenses authorized by this part are chargeable to any party other than the United States, the commissioner should undertake the execution of the commission only if such party deposits with the Department of State, in advance, an amount to be set by the commissioner, apparently adequate to defray all fees, compensation, and other expenses authorized by these regulations. If the amount of the deposit is later found to be insufficient, the commissioner should so notify the Department of State and should retain the commission and other papers until he is notified by the Department that a sufficient amount has been deposited. If the amount of the deposit exceeds the aggregate amount of fees, compensation, and other expenses authorized by these regulations, the Department will return the excess to the party, or parties, entitled thereto. The commissioner should pay witnesses, counsel, interpreter, or translator, and other expenses authorized by this part, from the proceeds of a check which the disbursing officer for his area will be authorized to draw on the Treasurer of the United States.

§ 136.71 Fees for letters rogatory executed by officials in the United States. Arrangements for the payment of fees should be made directly with the court in the United States by the party in the foreign country at whose request the depositions are taken, either through his legal representative in the United States or through the appropriate diplomatic or consular officer of his country in the United States. (See § 136.67 regarding the execution of letters rogatory in the United States.)

MISCELLANEOUS NOTARIAL SERVICES

§ 136.72 Services in connection with patents and patent applications—(a) Affidavit of applicant. The form of the affidavit of an applicant for a United States patent depends on who is making the application, the type of invention, and the circumstances of the case. Officers of the Foreign Service are not responsible for the correctness of form of such affidavits, and should not endeavor to advise in their preparation. Persons who inquire at a Foreign Service post regarding the filing of patent applications may be referred to the pamphlet entitled "General Information Concerning Patents", if copies thereof are available at the post.

(b) Oath or affirmation of applicant—(1) Authority to administer oath or affirmation. When an applicant for a patent resides in a foreign country, his oath, or affirmation may be made before any "minister, chargé d'affaires, or consul holding commission under the Government of the United States, or before any notary public, judge, or magistrate having an official seal and authorized to administer oaths in the foreign country in which the applicant may be, whose authority shall be proved by certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States." (R. S. 4892, sec. 2, 32 Stat. 1226, sec. 3, 34 Stat. 100, sec. 3, 46 Stat. 376; 35 U. S. C. 35.) (See paragraph (c) of this section regarding authentication of the authority of a foreign official.) The term "consul" in the provision of Federal law quoted in this section is construed by the Patent Office to mean any consular officer of the United States. A notary or other official in a foreign country who is not authorized to administer oaths is not qualified to notarize an application for a United States patent.

(2) Form of oath or affirmation. See §§ 136.19 and 136.20 for usual forms of oaths and affirmations.

(3) Execution of jurat. In executing the jurat, the officer should carefully observe the following direction with regard to ribboning and sealing:

> When the oath is taken before an officer in a country foreign to the United States, all the application papers, except the drawings, must be attached together and a ribbon passed one or more times through all the sheets of the application, except the drawings, and the ends of said ribbon brought together under the seal before the latter is affixed and impressed, or each sheet must be impressed with the official seal of the officer before whom the oath is taken. If the papers as filed are not properly ribboned or each sheet impressed with the seal, the case will be accepted for examination but before it is allowed, duplicate papers, prepared in compliance with the foregoing sentence must be filed.

(Rule 66, Rules of Practice of the United States Patent Office.)

(c) Authentication of authority of foreign official—(1) Necessity for authentication. When the affidavit required in connection with a patent application has been sworn to or affirmed before an official in a foreign country other than a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States, an officer of the Foreign Service must authenticate the authority of the official administering the oath or affirmation. (R. S. 4892, sec. 2, 32 Stat. 1226, sec. 3, 34 Stat. 100, sec. 3, 46 Stat. 376; 35 U. S. C. 35.). If the officer of the Foreign Service cannot authenticate the authority of the official administering the oath or affirmation, the document should be authenticated by a superior foreign official, or by a series of superior foreign officials if necessary. The seal and signature of the foreign official who affixes the last foreign authentication to the document should then be authenticated by the officer of the Foreign Service.

(2) Use of permanent ink. All papers which will become a part of a patent application filed in the United States Patent Office must be legibly written or printed in permanent ink. (Rule 52, Rules of Practice of the United States Patent Office.) Consular certificates of authentication executed in connection with patent applications should preferably be prepared on a typewriter; they should not be prepared on a hectograph machine.

(d) Certification of authority of foreign executor or administrator acting for deceased inventor—(1) Necessity for certification. When an executor or administrator, duly authorized under the law of any foreign country to administer upon the estate of a deceased inventor not domiciled in the United States at the time of his death, desires to make application for a patent in the United States, his authority to act as executor or administrator must be proved by a certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States. (R. S. 4896, 30 Stat. 915, sec. 3, 32 Stat. 1226, 35 Stat. 245; 35 U. S. C. 46.) No fee is prescribed in the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees for the execution of the foregoing certificate.

(2) Supporting documents. The diplomatic or consular officer's certificate must be recorded in the United States Patent Office, but the documents exhibited to the officer as proof of the authority of the executor or administrator to act in the premises should not be attached to the certificate and need not accompany said certificate.

(e) Assignments of patents and applications for patents. An application for a patent, or a patent, or any interest therein, may be assigned in law by an instrument in writing. The applicant, or the patentee, or his assigns or legal representatives, may grant and convey an exclusive right under the application for patent, or under the patent, to the whole or any specified part of the United States. Any such assignment, grant, or conveyance of any application for patent, or of any patent, may be acknowledged, in a foreign country, before any secretary of legation or consular officer authorized to administer oaths or to perform notarial acts; and the certificate of acknowledgment under his hand and official seal constitutes prima-facie evidence of the execution of such assignment, grant, or conveyance. (R. S. 4898 sec. 5, 29 Stat. 693, sec. 6, 42 Stat. 391, 55 Stat. 634; 35 U. S. C. 47.) No provision is made for the execution of such assignment, grant, or conveyance before a foreign notary or other foreign official.

(f) Fees. The fees which should be charged for notarial services involved in the execution of patent applications depend upon the nature of the notarial services, that is, whether they be oaths, authentications, or some other type of service. The applicable items of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees where oaths, authentications, and acknowledgements are concerned, are mentioned in §§ 136.43, 136.46, and 136.45.

(g) Procedure in case fee stamps are lost. If fee stamps affixed to a consular certificate which forms a part of a patent application become lost before the application is received in the Patent Office, the application may be filed for examination but will not be given final consideration until the defect is corrected. Since it would be improper to issue new fee stamps to replace those lost, a statement may be issued to the person applying for the patent or to his legal representative.

§ 136.73 Services in connection with trade-mark registrations—(a) Authority and responsibility. Acknowledgments and oaths required in connection with applications for registration of trademarks may be made, in a foreign country, before any diplomatic or consular officer of the United States or before any official authorized to administer oaths in the foreign country whose authority must be proved by a certificate of a diplomatic or consular officer of the United States. (Sec. 11, 60 Stat. 432; 15 U. S. C. 1061.) The responsibility of officers of the Foreign Service in this connection is the same as that where notarial services in connection with patent applications are involved (see § 136.72 (a)). (See § 136.72 (b) regarding the authentication of the authority of a foreign official who performs a notarial service in connection with a patent application.)

(b) Fees. The fees which should be charged for notarial services involved in registering trade-marks depend upon the nature of the notarial services; that is, whether they be oaths, acknowledgments, or some other type of service. The applicable items of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees where oath and acknowledgements are concerned, are mentioned in §§ 136.43 and 136.45.

§ 136.74 Services in connection with United States securities or interests therein—(a) Authority and responsibility. Assignments or requests for payment of United States securities, or securities for which the Treasury Department acts as transfer agent, or powers of attorney in connection therewith where authorized by the Treasury Department, should, in a foreign country, be executed before a United States consular or diplomatic officer. However, if they are executed before a foreign official having power to administer oaths, the Treasury Department requires that the official character and jurisdiction of the foreign official be certified by a United States diplomatic or consular officer. (See §§ 136.36 to 136.41 on authentications.)

(b) Fees. Officers of the Foreign Service should charge no fees for notarial services they perform in connection with the execution of documents, including the certification or authentication of documents where necessary, which affect United States securities or securities for which the Treasury Department acts as transfer agent, or which may be required in the collection of interest thereon. Item 29 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees should be considered to apply in all such cases.

§ 136.75 Services in connection with income tax returns—(a) Responsibility. Officers of the Foreign Service are authorized to perform any and all notarial services which may be required in connection with the execution of Federal, state, territorial, municipal, or insular income tax returns. Officers should not give advice on the preparation of tax returns.

(b) Fees. No charge should be made for services performed in connection with income tax returns (see item 39 of the Tariff of the United States Foreign Service Fees).

COPYING, RECORDING, TRANSLATING AND PROCURING DOCUMENTS

§ 136.76 Copying documents — (a) Consular authority. The consular officer is authorized to have documents, or abstracts therefrom, copied at a Foreign Service post, if he deems it advisable and it is practicable to do so. This service frequently is necessary in connection with the performance of certain notarial acts, such as the certification of copies of documents.

(b) Fees. For preparing a copy of a document, a fee of fifty cents per hundred words or fraction thereof must be charged, as prescribed in item 34 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, unless provision is made elsewhere in the Tariff of Fees for performing the service without charge. (See § 136.48 regarding the performance of this service gratis under item 38 of the Tariff of Fees.) When a copy is prepared on a printed form, the copying fee should be charged for the total number of words in the copy, including the printed words. The provision in item 34 of the Tariff of Fees for "the typing of official forms where requested and where such service is not included in any other item of this tariff" applies to such services as the preparation of a Petition for Issuance of Immigration Visa on Form I–133, and applications for the extension of re-entry permits.

§ 136.77 Recording documents—(a) Consular authority. Consular officers may, at their discretion, accept for recording in the Miscellaneous Record Book of the office concerned unofficial documents such as deeds, leases, agreements, wills, and so on. The object of this service is primarily to afford United States citizens and interests the means of preserving, in official custody, records of their business and other transactions where other suitable facilities are not available locally for making such records. The recording of unofficial documents is not a notarial service, strictly speaking; however, the certifying of copies of documents thus recorded is a notarial service.

(b) Recording procedure. Generally, before accepting a document for recording the consular officer should require satisfactory proof of its genuineness. The document should be copied, word for word, in the Miscellaneous Record Book. At the close of the record a statement that it is a true copy of the original should be entered and signed by the consular officer who copies or compares the record. In the margin of the first page where the document is recorded, the consular officer should note the following data:

(1) By whom the document is presented for recording;

(2) On whose behalf the service is requested;

(3) Date and hour of presentation for recording;

(4) How the authenticity of the document was proved (where appropriate); and

(5) The name of the person by whom recorded (in his proper signature) and the name of the consular officer with whom compared (in his proper signature).

(c) Certificate of recording. Ordinarily, a certificate of recording need not be issued. The original document may simply be endorsed: "Recorded at (name and location of consular office) this _____ day of _____, 19__, in (here insert appropriate reference to volume of Miscellaneous Record Book)". Below the endorsement should appear the notation regarding the amount of the fee collected, the tariff number, and the canceled fee stamps. (See paragraph (d) of this section regarding the applicable item of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees.) When a certificate of recording is requested, the consular officer may issue it, if he sees fit to do so. The certificate may be either entered on the document, if space permits, or appended to the document as a separate sheet in the manner prescribed in § 136.17.

(d) Fees. For recording unofficial documents at a Foreign Service post, a fee of 50 cents per 100 words or fraction thereof must be charged, as prescribed in item 37 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees. No fee should be charged for issuing a certificate of recording as described in paragraph (c) of this section.

§ 136.78 Translating documents. Officers of the Foreign Service are not authorized to translate documents or to certify to the correctness of translations. (However, see § 136.56 with regard to interpreting and translating services which may be performed in connection with depositions.) They are authorized to administer to a translator an oath as to the correctness of a translation; to take an acknowledgment of the preparation of a translation; and to authenticate the seal and signature of a local official affixed to a translation. Separate fees should be charged for each of these services as indicated in §§ 136.43, 136.45 and 136.46.

§ 136.79 Procuring copies of foreign public documents—(a) Nature of services. When requested to do so by United States citizens or by persons acting in behalf of United States citizens, a consular officer should endeavor to obtain from foreign officials copies of birth, death, and marriage certificates, or copies of other public records, such as divorce decrees, probated wills, and so on. The interest of the party requesting the document should be clearly indicated, and there should be good reason for asking for the consular officer's assistance. Persons requesting documents for use in the preparation of family trees or in the compilation of genealogical studies should be referred to a local attorney or to a genealogical research bureau if one is available.

(b) Payment of expenses involved—(1) Official funds not to be used. The use of official funds to pay fees for the issuance of copies of foreign public documents at the request of private persons is prohibited.

(2) Payment of fees by Federal Government. Requests for foreign documents emanating from departments or agencies of the Federal Government will normally be handled through the Department of State. The Department will in such instances issue appropriate instructions with respect to the payment of whatever local fees may be charged if the documents cannot be obtained gratis from the local authorities.

(3) Payment of fees by State or municipal Governments. Should State, county, municipal or other authorities in the United States besides the Federal Government request the consular officer to obtain foreign documents, and express willingness to supply documents gratis in analogous circumstances, the consular officer may endeavor on that basis to obtain the desired foreign documents gratis. Otherwise, such authorities should be informed that they must make the same payment, or the same advance deposit, which a private person must make (see subparagraph (4) of this paragraph), to cover the fees charged by foreign officials and any fees which it may be necessary for the consular officer to charge according to the provisions of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees.

(4) Payment of fees by private persons. Before a consular officer endeavors to obtain a copy of a foreign public document in behalf of a private person, the person requesting the document should make a deposit of funds with the officer (or with the Department of State, if the request is made through the Department) in an amount sufficient to defray any fees which may be charged by the local authorities as well as the Foreign Service fee for authenticating the document, should authentication be desired.

§ 136.80 Procuring copies of documents from the United States. A person inquiring at a Foreign Service post with regard to the procurement of birth or death certificates from the United States should be advised to write to the Vital Statistics Office of the State or Territory where the birth or death occurred, or to the appropriate diplomatic or consular officer of his own country. The digests of State and Territorial laws in the Martindale-Hubbell Law Directory and in The Lawyers Directory contain information with respect to the State and Territorial offices where birth and death records are maintained, and in some instances they indicate the cost of obtaining birth and death certificates.

QUASI-LEGAL SERVICES

§ 136.81 Performance of legal services—(a) Legal services defined. The term "legal services" means services of the kind usually performed by attorneys for private persons and includes such acts as the drawing up of wills, powers of attorney, or other legal instruments.

(b) Performance usually prohibited. Officers of the Foreign Service should not perform legal services except when instructed to do so by the Secretary of State, or in cases of sudden emergency when the interests of the United States Government might be involved, or in cases in which no lawyer is available and refusal to perform the service would result in the imposition of extreme hardship upon a United States citizen. There is no objection, however, to permitting persons to use the legal references in the Foreign Service office giving specimen forms of wills, powers of attorney, etc.

(c) Refusal of requests. In refusing requests for the performance of legal services, an officer of the Foreign Service should cite these regulations and should state clearly his reasons for refusing to act. In appropriate cases, the officer may furnish the inquirer with a copy of the annual list of attorneys (see § 136.83) practicing in the consular district or he may refer the inquirer to the Department for a list of attorneys.

(d) Waiver of responsibility. When an officer of the Foreign Service accedes to a request for the performance of a legal service, he should inform the applicant that the service is performed at the latter's risk and without any responsibility on the part of the United States Government or the officer performing the service.

(e) Fees. No fee should be charged for any legal services that may be performed under these regulations, beyond the fee for copying prescribed in item 34 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees. (See § 136.11 (b) regarding the preparation of legal documents by consular officers.)

§ 136.82 Recommending attorneys—(a) Agreements with attorneys in consular district prohibited. Officers of the Foreign Service should not enter into agreements with attorneys in their districts respecting the performance of legal services for persons applying to a Foreign Service post therefor. When appropriate, lists of attorneys practicing in the district who might be of assistance may be furnished to applicants. (See § 136.83.)

(b) Recommendation of attorneys in United States prohibited. When any person in the district of a Foreign Service post desires to have the name of an attorney in the United States, the officer at the post may refer him to the lists of attorneys at his disposal, but he should not recommend any particular attorney.

§ 136.83 Submission of annual list of attorneys—(a) Reporting requirement. Each Foreign Service post should report at the beginning of each calendar year on attorneys of United States and foreign nationality who are active practitioners of good repute residing in districts of the post, and who are believed to be qualified to handle litigation on behalf of United States citizens or firms. In instances where it is known that the rules of the foreign bar association prohibit advertising by association members, the consular officer may, when communicating with the attorneys, give assurance that the list of attorneys will not be published but will only be used privately, and upon request, to assist United States citizens who may be in need of legal counsel in the foreign country.

(b) Furnishing copies of list. Single copies of lists of attorneys may be furnished directly to private persons or firms by Foreign Service posts. However, requests emanating from the United States for lists of attorneys may be referred to the Department together with a letter of acknowledgment to the person making the request. In all instances in which the lists of attorneys are intended to be used for secondary distribution, the requests should be referred to the Department in this manner.

§ 136.84 Legal process defined. Legal process means a writ, warrant, mandate, or other process issuing from a court of justice. The term includes subpoenas, citations, and complaints.

§ 136.85 Service of legal process usually prohibited. The service of legal process is not normally a Foreign Service function. Except as provided in §§ 136.86 to 136.91, or as may be specifically authorized by the Department in special cases, officers of the Foreign Service are prohibited from serving legal process or appointing other persons to do so.

§ 136.86 Consular responsibility for serving subpoenas. Unless such action is prohibited by the law of the foreign country, officers of the Foreign Service are required to serve subpoenas issued by United States courts upon citizens or residents of the United States who have been personally notified in a foreign country to appear to give testimony in answer to letters rogatory issued from the said United States court and who have failed or neglected to do so, or who, having appeared, have refused to give testimony. Officers of the Foreign Service are also required, unless doing so would be contrary to the law of the foreign country, to serve subpoenas issued by United States courts upon citizens or residents of the United States who are beyond the jurisdiction of the United States and whose testimony in a criminal proceeding is desired by the Attorney General. (Sec. 1, 62 Stat. 949; 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1783.)

§ 136.88 Consular procedure. With regard to the serving of subpoenas and orders to show cause referred to in §§ 136.86 and 136.87, section 1 of the act of June 25, 1948 (sec. 1, 62 Stat. 819, 28 U. S. C. Sup. 1783), provides that the subpoena shall designate the time and place for appearance before the United States court, and shall issue to any consular officer of the United States in the foreign country. The consular officer is required to make personal service of the subpoena and any order to show cause, rule, judgment or decree on the request of the United States court or its marshal, and to make return thereof to such court after tendering to the witness his necessary travel and attendance expenses, which will be determined by the court and sent with the subpoena. The consular officer should make return by sending the appropriate documents to the Department for transmission to the court. When the subpoena or order is forwarded to the officer, it is usually accompanied by instructions directing exactly how service should be made and how the return of service should be executed. These instructions should be followed carefully.

§ 136.89 Fees for service of legal process. No charge should be made for serving a subpoena or order to show cause. The taking of the affidavit of the officer making the service, or any other notarial service which may be involved in making the return, should be performed without charge under item 38 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees, the service number should appear, as in the case of other certificates, on the return of the subpoena or other legal documents.

§ 136.90 Delivering documents pertaining to fraudulent naturalization. Officers of the Foreign Service should deliver, or assist in delivering, to designated persons, documents relating to fraudulent naturalization when such documents are forwarded by duly authorized officials of the United States courts. The responsibility for furnishing detailed instructions on the procedure to be followed in delivering such documents rests with the court or with the United States attorney concerned, and officers should follow such instructions carefully.

§ 136.91 Service of documents at request of Congressional committees. Officers of the Foreign Service have no authority to serve upon persons in their consular districts legal process such as subpoenas or citations in connection with Congressional investigations. All requests for such service should be referred to the Department of State.

§ 136.92 Service of legal process where required by State law. In exceptional cases it may be found that a particular State statute will require service of legal process in foreign countries by a United States consular officer or by a person appointed by him, and will allow no other method of making service. Before making service or appointing someone else to do so in such cases, the officer of the Foreign Service should request special authorization from the Department of State.

§ 136.93 Notarial services connected with service of process by other persons. (a) An officer of the Foreign Service may administer an oath to a person making an affidavit to the effect that legal process has been served. The fee of $2.00 established by item 24 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees must be charged for this service.

(b) When an affidavit stating that legal process has been served is sworn to before a foreign notary or other official, an officer of the Foreign Service may authenticate the official character of the person administering the oath. (See §§ 136.36 to 136.41 regarding authentications generally and suggested forms for certificate of authentication.) The fee of $2.00 established by item 31 of the Tariff of United States Foreign Service Fees must be charged for this service.

§ 136.94 Replying to inquiries regarding service of process or other documents. Officers should make prompt and courteous replies to all inquiries regarding the service of legal process or other documents of that nature, and should render such assistance as they properly can to interested persons.

§ 136.95 Transportation of witnesses to the United States. Officers of the Foreign Service may at times be called upon to assist in arranging for the transportation to the United States of persons in foreign countries whose testimony is desired by the Attorney General in a case pending in a Federal court. Requests that the travel of such persons be facilitated originate in the Department of Justice, and special instructions in each case are transmitted to the appropriate Foreign Service post by the Department of State.

These regulations shall become effective on August 1, 1952.

Date of issuance: June 13, 1952.

Office of Security and Consular Affairs.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 1 to Supplementary Regulation 73]

GCPR, SR 73—RAIL FREIGHT RATE INCREASES ON GRAIN, GRAIN PRODUCTS, GRAIN BY-PRODUCTS, AND ARTICLES TAKING SAME RAIL FREIGHT RATE

RAIL FREIGHT RATE INCREASES ON GRAIN PRODUCTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 73 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment permits the sellers of grain, grain products and grain by-products covered by Supplementary Regulation (SR) 73 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) to reflect in their ceiling prices the recent increase in rail freight rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission on April 11, 1952, in Ex Parte 175, and effective May 17, 1952.

Under the GCPR, as explained in Interpretation 1, a seller may pass on to his buyers increases in outbound transportation charges in general only if he sold on an f. o. b. basis during the base period or added to his mill price only the actual transportation cost incurred. Increases in inbound transportation costs, incurred by the seller in obtaining delivery from his supplier, must be absorbed by the seller. SR 73, issued on October 22, 1951, permitted certain additional sellers (of grain and grain products) to reflect in their ceiling prices the 6 percent increase in freight rates authorized by the I. C. C. on August 2, 1951. This amendment makes similar provision in regard to the recent rate increase

As stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying SR 73, under the GCPR sellers of grain products are unable to pass on increases in outbound freight charges since their selling prices customarily include a freight factor representing the average freight to a particular destination rather than the actual transportation cost incurred on the particular shipment. Grain products are usually shipped on a "transit balance" rail rate under which the outbound rate applicable to the shipment varies with the origin point of the inbound shipment of raw grain. Since, at the time of sale of the product it is not possible to determine what transit billing will be available for use on a particular shipment, processors customarily compute average freight charges to various points in order to be able to set firm prices. Moreover, there is a wide variation among various sellers in the amount of the inbound freight increase which must be absorbed under the GCPR. For example, an Eastern flour miller incurs a much higher inbound freight charge on Kansas wheat than does the Kansas miller although both sell flour on a competitive basis in Eastern consuming markets.

As explained more fully in the Statement of Considerations accompanying SR 73, since grain and grain products must move over long distances to reach the consuming markets, transportation charges represent a large percentage of the total costs involved in producing the finished products. Since processors and other handlers of grain and grain products customarily operate on a very low unit margin of profit over costs, historically they have reflected transportation charges in their selling prices. To require absorption of increased freight costs would seriously impair and, in some cases, eliminate this historically low unit profit margin.

This amendment uses the method for computing the allowable increase in ceiling price to reflect the increased freight rate which was originally provided in SR 73 in connection with the prior rate increase. Thus, the increase must be computed on the basis of the charge used during the GCPR base period, which, according to the shippers records, represents the average of inbound and outbound rail freight rate costs.

Under this amendment, of course, no adjustment of the f. o. b. price for inbound freight may be made for inbound shipments received on the rail freight rate in effect prior to the increase. Under transit billing, certain outbound shipments taking place after the effective date of the freight rate increases are still governed by the rates in effect prior to the increase. In this amendment, as in the original section 4 of SR 73, the permission to add freight rate increases to previous ceiling prices is limited so as to require the sellers to use the former ceiling price for outbound shipments to which the previous freight rate is applicable—notwithstanding that the outbound shipment actually takes place after the effective date of the increase.

This amendment adds the products covered by SR 86, SR 92 and SR 31, Revision 2 to the list of products in section 2 (c) to which SR 73 is inapplicable. SR 86 to the GCPR sets ceiling prices for producers of the feed by-products of the wet corn milling process. Section 2 of SR 86 fixes ceiling prices at Chicago, Kansas City, and St. Louis, and provides that the ceiling price at any other point is determined by adding a transportation charge equal to the lowest grain products reshipping rate, or, if none, the lowest carload rate on grain products to such point from whichever of the above points results in the lowest ceiling at point of delivery. This charge may be computed at current rail freight rates and will, of course, vary with changes in freight rates. SR 92 to the GCPR fixes a ceiling price at Corpus Christi, Texas, for the feed by-products of the wet milo milling process and provides that the ceiling price at any other point is determined by adding the actual transportation costs incurred in shipping the commodity to such point from Corpus Christi. SR 31, Revision 2, to the GCPR provides that a seller of the cottonseed products covered by that regulation must determine the transportation charge which he may reflect in his ceiling price on the basis of the rates in effect in the GCPR base period.

In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 73 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 is amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation permits increases in the ceiling prices of commodities taking the rail freight rate applicable to grain, grain products, grain by-products and articles in the same rail freight rate class (such commodities being collectively called "grain products" in this supplementary regulation), provided that these ceiling prices are now fixed by the General Ceiling Price Regulation, its amendments and its supplementary regulations, and are either delivered prices which include average freight to a particular destination, or are f. o. b. mill prices to which is added a freight factor representing average freight to a particular destination. The permitted increases in ceiling prices are intended to reflect increases in the rail transportation costs of grain products resulting from the general increases in rail freight rates authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission on August 2, 1951, and April 11, 1952.

2. Section 2 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Products not covered. This supplementary regulation does not apply to the following:

(1) Processors of the soybean products covered by SR 3 to the GCPR.

(2) Producers of the feed by-products of the wet corn milling process covered by SR 86 to the GCPR.

(3) Producers of the feed by-products of the wet milo milling process covered by SR 92 to the GCPR.

(4) Processors and distributors of cottonseed products covered by SR 31, Revision 2, to the GCPR.

3. Step 4 and Step 6 of section 3 (a) are amended to read as follows:

Step 4. Multiply the figure ascertained under Step 1 above by 112 percent.

4. Section 4 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) On any sale of a grain product which you ship on the rail freight rate in effect prior to September 12, 1951 (the effective date of the rail freight rate increase authorized by the I. C. C. order of August 2, 1951), you may not take any increase in your ceiling price under this supplementary regulation, even though you ship your grain product after September 12, 1951. Example: If, prior to September 12, 1951, 1,000 cwt. of wheat is shipped to you, you may not increase your ceiling price on 1,000 cwt. of flour or millfeed which is shipped by you on a transit balance rate based upon the rail freight rate in effect prior to the increase, even though you ship your flour or millfeed after the effective date of the increase.

On any sale of a grain product which you ship on a rail freight rate which includes the rail freight rate increase authorized by the I. C. C. order of August 2, 1951, but does not include the rail freight rate increase authorized by the I. C. C. order of April 11, 1952, you calculate the permitted increase in your ceiling price under section 3 (a) above. However, under Steps 4 and 6 of section 3 (a), you must use 106 percent as your multiplier.

Example: You receive 1,000 cwt. of wheat shipped on the rail freight rate which was originally increased 6 percent on September 12, 1951 (the effective date of the rail freight increase authorized by the I. C. C. order of August 2, 1951). After May 17, 1952 (the effective date of the rail freight increase authorized by the I. C. C. order of April 11, 1952) you sell 1,000 cwt. of flour or millfeed shipped on transit billing the rate for which is based on the inbound wheat shipment. Under this supplementary regulation you may increase your ceiling price on this sale to reflect the first rate increase, but not the second, because although the outbound shipment takes place after May 17, 1952, the freight rate applicable to this particular shipment is still the one in effect prior to May 17, 1952. Thus, for such a sale, under Steps 4 and 6 of section 3 (a), you multiply by 106 percent the figures you used during the GCPR base period to represent your average inbound and outbound rail freight rate cost.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective June 24, 1952.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 107]

GCPR, SR 107—CEILING PRICE ADJUSTMENT FOR CANNED BABY AND JUNIOR FOODS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Supplementary Regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation permits processors of baby food to determine adjusted ceiling prices for canned baby and junior foods by adding specified amounts to ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR).

The baby food industry is comprised of fewer than ten companies who produce baby food, with only two of these companies processing meat items of baby food. The industry has historically sold its products on a uniform price line basis. This means many different items have been sold at the same price, regardless of differences in cost of the individual items. There are five price lines now in general use, namely, strained baby food in tin containers, strained baby food in glass containers, chopped (or junior) foods in tin containers, chopped foods in glass containers and meat items which are packed in one size only in tin containers. The baby food meats are items which have been introduced since World War II.

This supplementary regulation provides for calculation of ceiling prices for new items in a manner which will enable processors to continue their practice of selling on a uniform price line basis and also authorizes a ceiling price increase which has been found to be required by the industry earnings standard.

Because of problems and factors peculiar to these industries, OPS has adopted the policy of applying the earnings standard on a major commodity group basis in the fruit and vegetable processing industries. In this case the major commodity group is canned baby and junior foods. The ceiling price increase authorized by this regulation is based upon a cost and profit study of baby food processors made by OPS.

With respect to the baby food industry, it has been determined that an adjustment which will permit the industry a dollars-and-cents net return per unit of sale equivalent to 85 percent of the average return for the three best years from 1946 to 1949 will be substantially equivalent to the adjustment which would be computed by relating net profits before taxes to net worth. For the baby food industry these years were the years 1947–1949 inclusive. In determining the average base period net profit per unit, the years in which one or more of the commodities were sold at a loss were considered at zero in line with the treatment of loss years under the industry earnings standard.

The adjustments afforded by this supplementary regulation were determined on the basis of costs as of the summer of 1951, which is the most recent period for which data are available. In addition, however, recent known cost increases have been taken into consideration. These include the freight rate increases of August 28, 1951, and May 2, 1952, the wage rate increase incurred in December 1951, by the producers of baby meat items, and the increase in glass containers recently authorized by this agency to glass container manufacturers under the industry earnings standard.

The Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and the Canned Baby Food Industry Advisory Committee before issuing this supplementary regulation and has given consideration to their recommendations. It is his judgment that the ceiling prices and provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable, comply with all applicable provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of that act.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Adjusted ceiling prices for processors' sales of canned baby and junior foods.
3. Processors' ceiling prices for new items falling within categories sold during the base period.
4. Relationship of this supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.
5. Definitions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816 as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803 as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation modifies processors' ceiling prices for canned baby and junior foods by allowing processors to calculate adjusted ceiling prices by adding specific amounts to their ceiling prices as determined under the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR). Section 2 sets forth the cents per dozen which may be added to your ceiling price as established under the GCPR if you are a processor of canned baby and junior foods. Section 3 provides a method of determining ceiling prices for items of canned baby or junior food which you did not sell during the GCPR base period.

SEC. 2. Adjusted ceiling prices for processors' sales of canned baby and junior foods. If you are a processor of canned baby and junior foods you shall calculate adjusted ceiling prices for all items of canned baby and junior foods for sale to each class of purchaser by adding to your ceiling prices as established under the GCPR, without reference to any adjustment under section 11 of that regulation, the following appropriate amount:

	Cents per dozen
All meat items of baby or junior foods	8½
All other items of baby or junior foods packed in tin containers, excluding dry cereals	3½
All other items of baby or junior foods packed in glass containers, excluding dry cereals	4½

The result is your adjusted ceiling price per dozen containers for each item of baby food to each class of purchaser.

SEC. 3. Processors' ceiling prices for new items falling within categories sold during the base period. If you wish to add a new item of canned baby or junior food not sold by you during the base period to an established uniform price line of canned baby or junior food of a category which you did sell during the base period, your ceiling price for the new item shall be the ceiling price for the category of canned baby or junior food as established under section 2 of this supplementary regulation to which you are adding the new item. Your ceiling price for the new item shall reflect your customary price differentials including discounts, allowances, premiums and extras which are in effect under the GCPR for the category of canned baby or junior food to which the new item is added.

SEC. 4. Relationship of this supplementary regulation to the GCPR. All provisions of the GCPR except to the extent modified by this supplementary regulation shall continue to apply to your sales of canned baby and junior foods.

SEC. 5. Definitions. When used in this supplementary regulation the term:

(a) "Canned baby and junior foods" means any strained or chopped foods packaged in hermetically sealed containers and specially prepared for infant or child feeding. Packaged dry cereals and canned fish are excluded.

(b) "Canned meat item" means an item consisting of at least 95 percent by volume of strained or chopped meats and to which seasoning and liquid only have been added.

(c) "Item" means a kind, variety, style of pack or container type or size of canned baby or junior foods.

(d) "Processor" means a person who manufactures any of the kind of baby or junior foods covered by this supplementary regulation. The term includes a person who has the item processed by another and who owns the ingredients immediately prior to and throughout the processing.

Effective date. This Supplementary Regulation 107 shall become effective June 24, 1952.

This amended direction under CMP Regulation No. 1 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this direction as amended, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the direction affects many different industries.

This amendment affects Direction 1, as last amended April 30, 1952, to CMP Regulation No. 1 as follows: A new section 2 is added and sections 2, 3, 4, and 5, are redesignated sections 3, 4, 5, and 6; paragraphs (a) and (b) of redesignated section 3 are amended; paragraph (c) of redesignated section 3 is deleted and a new paragraph (c) is substituted therefor; paragraph (f) of redesignated section 3 is deleted and its provisions are incorporated in new section 2; new paragraphs (d) and (e) are added to redesignated section 3 and paragraphs (d) and (e) are redesignated paragraphs (f) and (g); redesignated sections 4 and 5 are amended. As so amended, Direction 1 to CMP Regulation No. 1 reads as follows:

App. Sup., 2071; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61, 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.; secs. 402, 405, E. O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this direction does. This direction constitutes a determination by the National Production Authority that producers of Class B products may receive priority assistance under CMP without submitting applications on Form CMP–4B if their total requirements of controlled materials do not exceed a certain maximum. It also establishes a procedure whereby such producers may place authorized controlled material orders for such materials without obtaining an allotment. Such producers shall be subject to all CMP regulations and orders.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this direction:

(b) "Base period use" means the average quarterly use of controlled material by a Class B product producer during the calendar year 1950. In the case of a Class B product producer who has received an adjustment by NPA of his use of controlled material for a period preceding July 1, 1950, it means his average quarterly use of controlled material during such period, as adjusted by NPA, or his average quarterly use of controlled material during the calendar year 1950, whichever is greater.

SEC. 3. Persons affected by this direction. (a) Regardless of his base period use, a producer of any Class B product which is listed in the Official CMP Class B Product List may obtain priority assistance without submitting an application on Form CMP–4B with respect to such product for any calendar quarter (except for the third calendar quarter of 1952 as provided in paragraph (e) of this section) in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of that product and all other products in the same product class do not exceed the amounts specified below:

	Second calendar quarter 1952	After second calendar quarter 1952
Carbon steel (including wrought iron)	5 tons	25 tons.
Alloy steel (except stainless steel)	½ ton	1 ton.
Stainless steel	None	None.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder	500 pounds	10,000 pounds.
Aluminum	500 pounds	20,000 pounds.

(b) A producer of any Class B product which is listed in the Official CMP Class B Product List may obtain priority assistance without submitting an application on Form CMP–4B with respect to such product for any calendar quarter (except for the third calendar quarter of 1952 as provided in paragraph (e) of this section) in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of that product and all other products in the same product class do not exceed the amounts specified below:

	Second calendar quarter 1952	After second calendar quarter 1952
Carbon steel (including wrought iron)	30 tons	60 tons.
Alloy steel (except stainless steel)	8 tons	16 tons.
Stainless steel	200 pounds	200 pounds.
Aluminum	2,000 pounds	40,000 pounds.

Provided, however, That no such producer, unless specifically authorized by NPA, shall avail himself of the self-authorization procedure provided by this paragraph to obtain, during any calendar quarter, a quantity of any one of the above kinds of controlled material which exceeds his base period use of such material in the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class.

(c) Beginning with the third calendar quarter of 1952, a producer of any Class B product which is listed in the Official CMP Class B Product List may obtain priority assistance without submitting an application on Form CMP–4B with respect to such product for any calendar quarter (except for the third calendar quarter of 1952 as provided in paragraph (e) of this section) in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of that product and all other products in the same product class do not exceed the amounts specified below:

Carbon steel (including wrought iron)	60 tons.
Alloy steel (except stainless steel)	16 tons.
Stainless steel	500 pounds.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder	40,000 pounds.
Aluminum	60,000 pounds.

Provided, however, That no such producer, unless specifically authorized by NPA, shall avail himself of the self-authorization procedure provided by this paragraph to obtain, during any calendar quarter, a quantity of any one of the above kinds of controlled material which exceeds 75 percent of his base period use of such material in the manufacture of the same product and all other products in the same product class.

(d) A producer of any Class B product who may and desires to self-authorize under this section but who has already received allotments for the second or a succeeding calendar quarter of 1952 pursuant to application or applications previously submitted for production of such Class B product and others in the same product class, and has placed authorized controlled material orders pursuant to such allotments, must deduct the quantity of orders so placed from the quantity for which he may self-authorize.

(e) A producer of any Class B product who has received allotments of controlled material for the third calendar quarter of 1952 pursuant to an application submitted on Form CMP–4B and whose allotments for one or more kinds of controlled material are less than the quantity for which he otherwise would be entitled to self-authorize for that quarter under this section, may make allotments and place orders for any such material with suppliers for delivery during that quarter only, in an amount equal to the quantity for which he would be entitled to self-authorize, even though his allotments of one or more other kinds of controlled material exceed his self-authorization limits.

(f) A producer of any Class B product who need not submit an application on Form CMP–4B pursuant to this direction shall be subject to all applicable regulations and orders of NPA. For example, he shall make allotments of controlled material to a person producing Class A product components for him in the manner prescribed by CMP Regulation No. 1.

(g) Class A products which a producer has been authorized by NPA to treat as Class B products in accordance with section 24 (b) of CMP Regulation No. 1, and Class A products which are sold to a distributor or for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies in accordance with paragraph (b) or (c) of section 15 of CMP Regulation No. 1, shall be deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction. A producer may obtain priority assistance without filing a Form CMP–4B for any calendar quarter in which his total requirements for delivery from suppliers of each kind of controlled material (including controlled material for Class A product components) for the production of all Class A products which are deemed Class B products for purposes of this direction do not exceed the quantities indicated in this section.

SEC. 4. Use of allotment symbol to obtain controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may obtain priority assistance without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the allotment symbol SU, or such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for controlled materials within the limits set forth in section 3 of this direction. An order so designated, when certified as provided in section 6 of this direction, shall constitute an authorized controlled material order. The quantity of such Class B products which may be produced with controlled materials obtained with the use of the allotment symbol SU, or with such other allotment symbol as NPA may expressly authorize, plus controlled materials properly contained in inventory, shall constitute an authorized production schedule for the purpose of all CMP regulations. A producer who, in accordance with this direction, may place orders for controlled materials in addition to orders which he may place pursuant to allotments which he has received from NPA or from a Claimant Agency, shall use the same allotment number which identifies such allotments, and not the allotment symbol SU, in placing all of his orders for controlled materials.

SEC. 5. Use of rating to obtain production materials other than controlled materials. Any producer of Class B products who, pursuant to this direction, may obtain priority assistance without filing a Form CMP–4B, is authorized to use the rating DO–SU, or such other rating as NPA may expressly authorize, on delivery orders for production materials as defined in CMP Regulation No. 3 in accordance with the provisions of that regulation. A producer who may obtain priority assistance pursuant to this direction during a calendar quarter for which he has received allotments of controlled materials from NPA or from a Claimant Agency, shall use the same DO rating assigned to his authorized production schedule, and not the rating DO–SU, in placing all of his orders for production materials.

SEC. 6. Certification. Every delivery order placed under the provisions hereof shall contain, in the case of an order for controlled materials, the certification required by section 19 of CMP Regulation No. 1, or, in the case of an order for production materials other than controlled materials, the certification required by section 6 of CMP Regulation No. 3.

This direction as amended shall take effect June 18, 1952.

1. Paragraph (c) of section 4 is amended to read as follows:

(c) If the construction project was properly commenced prior to March 6, 1952, it may be continued without authorization, if, for completion, the owner will not require delivery after September 30, 1951, of controlled materials, including materials for the manufacture of Class A products, in excess of the quantities specified in Table II of this regulation for the appropriate category of construction. If delivery of more than these quantities is required, construction cannot be continued unless an authorized construction schedule and related allotment is made for the project.

(b) (1) Any aluminum controlled material in construction and maintenance of all rural and urban highways, etc., under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Public Roads (see Table IV of this regulation), and construction of any building, structure, or project of a type specified in Table I of this regulation (recreational, entertainment, and amusement construction).

(2) In addition to the amount of aluminum allotted for the particular construction project, pursuant to section 8 or Article IV of this regulation, the owner may substitute aluminum for copper, to be used only as a conductor of electric current, but if he does, he must reduce his copper requirements, using the ratio, 1 pound of aluminum to 2 pounds of copper. The right to substitute aluminum for copper as provided in this subparagraph (2), shall apply to all construction covered by this regulation including, but not limited to, construction and maintenance of all rural and urban highways, etc., under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Public Roads (see Table IV of this regulation), and construction of buildings, structures, or projects of a type specified in Table I of this regulation (recreational, entertainment, and amusement construction).

[NPA Order M-2, Interpretation 2 of June 19, 1952]

INT. 2—USE OF SOLE CREPE CUTTINGS

1. This is an interpretation of sections 3 (k) and 7 of NPA Order M-2.

2. Section 3 (k) defines sole crepe as dry natural rubber produced from pale crepe which has not been compounded, vulcanized, or physically attached to any manufactured product.

3. Section 7, among other things, prohibits the use of sole crepe in the manufacture of pneumatic tires, shoes, shoe soles, heels, welting, or wrappers.

4. Cuttings of sole crepe which result from the process of trimming slabs or sheets of sole crepe to size or shape are nevertheless sole crepe.

5. The use of sole crepe cuttings in the manufacture of pneumatic tires, shoes, shoe soles, heels, welting, or wrappers is therefore prohibited by the provisions of section 7 of NPA Order M–2, as amended.

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued under the authority of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this order as amended, consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, has been rendered impracticable because the order as amended affects a large number of different kinds of laboratories performing different functions and engaged in a wide variety of projects.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-71, as amended August 23, 1951, as follows:

1. It distinguishes between laboratories when engaged in direct defense work on specific contracts with the several Federal agencies, and all other laboratories.

2. It provides for the extension of preferential priority assistance for such defense contract laboratories by the use of the B–5 suffix.

3. It removes the dollar limit of self-certification for procurement of products and materials other than controlled materials for defense contract laboratories.

4. It raises the quantity limits for controlled materials procurement by self-certification for all laboratories.

5. It raises the dollar limits of self-certification for procurement of products and materials other than controlled materials for laboratories other than defense contract laboratories. To accomplish these purposes, NPA Order M-71 is revised to read as follows:

O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order provides a procedure for priorities assistance for technical and scientific laboratories in the procurement of needed supplies and materials.

SEC. 2. Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other organized group, and includes any business enterprise, Government agency, or institution. If in 1950, or in his last fiscal year ending prior to March 1, 1951, a person operated more than one laboratory, as defined in paragraph (b) of this section, and maintained for any such laboratory separate records showing expenditures therefor for material, as defined in paragraph (d) of this section, he may elect to treat any one or more of such laboratories as a separate person for the purpose of this order, or to treat his entire laboratory operation within the United States, its territories and possessions, as a person for the purpose of this order. Such election may not be changed without prior written approval of NPA.

(b) "Laboratory" means any person located in the United States, its territories or possessions, who carriers on scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation as his regular business or in the course of his business, and who buys any materials especially for that purpose, even though he does not have a separate department or organization in his company or institution for these activities. The term "laboratory" includes, without limitation, research laboratories, production control laboratories, testing laboratories, analytical laboratories, clinical laboratories, and instructional laboratories. With the exception of production control laboratories which are engaged in testing operations for the purpose of controlling the quality of a product, it does not include any person to the extent that he buys materials for the manufacture of products for commercial sale or public distribution even though the place in which the products are manufactured may be called a laboratory.

(c) "Defense contract laboratory" means a laboratory when and to the extent engaged in the performance of a definite project or projects covered by a contract or contracts awarded by or on behalf of the Department of Defense or the Atomic Energy Commission, bearing the DO rating with the program identification A, B, C, or E, followed by a digit.

(d) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly, or product of any kind. The term includes, but is not limited to, supplies for laboratories, equipment and instruments designed for use in laboratories, and other materials needed to carry on scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation. The term also includes such items as hand tools and safety equipment purchased by a laboratory for sale to its employees for use only in the laboratory activities.

(e) "Delivery order" means any purchase order, contract, or shipping or any other instruction, calling for delivery of any material or product on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of time.

(f) "Controlled materials" means steel, copper, and aluminum, in the forms and shapes indicated in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1.

(g) "Small quantities of controlled materials" means not in excess of the amounts for each material for any one calendar quarter as specified in the list below:

Carbon steel (including wrought iron).	30 tons.
Alloy steel (except stainless steel).	8 tons.
Stainless steel (nickel-bearing).	300 pounds.
Copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, copper wire mill products, copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder.	3,000 pounds.
Aluminum	2,000 pounds

(h) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. Self-certification limitations. No laboratory, or defense contract laboratory, may obtain by self-certification during any one calendar quarter more than its actual minimum requirements but not in excess of the small quantities of controlled materials set forth in section 2 (g) of this order.

SEC. 4. Procurement of small quantities of controlled materials by a defense contract laboratory. A defense contract laboratory engaged in a project or projects covered by a contract or contracts which bear program identification consisting of A, B, C, or E, followed by a digit, may obtain for any one calendar quarter not in excess of the small quantities of controlled materials (as defined in section 2 (g) of this order), needed for carrying out such projects, by using on its delivery orders the allotment symbol X-1, and appending as a suffix the program identification B-5, to read X-1-B-5, and a certification which shall read as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-71.

This certification shall be signed as provided in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2, and shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place a delivery order under the provisions of this order to obtain the products and materials covered by the delivery order. Such orders are authorized controlled material orders for the purpose of all CMP regulations, as provided by section 2 (q) of CMP Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 5. Procurement of products and materials other than controlled materials by a defense contract laboratory. A defense contract laboratory may use on its delivery orders the rating DO-X1 in obtaining, without dollar limitation, products and materials other than controlled materials to the extent required to perform its contracts, awarded by or on behalf of the Department of Defense or the Atomic Energy Commission, bearing the DO rating with the program identification A, B, C, or E, by appending as a suffix the program identification B-5, to read DO-X1-B-5, and a certification which shall read as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-71.

This certification shall be signed as provided in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2, and shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place an order under the provisions of this order to obtain the products or materials covered by the delivery order.

SEC. 6. Procurement of small quantities of controlled materials by a laboratory other than a defense contract laboratory. A laboratory other than a defense contract laboratory may obtain (by self-certification) not in excess of small quantities of controlled materials (as defined in section 2 (g) of this order) which are needed for carrying on scientific or technological investigations, testing, or development or experimentation, by using on its delivery orders the allotment symbol X-1, and a certification which shall read as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-71.

This certification shall be signed as provided in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2, and shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place a delivery order under the provisions of this order to obtain the products or materials covered by the delivery order. Such orders are authorized controlled material orders for the purpose of all CMP regulations, as provided by section 2 (q) of CMP Regulation No. 1. Laboratories other than defense contract laboratories shall not use the suffix B-5.

SEC. 7. Procurement of products and materials other than controlled materials by a laboratory other than a defense contract laboratory. A laboratory other than a defense contract laboratory may obtain products and materials other than controlled materials, which are needed for carrying on scientific or technological investigations, testing, or development or experimentation by using the rating DO-X-1 on its delivery orders therefor, up to the following amounts: For the quarter ending June 30, 1952, a total purchase price not exceeding $3,000, and for each calendar quarter thereafter a total purchase price not exceeding $10,000. A certification shall appear on all such orders to read as follows:

Certified under NPA Order M-71.

This certification shall be signed as provided in section 8 of NPA Reg. 2, and shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place an order under the provisions of this order to obtain the products or materials covered by the delivery order.

SEC. 8. Applications for priorities assistance. (a) A laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, which estimates that its requirements of controlled materials (including the requirements thereof of its suppliers of Class A products, as provided in section 9 of this order) for any one calendar quarter will exceed the small quantities of controlled materials as defined in section 2 (g) of this order, may apply to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., on Form NPAF-109, in triplicate, for an allotment of such materials. NPA may allot controlled materials to such a laboratory by returning a copy of Form NPAF-109 to the laboratory showing the quantities of controlled materials thereby allotted.

(b) A laboratory other than a defense contract laboratory which estimates that its requirements of products and materials other than controlled materials for any one calendar quarter will exceed the quantity allowed by section 7 of this order, may apply to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., on Form NPAF-109, in triplicate, for a quota of such products and materials. NPA may assign a quota of products and materials other than controlled materials to such laboratory by returning a copy of Form NPAF-109 to the laboratory with the allowable quota inserted in the appropriate space on the form.

(c) Where a laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, is allotted controlled materials, or is assigned a quota by NPA as provided by paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, such laboratory is hereby authorized to place on its delivery orders the same allotment symbol and certification in the case of controlled materials as provided by section 6 or 4 of this order and to apply the same rating and certification in the case of products and materials other than controlled materials as provided by section 7 or 5 of this order: Provided, however, That in no case may such laboratory exceed its authorized quota for any one calendar quarter without express permission in writing from NPA.

(d) Forms NPAF-109, applications for priorities assistance, are available at all field offices of the Department of Commerce and may be filed for succeeding calendar quarters at any time after the effective date of this order.

(e) Quotas under this section will be assigned only to laboratories which are engaged in scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation, and then only in cases where NPA determines that the project or projects for which quotas are desired are to be used in the interest of national defense, enhancing national resources, or promoting public health and safety.

(f) Where controlled materials or products (excluding Class A products) or materials other than controlled materials are obtained without priority assistance, the quantities or dollar amounts so obtained shall not apply against the assigned quotas.

SEC. 9. Class A products. (a) In order to obtain Class A products (as defined in section 2 (j) of CMP Regulation No. 1) needed for carrying on scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation, a laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, must ascertain from its supplier the quantity of controlled materials required in the manufacture of the said Class A products. In the event that the quantity of controlled materials required for the manufacture of the said Class A products and the laboratory's own requirements for controlled materials as such, does not exceed the small quantity of controlled materials, as defined in section 2 (g) of this order, the laboratory may make an allotment thereof to its supplier of Class A products in the same manner as prescribed in section 12 of CMP Regulation No. 1 on Form CMP-5 as set forth in Schedule II of CMP Regulation No. 1, which shall be attached to the delivery order.

(b) In cases where an order for Class A products for any one calendar quarter will cause a laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, to exceed the small quantity limitations prescribed in sections 2 (g) and 6 or sections 2 (g) and 4 of this order, a laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, may obtain such products by applying for a quota under section 8 of this order and including in the application Form NPAF-109 the controlled materials requirements of its Class A product suppliers. After a quota is assigned, the laboratory may make an allotment within the limits thereof to its supplier of Class A products in the same manner as prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) In every case covered by paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, a laboratory shall use on its delivery orders the allotment symbol X-1, and the certification provided in section 6 of this order; a defense contract laboratory shall use on its delivery orders, the allotment symbol X-1 and append as a suffix the program identification B-5, to read X-1-B-5, and the certification provided in section 4 of this order.

SEC. 10. Restrictions on priorities assistance. (a) No person may use any of the materials or products obtained under the provisions of this order for purposes other than as required for scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation.

(b) No person may make trial production runs of experimental models which are made with materials or products obtained under this order, unless specifically authorized by NPA on Form NPAF-109.

(c) No person may use any of the materials or products obtained under the provisions of this order for the manufacture of experimental models which are to be distributed for the purpose of promoting sales or creating a consumer demand for the article. However, the provisions of this order may be used to get materials or products for the production of experimental models which are intended to be used only for scientific or technological investigation, testing, or development or experimentation. Such experimental models may be made only in the minimum number and the minimum size required to determine the suitability of the article for commercial production and use.

SEC. 11. Relation to other orders and regulations. (a) This order supplements NPA Reg. 2, which sets forth the basic rules of the priorities system, and provisions of that regulation govern the use of the DO rating herein assigned, except to the extent that the provisions of this order are inconsistent with that regulation.

(b) The provisions of this order do not authorize the use of any materials where such use is prohibited by any other applicable NPA orders or regulations, but any laboratory, or any defense contract laboratory, which uses the DO rating, symbol, or the program identification herein assigned may use any materials or parts so obtained regardless of the limitations on the rate of use stated in any applicable NPA order, except insofar as such order may limit the specifications of a product as to material content. No provision of this order, however, shall supersede any requirement of any other applicable NPA order that any material or part may be obtained only by allocation; nor shall any provision of this order supersede any such provision of CMP regulations, except to the extent that the provisions of this order are inconsistent with such CMP regulations.

(c) Notwithstanding section 13 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 5, a laboratory, or a defense contract laboratory, may either (1) avail itself of the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 5, to procure material required for the maintenance, repair, and operation of the premises, or, (2) procure such materials under the provisions of this order.

(d) No laboratory shall use the DO-X1 rating or the allotment symbol X-1, to obtain any material listed under Schedule I to CMP Regulation No. 5. This restriction, however, shall not apply to defense contract laboratories using the rating DO-X1-B-5, when specifically authorized by this order. No laboratory or defense contract laboratory may use the rating DO-X1, or the allotment symbol X-1, with or without the suffix B-5, to obtain materials listed under Schedule II to CMP Regulation No. 5 or under List A of NPA Reg. 2.

(e) No person may use any of the materials or products obtained under this order for construction as defined in Revised CMP Regulation No. 6.

SEC. 12. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 13. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 14. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M–71.

SEC. 15. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect June 19, 1952.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
By JOHN B. OLVERSON,
Recording Secretary.

[F. R. Doc. 52–6848; Filed, June 19, 1952; 11:41 a. m.]

[NPA Order M–16, as Amended June 19, 1952]

M–16—DISTRIBUTION OF COPPER RAW MATERIALS

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 as amended. In the formulation of this amended order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries has been rendered impracticable because the order affects a large number of different trades and industries.

NPA Order M–16, as last amended December 17, 1951, is hereby further amended to require refiners purchasing copper raw materials for purposes other than production or sale of refined copper to apply to NPA for authorization; to add blister copper to the list of copper raw materials; to require reports from scrap dealers and brokers; and to effect minor editorial changes.

As amended, NPA Order M–16 reads as follows:

SECTION 1. What this order does. The purpose of this order is to regulate the acceptance, delivery, and distribution of all copper raw materials (whether on toll agreements or otherwise) so as to provide an equitable distribution of such materials. It sets forth the classes of persons who may receive such materials without specific authorization from the National Production Authority and the types of copper raw materials such persons may so receive, and provides for application by all other persons to the National Production Authority for specific written authorization. It also limits toll agreements covering scrap and prohibits undue accumulation of scrap.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Copper" means unalloyed copper, including electrolytic copper, fire-refined copper, and all unalloyed copper in any form.

(c) "Copper-base alloy" means any alloy in the composition of which the percentage of copper metal equals or exceeds 40 percent by weight of the metallic content of the alloy. It includes fired and demilitarized cartridge and artillery cases, and all copper-base alloy in any form. It does not include alloyed gold produced in accordance with U. S. Commercial Standard CS 67–33.

(d) "Scrap" means all copper or copper-base alloy materials or objects which are the waste or byproduct of industrial fabrication, or which have been discarded on account of obsolescence, failure, or other reason.

(e) "Copper wire mill product" means uninsulated or insulated wire and cable, whatever the outer protective coverings may be, made from copper or copper-base alloy, and also copper-clad steel wire containing over 20 percent copper by weight, regardless of end use. All copper wire mill products should be measured in terms of pounds of copper content.

(The process of casting includes the removal of gates, risers, and sprues, and sandblasting, tumbling, or dipping, but does not include any further machining or processing. For centrifugal castings the process includes the removal of the rough cut in the inner or outer diameter, or both, before delivery to a customer. Castings include anodes cast in a foundry or by an ingot maker).

(h) "Powder mill products" means copper or copper-base alloy in the form of granular or flake powder.

(i) "Copper raw materials" as used in this order includes the following materials as defined below:

(1) "Refined copper"—Copper metal which has been refined by any process of electrolysis or fire-refining to a grade and in a form suitable for fabrication, such as cathodes, wire bars, ingot bars, ingots, cakes, billets, or other refined shapes. This does not include copper-base alloy ingot, brass mill castings, intermediate shapes, anodes, powder mill products, copper wire mill products, brass mill products, or foundry copper or copper-base alloy products.

(10) "Copper or copper-base alloy shot and waffle"—Shot or waffle produced from copper or copper-base alloy, and to be used in remelting, alloying, deoxidizing, or chemical operations.

(11) "Intermediate shape"—Any product which has been rolled, drawn, or extruded, from refined copper or brass mill castings, and which will be rerolled, redrawn, insulated, or further processed into finished brass mill or copper wire mill products by other producers of copper or copper-base alloy controlled materials.

(12) "Copper precipitates (or cement copper)"—Copper metal precipitated from mine water by contact with iron scrap, tin cans, or iron in other forms.

SEC. 3. Acceptance of delivery of copper raw materials. (a) Commencing August 1, 1951, no person may accept delivery of any copper raw materials, including those which are processed on a toll basis in accordance with section 6 of this order, except railroad engine castings and car journal bearings pursuant to section 6 (b) of this order or except as specifically authorized in writing by the National Production Authority: Provided, however, That a person listed in column (A) of the table set forth at the end of this paragraph may accept delivery of the copper raw materials specified in the corresponding section of column (B) of the table without such written authorization. In those sections of column (B) where no copper raw material is specified but a form is indicated, persons desiring copper raw materials shall apply on such form for written authorization not later than the tenth day of the month preceding the month in which delivery is sought. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, foundries using less than 10,000 pounds of copper raw materials per month shall apply on Form NPAF–83 on or before January 10, 1952, for an allocation for the second and third calendar quarters of 1952, and on or before July 10, 1952, for an allocation for the fourth quarter of 1952 and the first quarter of 1953. SEC. 4. Restrictions on disposal of scrap. (a) No person other than establishments of the United States Army, Navy, or Air Force, such as arsenals, navy yards, gun factories, and depots, or a person who is in the business of producing copper raw materials (such as refineries, ingot makers, copper wire mills, brass mills, or foundries), or a person who qualifies as a "Miscellaneous producer" as listed in Column A under section 3 of this order, shall melt or process any scrap or copper-base alloy-clad steel scrap generated in his plant through fabrication, or accumulated in his operations through obsolescence, except as specifically authorized in writing by the National Production Authority, nor shall he dispose of such materials in any way other than by delivery to a person authorized by this order to accept delivery.

(b) No person shall dispose of any material, the delivery of which he accepted as scrap, other than as scrap, except with the specific authorization of the National Production Authority: Provided, however, That scrap dealers and brokers may sell in each month as usable material a quantity of material that was acquired as scrap and does not in the aggregate exceed 1,000 pounds (copper content).

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall prohibit any public utility from using "as is," in its own operation, copper wire or cable which has become scrap by obsolescence.

SEC. 5. Restrictions on inventory accumulations. (a) Unless specifically authorized by the National Production Authority, no person who generates scrap in his operations through fabrication, manufacture, or obsolescence shall keep on hand more than 30 days' accumulation of scrap or copper-clad or copper-base alloy-clad steel scrap unless such accumulation aggregates less than 2,000 pounds.

(b) No scrap dealer may accept delivery of any kind, grade, or type of scrap if his total inventory of scrap (including inventory not physically located in the dealer's yard or plant) is, or by such receipt would become, in excess of the weight of his total deliveries of scrap during the preceding 60-day period.

(c) The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section shall not apply to the establishments of the United States Army, Navy, or Air Force, such as arsenals, navy yards, gun factories, and depots: Provided, however, That such establishments shall report to the National Production Authority by August 10, 1951, with respect to July, and by the tenth day of each month thereafter with respect to the preceding month, the quantity and type of scrap at each such location.

SEC. 6. Restrictions on toll agreements. (a) Commencing on December 18, 1950, and unless the person delivering or owning the scrap, or the person for whose benefit the conversion, remelting, or other processing of the scrap will be effected, has received the approval of the National Production Authority, no person shall deliver scrap, and no person shall accept such scrap, for converting, remelting, or other processing into electrolytic or fire-refined copper under any existing or future toll agreement, conversion agreement, or other arrangement by which title to the scrap remains vested in the person delivering or owning the scrap, or pursuant to which unalloyed copper in any quantities, equivalent or otherwise, is to be returned to the person delivering or owning the scrap. The provisions of this paragraph will apply with equal effect to any agency relationship which would result in a toll arrangement as described in this paragraph.

(b) Commencing on July 15, 1951, and unless the person delivering or owning the refined copper or scrap, or the person for whose benefit the conversion, remelting, or other processing of the refined copper or scrap will be effected, has received the written approval of the National Production Authority, no person shall deliver refined copper or scrap, and no person shall accept same, for converting, remelting, or other processing into copper wire mill products, brass mill products, foundry products, copper-base alloy ingot, or other miscellaneous products under any existing or future toll agreement, conversion agreement, or other arrangement by which title to the refined copper or scrap remains vested in the person delivering or owning the refined copper or scrap, or pursuant to which copper wire mill products, brass mill products, foundry products, copper-base alloy ingot, or other miscellaneous products in any quantities, equivalent or otherwise, is to be returned to the person delivering or owning the refined copper or scrap. The provisions of this paragraph will apply with equal effect to any agency relationship which would result in a toll arrangement hereinabove described. Nothing contained in this paragraph shall prohibit railroads from converting or having converted for them, railroad engine castings and car journal bearings for their own use.

(c) Persons requesting such approval shall file with the National Production Authority a letter setting forth the names and addresses of the parties to any existing or proposed toll or conversion agreement; the kind, grade, and form of the refined copper or scrap involved; the tonnage of the refined copper or scrap and the estimated tonnage of the electrolytic or fire-refined copper, copper wire mill products, brass mill products, foundry products, copper-base alloy ingot, or other miscellaneous products resulting; the estimated rate and dates of delivery of such copper or copper products; the length of time such agreement or other similar agreement between the same parties has been in force; the duration of the agreement; the purpose for which such copper or copper products are to be used; and such other information as the applicant may wish to submit.

SEC. 7. Authorizations and directives. The National Production Authority may issue authorizations or directives from time to time with respect to the delivery, disposal, and conversion of copper raw materials. Such authorizations and directives shall be complied with by the recipients thereof.

SEC. 8. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that any provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 9. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior

[Circ. No. 1821]

PART 191—GENERAL REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO MINERAL PERMITS, LEASES, AND LICENSES

PART 192—OIL AND GAS LEASES

PART 200—MINERAL DEPOSITS IN ACQUIRED LANDS AND UNDER RIGHTS-OF-WAY

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments of certain sections of Part 200 are necessary to show in that part a change from the practice of issuing a noncompetitive lease for acquired lands on a form separate and distinct from the lease application, to a procedure by which a standardized noncompetitive oil and gas lease offer form for acquired lands becomes a lease when signed on behalf of the United States. The change will make the handling of noncompetitive leases for acquired lands substantially similar to that for public domain lands and will eliminate some of the steps now necessary in issuing such leases. In addition, certain minor changes are being made in Parts 191 and 192. The amendments of Parts 191 and 192 will become effective 30 days after date of issuance hereof by the Secretary of the Interior and the amendments to Part 200 will become effective 60 days after that date except as provided in § 200.11. The amendments are as follows:

1. Sections 191.3 and 191.6 are amended to read:

§ 191.3 Who may hold leases and permits. Mineral prospecting permits and mineral leases may be issued only to (a) citizens of the United States; (b) associations of such citizens; (c) corporations organized under the laws of the United States or of any State or Territory thereof; or (d) in the case of coal, oil, oil shale, or gas, municipalities. A mineral lease or permit will not be issued to a minor but oil and gas leases may be issued to legal guardians or trustees of minors in their behalf.

§ 191.6 Special stipulations for lands where surface control is under jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture or for lands in reclamation projects. Offerors for noncompetitive oil and gas leases and applicants for permits, leases, and licenses for lands the surface control of which is under the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture will be required to consent to the inclusion therein of the stipulation on Form 4–216. Where the land has been withdrawn for reclamation purposes the offeror or applicant may be required to consent to the inclusion of a stipulation on Form 4–467 if the land is potentially irrigable, or Form 4–467 (a) if the land is within the flow limits of a reservoir site, or Form 4–467 (b) if the land is within the drainage area of a constructed reservoir. Other conditions may be imposed, if deemed necessary, to protect land withdrawn for reclamation purposes.

(Sec. 32, 41 Stat. 450, sec. 1, 44 Stat. 301; 30 U. S. C. 189, 271)

2. Sections 192.42 (b), (d), (e) and (l) and § 192.141 (a) (1) and (b) are amended to read:

§ 192.42 Offer to lease and issuance of lease. * * *

(b) Five copies of Form 4–1158, or valid reproduction thereof, for each offer to lease shall be filed in the proper land office, or for land or deposits in States in which there are no land offices, with the Director of the Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D. C. If less than five copies are filed, the offer will not be rejected, if not otherwise subject to rejection, until 30 days from filing have elapsed and if during that period the remaining required copies are filed, the offeror's priority will date from the date of the first filing. If the additional copies are not filed within the 30 day period, the offer will be rejected and returned and will afford no priority to the offeror. Should the additional copies be filed after the 30 day period but before the offer has been rejected, the offeror will have a priority as of the later filing date. The offer must be filed on a form in effect at the date of filing. For the purpose of this part an offer will be considered filed when it is received in the proper office during business hours.

* * * * *

(d) Each offer must be filled in on a typewriter or printed plainly in ink and signed in ink by the offeror or the offeror's duly authorized attorney in fact or agent. An offer may be made by a legal guardian or trustee in his name for the benefit of a non-alien minor or minors but an offer may not be filed by a minor. Each offer must describe the lands by legal subdivision, section, township, and range, if the lands are surveyed, and if not surveyed, by a metes and bounds description connected with a corner of the public land surveys by course and distance and must cover only lands entirely within a six-mile square. Each offer must be for an area of not more than 2,560 acres, except where the rule of approximation applies

(e) Each offer, when first filed, shall be accompanied by:

(1) A filing fee of $10 which will be retained as a service charge, except as provided in paragraph (g) of this section, even though the offer should be rejected or withdrawn in whole or in part.

(2) Full payment of the first year's rental based on the total acreage if known, and if not known, on the basis of 40 acres for each smallest legal subdivision.

(3) Except in a case where an officer of a corporation signs an offer on behalf of the corporation (as to which see paragraph (f) (5) of this section), evidence of the authority of the attorney in fact or agent to sign the offer and lease, if the offer is signed by such attorney or agent on behalf of the offeror; and in addition, if such offeror is an individual, a statement over the offeror's signature setting forth the offeror's citizenship and whether the offeror's direct and indirect interests in oil and gas leases, applications, and offers therefor in the same State exceed 15,360 chargeable acres.

(4) If the offer is signed by an attorney in fact or agent, or if any attorney in fact or agent has been authorized to act on behalf of the offeror with respect to the offer or lease, separate statements over the signatures of the attorney in fact or agent and the offeror stating whether or not there is any agreement or understanding between them, or with any other person, either verbal or written by which the attorney in fact or agent or such other person has received, or is to receive, any interest in the lease when issued, including royalty interest or interest in an operating agreement under the lease giving full details of the agreement or understanding, if it is a verbal one; the statement must be accompanied by a copy of any such written agreement or understanding; and if such an agreement or understanding exists, the statement of the attorney in fact or agent should set forth the citizenship of the attorney in fact or the agent or other person and whether his direct and indirect interests in oil and gas leases, applications, and offers therefor in the same State exceed 15,360 acres. This requirement does not apply in cases in which the attorney in fact or agent is a member of an unincorporated association (including a partnership) or is an officer of a corporation and has an interest in the offer or the lease to be issued solely by reason of the fact that he is a member of the association or a stockholder in the corporation.

(5) If the offer is made by a guardian or trustee, a certified copy of the court order authorizing him to act as such and to fulfill in behalf of the minor or minors all obligations of the lease or arising thereunder; his statement as to the citizenship and holdings of each of the minors; and a similar statement as to his own citizenship and holdings under the leasing act, including his holdings for the benefit of other minors.

(6) If the offer is made by an association (including a partnership), it must be accompanied by a certified copy of the articles of association and the same showing as to the citizenship and holdings of its members as required of an individual.

* * * * *

(l) If an offeror dies before the lease is issued, the lease will be issued to the executor or administrator of the estate if probate of the estate has not been completed, and if probate has been completed, or is not required, to the heirs or devisees, provided there is filed in all cases an offer to lease in compliance with the requirements of this section which will be effective as of the effective date of the original application or lease offer filed by the deceased. If there are any minor heirs or devisees, such offer can only be made by their legal guardian or trustee in his name. Each such offer must be accompanied by the following information:

(1) Where probate of the estate has not been completed:

(i) Evidence that the person who as executor or administrator submits the offer, and bond form if a bond is required, has authority to act in that capacity and to sign the offer and bond forms.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each heir or devisee, similar to that required of an offeror under paragraph (e) (4) of this section concerning citizenship and holdings.

(iii) Evidence that the heirs or devisees are the heirs or devisees of the deceased offeror and are the only heirs or devisees of the deceased.

(2) Where the executor or administrator has been discharged or no probate proceedings are required:

(i) A certified copy of the will or decree of distribution, if any, and if not, a statement signed by the heirs that they are the only heirs of the offeror and the provisions of the law of the deceased's last domicile showing that no probate is required.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each of the heirs or devisees with reference to holdings and citizenship, similar to that required under paragraph (e) (4) of this section, except that if the heir or devisee is a minor, the statement must be over the signature of the guardian or trustee.

§ 192.141 Requirements for filing of transfers. (a) (1) Except as to assignments of record title, all instruments of transfer of a lease or of an interest therein, including assignments of working or royalty interests, and operating agreements, and subleases, must be filed for approval within 90 days from the date of final execution and must contain all of the terms and conditions agreed upon by the parties thereto, together with a statement over the transferee's own signature with respect to citizenship and interests held, similar to that required of an offeror under § 192.42 (e) (4), (5) and (f).

(b) Where an attorney in fact, in behalf of the holder of a lease, operating agreement or of a royalty interest in a producing lease, signs an assignment of the agreement, lease, or interest, or signs the application for approval, there must be furnished evidence of the authority of the attorney to execute the assignment or application, and the statement required by § 192.42 (e) (3).

* * * * *

(Sec. 32, 41 Stat. 450; 30 U. S. C. 189)

3. Sections 200.4, 200.5, and 200.8 are amended and a new § 200.11 is added, to read:

§ 200.4 Other regulations applicable; lease forms, applications, and offers. Except as otherwise specifically provided in §§ 200.1 to 200.36, inclusive, the regulations prescribed under the mineral leasing laws, and contained in Parts 70, 71, and 191 to 198, inclusive, of this chapter, shall govern the disposal and development of minerals under the act to the extent that they are not inconsistent with the provisions of the act. All oil and gas leases, other than those issued under § 200.8, shall be issued on Form 4–1097. Separate applications or offers must be made for public lands and acquired lands.

§ 200.5 Lease or permit applications, excepting noncompetitive oil and gas offers; supplemental information required; place of filing. (a) In addition to the information required by the appropriate regulations, referred to in § 200.4, each application for a lease or permit, except noncompetitive oil and gas offers, must contain (1) a separate statement of the applicant's interests, direct and indirect, in leases or permits for similar mineral deposits, or in applications therefor, on federally owned acquired lands in the same State, identifying by serial number the records where such interests may be found, and (2) a complete and accurate description of the lands for which a lease or permit is desired. If the lands are surveyed according to the government's rectangular system, they should be described by legal subdivision, section, township and range, and if not so surveyed, by a metes and bounds description connected with a corner of the public land surveys by course and distance or described in a manner consistent with the description in the deed to the United States. The application should name the governmental agency having administrative control over the surface use of the land and identify the unit or project, if any, of which the land is a part. If practicable, the name of the person who conveyed the land to the United States, the date of the conveyance, and the place, liber, and page number of its official recordation should be given.

(b) All applications under this section shall be filed with the Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 200.8 Offer to lease and issuance of lease. (a) To obtain a noncompetitive oil and gas lease, an offer to accept such a lease must be made on Form 4–1196, "Offer to Lease and Lease for Oil and Gas: Noncompetitive Acquired Lands Lease,"[1] or on unofficial copies of that form in current use, provided that the copies are exact reproductions on one page, size 8½ x 14 inches, of both sides of the official approved one page form, and are without additions, omissions, or other changes or advertising, except that the copies shall include the following statement above the signature of the offeror: "This form is submitted in lieu of official Form 4–1196 and contains all of the provisions thereof as of the date of filing of this offer." In addition, the name and address of the printer or other party issuing unofficial reproductions of the official form shall be printed thereon. Form 4–1196, or a valid reproduction of the official form, will also constitute the lease, when signed by the appropriate official of the Bureau of Land Management.

(b) Seven copies of Form 4–1196, or valid reproduction thereof, for each offer to lease shall be filed in the proper land office.[2] The offer must be filed on a form in effect at the date of filing. For the purpose of this part an offer will be considered filed when it is received in the proper office during business hours. If less than seven copies of an offer are filed, the offer will not be rejected, if not otherwise subject to rejection, until 30 days from filing have elapsed and if during that period the remaining copies are filed, the offeror's priority will date from the date of the first filing. If the additional copies are not filed within the 30 days, the offer will be rejected and returned and will afford no priority to the offeror. Should the additional copies be filed after the 30 day period but before the offer has been rejected, the

[1] Filed as part of the original document.

[2] Since there are no land offices in the following States, offers for lands or deposits in Nebraska and Kansas shall be filed in the Land and Survey Office, Cheyenne, Wyoming; those for North and South Dakota, in the Land Office, Billings, Montana; those for Oklahoma and Texas, with the Regional Administrator, Region V, Albuquerque, New Mexico; and those for all other States east of the States named above, shall be filed with the Regional Administrator, Region VI, Bureau of Land Management, Washington 25, D. C.

offeror will have a priority as of the later filing date.

(c) The offeror shall mark one of the copies first filed at the top with the word "original". If that is not done, the manager or other appropriate official of the Bureau of Land Management will so mark one copy. If there is any variation in the land descriptions among the seven copies, the copy marked "original" shall govern as to the lands covered by the lease. Each offer shall give the name of the governmental agency having administrative control over the surface use of the land and identify the unit of the project involved, if any, and shall be accompanied by either a certified copy of the deed as recorded conveying the land to the United States, or a certified copy of so much of that deed as pertains to the land described in the offer; by a certified copy of any instrument of record containing a provision affecting the oil and gas in the land; and by the certificate of the county recorder or other official having custody of the records of deeds, or the certificate of a duly licensed abstractor, either that no such instrument is shown on the records, or identifying by date and names of the parties such instruments as may be shown on the records and certifying that no other such instruments are shown on the records. If such information and evidence do not accompany the offer, it will not be rejected, if not otherwise subject to rejection, until 30 days from the date of filing has elapsed and if during that period such information and evidence are filed, the offeror's priority will date from the date of the filing of the offer. If such information and evidence are not filed within the 30 days, the offer will be rejected and returned and will afford no priority to the offeror. Should the information and evidence be filed after the 30 days but before the offer has been rejected, the offeror will have a priority as of the later filing date.

(d) Each offer must be filled in on a typewriter or printed plainly in ink and signed in ink by the offeror or the offeror's duly authorized attorney in fact or agent. An offer may be made by a legal guardian or trustee in his name for the benefit of a non-alien minor or minors but an offer may not be filed by a minor. Each offer must describe the lands by legal subdivision, section, township and range, and State, if the lands have been surveyed according to the government rectangular system, and if not so surveyed, by a metes and bounds description connected with a corner of the public land survey by course and distance or described in a manner consistent with the description in the deed to the United States. The offer must cover only lands entirely within a six mile square, and must be for an area of not more than 2,560 acres, except where the rule of approximation applies.

(1) In addition, an offer for government owned oil and gas deposits in land to which the act of September 6, 1950 (64 Stat. 769; 7 U. S. C., 1033), applies, must include and describe all of the land as it is described in the deed to the present owner to the extent that the government has an interest in such deposits and must not include any other land, even though held by the same owner. Such an offer must be accompanied by a statement from the County Supervisor or other local representative of the Farmers Home Administration or other agency of the Department of Agriculture, having jurisdiction over the land indicating that the land embraced in the offer is subject to the act of September 6, 1950, and is described in accordance with the deed to the present owner. When an offer for deposits in land subject to the act of September 6, 1950, is not accompanied by the above statement, or describes lands contrary to the above limitations, then if such statement or the amended or additional offers necessary to comply with the above requirements are received within 30 days from the filing of the original offer, the offeror's priority will date from the filing of the original offer. If such documents are filed after the expiration of the 30 days but before rejection of the original offer, the offeror's priority will date from the filing of such documents.

(2) If the United States does not own a 100 percent interest in the oil and gas in any particular tract, the offeror must give the percentage of government ownership and also the information required by § 200.7 (d). If the offer is for lands in which the government has only a future interest in the oil and gas, the offeror must file the additional showing required by § 200.7 (b) and execute the supplemental agreement required by § 200.7 (c).

(e) Each offer, when first filed, shall be accompanied by:

(1) A filing fee of $10 which will be retained as a service charge even though the offer should be rejected or withdrawn either in whole or in part.

(2) Full payment of the first year's rental based on the total acreage if known, and if not known, on the basis of 40 acres for each smallest legal subdivision, or on the computed acreage included within a metes and bounds description.

(3) Except in a case where an officer of a corporation signs an offer on behalf of the corporation (as to which see paragraph (f) (5) of this section), evidence of the authority of the attorney in fact or agent to sign the offer and lease, if the offer is signed by such attorney or agent on behalf of the offeror; and in addition, if such offeror is an individual, a statement over the offeror's signature setting forth the offeror's citizenship and whether the offeror's direct and indirect interests in oil and gas leases, applications, and offers therefor in the same State exceed 15,360 chargeable acres.

(4) If the offer is signed by an attorney in fact or agent, or if any attorney in fact or agent has been authorized to act on behalf of the offeror with respect to the offer or lease, separate statements over the signatures of the attorney in fact or agent and the offeror stating whether or not there is any agreement or understanding between them, or with any other person, either verbal or written by which the attorney in fact or agent or such other person has received, or is to receive, any interest in the lease when issued, including royalty interest or interest in an operating agreement under the lease giving full details of the agreement or understanding, if it is a verbal one; the statement must be accompanied by a copy of any such written agreement or understanding; and if such an agreement or understanding exists, the statement of the attorney in fact or agent should set forth the citizenship of the attorney in fact or the agent or other person and whether his direct and indirect interests in oil and gas leases, applications, and offers therefor in the same State exceed 15,360 acres. This requirement does not apply in cases in which the attorney in fact or agent is a member of an unincorporated association (including a partnership) or is an officer of a corporation and has an interest in the offer or the lease to be issued solely by reason of the fact that he is a member of the association or a stockholder in the corporation.

(5) If the offer is made by a guardian or trustee, a certified copy of the court order authorizing him to act as such and to fulfill in behalf of the minor or minors all obligations of the lease or arising thereunder; his statement as to the citizenship and holdings of each of the minors; and a similar statement as to his own citizenship and holdings under the leasing act, including his holdings for the benefit of other minors.

(6) If the offer is made by an association (including a partnership), it must be accompanied by a certified copy of the articles of association and the same showing as to the citizenship and holdings of its members as required of an individual.

(f) If the offeror is a corporation, the offer must be accompanied by:

(1) A certified copy of the articles of incorporation, or appropriate reference by land office serial number of the record of the Bureau in which such a copy already has been filed, with statement as to any subsequent amendments.

(2) A statement showing the percentage of each class of the corporation's stock, and the percentage of all of its stock, which is owned or controlled by or on behalf of persons whom the corporation knows to be, or who the corporation has reason to believe are, aliens or who have addresses outside of the United States, indicating which classes of stock have voting rights.

(3) A list of the names and addresses of aliens or stockholders living outside of the United States, if more than 10 percent of the voting stock, or of all of the stock, is owned or controlled by, or on behalf of such persons, the list to show the amount and class of stock held by each, and to the extent known to the corporation, or which can be reasonably ascertained by it, the facts as to the citizenship of each such person.

(4) A separate showing as to the citizenship and holdings of any stockholder owning or controlling at least 20 percent of the stock of the corporation.

(5) A copy either of the minutes of a meeting of the board of directors or of the bylaws indicating that the officer signing the offer to lease has authority to do so, or in lieu of such a copy, a certificate of the secretary or the assistant secretary of the corporation to that effect, over the corporate seal.

(g) An offer will be rejected and returned to the offeror, and it will confer no priority if it does not meet the requirements of the regulations in Parts 191, 192 of this chapter, and this part, and the instructions printed on the lease form, and is not accompanied by the payments and documents required by such regulations and instructions, except that where a corporation has previously filed in any land office any of the documents required by paragraph (f) of this section or an offeror has previously filed the information and title evidence required by paragraph (c) of this section, a reference to that file may be made in lieu of the document, information, and title evidence together with a statement as to any changes therein since they were filed. When an offer is rejected under this paragraph, the offeror will be given an opportunity to file a new offer within 30 days from the date of service of the rejection, and the fee and rental payments on the old offer will be applied to the new offer if the new offer shows the serial and receipt numbers of the old offer. The corrected offer will retain the same serial number, but the effective date of priority will be as of the date such new offer is received.

(h) An offer may not be withdrawn, either in whole or in part, unless the withdrawal is received by the land office before the lease, an amendment of the lease, Form 4–1163, or a separate lease, whichever covers the land described in the withdrawal, has been signed on behalf of the United States.

(i) The United States will indicate its acceptance of the lease offer, in whole or in part, and the issuance of the lease by the signature of the appropriate officer thereof in the space provided. An executed copy of the lease will be mailed to the offeror at the address of record.

(j) If any of the land described in item 2 of the offer is open to oil and gas filing when the offer is filed but is omitted from the lease for any reason and thereafter becomes available for leasing to the offeror, the original lease will be amended to include the omitted land unless before the issuance of the amendment to Form 4–1196 the land office receives a withdrawal of the offer as to such land or an election to receive a separate lease in lieu of an amendment. Such election shall consist of a signed statement by the offeror asking for a separate lease accompanied by a new offer on Form 4–1196 describing the remaining lands in his original offer, executed pursuant to this section. The new offer will have the same priority as the old offer. It need not be accompanied by the filing fee. The rental payment held on the original offer will be applied to the new offer. The rental and the lease term for the land added by such an amendment shall be the same as if the land had been included in the original lease when it was issued. If a separate lease is issued, it will be dated in accordance with § 192.40a.

(k) A transfer of the whole interest in all or any part of the offer may be approved as an incident to the transfer, by assignment or otherwise, of the whole interest in all or any part of the lease. A transfer of an undivided fractional interest in the whole offer may be approved as an incident to the transfer of an undivided fractional interest in the whole lease. An application for approval of a transfer of an offer must include a statement that the transferee agrees to be bound by the offer to the extent that it is transferred and must be signed by the transferee. In other instances transfers of an offer will not be approved prior to the issuance of a lease for the lands or deposits covered by the said transfers.

(l) If an offeror dies before the lease is issued, the lease will be issued to the executor or administrator of the estate if probate of the estate has not been completed, and if probate has been completed, or is not required, to the heirs or devisees, provided there is filed in all cases an offer to lease in compliance with the requirements of this section which will be effective as of the effective date of the original application or lease offer filed by the deceased. If there are any minor heirs or devisees, such offer can only be made by their legal guardian or trustee in his name. Each such offer must be accompanied by the following information:

(1) Where probate of the estate has not been completed:

(i) Evidence that the person who as executor or administrator submits the offer and bond form, if a bond is required, has authority to act in that capacity and to sign the offer and bond forms.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each heir or devisee, similar to that required of an offeror under paragraph (e) (4) of this section concerning citizenship and holdings.

(iii) Evidence that the heirs or devisees are the heirs or devisees of the deceased offeror and are the only heirs of devisees of the deceased.

(2) Where the executor or administrator has been discharged or no probate proceedings are required:

(i) A certified copy of the will or decree of distribution, if any, and if not, a statement signed by the heirs that they are the only heirs of the offeror and the provisions of the law of the deceased's last domicile showing that no probate is required.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each of the heirs or devisees with reference to holdings and citizenship, similar to that required under paragraph (e) (4) of this section, except that if the heir or devisee is a minor, the statement must be over the signature of the guardian or trustee.

§ 200.11 Pending applications; use of new Form 4–1196. Applications filed prior to the effective date of the amended regulations in this part will be processed in accordance with the regulations in effect immediately prior to such date and leases will continue to be issued in such cases on Form 4–1097, except:

(a) An applicant may, without losing his priority, file Form 4–1196 for the land described in his application, pursuant to § 200.8, but without paying the required filing fee, if the filing fee has already been paid.

(b) Where required to do so, an applicant who has an application pending when the regulations in this part become effective must within 30 days from receipt of notice, file pursuant to the regulations Form 4–1196, without another filing fee if such fee has already been paid, covering the same land, and identify by office and serial number his pending application. Such refiling will retain the priority of the original application, if made within the 30-day period. The application of those who fail to refile within the 30 days will be closed without further notice upon the expiration of that period, unless prior to the rejection of the application and after the expiration of the 30 days a refiling is made, in which case the applicant's priority will date from the date of refiling.

(c) From the date of issuance of the amended regulations in this part until their effective date, Form 4–1196, or unofficial copies thereof, which are exact reproductions on one page of both sides of the official approved one page form, if available, may be filed instead of filing new applications under the prior regulations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 244.70 to 244.92 issued under 28 Stat. 635, 50 Stat. 874; 43 U. S. C. 956.

§ 244.70 Statutory authority. (a) The act of January 21, 1895 (28 Stat. 635, 43 U. S. C. 956), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior under such regulations as may be fixed by him to permit the use of rights-of-way over the public lands of the United States, for tram roads to the extent of 50 feet on each side of the center line of the tram road, by any citizen or association of citizens of the United States engaged in the business, among others, of cutting timber. The act of January 21, 1895, is made applicable to the revested Oregon and California railroad and the reconveyed Coos Bay wagon road grant lands by the acts of June 9, 1916 (39 Stat. 218) and February 26, 1919 (40 Stat. 1179), respectively.

(b) The act of August 28, 1937 (50 Stat. 874), provides for the conservation and the management of the said revested and reconveyed lands and authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make rules and regulations in furtherance of such purposes.

§ 244.71 Statement of policy. (a) Timber lands of the United States administered by the Bureau of Land Management in western Oregon, western Washington and northwestern California and intermingled and adjacent timber lands in other ownerships during the course of the years 1950 and 1951 have been visited by wind storms of unusually high velocity which have caused extensive wind throw of standing timber. In addition, fires of unusual intensity and magnitude during the summer of the year 1951 burned through extensive acreages of standing timber in the area. The timber thus killed by wind and fire is subject to considerable deterioration with resulting loss of a valuable natural resource if not promptly salvaged. Moreover, such extensive areas of dead and damaged timber have already furnished Douglas fir beetles with breeding places sufficiently favorable to convert an endemic infestation to epidemic proportions, which results in further deterioration of damaged timber and provides a serious threat of loss and destruction to green timber presently unaffected by such infestations. All of the timber thus killed by wind, fire or insects creates conditions of high fire hazard. Reduction of such hazard, the elimination of the epidemic insect infestation, and the recovery of the resource values in the dead and damaged timber requires the immediate harvesting of the affected trees. This, in turn, necessitates ready opportunity for access to such affected timber. Therefore, in view of the extraordinary, immediate, emergency situation, short-term emergency access permits will be issued in accordance with the terms of §§ 244.70 to 244.92 to authorize use of lands of the United States administered by the Bureau of Land Management for the purpose of access to such timber salvage operations. Such permits will not authorize the use of such lands for the removal of other timber; long-term access to any timber controlled by an applicant, whether salvage or healthy, may be obtained over lands administered by Bureau pursuant to 43 CFR 115.154 et seq.; or 244.39 to 244.40.

(b) An emergency access permit will authorize access to conduct a salvage operation for a term of not more than one year, with additional time allowed for necessary road construction. No extension except as authorized pursuant to § 244.78, and no renewal of any such permit will be granted nor will more than one such permit be issued respecting any specific salvage operation.

§ 244.72 Definitions. Except as the context may otherwise indicate, as the terms are used in §§ 244.70 to 244.92:

(a) "Bureau" means Bureau of Land Management.

(b) "Regional Administrator" means the Regional Administrator, Region I (in the case of Oregon and Washington), or Region II (in the case of California), Bureau of Land Management, or his authorized representative.

(c) "District Forester" means a district forester of the Bureau who is stationed in western Oregon, western Washington or northwestern California.

(d) "Tramroads" means tramways and wagon or motor truck roads to be used in connection with logging and the manufacturing of lumber.

(e) "Salvage area" means any timber land in western Oregon, western Washington or northwestern California either (1) within the exterior boundary of an area burned by a forest fire where the resulting fire hazard has not been abated, or (2) containing merchantable windthrown trees, or (3) which contains standing trees killed by or dying from Douglas fir beetle infestation.

(f) "Salvage operation" means the removal of trees that, in the judgment of the Regional Administrator, are in a salvage area and subject to rapid deterioration because they have been killed or injured by some catastrophic natural cause such as wind, fire, disease or insect infestation, and of timber which, in the judgment of the Regional Administrator, is susceptible to insects. A salvage operation may include, in addition, the removal of healthy intermingled and adjacent trees, provided:

(1) Either the total volume of the trees to be removed does not exceed 100,000 board feet, or

(2) Such healthy trees are, in the judgment of the Regional Administrator, physically located so that their removal is required by normal logging practices, or their removal is economically necessary to make a minimum practical logging operation; for a salvage operation in which logs can be yarded with crawler type tractors, the volume of such healthy timber shall not exceed 35 percent of the total volume to be removed, and for a salvage operation in which logs must be yarded with donkey engine the volume of the healthy timber may not exceed 65 percent of the total volume to be removed.

(g) "Timber susceptible to insects" means healthy and drought weakened living trees most immediately adjacent to and not exceeding in number the currently critically infested trees which, in turn, are immediately adjacent to an area covered with trees which are dead or dying as the result of an attack by Douglas fir beetles.

(h) "Critically infested tree" means a tree infested with Douglas fir beetles to such an extent that such infestation may be reasonably expected to cause the death of such tree.

(i) "Emergency access permit" means a permit issued pursuant to §§ 244.70 to 244.92.

(j) "Management" means police protection, fire presuppression and suppression, inspection, cruising, reforesting, thinning, stand improvement, inventorying, surveying, construction and maintenance of improvements, disposal of land, the control of forest insects, pests and disease, and other activities of a similar nature.

(k) "Licensee" means with respect to any road or right-of-way, any person who is authorized to remove forest products derived from a salvage operation conducted on lands of the United States. A licensee is not an agent of the United States.

(l) "Direct control" of a road, right-of-way, or land, by an applicant for an emergency access permit, means that such applicant has authority to permit the United States and its licensees to use such road, right-of-way or land in accordance with §§ 244.70 to 244.92.

(m) "Indirect control" of a road, right-of-way, or land, by an applicant for an emergency access permit means that such road, right-of-way, or land is not directly controlled by him but is subject to use by him or by:

(1) A principal, disclosed or undisclosed, of the applicant; or

(2) A beneficiary of any trust or estate administered or established by the applicant; or

(3) Any person having or exercising the right to designate the immediate destination of the timber to be transported over the right-of-way for which application is made; or

(4) Any person who at any time has owned, or controlled the disposition of the timber to be transported over the right-of-way applied for, and during the 24 months preceding the filing of the application has disposed of such ownership or control to the applicant or his predecessor, under an agreement reserving or conferring upon the grantor the right to share directly or indirectly in the proceeds realized upon the grantee's disposal to third persons of the timber or products derived therefrom or the right to reacquire ownership or control of all or any part of the timber prior to the time when it undergoes its first mechanical alteration from the form of logs; or

(5) Any person who stands in such relation to the applicant that there is liable to be absence of arm's length bargaining in transactions between them relating to such road, rights-of-way, or lands.

§ 244.73 Nature of emergency access permit. (a) An emergency access permit does not constitute an easement and does not confer any right on the permittee to any material for construction or other purposes. An emergency access permit is merely a non-exclusive license to transport across lands of the United States administered by the Bureau of Land Management and specified in such emergency access permit, forest products derived from a specified salvage operation.

(b) An emergency access permit, when issued, is intended only to afford to the permittee access necessary for an immediate salvage operation in timber which is to be specifically described in such emergency access permit. Such an emergency access permit is not intended to afford access for the harvesting of timber other than that described in such permit. Its sole function is as an aid to conservation in the immediate removal of timber, of the type described in § 244.72 (f), which constitutes a present menace to healthy timber in the area. Such emergency access permit is not intended, therefore, to accomodate logging activities of a continuing nature. Where there is more than one salvage operation to be conducted on land tributary to the same road or same road system, an emergency access permit may be issued to embrace any one or more of such operations, or a separate emergency access permit may be issued for each such operation. But with respect to any single salvage operation, no more than one emergency access permit will be issued and no renewal or extension thereof will be granted except an extension for road construction purposes, pursuant to § 244.78: Provided, however, That if a permittee's access to a salvage operation is suspended by virtue of an award of arbitrators made pursuant to § 244.81, or pursuant to an agreement, approved by the Regional Administrator, with a licensee, the term of the permit shall be extended by adding thereto a period equal to the period of such suspension.

§ 244.74 Filing of application. An application for an emergency access permit must be submitted in duplicate on Form 4–1213 and filed in the office of the appropriate district forester. Application forms will be furnished by the Regional Administrator and the district foresters on request. No application will be received for filing subsequent to one year from the date when §§ 244.70 to 244.92 are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 244.75 Contents of application. (a) An individual applicant and each member of any unincorporated association which is an applicant must state in the application whether he is a native born or a naturalized citizen of the United States. Naturalized citizens will be required to furnish evidence of naturalization pursuant to the provisions of Part 137 of this chapter.

(b) An application by an unincorporated association must disclose the names of all the members of such association.

(c) An application by a private corporation must include the statement of the president, vice president or secretary of such corporation that the corporation is authorized to transact business within the State involved.

(d) Where the application is for an emergency access permit across lands over any portion of which the applicant proposes to construct a road, the application must be accompanied by two copies of a sketch map showing the approximate route of the proposed road. The Regional Administrator, where he finds it to be in the public interest, may require an applicant to furnish a more accurate map showing the survey of the proposed road and the specifications to which the applicant proposes to construct such road.

(e) Where the application is for the use of an existing road, the applicant must furnish a map adequate to show the location of such road, together with a statement of the nature of any improvement he proposes to make on such road.

(f) Every application must also be accompanied by a diagram indicating the roads and rights-of-way which form an integral part of the road system with which the requested route of access will connect, the portion of such road systems which the applicant directly controls within the meaning of § 244.72 (k), the portions thereof which the applicant indirectly controls within the meaning of § 244.72 (l), and the portions thereof as to which the applicant has no control within the meaning of such sections. As to the portions over which the applicant has indirect or no control, he must furnish a statement showing, for the two years preceding the date of the filing of the application, the date and nature of any change in his control. The diagram shall also contain the name of the person whom the applicant believes directly controls any portion of such road system which the applicant does not directly control. The map must bear the certification of the applicant that the facts as to control as set forth in such map are true to the best of the applicant's information and belief.

§ 244.76 Reciprocal road use agreement; recordation. (a) Unless the regional administrator finds that use of the road system (including both existing roads and lands over which such roads are practically able to be extended, for authority to traverse any portion of which system the applicant seeks an emergency access permit) will not be convenient or economically necessary for access to and the removal of forest products from salvage operation on lands administered by the Bureau, the regional administrator, as an condition precedent to the issuance of such permit, shall require the applicant:

(1) As to such portions of such road system as are directly controlled by the applicant, to grant to the United States and its licensees rights of use; and

(2) As to such portions of such road system as are indirectly controlled by the applicant, either to obtain rights of use for the United States and its licensees or to make a showing satisfactory to the regional administrator that he has negotiated therefor in good faith and to waive to the United States, its licensees and permittees any exclusive or restrictive rights he might have to such portions of the road system as are indirectly controlled by him.

(b) Rights of use granted to the United States and its licensees under paragraph (a) of this section shall be for a period of time to be fixed pursuant to § 244.78 and for the purposes set forth in § 244.77. Where the United States or its licensees exercises such right of use, the permittee shall be entitled to receive compensation therefor to be fixed in accordance with the standards and procedures set forth in §§ 244.79 or 244.80 and 244.82.

(c) Where the regional administrator finds that no such rights will be needed by the United States for the conduct of salvage operations on its lands tributary to such road system, the regional administrator may issue an emergency access permit without requesting the applicant to grant any rights to the United States under this section.

(d) Any grant of rights to the United States made pursuant to this section unless modified under § 244.79, shall be executed on Form 4–1214, which shall constitute and form a part of any emergency access permit issued upon the application involved. The applicant shall record such grant in the office of land records of the county or counties in which the roads or lands subject to the agreement are located and submit to the regional administrator not later than 30 days after the issuance of the emergency access permit, a true copy of such agreement bearing the certificate of the appropriate county official as to such recordation. Failure either to cause such recordation or to furnish such certificate thereof in accordance with this paragraph shall void such emergency access permit.

§ 244.77 Use by the United States and its licensees of rights received from a permittee. The use by the United States and its licensees of any of the rights received from a permittee hereunder shall be limited to that which is necessary for management purposes, or to reach, by the most reasonably direct route, involving the shortest practicable use of the permittee's road system, a road or highway which is suitable for the transportation of forest products in the type and size of vehicle customarily used for such purposes and which is legally available for public use for ingress to and the removal of forest products from salvage operations on lands administered by the Bureau. However, the type and size of vehicle which may be used by the licensee on the permittee's road shall be governed by § 244.79 or § 244.81.

§ 244.78 Duration and location of rights granted or received by the United States. The rights granted by the United States under §§ 244.70 to 244.92, will be for a stated term of not to exceed one year for the transportation of forest products to be derived from a specified salvage operation plus not to exceed 3 months for such road construction as may be necessary: Provided, however,

That upon a permittee's showing, made prior to the expiration of the period, if any, allowed for such construction, that unusual weather conditions have delayed completion of such construction, a district forester may in his discretion extend the period for such construction for not to exceed a total of three additional months: And provided further, That if a permittee's access to a salvage operation is suspended by virtue of an award made by arbitrators pursuant to § 244.81 or pursuant to an agreement, approved by the regional administrator, with a licensee, the term of the permit shall be extended by adding thereto a period equal to the period of such suspension. Rights granted to the United States shall be for such term as will enable a licensee to commence during either the calendar year in which the permit is issued or during one of the two next succeeding calendar years a salvage operation on lands administered by the Bureau, and to complete such salvage operation in accordance with the provisions of such authorization; normally such a licensee will be allowed only one year to complete a salvage operation plus not to exceed three months for the construction of any necessary access roads. In any event, a grant made to the United States under § 244.76 shall finally expire not later than four years and six months after the date when such grant is made.

§ 244.79 Permittee's agreement with United States respecting compensation and adjustment of road use. (a) Where the United States receives rights over any road, right-of-way, or lands, controlled directly or indirectly by a permittee, the regional administrator will seek to arrive at an agreement with the permittee respecting any or all of such matters as the time, route, and specifications for the development of the road system in the area; a reasonable fee for use by a licensee for access to and the removal of forest products from salvage operations on lands administered by the Bureau; provisions for road maintenance; the use, in addition to the uses set forth in § 244.77, which the United States and its licensees may make of the road system involved; a formula for determining the proportionate capacity of the road system or portions thereof which shall be available to the United States and its licensees for the transportation of forest products derived from salvage operations conducted on lands administered by the Bureau; the amount and type of insurance to be carried, and the type of security to be furnished by licensees of the United States who use such road; and such other similar matters as the regional administrator may deem appropriate. To the extent necessary to fulfill the obligations of the United States under any such agreement, subsequent contracts for salvage operations on lands managed by the Bureau and tapped by such road system, will contain such provisions as may be necessary or appropriate to require such licensees to comply with the terms of the agreement.

(b) The provisions of §§ 244.80 and 244.81 shall not be applicable to any matters embraced in an agreement made pursuant to this section.

§ 244.80 Agreements and arbitration between permittee and licensee respecting compensation payable by licensee to permittee for use of road. (a) In the event the United States exercises the rights received from a permittee pursuant §§ 244.70 to 244.92 to license a person to remove forest products over any road, right-of-way, or lands of the permittee or of his successor in interest, to the extent that such matters are not covered by an agreement under § 244.79, such licensee will be required to pay the permittee or his successor in interest such compensation and to furnish him such security, and to carry such liability insurance as the permittee or his successor in interest and the licensee may agree upon. If the parties do not agree, then upon the written request of either party delivered to the other party, the matter shall be referred to and finally determined by arbitration in accordance with the procedures established by § 244.82.

(b) During the pendency of such arbitration proceedings, the licensee shall be entitled to use the road, right-of-way or land involved upon payment, or tender thereof validly maintained, to the permittee of an amount to be determined by the regional administrator and the furnishing to the permittee of a corporate surety bond in an amount equal to the difference between the amount fixed by the regional administrator and the amount sought by the permittee. The licensee shall also, as a condition of use in such circumstances, maintain such liability insurance in such amounts covering any additional hazard and risk which may accrue by reason of the licensee's use of the road, as the regional administrator may prescribe.

(c) The arbitrators shall base their award as to the compensation to be paid by the licensee to the permittee or his successor in interest upon the amortization of the replacement costs for a road of the type involved, including in such replacement costs any extraordinary cost peculiar to the construction of the particular road involved and subtracting therefrom any capital investment made by the United States or its licensees in the particular road involved or in improvements thereto used by and useful to the permittee or his successor in interest plus a reasonable interest allowance on the resulting cost figure, taking into account the risk involved, plus costs of maintenance if furnished by the permittee or his successor, including costs of gates and gateman. In arriving at the amortization item, the arbitrators shall take into account the probable period of time, past and present, during which such road may be in existence, and the volume of timber which has been moved and the volume of timber, currently merchantable, which probably will be moved from all sources over such road. The arbitrators shall also take into account the extent to which the use which the licensee might otherwise economically make of the road system is limited by § 244.77. In addition, the arbitrators may fix the rate at which payments shall be made by the licensee during his use of the road. The arbitrators shall require the licensee to provide adequate bond, cash deposit, or other security to indemnify the permittee or his successor in interest against failure of the licensee to comply with the terms of the award and against damage to the road not incident to normal usage, and for any other reasonable purpose, and also to carry appropriate liability insurance covering any additional hazard and risks which may accrue by reason of the licensee's use of the road.

(d) Where improvements or additions are required to enable a licensee to use a road or right-of-way to remove timber or forest products, the cost of such improvements will be allowable to the licensee.

(e) The full value at current stumpage prices will be allocable against a licensee for all timber to be cut, removed, or destroyed by the licensee on a permittee's land in the construction or improvement of the road involved.

§ 244.81 Agreements and arbitration between permittee and licensee respecting adjustment of road use. (a) When the United States exercises the right received under §§ 244.70 to 244.92 to license any person to use a road of a permittee, the permittee or his successor in interest shall not unreasonably obstruct such licensee in such use. If there has been no agreement under § 244.79 covering such matters, the permittee shall have the right to prescribe reasonable operating regulations, to apply uniformly as between the permittee and such licensee, covering the use of such road for such matters as speed and load limits, scheduling of hauls during period of use by more than one timber operator, coordination of peak periods of use, and such other matters as are reasonably related to safe operations and protection of the road; if the capacity of such road should be inadequate to accommodate the use thereof which such licensee and permittee desire to make concurrently, they shall endeavor to adjust their respective uses by agreement.

(b) If the permittee and such licensee are unable to agree as to the reasonableness of such operating regulations or on the adjustment of their respective uses where the capacity of the road is inadequate to accommodate their concurrent use, then upon the written request of either party delivered to the other party, the matter shall be referred to and finally determined by arbitration in accordance with the procedures established by § 244.82.

(c) The arbitrators may make such disposition of a dispute involving the reasonableness of such operating regulations as appears equitable to them, taking into account the capacity and the construction of the road and the volume of use to which it will be subjected. In the determination of a dispute arising out of the inadequacy of the capacity of a road to accommodate the concurrent use by a permittee and a licensee, the arbitrators may make such disposition thereof as appears equitable to them, taking into account, among other pertinent facts, the commitments of the permittee and the licensee with respect to the cutting and removal of the salvage timber involved; the extent to which each of the parties may practicably use his resources in the conduct of other salvage operations; the extent to which the timber to be salvaged constitutes a threat to healthy timber; the extent to which Federal timber has contributed to the amortization of the capital costs of such road; and the extent to which the United States or its licensees have enlarged the road capacity.

§ 244.82 Arbitration procedure. (a) As to arbitration proceedings relating to the terms or conditions of use of roads, rights-of-way or lands in Oregon:

(1) Within ten days after the delivery of a written request for arbitration under § 244.80 or § 244.81, each of the parties to the disagreement shall appoint an arbitrator and the two arbitrators thus appointed shall select a third arbitrator. If either party fails to appoint an arbitrator as provided herein, the other party may apply to a court of record of the State of Oregon for the appointment of such an arbitrator, as provided by the laws of such State. If within ten days of the appointment of the second of them, the original two arbitrators are unable to agree upon a third arbitrator who will accept the appointment, either party may petition such a court of record of the State of Oregon for the appointment of a third arbitrator. Should any vacancy occur by reason of the resignation, death or inability of one or more of the arbitrators to serve, the vacancy shall be filled according to the procedures applicable to the appointment of the arbitrator whose death, disability, or other inability to serve, created the vacancy.

(2) By mutual agreement, the parties may submit to a single arbitration proceeding controversies arising under both §§ 244.80 and 244.81.

(3) The arbitrators shall hear and determine the controversy and make, file, and serve their award in accordance with the substantive standards prescribed in §§ 244.80 and 244.81 for the type of controversy involved and in accordance with the procedures established by the laws of the State of Oregon pertaining to arbitration proceedings. A copy of the award shall also be served at the same time upon the regional administrator, either personally or by registered mail.

(4) Costs of the arbitration proceedings shall be assessed by the arbitrators against either or both of the parties, as may appear equitable to the arbitrators, taking into account the original contentions of the parties, the ultimate decision of the arbitrators and such other matters as may appear relevant to the arbitrators.

(b) Arbitration proceedings involving the terms or conditions of use of roads, rights-of-way or lands in California or Washington shall be in accordance with the respective State law, if any, is applicable. In the absence of applicable State law, controversies involving arbitration shall be arbitrated in accordance with the rules then obtaining of the American Arbitration Association.

§ 244.83 Payment required for Government timber. An applicant will be required to pay to the regional administrator, in advance of the issuance of the permit, the full stumpage value as determined by the regional administrator of the estimated volume of all timber to be cut, removed, or destroyed, in the construction or operation of the road on lands administered by the Bureau.

§ 244.84 Payment to the United States for road use. Where the permittee receives a right to use a road constructed or acquired by the United States, which is under the administrative jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management, he will be required to pay to the United States for the use thereof, except where he transports forest products purchased from the United States through the Bureau, a reasonable fee to be determined by the regional administrator: Provided, however, That this section shall not apply where payment for such road use to another permittee is required under §§ 244.70 to 244.92.

§ 244.85 Bond in connection with existing roads. An applicant for an emergency access permit to use an existing Government road which is under the administrative jurisdiction of the Bureau will be required, for the protection of such existing road, to execute a bond on Form 4–414 (a) in an amount to be determined by the regional administrator but in no event less than five hundred dollars ($500) per mile or fraction thereof, conditioned on compliance with §§ 244.70 to 244.92 and the terms and conditions of the permit.

§ 244.86 Approval of permit. Upon the applicant's compliance with the appropriate provisions of §§ 244.70 to 244.92 and if it is determined that the approval of the application will be in the public interest, the regional administrator may, in his discretion, issue an appropriate permit, upon Form 4–1213.

§ 244.87 Terms and conditions of permit. (a) As to all emergency access permits: Every permittee shall agree:

(1) To comply with the applicable regulations in effect as of the time when the permit is issued.

(2) Not to cut, remove, or destroy any timber not previously purchased on the right-of-way without having first obtained specific authority from the regional administrator and making payment therefor.

(3) To take adequate precaution to prevent and suppress forest, brush, and grass fires; to endeavor with all available personnel to suppress any fire originating on or threatening the right-of-way; to do no burning on or near the right-of-way without State permit during the seasons that permits are required but in any event to set no fire on or near the right-of-way that will result in damage to any natural resource or improvement.

(4) To submit to arbitration proceedings and to be bound by the resulting arbitral awards, pursuant to §§ 244.80 to 244.82.

(5) In the event that the United States acquires by purchase or eminent domain the land or any interest therein, over which there passes a road which the United States has acquired the right to use under § 244.76, to waive compensation for the value of the road, equivalent to the proportion that the amount the United States has contributed bears to the total actual cost of construction of the road. Such contribution shall include any investment in or amortization of the cost of such road, or both, as the case may be, made by the United States or a licensee either by way of direct expenditures upon such road, or by way of payment by the United States or a licensee to the permittee, or by way of allowance made by the United States to the permittee in any timber sales contract for such amortization or capital investment.

(6) To construct all roads and other improvements as described in the application for the permit, except as the regional administrator may authorize modification or abandonment of any such proposed construction.

(7) To use the permit and right-of-way afforded subject to all valid existing rights, to such additional rights-of-way as may be granted under §§ 244.70 to 244.92, to a reservation of rights-of-way for ditches and canals constructed under authority of the United States, and to a reservation of all fissionable source materials in accordance with the act of August 1, 1946 (60 Stat. 755).

(8) In the exercise of the rights granted by the permit, not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, creed, color or national origin, and to require an identical provision to be included in all subcontracts.

(9) Except as the regional administrator may otherwise permit or direct, to clean up and remove from the road and right-of-way within six months after the expiration or other termination of the permit, all debris, refuse, and waste material which may have resulted from his operations and use of said road; to repair all damage to said road resulting directly or indirectly from his use thereof; and to remove therefrom all structures, timbers, and other objects that may have been installed or placed thereon by him in connection with said operations or use: Provided, however, That the road and all usable road improvements shall be left in place.

(b) As to emergency access permits for the use of an existing road: In addition, every permittee to whom an emergency access permit is issued for the use of an existing road is required to agree:

(1) To maintain such a road in an adequate and satisfactory condition or to arrange therefor with the other users of the road. In the absence of satisfactory performance, the regional administrator may have such maintenance work performed as may be necessary in his judgment, determine the proportionate share allocable to each user, and collect the cost thereof from the parties or the sureties on the bonds furnished by said parties.

(2) Upon the expiration or other termination of his right to its use, to leave said road and right-of-way in at least as good a condition as existed prior to the commencement of his use.

§ 244.88 Assignment of permit. Any proposed assignment of an emergency access permit must be submitted in duplicate, within 90 days after the date of its execution, to the Regional Administrator for approval, accompanied by the same showing and undertaking by the assignee as is required of an applicant by §§ 244.75 and 244.76; and must be supported by a stipulation that the assignee agrees to comply with and be bound by the terms and conditions of the permit and the applicable regulations of the Department of the Interior in force as of the date of such approval of the assignment.

§ 244.89 Causes for termination of permittee's rights. (a) The regional administrator in his discretion may elect upon 30 days' notice to terminate any permit or right-of-way issued under §§ 244.70 to 244.92 if:

(1) In connection with the application made therefor, the applicant represented any material fact knowing the same to be false, or made such representation in reckless disregard of the truth; or

(2) A permittee, subsequent to the issuance of a permit or right-of-way to him, represents any material fact to the regional administrator, in accordance with any requirement of such permit or knowing such representation to be false, or make such representation in reckless disregard of the truth.

(b) The regional administrator, in his discretion may elect to terminate any permit issued under §§ 244.70 to 244.92, if the permittee shall fail to comply with any of the provisions of such regulations or make default in the performance or observation of any of the conditions of the permit, and such failure or default shall continue for 10 days after service of written notice thereof by the regional administrator.

(c) Notice of such termination shall be served personally or by registered mail upon the permittee, shall specify the misrepresentation, failure or default involved, and shall be final, subject, however, to the permittee's right of appeal.

(d) Termination of the permit and of the right-of-way under this section shall not operate to terminate any right granted to the United States pursuant to §§ 244.70 to 244.92, nor shall it affect the right of the permittee, after the termination of his permit and right-of-way to receive compensation and to establish road operating rules with respect to roads controlled by him which the United States has the right to use and to permit its licensees to use; nor shall it relieve the permittee of his duty under §§ 244.70 to 244.92 to submit to and be bound by arbitration pursuant to §§ 244.79 to 244.81.

§ 244.90 Remedies for violations by licensee. (a) No licensee of the United States will be authorized to use the roads of a permittee except under the terms of a timber sale contract which will require the licensee to comply with all the applicable provisions of §§ 244.70 to 244.92, and any agreements or awards made pursuant thereto. If a licensee fails to comply with the regulations, agreements, or awards, the regional administrator will take such action as may be appropriate under the provisions of the timber sale contract.

(b) A permittee who believes that a licensee is violating the provisions of such a timber sale contract pertaining to use of the permittee's roads, rights-of-way, or lands, may petition the regional administrator, setting forth the grounds for his belief, to take such action against the licensee as may be appropriate under the contract. In such event the permittee shall be bound by the decision of the regional administrator subject, however, to a right of appeal pursuant to § 244.92 and subject, further, to the general provisions of law respecting review of administrative determinations. In the alternative a permittee who believes that a licensee has violated the terms of the timber sale contract respecting the use of the permittee's roads may proceed against the licensees in any court of competent jurisdiction to obtain such relief as may be appropriate in the premises.

§ 244.91 Disposition of property on termination of permit. Upon the expiration or other termination of the permittee's rights, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the permittee will be allowed six months in which to remove or otherwise dispose of all property or improvements, other than the road and usable improvements to the road, placed by him on the right-of-way, but if not removed within this period, all such property and improvements shall become the property of the United States.

§ 244.92 Appeals. An appeal, pursuant to the rules of practice, Part 221, of this chapter, may be taken from any final decision of the regional administrator, to the Director, Bureau of Land Management, and, from the latter's decision to the Secretary of the Interior.

Acting Secretary of the Interior.

In arriving at the findings and conclusions included in this decision each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

Order [1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Marketing Area

§ 905.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 905.51 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. The basic formula price plus $1.70 during the months of April, May, and June and plus $1.90 during all other months: Provided, That for each of the months of September, October, November, and December, such price shall not be less than that for the preceding month, and that for each of the months of April, May, and June such price shall be not more than that for the preceding month. To this price add or subtract a "supply-demand adjustment" computed as follows:

(1) Divide the total receipts of producer milk in the first and second months preceding by the total gross volume of Class I milk (excluding interhandler transfers and sales by producer-handlers and handlers partially exempt from this subpart pursuant to § 905.61) for the same months, multiply the result by 100, and round to the nearest whole number. The result shall be known as the Class I utilization percentage;

Month for which price applies	Months used in computation	Standard utilization percentage
January	November-December	110
February	December-January	114
March	January-February	118
April	February-March	130
May	March-April	134
June	April-May	137
July	May-June	132
August	June-July	131
September	July-August	127
October	August-September	116
November	September-October	108
December	October-November	107

(3) For each minus percentage point in excess of 2 in the "net utilization percentage" the Class I price shall be increased 3 cents in January, February, March, July, and August; 2 cents in April, May, and June; 4 cents in September, October, November, and December; and for each plus percentage point in excess of 2 in the "net utilization percentage" the Class I price shall be decreased 3 cents in January, February, March, July, and August; 4 cents in April, May, and June; and 2 cents in September, October, November, and December: Provided, That in no event shall an adjustment made pursuant to this subparagraph exceed 50 cents per hundredweight.

2. Amend § 905.22 (j) (1) to read as follows:

(1) On or before the 10th day of each month the minimum price for Class I milk computed pursuant to § 905.51 (a) and the Class I butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.52 (a) both for the current month, and on or before the 5th day of each month the minimum price for Class II milk pursuant to § 905.51 (b) and the Class II butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 905.52 (b), both for the previous month; and

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Order of the Secretary Directing That a Referendum be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk to the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Marketing Area; Determination of a Representative Period; and Designation of an Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, marketing area), who, during the month of April 1952, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of an order, amending the order, which is filed simultaneously herewith.

The month of April 1952 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the conduct of such referendum.

Kenneth M. Foil is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for conducting of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177), such referendum to be completed on or before the 10th day from the date this referendum order is issued.

[7 CFR Part 951]

[Docket No. AO 235-A3]

HANDLING OF TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN CALIFORNIA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO AMENDED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Lodi, California, beginning on March 31, 1952, after notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 1606, 2133), on proposed amendments to Marketing Agreement No. 93, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "marketing agreement"), and Order No. 51, as amended (7 CFR Part 951; 16 F. R. 9353, 10016), hereinafter referred to as the "order", regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the State of California, to be made effective pursuant to the provisions of the agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

On the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing, and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on May 22, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of the filing of such recommended decision, affording opportunity to file written exceptions thereto, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (F. R. Doc. 52-5894; 17 F. R. 4855, 5043). No exception to said recommended decision was filed.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, and the general findings of the recommended decision (F. R. Doc. 52-5894; 17 F. R. 4855, 5043) are, except as hereafter otherwise provided, approved, adopted, and incorporated herein as the material issues, findings and conclusions, and general findings of this decision as if set forth in full herein. As indicated in the recommended decision, the area of production will be contracted to include, instead of the State of California, only San Joaquin County (comprising the Lodi District) and Sacramento County (comprising the Florin District). In view of the continuing differences in the production and marketing of Tokay grapes grown in these counties, there will be applicable to the newly defined production area the different terms and provisions in the present regulatory program that give due recognition to such differences. For example, there will continue to be applicable the provisions with respect to different grade and size limitations governing shipments of Tokay grapes produced in such counties. Therefore, paragraph (c) of the general findings included in said recommended decision is revised to read as follows:

(c) The marketing agreement, as hereby proposed to be amended, and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, prescribe, so far as practicable, such different terms, applicable to different parts of the production area, as are necessary to give due recognition to the differences in production and marketing of the Tokay grapes covered thereby.

Amendments to the marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Tokay Grapes Grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Tokay Grapes Grown in the State of California," which have been decided upon as the appropriate and detailed means of effecting the foregoing conclusions. The aforesaid amendments shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the aforesaid rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached agreement amending the marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of the said agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 17th day of June 1952.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Tokay Grapes Grown in the State of California

§ 951.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order and each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, effective thereunder (7 CFR part 900), a public hearing was held at Lodi, California, beginning on March 31, 1952, upon proposed amendments to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 51, effective August 20, 1940, as amended (7 CFR Part 951; 16 F. R. 9353, 10016), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the State of California. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin and Sacramento Counties in the State of California in the same manner as, and are applicable to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the marketing agreement upon which hearings have been held;

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, prescribes, so far as practicable, such different terms, applicable to different parts of the production area, as are necessary to give due recognition to the differences in production and marketing of the grapes covered thereby;

(4) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, is limited in its application to the smallest regional production area which is practicable, consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act; and the issuance of several orders applicable to any sub-division of the production area would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act; and

(5) All handling of Tokay grapes which are grown in the production area is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or directly burdens, obstructs or affects such commerce.

It is, therefore, ordered, That, on and after the effective date hereof, all handling of Tokay grapes grown in the production area shall be in conformity to, and in compliance with, the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 951.4 Grapes and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.4 Grapes. "Grapes" means all strains of Tokay grapes grown in the production area.

2. Delete § 951.7 Handle and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.7 Handle. "Handle" is synonymous with "ship" and means to sell, load in a conveyance for transportation, offer for transportation, transport, or in any other way to place grapes in the current of commerce between any point within the production area and any point outside thereof. The term "handle" also means to deliver grapes to a refrigerated storage warehouse for storage purposes either within the production area or outside thereof. The term "handle" shall not include the sale of grapes on the vine or the transportation of grapes from a vineyard, or a packing shed within the production area, to a packing shed within the production area.

3. Delete § 951.11 District and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.11 District. "District" means the applicable one of the following described subdivisions of the production area:

(a) "Lodi District" means the County of San Joaquin in the State of California, and shall be divided into the following Election Districts: (1) "Acampo Election District" means the school district of Houston; (2) "Woodbridge Election District" means the school district of Woods, and that portion of the Galt Joint Union School District situated in San Joaquin County; (3) "Lafayette Election District" means the school districts of Lafayette, Henderson, Turner, Ray, Terminous and New Hope; (4) "Victor Election District" means the school districts of Bruella, Victor, Lockeford, Oak View and Clements; (5) "Alpine Election District" means the school districts of Alpine and Lodi; (6) "Live Oak Election District" means all of the school districts in the Lodi District, other than those included in the Acampo, Woodbridge, Lafayette, Victor, and Alpine Election Districts. The boundaries of the foregoing school districts shall be those in effect on October 1, 1947.

(b) "Florin District" means the County of Sacramento in the State of California.

4. Add after § 951.11 a new definition as follows:

§ 951.12 Production area. "Production area" means the Counties of San Joaquin and Sacramento in the State of California.

5. Delete the words "State of California" appearing in § 951.32 (l) and insert, in lieu thereof, the words "production area."

6. Delete paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) of § 951.40 Shippers' Advisory Committee and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

(a) A Shippers' Advisory Committee, consisting of seven members who are individual persons selected by the handlers in accordance with the provisions of this subpart, is hereby established. There shall be an alternate for each member of such committee. An alternate member shall, in the event of such member's absence from a meeting of the committee, act in the place and stead of such member, and, in the event of a vacancy in the office of such member, shall act in the place and stead of such member until a successor for the unexpired term of such member has been selected.

(b) Six members and six alternate members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee shall be elected by the handlers at a general meeting of all handlers, at which each handler shall have one vote for each member position and each alternate member position for which he is eligible to vote. Three of such members shall be elected by, and from among, the five largest handlers (determined on the basis of the quantity of grapes shipped by the respective handler during the preceding season), or the employees or representatives of such handlers. Three alternate members for such members shall also be elected by such handlers. Three members and their alternates shall be elected by all other handlers. The seventh member of such committee and his alternate shall be elected jointly by the members of the Industry Committee and the other six members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee. (d) The initial meeting of handlers, at which members of the Shippers' Advisory Committee are to be elected, shall be called and conducted by the Secretary or his agent as soon as possible after the selection of initial members of the Industry Committee. Each handler who desires to vote at the said meeting for the election of members of such committee shall file with the Secretary or his agent an affidavit stating his shipments of grapes during the preceding season. Election meetings held subsequent to the initial meeting shall be called and conducted each season by the Industry Committee as much in advance of the shipping season as is practical; and each handler who desires to vote thereat shall file, with the Industry Committee, a statement of his shipments of grapes during the season immediately preceding the season during which such meeting is held.

The certificate shall permit such grower to ship, or have shipped, in fresh fruit channels, a percentage of his crop of grapes from such vineyard equal to such greater percentage. In computing the aforesaid quantities that were shipped during the preceding three seasons, there shall be omitted the aggregate quantities of grapes shipped under exemption certificates.

(c) If any grower is dissatisfied with the action of the Industry Committee taken with respect to his application for an exemption certificate, such grower may appeal to the Secretary: Provided, That such appeal shall be made promptly. The Secretary may, upon an appeal made as aforesaid, modify or reverse the action of the committee. The authority of the Secretary to supervise and control the issuance of exemption certificates is unlimited and plenary; and any determination by the Secretary with respect to an exemption certificate shall be final and conclusive.

(d) The Industry Committee shall, from time to time, submit to the Secretary reports stating in detail the number of exemption certificates issued, the quantity of grapes thus exempted, and such additional information with respect thereto as the Secretary may request.

9. Delete § 951.87 Grapes for charitable purposes and insert, in lieu thereof, the following:

§ 951.87 Grapes not subject to regulation. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, nothing contained in this subpart shall be construed to authorize any limitation of the right of any person to ship:

(b) No assessment shall be levied on any grapes not subject to regulation under paragraph (a) of this section. HANDLING OF MILK IN SIOUX FALLS-MITCHELL, SOUTH DAKOTA, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, on August 27–30, 1951 pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on August 8, 1951 (16 F. R. 7941) upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration on May 26, 1951, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 1, 1952 (17 F. R. 34).

Pursuant to notice issued on March 4, 1952 (17 F. R. 2020) the hearing was reopened at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, on March 24, 1952 to receive further evidence on all issues previously considered, and more particularly, with respect to the findings and conclusions contained in the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, issued December 26, 1951.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the aforesaid hearings and the records thereof, the Acting Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on May 13, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture a further recommended decision and opportunity to file exceptions thereto which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 16, 1952 (17 F. R. 4498).

Exceptions to the recommended decisions were filed on behalf of the majority of handlers in the marketing area. In arriving at the findings, conclusions, and regulatory provisions of this decision, each of these exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions, and actions decided herein are at variance with the exceptions such exceptions are overruled.

The major issues developed at the hearing were concerned with:

(1) Whether the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, marketing area is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate foreign commerce in milk or its products;

(2) Whether the issuance of an order regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, marketing area will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and

(3) The appropriate terms and conditions to be included in an order with respect to:

(a) The scope of the regulation,
(b) The classification of milk,
(c) Transfers of milk between plants,
(d) Class prices,
(e) Payments to producers,
(f) The administrative assessment, and
(g) Other administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. The findings and conclusions of the recommended decision set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 4498) are hereby approved and adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, Marketing Area", and "Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 17th day of June 1952.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, Marketing Area

§ 956.0 Findings and determinations.—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR, supps., 900.1 et seq.), a public hearing was held at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, on August 27–30, 1951, upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order, regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, marketing area. Such hearing was reopened on March 24, 1952 upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices for milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined herein, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expenses of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment monthly as his pro rata share of such expense, four cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding four cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, by each handler who operates an approved plant with respect to all milk received by him during the month from producers (including such handler's own production) and with respect to other source milk received by him during such delivery period which is classified as Class I, and by each handler who operates an unapproved plant with respect to all milk disposed of by him as Class I milk within the marketing area.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the following terms and conditions:

In either case the market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly, upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 956.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. Skim milk and butterfat contained in all milk, skim milk, cream, and milk products received during the delivery period by a handler and required to be reported pursuant to § 956.30 (a) shall be classified by the market administrator pursuant to §§ 956.41 to 956.45, inclusive.

§ 956.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 956.43 and 956.44 the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of in fluid form as milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, cream, either sweet or sour (including any mixture of butterfat and skim milk containing more than 6 percent butterfat except mixes for ice cream and frozen desserts) (2) disposed of as or used to produce any other milk product required by the health authorities in the marketing area to be produced from Grade A milk and (3) all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk. Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section Class II shall be (1) all skim milk which is dumped or disposed of as livestock feed: Provided, That in the case of skim milk which is dumped the handler shall notify the market administrator in advance of his intention to dump such skim milk, and (2) all skim milk and butterfat (i) used to produce any milk product not specified in paragraph (a) of this section, (ii) in actual plant shrinkage supported by adequate plant records up to but not in excess of two percent of the total receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk, other than that received from other handlers, (iii) in actual shrinkage of other source milk, and (iv) in inventory variations.

(c) Class IIA. Class IIA shall be all skim milk and butterfat which, during both inclusive, is used to produce butter, American cheddar cheese, casein, animal feed or nonfat dry milk solids, and skim milk which is dumped: Provided, That the handler shall notify the market administrator in advance of his intention to dump such skim milk.

§ 956.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler; and

(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk and in other source milk.

§ 956.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat, when transferred or diverted from an approved plant to another approved plant where milk is received from producers, shall be Class I if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk or cream: Provided, That, if the transferring handler, on or before the 6th day after the end of the delivery period during which the transfer or diversion is made, furnishes to the market administrator a statement signed by the buyer indicating that such skim milk or butterfat was used in Class II, or Class IIA such skim milk or butterfat may be assigned to the indicated class up to the amount thereof remaining in such class in the plant of the receiver after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 956.46: Provided further, That, if other source milk has been received at either or both plants, such milk so disposed of shall be classified at both plants so as to return the higher class utilization to producer milk.

(b) Skim milk or butterfat, when transferred or diverted from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located more than 100 miles from the marketing area shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream.

(c) Skim milk and butterfat when transferred or diverted from an approved plant to an unapproved plant located less than 100 miles from the marketing area shall be Class I if transferred in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream unless the transferring handler reports that such skim milk or butterfat was used in Class II or Class IIA: Provided, That if the buyer refuses to permit the market administrator to audit his books and records, such milk, skim milk or cream shall be reclassified as Class I: Provided further, That if upon audit of the buyer's records, it is found that the use of skim milk and butterfat in the buyer's plant in Classes II and IIA is less than the amount stated to have been used, any amount in excess of such Class II use or Class IIA shall be classified as Class I.

(d) Skim milk or butterfat when transferred or diverted from an approved plant to a producer-handler in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream shall be classified as Class I.

§ 956.44 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) In establishing the classification of skim milk and butterfat as required in § 956.41 the burden rests upon the handler who receives such skim milk or butterfat from producers to prove to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should not be classified as Class I milk.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat shall be reclassified if verification by the market administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

§ 956.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors the delivery period report submitted by each handler pursuant to § 956.30 (a) and shall compute the respective amounts of skim milk and butterfat in each class for such handler.

§ 956.46 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After computing the classification of all skim milk and butterfat received by a handler pursuant to § 956.45, the market administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II, the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 956.41 (b) (2) (ii);

(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk contained in other source milk: Provided, That if the receipts of skim milk in other source milk are greater than the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I. If any skim milk has been classified as Class II A, skim milk in other source milk shall be allocated to such Class II A use prior to allocation to other Class II use.

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk contained in receipts from other handlers in accordance with its classification as determined pursuant to § 956.43(a);

(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph;

(5) Subtract pro rata from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk contained in such handler's own production;

(6) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in both classes exceed the pounds of skim milk reported as having been received from producers; an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class II: Provided, That any amount in excess of the pounds remaining in Class II shall be subtracted from Class I. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "overage".

(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 956.50 Class prices. Each handler shall pay at the time and in the manner set forth in § 956.65 not less than the prices set forth in this section for skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers during the delivery period at such handler's plant.

(a) Class I milk. (1) The price per hundredweight for Class I milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be the Class II price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of this section for the previous delivery period plus $1.25.

(2) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class I milk shall be computed by adding $25.00 to the price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (2) of this section for the preceding delivery period.

(3) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class I shall be computed by (i) multiplying by 0.035 the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (iii) dividing the result by 0.965, and (iv) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(b) Class II milk. (1) The price per hundredweight for Class II milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be computed by the market administrator as follows: (i) Multiply by 1.25 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period and subtract 5 cents, (ii) multiply by 3.5, (iii) add 21 cents, and (iv) add 3 cents for each full one-half cent that the price of nonfat dry milk solids is above 7 cents per pound. The price of nonfat dry milk solids to be used shall be the arithmetical average of the carlot prices, both spray and roller process, for human consumption delivered at Chicago, as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period. In the event the Department of Agriculture does not publish carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption delivered at Chicago, the average of the carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area as published by the Department of Agriculture for the period from the 26th day of the preceding delivery period through the 25th day of the current delivery period, shall be used and 3 cents shall be added for each full one-half cent that the latter price is above 6 cents per pound.

(2) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class II shall be computed by adjusting to the nearest full cent the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph and multiplying by 100.

(3) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class II shall be computed by (i) multiplying by 0.035 the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (iii) dividing the result by 0.965, and (iv) adjusting to the nearest cent.

(c) Class II A milk. (1) The price per hundredweight for Class II A milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat shall be the Class II price computed pursuant to paragraph (b) (1) of this section minus 25 cents.

(2) The price per hundredweight for butterfat in Class II A milk shall be computed by: (i) Determining the percentage that the price computed pursuant to § 956.50 (b) (i) is of the price computed pursuant to § 956.50 (b) (1), (ii) multiplying such percentage by 25 cents, (iii) subtracting the resulting figure from the price computed pursuant to § 956.50 (b) (i), and (iv) multiplying by 100.

(3) The price per hundredweight for skim milk in Class II A shall be computed by (i) multiplying by 0.035 the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, (ii) subtracting the result from the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (iii) dividing the result by 0.965, and (iv) adjusting to the nearest cent.

§ 956.51 Emergency price provisions. Whenever the provisions of this subpart require the market administrator to use a specific price (or prices) for milk or any milk product for the purpose of determining minimum class prices or for any other purpose, and the specified price is not reported or published the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 956.60 Computation of the value of milk. (a) The value of the milk received by each handler from producers during each delivery period shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat allocated to each class pursuant to § 956.46 by the applicable class prices, adding together the resulting amounts and adding any amounts owed by the handler pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(1) If a handler has overage of either skim milk or butterfat, the market administrator shall add an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overage by the applicable class prices.

(2) If any skim milk or butterfat in other source milk has been allocated to Class I pursuant to § 956.46, during the months of February through July, both inclusive, the market administrator shall add an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat at the Class I price and the Class II price unless the handler can prove to the satisfaction of the market administrator that such other source skim milk or butterfat was used only to the extent that producer milk was not available.

(b) If any handler who operates an unapproved plant has disposed of Class I milk in the marketing area, the market administrator shall determine a value for such handler by multiplying the pounds of such Class I milk by an amount equal to the difference between the Class I price and the Class II price.

§ 956.61 Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period the market administrator shall compute a uniform price per hundredweight for milk received from producers as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 956.60 for all handlers who filed reports pursuant to § 956.30 and who made the payments required pursuant to §§ 956.65 and 956.69 for the previous delivery period;

(b) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.5 percent, or add if such average butterfat content is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 956.66, and multiplying the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations;

(c) Subtract during each of the delivery periods of May, June and July an amount equal to 8 percent of the resulting sum;

(d) Add during each of the delivery periods of September, October and November one-third of the total amount subtracted pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section;

(e) Add an amount equal to not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-settlement fund;

(f) Divide the resulting sum by the total hundredweight of producer milk included in these computations; and

(g) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents per hundredweight for the purpose of retaining in the producer-settlement fund a cash balance to provide against errors in reports or payments or delinquencies in payments by handlers. The result shall be known as the "uniform price" per hundredweight for producer milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content.

§ 956.62 Notification of handlers. On or before the 9th day after the end of each delivery period the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amount and value of his milk in each class computed pursuant to §§ 956.46 and 956.60 respectively, and the totals of such amounts and values;

(b) The uniform price computed pursuant to § 956.61;

(c) The amount, if any, due such handler from the producer-settlement fund;

(d) The total amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 956.65 and 956.71; and

(e) The amount to be paid by such handler pursuant to § 956.72.

PAYMENTS

§ 956.65 Time and method of payments. Each handler shall make payment for milk as follows:

(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, to each producer for milk received from him and for which payment is not made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, at not less than the uniform price computed pursuant to § 956.61, subject to the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 956.66.

(b) On or before the 12th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, to a cooperative association for milk which it caused to be delivered to such handler from producers, if such cooperative association is authorized to collect such payments for its member producers and wishes to exercise such authority, an amount equal to not less than the sum of the individual payments otherwise payable to such producers pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 956.66 Butterfat differential. If, during the delivery period, any handler has received from any producer milk having an average butterfat content other than 3.5 percent, such handler in making the payments prescribed in § 956.65, shall add to the uniform price for each one-tenth of one percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent not less than, or shall deduct from the uniform price for each one-tenth of one percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent not more than, an amount computed by the market administrator as follows: To the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period in which the milk was received, add 20 percent, divide the result obtained by 10, and adjust to the nearest cent.

§ 956.67 Adjustment of errors in payment to producers. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or to a cooperative association discloses payment of an amount less than is required by § 956.65 the handler shall make up such payment to the producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payment next following such disclosure.

§ 956.68 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 956.69 and 956.71 and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 956.70 and 956.71: Provided, That the market administrator shall offset any payment due any handler against payments due from such handler.

§ 956.69 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period (a) each handler who operates an approved plant shall pay to the market administrator for payment to producers through the producer-settlement fund the amount, if any, by which the total value computed for him pursuant to § 956.60 (a) for such delivery period is greater than the sum required to be paid by such handler pursuant to § 956.65, and (b) each handler who operates an unapproved plant shall make payment to the market administrator of an amount equal to the value computed for him pursuant to § 956.60 (b).

§ 956.70 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 11th day after the end of each delivery period, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, for payment to producers, the amount, if any, by which the sum required to be paid by such handler pursuant to § 956.65 is greater than the total value computed for him pursuant to § 956.60.

§ 956.71 Adjustment of errors in payments. Whenever verification by the market administrator of reports or payments of any handler discloses errors in payments to or from the producer-settlement fund made pursuant to §§ 956.69 and 956.70, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amounts and such handler shall, within 5 days of such billing, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler pursuant to § 956.70 the market administrator shall, within 5 days, make such payment to such handler.

§ 956.72 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this subpart, each handler who operates an approved plant shall pay to the market administrator, on or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period, 4 cents per hundredweight or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to all receipts within the delivery period of (a) milk from producers including such handler's own production, and (b) other source milk which is classified as Class I milk, and each handler who operates an unapproved plant shall make such payment only with respect to Class I milk disposed of within the marketing area.

§ 956.73 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representative all books and records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this part to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files pursuant to section (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 956.80 Effective time. The provisions of this subpart or any amendment to this subpart shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated pursuant to § 956.81.

§ 956.81 Suspension or termination. The Secretary may suspend or terminate this subpart or any provision of this subpart whenever he finds this subpart or any provision of this subpart obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act. This subpart shall terminate in any event whenever the provisions of the act authorizing it cease to be in effect.

§ 956.82 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, there are any obligations under this subpart the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 956.83 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this subpart except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 956.90 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

§ 956.91 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this subpart or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision and of the remaining provisions of this subpart to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Order Directing That a Referendum be Conducted Among Producers: Determination of a Representative Period; and Designation of an Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among producers (as defined in the proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Sioux Falls-Mitchell, South Dakota, marketing area which is filed simultaneously herewith) who, during the month of March 1952 were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

The month of March 1952 is hereby determined to be a representative period for the conduct of such referendum. Hobart E. Crone is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

Done at Washington, D. C., this 17th day of June 1952.

[Docket No. AO-240]

HANDLING OF MILK IN MUSKEGON, MICH., MARKETING AREA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of the recommended decision of the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order regulating the handling of milk in the Muskegon, Michigan, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 20th day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed marketing agreement and the proposed order were formulated, was called by the Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, following receipt of a petition filed by the Michigan Milk Producers' Association on behalf of the Muskegon Milk Producers' Association and was held at Muskegon, Michigan, January 21–25, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on January 5, 1952 (17 F. R. 161).

The material issues of record related to:

(1) Whether the handling of milk in the Muskegon, Michigan, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce;

(2) Whether the issuance of a marketing order for the Muskegon, Michigan, marketing area will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(3) The extent of the marketing area;

(4) What milk should be priced under an order;

(5) The classification of milk and milk products;

(6) The determination and level of class prices;

(7) The method of distributing payments to producers; and

(8) Administrative provisions.

Findings and conclusions. Upon the basis of evidence adduced at the hearing and on the record thereof, it is hereby found and concluded that:

(1) Character of commerce. The handling of milk produced for the Muskegon, Michigan, marketing area is in the current of interstate commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate commerce in milk and its products. Substantial interstate movement occurs with respect to milk and the milk products produced therefrom in the supply area for the Muskegon fluid milk market. Producers supplying milk to distributors in the Muskegon marketing area have their farms intermingled with those of dairy farmers who ship to milk plants which regularly supply Detroit. The Detroit supply area, in turn, includes regular shippers located in Indiana and Ohio.

Also intermingled with the producers who supply this Muskegon fluid milk market are a large number of producers who are shipping milk to milk plants at which evaporated milk, butter, cheese, sweet cream, and dried milk and skim milk products are manufactured for sale throughout the United States. In fact it is common practice during the season of flush milk production for farmers to deliver directly to manufacturing plants a part or all of their milk approved for fluid consumption.

The flow of milk into the Muskegon fluid market is affected by the relationship of that market's prices to the prices paid by competing fluid markets and by the manufacturing milk plants. Price relationships which interrupt or interfere with the distribution of milk in this region to the fluid and manufacturing markets in accordance with the relative value of milk for such outlets tend to burden, obstruct, and affect interstate commerce in milk and its products.

The excess milk over and above fluid requirements for the Muskegon market is normally transferred to plants which manufacture butter, evaporated milk, and nonfat dry milk solids for sale in interstate markets. This excess milk represents principally the necessary reserve of milk to meet fluctuation in daily and seasonal supplies and requirements. In 1951 the reserve milk transferred to manufacturing plants amounted to 17 percent of total receipts from producers.

Prices paid for milk by the fluid market, if out of line with prices paid by manufacturing plants, tend to increase or reduce this quantity of milk which is produced under the sanitary requirements of the fluid market but must be utilized in manufactured products. Therefore, the prices paid producers supplying the fluid market must be maintained in reasonable alignment with prices paid to manufacturing producers. It is also necessary to prevent unfair competitive pricing of the fluid milk market's surplus which is transferred to manufacturing plants at a price lower than the price offered by manufacturing plants to their regular producers.

There is also direct interstate movement of pasteurized, bottled milk from the marketing area. Lake vessels docking at both Muskegon and Grand Haven are supplied with milk by dealers in the respective cities. These vessels travel to ports in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio.

(2) Need for regulation. Marketing conditions in the Muskegon area indicate that the issuance of a marketing order, such as that set forth herein, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act with respect to milk produced for the Muskegon fluid milk market.

Stability of marketing conditions and reasonable certainty of an adequate supply of pure and wholesome milk can be assured for the Muskegon marketing area only when all milk handlers in the area have reasonably equal costs of milk according to use and only when farmers supplying the market receive substantially the same prices per hundredweight for milk of equal quality.

These conditions do not now exist. A cooperative association of producers supplies all the milk used by dealers whose plants are located in Muskegon and Muskegon Heights and to one whose plant is located in a nearby village. The association sells milk on a class use basis whereby each of the distributors pays the same price for milk used in each of four specified classes. The association pools the sales returns, and each producer is paid the uniform price, subject only to variations in butterfat content and in seasonality of production.

A diversity of milk purchase plans is in effect at other plants in the area. One of the Grand Haven distributors testified that he purchased milk from producers on a "plant requirements" basis. He pays an announced price on all milk used at the plant, the bulk of such milk being bottled for sale as fluid milk and cream and smaller quantities being used in ice cream or for the manufacture of cottage cheese and similar products. Milk which this distributor cannot utilize in his plant is disposed of to milk manufacturing plants, and producers are paid the net utilization value of such milk. This distributor commonly depends upon purchases of supplemental milk in the fall season of low production and in the July and August resort season of peak sales. He does not pay producers in accordance with seasonality of production. Another handler in the area testified that he also purchased on a plant requirement basis but bought only negligible quantities of supplemental milk.

A further variety of milk purchasing plans is provided by dealers operating plants outside the marketing area but from which some milk is sold in the area. Testimony based upon a comparison of producers' settlement statements showed that producers were paid at an announced price on varying percentages of their short-season deliveries, that this percentage may be changed without prior notice to the producer, and that neither the settlement statement nor any other communication from the distributor enabled producers to determine precisely on what basis they were being paid for milk.

These variations in price plans and in net prices paid to producers reflect different raw material costs to the various dealers who are selling milk in the marketing area. A condition of unequal costs among the dealers may cause them to attempt to economize by reducing prices to producers. This in turn would tend to stimulate successive price reductions by competitors. This development is contrary to the interests of producers and over a period of time may jeopardize an adequate supply of milk. Alternatively, some handlers may attempt to achieve equality by reducing the quantity of their purchases of milk in order to obtain the highest possible proportion of the higher valued uses of milk. This reaction, however, may result in intermittent shortages of supply for the market.

If producers receive widely varying prices for their milk, they tend to shift around milk dealers and to shift in and out of the market. Such shifts may become sufficiently frequent as to jeopardize a dependable supply of pure and wholesome milk.

A marketing agreement and order program is needed to establish and maintain orderly marketing conditions throughout the marketing area. The auditing of the utilization of all milk received by handlers, the checking of butterfat tests and weights of all producer milk, and the publication of complete supply and use data for the market will aid in this objective by assuring producers that they will receive a proper accounting for their milk and by providing full information on market developments.

(3) Marketing area. The marketing area should be defined to include all of the territory within the outer boundaries of the cities of Muskegon and Grand Haven and the densely populated areas surrounding these cities. This may be accomplished by defining the marketing area to include all of the territory within the boundaries of Muskegon County and five townships in Ottawa County.

Producers who are members of the cooperative association which is the proponent of the order supply milk to the distributors serving customers in all portions of this area. The farms of these producing members are intermingled with those of nonmembers serving the other distributors in the area. Moreover there is direct competition between dealers whose plants are located in each locality within the marketing area and dealers whose plants are located at one or more other points within the area.

Health regulations are substantially similar throughout the area. The regulations of the State of Michigan provide a uniform minimum standard and these standards are modified only by somewhat more rigid requirements in a few localities. Several of these local health regulations have recently been revised to a point where there is now substantially complete acceptance in all portions of the marketing area of milk eligible for fluid use in any locality within the area.

The Muskegon marketing area has been defined on the basis of these interrelationships of supply and distribution. The area so defined is a continuous homogeneous area within which distributors should be charged the same price for milk used in a given class and producers be paid a uniform price.

One of the dealers whose plant is located in Grand Haven and a group of producers supplying that dealer contended that the territory served by this dealer should be excluded from the marketing area. However, much of his distributive business covers territory which is also served by handlers whose plants are located in Muskegon County. The handler's proposal that all the townships in Ottawa County be excluded disregards the fact that one Muskegon County handler has been serving the Spring Lake area, right up to the outskirts of Grand Haven, for over 20 years and that his routes have been extended into Grand Haven since health regulations were revised to permit such extension. The closeness of inter-dealer competition between Grand Haven and Muskegon is indicated by the fact that retail and wholesale prices in the two markets are usually identical.

Similarly, producers supplying a dealer whose plant is located in Whitehall and who distributes milk in that village, in Montague, and in two or three surrounding townships proposed that this area be excluded. Again, however, the intercompetition, both on the supply side and in distribution, between this plant and other plants in the marketing area prohibit the exclusion of this territory.

Producers proposed that eight townships in Newaygo County be included in the marketing area. Testimony revealed that there is some distribution of milk in these townships from plants located in Muskegon County but that this represents a recent development. No data or reliable estimates were available to show the comparative volumes of milk served by such handlers as compared with sales by local handlers or from plants located outside the proposed area. Producers also proposed the inclusion of six towns in Oceana County. There was, however, no evidence that distributors from this territory are actively competing with handlers in the marketing area. Further, the handlers located in the marketing area do not regularly distribute milk in Oceana County, their interest being confined to the furnishing of comparatively small quantities of supplemental milk. Testimony revealed that no fluid milk plants are located in Robinson Township of Ottawa County. Since the distributors who are supplying milk to this township will be regulated by virtue of distribution in other portions of the marketing area, there is no need to include Robinson Township. In the circumstances, the townships in Oceana and Newaygo Counties and Robinson Township in Ottawa County have been omitted from the marketing area.

(4) Milk to be priced. The milk to be regulated by the order should be that which is regularly delivered to plants from which milk is distributed in the marketing area. To be eligible for such distribution milk must be produced, processed, and distributed in conformity with applicable health regulations, but such compliance need not be specified in the order. The milk to be priced and pooled under the order should be that which constitutes the regular source of supply for the marketing area. This supply may be delineated by providing appropriate definitions of the terms "handler", "producer", and "pool plant".

A "handler" should be defined as any person who operates a plant from which fluid milk products are disposed of for fluid consumption directly to consumers in the marketing area. Such a definition is designed to include all persons whom it is necessary to regulate under the order to accomplish the purposes of the act. The definition should include also any cooperative association with respect to that milk for which the cooperative assumes the responsibility for obligations under the order, as in the case of surplus milk diverted for the account of the cooperative.

A few milk plants located outside the marketing area dispose of some milk on routes extending into the area. If the amount of such milk is not large, its sale has little or no effect on the marketing of milk in the area. Application of order pricing and payment provisions to these distributors would entail effort and expense without contributing significantly to orderly marketing in the area. At the hearing it was proposed that handlers operating bottling plants outside the marketing area and disposing of not more than an average of 600 pounds of Class I milk per day on such routes be exempt from all except the reporting and auditing provisions of the order. Several handlers suggested lower limits on such exemption, ranging down to 200 pounds per day. However, since the definition includes sales on routes partly within the marketing area as well as those wholly within the area, it is concluded that such exemption should be established at 600 pounds per day.

The term "producer" should be defined in order to identify those dairy farmers who are the producers of the regular supply of fluid milk and cream for the market, and to whom the minimum prices specified in the order should be paid. Determination of producer status should be made on the basis of delivery of milk from the producer's farm to a pool plant as hereinafter defined.

The producer definition should allow a handler occasionally to divert the milk of some producers to nonpool plants if the handler reports the milk as producer receipts at his pool plant. This provision will facilitate interplant movements of milk for the purpose of adjusting to short-time variations in supply and requirements without depriving the farmers producing the milk of their status as producers.

The determination of pool plant status is the essential part of the determination of which dairy farmers are to be included in the market-wide pool. Therefore, specific requirements for pool plants are needed to define the supply which is generally regarded as a part of the fluid market.

Since the supply area for the Muskegon market overlaps the supply areas of other fluid markets and the manufacturing milk production area, the pool plant definition should include a requirement that a substantial portion of the milk received at the plant be disposed of as fluid products in the marketing area. This requirement is intended to provide for including in the pool all of the plants which have significant fluid milk and cream sales in the marketing area. Fluid milk plants which primarily serve markets outside the marketing area but make a few sales inside the area, and plants which are primarily manufacturing milk plants would be excluded. Such plants cannot be regarded as a part of the Muskegon fluid milk and cream market.

The order proponents originally suggested a requirement that 10 percent of the receipts from dairy farmers be disposed of in the marketing area directly to consumers. At the hearing they proposed that the requirement be raised to 20 percent. However, no specific data were available in support of such change. It appears that this pool plant requirement should be kept at the lower level until the more complete data which will result from operation of the order reveal whether or not the lower limit results in instability of marketing conditions.

A definition of "other source" milk is included to distinguish it from the regular milk supply for the fluid market which is priced under the order. The principal category of other source milk consists of that sold in the marketing area from plants which do not have a sufficient proportion of in-area sales to qualify as pool plants. Prices paid for such milk may differ substantially from those paid to producers at pool plants. The order does not regulate the prices to be paid to dairy farmers by operators of these plants having a major proportion of their sales outside the Muskegon marketing area and they remain free to compete for milk supplies without regard to the order. However, on the quantities of milk sold by such operators within the marketing area, there must be assurance that the cost of milk is at least equal to the prices paid to producers by operators of pool plants. The order provides for compensatory payments on such sales at a rate equal to the difference between the Class I and Class II prices. This rate provides a wholly objective, uniform rate which will assure that payments on in-area sales from non-pool plants are at least equal to the order prices.

(5) Classification of milk. Milk should be classified in two classes reflecting the principal differences in the value and in the quality of milk required for different uses. Class I should include all skim and butterfat disposed of for consumption as milk, skim milk or cream for fluid consumption, flavored milk, plant loss of producer milk in excess of 2 percent, and skim milk and butterfat not accounted for in Class II utilization. Class II should include skim milk and butterfat used to produce ice cream or ice cream mix, dried whole milk, nonfat dry milk solids, whole or skimmed evaporated or condensed milk, sweetened or unsweetened, in bulk or in hermatically sealed cans, butter, or cheese (including cottage cheese), or in plant loss of producer milk not in excess of 2 per cent and all plant loss of other source milk, and all skim milk dumped or disposed of as livestock feed.

Representatives of health departments in the two major cities of the marketing area testified that milk sold for fluid consumption and that used to produce skim milk, flavored milk, or cream sold for fluid consumption must be produced and handled in compliance with the same sanitation standards. These standards are substantially uniform in both of the cities.

Handlers proposed that a separate class be established for fluid cream for the purpose of pricing it at a lower level than fluid milk and other Class I products. This follows the past custom in the market of pricing whole milk used to make cream at a lower price. The problem is different, however, where the skim milk and butterfat used in each product in each class are accounted for separately. Under this system the butterfat differential is the major factor in determining the cost of cream. The handler butterfat differential provided by the order for Class I milk is somewhat lower than that proposed by the producers at the current prices of butter. As a result, even though a separate class is not established for cream, its cost to handlers will be no higher than the prices they proposed.

The producers' proposal that milk which is dumped or disposed of for livestock feed be considered as Class II should be modified to apply only to skim milk so utilized. Butterfat in the form of cream is much more valuable in relation to its bulk than skim milk and there should be no necessity for emergency disposition of this component.

With the exception of the cream classification and the classification of milk dumped or fed to livestock there was no opposition to the proposed classification provisions.

Since some handlers combine operations which utilize other source milk in the same plants as those which handle producer milk for the fluid market, it is necessary to provide a method for allocating such other source milk to the classes of utilization. Since producer milk is the milk which is regularly available for fluid consumption in the marketing area, the method of allocation provides that producer milk shall be allocated to Class I to the extent that such use is available.

Producers proposed that actual plant loss, but not to exceed 2 percent of producer milk received, be allowed in the lowest price class, any in excess of this amount to be in Class I. With plant operation of average efficiency, losses normally should not exceed 2 percent. Unlimited allocation of plant loss to Class II would place a premium on unaccounted-for milk and encourage incomplete records of Class I utilization. Any plant losses of producer milk in excess of 2 percent should, therefore, be included in Class I. The standard provisions for prorating loss between producer and other source milk, and allowing for loss on diverted producer milk at the plant where actually received, should also be included in the order.

Provision is made for classification of milk transferred between pool plants and between pool plants and non-pool plants. In the case of transfers between pool plants, transfer is permitted in any agreed class in which the transferee plant has utilization in an amount equal to or greater than the amount so transferred, after allocating any other source milk, since under a market-wide pool the classification of milk transferred between pool plants may represent any agreed producer milk use without affecting the payment to producers. Both handlers are required to report the transferred milk in the agreed classification; otherwise milk and cream transfers are classified as Class I.

In the case of transfers from a pool plant to a non-pool plant, a requirement that producer milk be allocated to the higher value uses in the transferee plant might make it difficult for pool plant operators to dispose of surplus milk. It is concluded that transfers from a pool plant to a non-pool plant in the form of milk, skim milk or cream should be in Class I, but that such transfers may be classified as Class II if so reported by the pool plant operator and if the transferee or another plant to which the product may be moved by the transferee has an equivalent use in Class II and keeps books and records which make it possible for the market administrator to verify such use.

(6) Class prices. Since the Muskegon fluid milk market supply is obtained from a region in which large quantities of milk are delivered to plants which manufacture various milk products, it is necessary that the price for the fluid market be closely related to the level of prices being paid at competing manufacturing plants. There are some differences from time to time between the prices paid at plants manufacturing different products. Therefore, the Class I price should be related to that particular manufacturing milk price which represents the best outlet for manufacturing milk at any particular time. The method of accomplishing this has been to relate the Class I price to a series of basic formula prices which represent different kinds of manufacturing milk prices. A differential should be added to the highest of the prices determined by 4 separate alternate price formulas to determine the Class I price for each month.

(a) Basic formula prices. The basic formula price to be used in determining the Class I price should be the higher of the prices paid at 18 Midwestern condenseries, a formula based on market prices of butter and non-fat dry milk solids which measures the value of milk to be used for the manufacture of these products, a formula based principally on cheese prices which will measure the value of milk used in cheesemaking, and prices paid by three dairy manufacturing plants located in Michigan. The first three of these basic formula prices measure the value of milk used in each of the 3 major manufactured dairy products, all of which are marketed nationally. The prices paid at the Michigan plants will reflect local manufacturing firms whenever these are in excess of the national averages.

Use of the highest formula prices as the basic formula price would base the Class I price on the most favorable manufacturing use for milk in each month. In an area where all important dairy products are manufactured, fluid milk markets must compete for milk with plants making the highest valued products. The Class I price should therefore be based on the formula representing the highest value of milk for manufacturing.

These basic prices are the ones proposed by the proponents with the exception of the cheese formula. Testimony at the hearing indicated that the proposed butter-cheese formula was originally designed to utilize the market prices of butter and cheese as a measure of the value of milk purchased by condenseries. It was further brought out that the formula did not reflect current proportionate marketings of cheese and butter. The formula included in the order measures only the value of milk for cheese making. Over the past four year period the prices resulting from this formula correlate extremely closely with prices paid for milk by cheese factories in Wisconsin. The formula utilizes yields of 8.53 pounds of cheese and 0.902 pound of butter per 100 pounds of milk and a 33.4-cent "make allowance."

The cheese prices used in the formula are those reported by the Dairy and Poultry Market News Service of the USDA in cooperation with the Wisconsin State Department of Markets. They have the advantage over prices derived from activities on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange of representing a much larger and more uniform volume of transactions, of being based on actual transfers of cheese from factories to buyers, and of being reported daily.

(b) Class I price. The Class I price should be determined by adding $1.10 to the basic formula price.

Producers proposed that a Class I price differential of $1.20 be added to the basic formula price each month. Although records of milk prices, production, and sales for the entire marketing area are not available, satisfactory records are available for milk supplied to plants in Muskegon and vicinity and these account for the great bulk of sales in the entire marketing area. Over the 3-year period, 1949 through 1951, the Class I prices which would have prevailed under the order would have averaged $4.28 per hundredweight as compared with an actual average price of $4.37 per hundred pounds which applied to the milk sold for fluid uses during the same period. In the fall months, October, November, and December, of 1948, 87 percent of the milk supplied by producers was utilized for fluid purposes, indicating sufficient milk for the market but no significant oversupply. However, during the 12-month period October 1948 through September 1949, fluid milk prices in the market averaged 49 cents above those which would have prevailed under the order. Milk supplies increased markedly, and in the fall of 1949 only 77 percent of producer receipts were utilized for fluid purposes. This trend was reversed in 1950. During the 12 months preceding October of that year, market prices for fluid milk averaged 3 cents above the Class I prices which would have prevailed under the order. Producer receipts increased somewhat during this period but there was a greater increase in sales, and 89 percent of producer milk was used for fluid milk purposes during the fall months. A somewhat similar trend continued in 1951. During the period October 1950 through September 1951 prices in the market averaged 2 cents more than they would have under the order and 91 percent of producer milk was utilized for fluid purposes during October–December 1951.

The average of the prices which would have resulted had the order herein recommended been in effect during the period 1948 through 1951 would have been very close to the average of the prices which actually were paid during this period. However, the movement of these two price series was significantly different and it appears that the order would have provided much more timely adjustments to actual conditions. In early 1949 the order would have provided a much more rapid downward readjustment of fluid milk prices and this readjustment would have tended to avoid the oversupply of milk in late 1949. On the other hand the more rapid upward adjustment which would have occurred in early 1951 would have encouraged additional supplies during the remainder of that year and might have alleviated the moderate shortages which developed in August and November. A Class I price differential of $1.10 is also indicated as the appropriate relationship between prices in Muskegon and in Detroit at points where the supply areas for these two markets overlap. The maximum location adjustment under the Detroit order is 21 cents per hundredweight of milk, and applies to plants located 97 miles or more from the City Hall. However, there is a substantially longer haul from the territory where the milksheds overlap to points 97 miles from Detroit than to plants in Muskegon. Accordingly, the Class I price differential provided for Muskegon is 25 cents lower than in Detroit.

The producers proposed that the Class I price differential be made subject to a "supply-demand" adjustment. Such adjustments are included in several other Federal order markets, including Detroit. Their general purpose is to increase the Class I price when supplies are short in the market and to reduce prices whenever oversupplies are developing.

In a comparatively small, well-integrated market such as is represented by Muskegon there appears to be a minimum of need for a supply-demand adjustment. Past history in this market indicates that the handlers and the producers' association have experienced no undue difficulty in attracting new producers to meet expanding requirements for milk in the area. It is true that the supply area for Muskegon meets the outer edge of the Detroit procurement area. However, it does not appear that this will result in an undue shift of producers between the two markets as a result of any price differences which may result from the operation of the supply-demand adjustment in Detroit. If experience with the operation of an order in Muskegon demonstrates the need for a supply-demand adjustment, one can appropriately be considered by amendment of the order. Experience under an order will also provide more complete data on class use and on producer receipts for the entire marketing area.

(c) Class II price. The Class II price should reflect the value of milk for general manufacturing uses in the Muskegon milkshed. An appropriate price for this use is the higher of the average of the prices paid by three local dairy manufacturing plants and a price determined by a formula based on the market prices of butter and skim powder. The average of the prices paid by three Michigan dairy manufacturing plants, as recommended for use as an alternate basic formula price, will normally reflect the value of milk in the Muskegon area which is not used for fluid consumption as milk or cream. The three plants selected are so located that their production areas include most of the Muskegon milkshed. They manufacture evaporated milk, dry whole milk and skim milk, cottage cheese and sweet cream. They are not operated or controlled by persons who will be handlers under the order. Two of these plants are included in the 18 midwest plants used in determining the basic formula price in most Federal milk marketing orders and recommended for such use herein.

It is possible, however, that due to the limited number of plants which it is practical to use, and the limited area represented, that prices paid by these plants may be lower at times than the market prices of manufactured dairy products would justify. As a safeguard against temporary depressed prices in the local area, an alternate Class II price based on the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk solids should be provided. A formula used in many milk markets under Federal regulation for pricing milk for manufacturing uses was proposed. This formula determines butterfat values at the average price of 92-score butter at Chicago plus 20 percent, and skim milk values at the average price of spray and roller process nonfat dry milk solids at Chicago area plants, converted to skim milk equivalent by use of a yield factor of 8.2 pounds of powder per hundredweight of whole milk. From the sum of the butterfat and skim values a manufacturing and marketing margin of 62.6 cents is deducted. Use of this formula price as an alternate Class II price would insure a price related to values of manufactured dairy products during any periods when the price paid by the particular local plants selected might be abnormally low for any reason.

(d) Method of accounting for milk. The classification and allocation of producer milk should be on a skim milk and butterfat basis. Because of the wide variation in the butterfat test of the various products, it is probable that the skim milk from producer milk will frequently be utilized in a different class than the butterfat from the same milk. Classification of skim milk and butterfat separately is necessary to accomplish complete classification according to use. It is also necessary to allocate producer skim milk and butterfat separately in order to give both skim milk and butterfat in producer milk preference over other source milk in the higher value uses. A continuation of the whole milk system of pricing is desirable. Class prices should be expressed as hundredweight prices, and the price for each class should be adjusted to the actual butterfat test of the class by use of the butterfat differentials set forth below.

(e) Handler butterfat differentials. The butterfat differentials to be paid by handlers for each one-tenth of one per cent that the butterfat content of producer milk utilized in Class I is above or below 3.5 per cent should be computed by multiplying the price of 92-score butter at Chicago by 1.25 and dividing the result by 10. The multiplier for Class II milk should be 1.15.

The Class I butterfat differential proposed by producers was 2 cents over the producer butterfat differential. This would have resulted in a differential of 9 cents when butter prices range from 60 to 65 cents, with a one-half cent increase or decrease for each 5-cent change in butter prices. Within the 60–61 cent range the rate therefore, would average 1.44 times the butter price while the changes above or below the 60 to 65-cent range of butter prices would be the rate of 1.00. No evidence was offered in support of such an extreme variation in differential rates and it appears preferable to have the differential move at a constant rate for any level of butter prices. It also appears that the butterfat differential ought not be as high as those proposed by producers. One consideration is that there have been no handler differentials in this market; only the producer differential as has been applicable and this has been at a rate ranging from 116.7 to 107.9 at butter prices ranging from 60 to 64.9 cents and gradually decreasing as the butter price increases. The somewhat lower differential included in the order also recognizes the fact that fluid cream is included in Class I and is in line with previous costs of whole milk purchased by handlers for separation into fluid cream and skim milk.

The Class II butterfat differential proposed by producers was based on the proportionate values of butterfat and skim milk reflected in the butter-powder basic formula price. The order differential of 1.15 is at essentially the same level as the producer proposal but follows the same procedure for computing butterfat differentials as is included in the vast majority of Federal milk marketing orders.

(7) Payments to producers—(a) Type of pool. Market-wide pooling of all proceeds of producer milk was proposed by the producer representatives. Marketing conditions require the payment of a uniform price to all producers representing the value of all market utilization to compensate all producers fairly for their contribution to the market supply. Some distributors buy as closely as possible to their needs and carry little or no surplus in the high production months. A cooperative handles the spring surplus production of its members and supplies several distributors with milk as needed. Producers supplying these various handler plants contribute equally to making available a year-around supply of milk but would receive widely varying returns under an individual handler pool method of payment.

Handlers are required to make payments for all producer milk received at the uniform base price for base milk and the excess price for excess milk, as explained below, either to producers directly or to a cooperative association for milk delivered by member producers. In the case of producers for whom a cooperative acts as marketing agent, payment may be made to the producer or to the cooperative, as agreed between the cooperative and the handler.

(b) Base-excess plan. A "base plan" for returning the proceeds of milk sales to producers in a way which will encourage more uniform seasonal production is provided. Milk is to be paid for on the basis of deliveries during the August–December period.

A base plan has been in use in the Muskegon market for several years, and a proposal was made to incorporate a base plan in the order in substantially the form now in use by the proponents. The effect of the base plan in encouraging more even production is shown by records of daily average deliveries per farm. In the Muskegon area deliveries in the highest month of 1948, the earliest year for which data were submitted, were 172 percent of the lowest month and in 1949 deliveries in the month of highest deliveries were only 135 percent of deliveries in the lowest month.

Fundamentally, the plan provides that each producer will receive the manufacturing milk price for milk delivered each month in excess of a daily average amount, the producer's "base", which base is the daily average of shipments of the producer for the period of August through December of the previous year, the "base period." For milk deliveries not in excess of base, a "base price" is paid which is computed by dividing total market base milk deliveries into the remaining returns for all producer milk marketed during the month after deducting the value of the milk in excess of base. Each producer's base for the 12 months starting each February 1 is his average daily deliveries for a minimum of 122 days during the August 1–December 1 period of the preceding year.

The proponent cooperative proposed that a new producer entering the market or a producer electing to give up his base, be paid for a certain percentage of his milk during each of the first three full months of delivery at the base price and the remainder at the excess price. These percentages would be fixed for each month at a somewhat lower percentage of base and higher percentage of excess than the normal market average of all producers for the month. The average daily amount of milk paid for as base milk over the three-month period would determine the producer's daily base until a new base is established. The percentages proposed reflect the seasonal production pattern of new producers as determined from market experience. The low spring percentages are necessary if producers are to be given the option of establishing a new base in order to prevent producers having a wide seasonal variation from receiving higher payments than justified by establishing two bases each year. Also, producers are not encouraged to enter the market in the months when there is an oversupply of milk. The recommended percentages of milk deliveries to be paid for at the base price, 75 percent for January and February, 70 percent for March, 60 percent for April and July and 40 percent for May and June, are appropriate for making payments in these months to new producers and to producers who elect to establish new bases. Payments during the base period, however, should be at the market blend price. Base should be established on deliveries during the base period at 80 percent of deliveries. This would give old shippers the option of establishing a new base on 100 percent of daily average deliveries in the 5 months of August through December or establishing a short-time base at 80 percent of deliveries in any 3 months, such short-time base to apply for the entire year following the next February 1.

In the Muskegon market the months of lowest production in relation to fluid milk sales are normally October, November, December and January. The base period proposed includes August and September which are usually months of more plentiful supply than are January and February, and does not include January. These months appear to have been selected to offset the lag in production responses which require the stimulus to fall and winter production to become effective some months in advance of the period of shortest production in relation to market needs. A base period extending through January and February would tend to result in higher production in the spring months of oversupply. It is concluded that the proposed base-forming period should be adopted and that deliveries for only 122 days during the period be required. This would allow a producer starting delivery not later than September 1 to establish a base on 100 percent of deliveries for 4 months, and for limited lapses in delivery during the period by those who ship for 5 months.

A proposal that bases be reduced by the difference between the average base period deliveries and 90 percent of the previous base was the result of long experience in the market which has shown that such an adjustment eliminates most cases of inequity and dissatisfaction because of reductions in base due to accident, disease, weather, feed quality and other conditions more or less beyond the control of the producer.

A period of one month is allowed following the end of the base period to compute new bases. Every producer (except those who have been on the market less than 3 months) receives a new base on February 1 computed as the average of daily deliveries during the base forming months, or 80 percent of average daily deliveries in 3 months.

It is provided that all milk be considered as base milk and be paid for at a uniform price until bases have been established by deliveries during the first base period after the order becomes effective. This, of course, would not prevent a cooperative from repooling the returns for milk of its members and making payments on such base and excess plan as it may elect.

Rules have been provided for the handling of bases under certain circumstances. It is provided that any producer who fails to deliver milk to a handler for 45 consecutive days shall lose his base.

(c) Producer butterfat differential. The butterfat differential to be paid producers for each one-tenth of one percent that the butterfat content of the milk they deliver during the month is above or below 3.5 percent should be computed by multiplying the price of 92-score butter at Chicago by 1.15 and dividing the result by 10. It appears that this butterfat differential will result in a supply of producer milk of satisfactory butterfat test for the needs in the market.

This differential is at essentially the same rate as that proposed by producers. Their proposal called for a differential of 7 cents in butter prices ranging from 60 to 65 cents, with a one-half cent increase or decrease in the differential for each 5 cents change in butter prices. The base rate of their proposed differential is 1.12 times the butter price and changes are at the rate of 1.00.

(8) Administrative provisions.—(a) Administrative assessments. The act provides that the costs of administering a milk marketing order shall be financed by assessments on handlers subject to the order. An assessment of 4 cents per hundredweight of milk received from producers was proposed for this purpose.

As the order was originally proposed, there would have been only negligible quantities of other source milk sold for fluid purposes in the marketing area and the assessment could have been confined to producer milk. However, milk sold by handlers who have significant sales in the area but less than the 10 percent required for pool plant status will be considered as other source milk. The market administrator will necessarily audit their records and check the products sold by such handlers to the same extent as for the pool plants which receive milk from producers as defined under the order. In fact, he will probably incur more expense in proportion to the volume of milk sold in the area.

It is concluded that the administrative assessment of 4 cents per hundredweight of milk should apply to other source milk sold as Class I in the marketing area as well as to milk received from producers.

(b) Market services. To verify payments to producers at required rates, it is necessary to determine that butterfat tests and weights are accurate. To promote orderly marketing and encourage the production of an adequate supply of milk of satisfactory quality, it is necessary to furnish information regarding the market to individual producers. The cost of these market services should be paid by the producers who receive the benefits. Cooperative associations may be performing these services for members. It is provided, therefore, that in making payments to producers who are members of cooperatives determined by the Secretary to be performing such services, handlers shall be required to deduct from payments to producers and pay to the cooperative such amounts as are authorized by the members of the cooperative. In the case of producers who are not receiving such services from their cooperative, the service should be performed by the market administrator with funds provided by a deduction from payments to such producers. It is provided, therefore, that a deduction of 7 cents per hundredweight be made from payments to producers not receiving market services from a cooperative of which they are members and paid to the market administrator to be used for performing such services, and that this rate of 7 cents may be lowered by the Secretary if experience proves a lesser amount to be sufficient.

(c) Other administrative provisions. The other provisions cover administrative procedures necessary to carry out the pricing and payment requirements of the order, and for the liquidation of accounts in the event of suspension or termination of the order. Appointment of a market administrator is provided for and his powers and duties are prescribed. The computations to be made by the market administrator in determining class prices, the uniform price and the base price are set forth. A producer-equalization account is provided and the method of determining payments due to and from this account outlined so that each handler's payments to or receipts from this account together with his payments to producers or cooperatives for milk will equal the value of his producer milk at the class prices. Handlers are required to permit verification by audit of all utilization of milk and milk products. Handlers are required to preserve all necessary records to show receipts, utilization and payments for a period of 3 years. This is considered long enough to allow for all necessary verification and at the same time not burden handlers with an unreasonable volume of old records. Records involved in any litigation, however, must be retained until released by the market administrator.

The termination of any obligation of a handler regarding any payment required by the order or of the market administrator to pay any handler is provided at the end of the 2 years. Exceptions in the case of handler obligations are made in cases of notification of the obligation by the market administrator, failure or refusal of a handler to submit records, or transactions involving fraud or willful concealment of facts. A definite date for terminating obligations prevents the filing of claims which might extend back many years and involve substantial amounts. The resulting uncertainty could cause serious inequities and endanger the stability of the market. Handlers cannot always be forewarned as to contingent liabilities and it is extremely difficult and burdensome for them to make adequate provision therefor by setting up reserves or by taking other precautionary measures. It is concluded that in general a period of 2 years is a reasonable time in which the market administrator should complete his audits and render billings for money due under the order.

Payments to producers have customarily been made on the 15th of the month following that in which the milk was received. It is considered desirable to continue this practice, as a shorter time is impractical considering the necessary reports and computations to be made. On the other hand, producers should not be required to wait longer than 15 days when payment can be made within that time. Dates specified for announcement of class prices, submission of handler reports, announcement of uniform prices and equalization fund obligations are so set as to permit payments to producers by the 15th of the following month.

(9) Other provisions. Producers are deprived of the use of money rightfully belonging to them if a handler refuses to pay an obligation when due. It is provided therefore that an added charge of one-half percent per month be added to overdue accounts which will compensate producers for being deprived of money due them and also remove the advantage which would accrue to a handler if he could delay payments and have the use of money due to producers at no cost.

To avoid the application of two or more Federal orders to the handling of the same milk, it is provided that if the Secretary determines that a larger proportion of Class I milk is marketed under the pricing and payment provisions of any other Federal milk marketing order, it shall be exempt from all except the reporting and auditing provisions of this order.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, the available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs were filed on behalf of a producer cooperative association, certain other producers, and milk distributors in the area. The briefs contained statements of facts, proposed findings and conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed order. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistant with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this recommended decision.

Recommended marketing agreement and order. The following order is recommended as the appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order:

The market administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

§ 985.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received at a pool plant (a) in milk from producers or from a cooperative association, (b) in any form from other handlers and (c) in other source milk required to be reported pursuant to § 985.30, shall be classified separately as skim milk and butterfat, in the classes set forth in § 985.41.

§ 985.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 985.42 and 985.43 the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of for consumption in fluid form as milk, skim milk, butterfat, flavored milk, sweet or sour cream, and (2) not accounted for as Class II utilization.

(b) Class II utilization shall be all skim milk and butterfat, (1) used to produce ice cream, ice cream mix, or cottage cheese, or disposed of as whole or skimmed condensed or evaporated milk (sweetened or unsweetened) in bulk or in hermetically sealed cans, cheese, dried whole milk, non-fat dry milk solids, or butter; (2) in actual shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat in milk received from producers, but not to exceed 2 percent of such receipts; and (3) in actual shrinkage in other source milk; and (4) all skim milk dumped or disposed of as livestock feed.

§ 985.42 Shrinkage. (a) If producer milk is utilized in conjunction with other source milk, the shrinkage shall be allocated pro rata between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat in producer milk and in other source milk.

(b) Shrinkage on producer milk shall be computed on that quantity of milk received directly from producers. Shrinkage shall be computed on diverted producer milk at the plant receiving such milk.

§ 985.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat disposed of from a pool plant to another pool plant in the form of milk, skim milk or cream shall be Class I utilization unless Class II utilization is indicated by the operators of both plants in their reports submitted pursuant to § 985.30: Provided, That in no event shall the amount so classified as Class II be greater than the amount of producer milk used in such class in the pool plant of the transferee handler after allocating other source milk in such plant in series beginning with the lowest priced utilization.

(b) Skim milk and butterfat moved in the form of milk, skim milk or cream from a pool plant to a handler described in § 985.101 or to a plant not a pool plant located not more than 50 miles by shortest highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from the Muskegon County Court House, shall be Class I utilization unless all of the following conditions are met:

(1) Class II utilization is indicated by the operator of the pool plant in his report submitted pursuant to § 985.30.

(2) The operator of such nonpool plant in the month of such movement had actually used an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat in Class II, or moved such amount to another nonpool plant which meets the requirements of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph and utilized in the month an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat in Class II.

(3) The operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records which are made available for examination upon request by the market administrator and which are adequate for the verification of such Class II utilization.

(c) Skim milk and butterfat moved in the form of milk, skim milk or cream from a pool plant to a plant not a pool plant and located more than 50 miles by shortest highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, from the Muskegon County Court House shall be Class I utilization.

§ 985.44 Responsibility of handlers. All skim milk and butterfat shall be classified as Class I utilization unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat proves to the market administrator that such skim milk or butterfat should be classified otherwise.

§ 985.45 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and obvious errors the monthly report submitted by each handler and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I and Class II utilization for each handler.

§ 985.46 Allocation of butterfat classified. The pounds of butterfat remaining after making the following computations shall be the pounds in each class allocated to milk received from producers:

(a) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat in Class II utilization, the pounds of butterfat shrinkage allowed pursuant to § 985.41 (b) (3);

(b) Subtract from the total pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, in series beginning with the lowest-priced utilization, the pounds of butterfat in other source milk;

(c) Subtract from the pounds of butterfat remaining in each class, the pounds of butterfat received from other handlers in such classes pursuant to § 985.43 (a); and

(d) Add to the remaining pounds of butterfat in Class II utilization the pounds subtracted pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section;

(e) If the remaining pounds of butterfat in both classes exceed the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the remaining pounds of butterfat in each class in series, beginning with the lowest-priced utilization.

§ 985.47 Allocation of skim milk classified. Allocate the pounds of skim milk in each class to milk received from producers in a manner similar to that prescribed for butterfat in § 985.46.

§ 985.48 Determination of average butterfat content. Determine the weighted average butterfat content of the Class I and Class II milk computed pursuant to §§ 985.46 and 985.47.

(a) The average of the basic or field prices per hundredweight reported to have been paid, or to be paid, for milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the U. S. D. A.:

§ 985.51 Class I milk price. (a) The minimum price per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his pool plant, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers or from cooperative associations during the month, which is classified as Class I utilization shall be the basic formula price plus $1.10.

§ 985.52 Class II milk price. The minimum price per hundredweight to be paid by each handler, f. o. b. his pool plant, for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from producers or from a cooperative association during the month, which is classified as Class II utilization, shall be the higher of the prices as computed by the market administrator pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section:

(a) The price per hundredweight computed as follows:

(1) Multiply the average price per pound of butter as described in paragraph (b) (1) of § 985.50 by 1.2 and then by 3.5.

(2) Multiply by 8.2 the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, respectively, for human consumption, f. o. b. manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the United States Department of Agriculture.

§ 985.53 Handler butterfat differentials. If the average butterfat content of the milk of any handler allocated to any class is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to the prices of milk for each class as computed pursuant to §§ 985.51 and 985.52 for each one-tenth of one percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of one percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the average price of butter as described in § 924.50 (b) (1) by the applicable factor listed below and dividing the result by 10:

(a) Class I milk: Multiply such price by 1.25;

(b) Class II milk: Multiply such price by 1.15.

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

§ 985.60 Handler operating a plant which is not a pool plant. Each handler who operates a plant which is not a pool plant during the month shall pay to the market administrator for the producer settlement fund an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of milk disposed of from such plant in the marketing area as Class I by the difference between the Class I and Class II prices for the month, adjusted by the butterfat differentials provided in § 985.53 to the average butterfat test of all milk received at such plant from dairy farmers.

§ 985.61 Computation of value of producer milk for each handler. The value of producer milk received during the month by each handler who operates a pool plant shall be a sum of money computed by the market administrator by multiplying by the applicable class price, adjusted pursuant to § 985.53, the total combined hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat received from producers allocated to each class pursuant to § 985.48, adding together the resulting amounts, and if such handler has a utilization greater than has been accounted for as received from all sources, add an amount computed by multiplying any such excess utilization classified pursuant to § 985.46 (e) and § 985.47 by the applicable class prices.

§ 985.62 Computation of the 3.5 percent value of all producer milk. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the 3.5 percent value of producer milk by:

(a) Combining into one total the individual values of milk of all handlers computed pursuant to § 985.61, adjusted by any charges or credits pursuant to § 985.90 (a) and (b).

(b) Adding, if the weighted average butterfat test of all producer milk represented in paragraph (a) of this section is less than 3.5 percent, or subtracting if the weighted average butterfat test of such milk is more than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying the total pounds of butterfat represented by the difference of such average butterfat test from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential provided in § 985.81 multiplied by 10.

(c) Adding not less than one-half of the unobligated balance in the producer-equalization fund.

§ 985.63 Uniform price. For each month the uniform price shall be computed by: (a) Dividing the amount computed pursuant to § 985.62 by the hundredweight of milk received from producers represented by the values included in § 985.62 (a); and (b) subtracting not less than 4 cents or more than 5 cents.

§ 985.64 Excess milk price. For each month the excess milk price shall be the price of Class II utilization determined pursuant to § 985.52, rounded off to the nearest full cent.

§ 985.65 Computation of the base milk price. (a) Multiply the total pounds of excess milk and milk to be paid for at the excess milk price pursuant to § 985.70 (b) by the excess milk price for the month.

(b) Multiply the total amount of milk to be paid for at the uniform price by the uniform price for the month.

(c) Subtract the total values arrived at in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section from the total 3.5 percent value of all producer milk arrived at in § 985.62;

(d) Divide the resultant value by the total hundredweight of base milk and milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 985.70 (b); and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents. The resultant hundredweight price shall be the price of base milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received at pool plants described in § 985.6.

§ 985.66 Notification. On or before the 10th day after the end of each month the market administrator shall notify each handler of:

(a) The amounts and values of his milk in each class and the total of such amounts and values;

(b) The base of any producer delivering milk to the handler which was not used in making payments for the previous month.

(c) The amount due such handler from the producer-equilization fund or the amount to be paid by such handler to the producer-equalization fund, as the case may be; and

(d) The totals of the minimum amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 985.80, 985.83, 985.85, 985.86, and 985.90.

BASE RULES

§ 935.70 Determination of base. (a) A producer who delivered milk on at least 122 days during the period August 1 through December 31, inclusive, shall have a base computed by the market administrator to be applicable, subject to paragraph (c) of this section, for the 12 months' period beginning the following February 1, equal to his daily average milk deliveries from the date on which milk was first delivered in the period to the end of such period: Provided, That a producer who had a base previous to August 1, and whose average of daily deliveries for the August 1-December 31 period is less than such base shall have a base computed by subtracting from his previous base any amount by which 90 percent of his previous base exceeds such average of daily deliveries.

(b) A producer who has no base by reason of having delivered less than 3 full months shall be paid, until such time as he has been a producer 3 full months, the uniform price in each of the months of August through December and in other months the price applicable to base milk for the following percentages of his milk deliveries and the price applicable to excess milk for the remainder of his deliveries: 75 percent for January and February, 70 percent for March, 60 percent for April and July, and 40 percent for May and June. At the conclusion of the first three full months' delivery a base shall be established in the following manner: Multiply the total deliveries in the months of August through December by 0.8, in January and February by 0.75, in March by 0.7, in April and July by 0.6, and in May and June by 0.4. Add the amounts so computed and divide by the number of days in which milk was delivered during the three months.

(c) A producer with a base, by notifying the market administrator that he relinquishes such base, may establish a new base pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section once during the 12-month period ending December 31, the period for establishing a new base to begin the first day of the month in which such notification is received by the market administrator.

(d) From the effective date of the subpart until bases are established pursuant to this section, all milk delivered by producers shall be considered to be base milk.

§ 985.71 Application of bases. (a) A base shall apply to deliveries of milk by the producer for whose account milk was delivered during the base period and upon death may be transferred to a member or members of the deceased producer's immediate family;

(b) Bases may be transferred under the following conditions upon written notice by the holder of the base to the market administrator on or before the last day of the month that such base is to be transferred:

(1) Upon retirement or entry into military service of a producer, the entire base may be transferred to a member or members of his immediate family.

(2) Bases may be held jointly and if such joint holding is terminated the bases may be transferred as specified in writing to the market administrator by the joint holders to a person or persons who maintain a dairy herd or herds on the same farm.

(c) A producer who does not deliver milk to a handler for 45 consecutive days shall forfeit his base.

PAYMENT FOR MILK

§ 985.80 Time and method of payment. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month each handler who received milk from producers or from a cooperative association shall pay for milk received during such month to each producer, or to a cooperative association for milk received from producers for the account of such association, the uniform price as provided in § 985.70 (b), or the base price for base milk and for milk to be paid for at the base price pursuant to § 985.70 (b) and the excess price for excess milk and milk to be paid for at the excess price pursuant to § 985.70 (b), adjusted by the butterfat differential pursuant to § 985.81: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment for such month pursuant to § 985.84 he shall not be deemed to be in violation of this section if he reduces uniformly to all producers and cooperative associations his payments per hundredweight by a total amount not in excess of the reduction in payments due from the market administrator; however, the handler shall make such balance of payment uniformly to those producers to whom it is due on or before the date for making payments pursuant to this section next following that on which such balance of payment is received from the market administrator.

§ 985.81 Producer butterfat differential. In making payments pursuant to § 985.80, the uniform price, base price and excess price shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat content in the milk received from each producer or a cooperative association above or below 3.5 percent, as the case may be, by an amount computed by multiplying the average price of butter as described in § 985.50 (b) (1) by 1.15 and dividing the result by 10.

§ 985.82 Producer-equalization fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund, known as the "producer-equalization fund" into which he shall deposit all payments received pursuant to § 985.83 and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to § 985.84.

§ 985.83 Payments to the producer-equalization fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, each handler: (a) Whose value of milk is required to be computed pursuant to § 985.61 shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which such value for such month is greater than the minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 985.80; (b) who is required to make payment pursuant to § 985.60 shall pay such amount to the market administrator.

§ 985.84 Payments out of the producer-equalization fund. On or before the 14th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the value of milk for such handler for the month pursuant to § 985.61 is less than the total minimum amount required to be paid by him pursuant to § 985.80, less any unpaid obligations of such handler to the market administrator pursuant to § 985.83: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-equalization fund is insufficient to make all payments to all such handlers pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds become available.

§ 985.85 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this subpart, each handler shall pay to the market administrator on or before the 13th day after the end of each month four cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding four cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the month of milk from producers.

§ 985.86 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments pursuant to § 985.80 for milk received from each producer at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producer is a member, shall deduct seven cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding seven cents per hundredweight as the Secretary may prescribe, with respect to all such milk received during the month and, on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, shall pay such deductions to the market administrator. Such moneys shall be used by the market administrator to verify weights, samples, and tests of milk received from producers and to provide producers with market information, such services to be performed by the market administrator or by an agent engaged by and responsible to him.

(b) In the case of producers whose milk is received at a plant not operated by a cooperative association of which such producers are members, and for whom a cooperative association is actually performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, as determined by the Secretary, each handler shall make, in lieu of the deductions specified in paragraph (a) of this section, such deductions from payments required pursuant to § 985.80 as may be authorized by such producers, and pay such deductions on or before the 13th day after the end of the month to the cooperative association rendering such services of which such producers are members.

ADJUSTMENT OF ACCOUNTS

§ 985.90 Payments. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses adjustments to be made, for any reason, which result in moneys due:

(a) To the market administrator from such handler,

(b) To such handler from the market administrator, or

(c) To any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall notify such handler promptly of any such amount due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date, following the 5th day after such notice, for making payment set forth in the provision under which such error occurred.

§ 985.91 Overdue accounts. Any unpaid obligation of a handler or of the market administrator pursuant to §§ 985.83, 985.85, 985.86, and 985.90 shall be increased one-half of one percent on the first day of the month next following the due date of such obligation and on the first day of each month thereafter until such obligation is paid.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 985.100 Milk caused to be delivered by cooperative associations. Milk referred to in this subpart as received from producers by a handler shall include milk of producers caused to be delivered to such handlers by a cooperative association.

§ 985.101 Handler exemption. A handler who operates a plant located outside the marketing area from which an average of less than 600 pounds of Class I milk per day is disposed of during the delivery period on a route(s) operating wholly or partly within the marketing area and from which no milk is transferred to other handlers, or a handler whom the Secretary finds is subject, during the delivery period, to another Federal order and whose disposition of Class I milk in the other Federal marketing area exceeds that in the Muskegon marketing area, shall be exempted for such delivery period from all provisions of this subpart except §§ 985.31, 985.32, and 985.33.

§ 985.102 Producer-handler. A producer-handler shall be exempt from all provisions of this subpart except that he shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request.

TERMINATIONS OF OBLIGATIONS

§ 985.110 Termination of obligations. (a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this subpart shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the month during which the market administrator receives the handler's report of utilization of the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to a cooperative association, the name of such producers or associations, or, if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this subpart, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books or records required by this subpart to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the month following the month during which such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this subpart to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or wilful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this subpart shall terminate two years after the end of the month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

§ 985.121 When suspended or terminated. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that this subpart, or any provision of this subpart, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this subpart or any such provision of this subpart.

§ 985.122 Continuing obligation. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this subpart, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 985.123 Liquidation. Under the suspension or termination of the provisions of this subpart, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers, in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 985.130 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this subpart.

ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, Section 20 (c) Special Order 9]

PRICES FOR EMERGENCY ROAD SERVICE SUPPLIED TO THE CALIFORNIA STATE AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION, 150 VAN NESS AVENUE, SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Statement of considerations. The ceiling prices for emergency road service supplied to the California State Automobile Association, 150 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, California, by garages and service stations presently under contract with the association to supply such service are adjusted by this Special Order pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended.

This section authorizes the Director of Price Stabilization to adjust ceiling prices of sellers of an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available. In order to obtain an adjustment under this section, the buyer must demonstrate that he is purchasing an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available from sellers thereof who are too numerous to make recourse by them to section 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, practicable. The purchaser must further demonstrate that these sellers are threatening to discontinue supplying him with such service, and in addition, the applicant must agree to absorb any price increase over his sellers' existing ceiling prices and must so state in his application. The buyer may not apply for or obtain an increase in his suppliers' ceiling prices for the service supplied to him, which would bring the proposed increased ceiling prices in excess of the price he would be required to pay to other suppliers of the same service. The buyer's application must also show the nature and extent of the sellers' direct labor and material cost increases incurred by them since their ceiling prices for that service were established. These cost increases will be considered by the Office of Price Stabilization in determining the amount of price increase which may be granted. Where practicable the purchaser must state the names and addresses of the sellers and the ceiling prices of each seller.

It appears from information submitted in the application that the association serves approximately 250,000 members in California and Nevada; that it has contracts with approximately 320 public garages and service stations to provide emergency road service to these members; that payment for this emergency road service is made by the association from membership dues and that there are presently requests for rate increases from many contract stations. The application indicates that the supply of such service is limited; that the rates vary with the nature and the character of the area where the garage or service station is located, e. g. from a metropolitan district such as San Francisco to the sparsely settled districts of Nevada; that the increased ceiling prices for the emergency road service will not exceed the prevailing prices at which the applicant could purchase the same service and will generally be substantially less than the prevailing commercial rates; that the applicant's suppliers are threatening to discontinue supplying such service because their ceiling prices are below prevailing rates; and that the applicant has agreed to absorb any price increases and will not pass on such increases to its members.

The Director of Price Stabilization has determined from data submitted by the applicant, that the sellers of emergency road service to the applicant are too numerous to make recourse to paragraph 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 practicable. The increased ceiling prices reflect the direct labor and material cost increases incurred by these sellers since their ceiling prices for the service were established, and such increased prices will not be inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1 The application of the California State Automobile Association dated September 12, 1951, for an adjustment of the ceiling prices which sellers presently under contract with the association may charge the association for emergency road service is granted as follows:

On and after the effective date of this Special Order sellers presently under contract with the California State Automobile Association, who supply emergency road service pursuant to such contract with the association, may increase their ceiling prices for sales of such service to the California State Automobile Association by an amount not to exceed 15 percent of such ceiling prices, provided that the association shall comply with the provisions of paragraph 2 of this Special Order.

2 The California State Automobile Association may pay to sellers, presently under contract with the association, for emergency road service an increased price determined under paragraph 1 of this Special Order provided that it shall absorb the increase over the former ceiling price and shall not pass on such increase in rates to its members by increasing annual dues or other forms of remuneration.

3 Copies of this order shall be provided by the California State Automobile Association to the garages and service stations to which this order is applicable. A copy of this order shall be kept at the place of business of each of these garages and service stations and another copy shall be filed by each seller of emergency road service with the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization with which each of the garages or service stations has filed or is required to file a statement of its ceiling prices under section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

4. All requests in the application of the California State Automobile Association not granted herein are denied.

5. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, except as changed by the pricing provisions of the Special Order shall remain in effect.

6. This Special Order or any provisions thereof may be revoked, suspended or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This order shall become effective June 13, 1952.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, Section 20 (c) Special Order 10]

PRICES FOR EMERGENCY ROAD SERVICE SUPPLIED TO AUTOMOBILE CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

Statement of considerations. The ceiling prices for emergency road service supplied to the Automobile Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, California, by garages and service stations presently under contract with the club to supply such service are adjusted by this Special Order pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended.

This section authorizes the Director of Price Stabilization to adjust ceiling prices of sellers of an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available. In order to obtain an adjustment under this section, the buyer must demonstrate that he is purchasing an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available from sellers thereof who are too numerous to make recourse by them to section 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, practicable. The purchaser must further demonstrate that these sellers are threatening to discontinue supplying him with such service, and in addition, the applicant must agree to absorb any price increase over his sellers' existing ceiling prices and must so state in his application. The buyer may not apply for or obtain an increase in his suppliers' ceiling prices for the service supplied to him, which would bring the proposed increased ceiling prices in excess of the price he would be required to pay to other suppliers of the same service. The buyer's application must also show the nature and extent of the sellers' direct labor and material cost increases incurred by them since their ceiling prices for that service were established. These cost increases will be considered by the Office of Price Stabilization in determining the amount of price increase which may be granted. Where practicable the purchaser must state the names and addresses of the sellers and the ceiling prices of each seller.

It appears from information submitted in the application that the club serves approximately 325,000 members in California and Nevada; that it has contracts with approximately 296 public garages and service stations to provide emergency road service to these members; that payment for this emergency road service is made by the club from membership dues and that there are presently requests for rate increases from many contract stations. The application indicates that the supply of such service is limited; that the rates vary with the nature and the character of the area where the garage or service station is located, e. g. from a metropolitan district such as Los Angeles to the sparsely settled districts of Nevada; that the increased ceiling prices for the emergency road service will not exceed the prevailing prices at which the applicant could purchase the same service and will generally be substantially less than the prevailing commercial rates; that the applicant's suppliers are threatening to discontinue supplying such service because their ceiling prices are below prevailing rates; and that the applicant has agreed to absorb any price increases and will not pass on such increases to its members.

The Director of Price Stabilization has determined from data submitted by the applicant, that the sellers of emergency road service to the applicant are too numerous to make recourse to paragraph 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 practicable. The increased ceiling prices reflect the direct labor and material cost increases incurred by these sellers since their ceiling prices for the service were established, and such increased prices will not be inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1. The application of the Automobile Club of Southern California dated September 21, 1951, for an adjustment of the ceiling prices which sellers presently under contract with the club may charge the club for emergency road service is granted as follows:

On and after the effective date of this Special Order sellers presently under contract with the Automobile Club of Southern California, who supply emergency road service pursuant to such contract with the club, may increase their ceiling prices for sales of such service to the Automobile Club of Southern California by an amount not to exceed 15% of such ceiling prices, provided that the club shall comply with the provisions of paragraph 2 of this Special Order.

2. The Automobile Club of Southern California may pay to sellers, presently under contract with the club, for emergency road service an increased price determined under paragraph 1 of this Special Order provided that it shall absorb the increase over the former ceiling price and shall not pass on such increase in rates to its members by increasing annual dues or other forms of remuneration.

3. Copies of this order shall be provided by the Automobile Club of Southern California to the garages and service stations to which this order is applicable. A copy of this order shall be kept at the place of business of each of these garages and service stations and another copy shall be filed by each seller of emergency road service with the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization with which each of the garages or service stations has filed or is required to file a statement of its ceiling prices under section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

4. All requests in the application of the Automobile Club of Southern California not granted herein are denied.

5. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, except as changed by the pricing provisions of the Special Order shall remain in effect.

6. This Special Order or any provisions thereof may be revoked, suspended or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This order shall become effective June 13, 1952.

JUNE 16, 1952.

New England Power Company ("NEPCO"), a public-utility subsidiary company of New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, having filed with this Commission an application, pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act and Rules U-23, U-42 (b) (2) and U-50 promulgated thereunder, with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Total fees and expenses in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at not more than $63,000 which includes estimates for services performed, at cost, by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, of $16,000, for services rendered by independent public accountants of $2,500, for services rendered by independent engineers of $3,000 and for services rendered by the Trustee under the Supplemental Indenture of $4,000.

The application further states that the Department of Public Utilities of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the Vermont Public Service Commission and the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission have expressly authorized the issuance and sale of said Series E Bonds and that no other State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

NEPCO having requested that the period for the invitation of the bids, as prescribed in Rule U-50 under the act, be shortened to not less than six days and the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance; and

PUBLIC SERVICE CO. OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

ORDER AUTHORIZING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF SHARES OF ADDITIONAL PREFERRED STOCK SUBJECT TO COMPETITIVE BIDDING

JUNE 16, 1952.

Public Service Company of New Hampshire ("Public Service"), a subsidiary company of New England Public Service Company, a registered holding company, which in turn is a subsidiary company of Northern New England Company, also a registered holding company, having filed an application pursuant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rules U-20, U-22, U-23, U-24, and U-50 thereunder with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Public Service proposes to issue and sell 50,000 shares of its cumulative __ percent preferred stock, $100 par value, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50. The dividend rate and the price per share to be paid to the company (to be not less than $100 per share nor more than $102.75 per share) are to be determined by the competitive bidding.

It is stated in the filing that during the year 1952 the company contemplates the expenditure for its construction program of about $12,124,000 and that the net proceeds from the sale of the preferred stock will be used to provide a portion of the funds required for the company's construction program; and that total expenses to be incurred by Public Service in connection with the issuance and sale of the preferred stock are estimated at $33,500, of which $12,500 is for legal fees and expenses.

Orders have been issued by the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission and Vermont Public Service Commission authorizing the issuance and sale of the additional preferred stock as proposed, subject in the case of New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission, to a further order as to price and related matters.

Public Service requests that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance and that the ten-day period for inviting bids, as provided in Rule U-50, be shortened to a period of not less than six days.

The Commission finding that said application, as amended, satisfies the requirements of the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, that it is not necessary to impose any terms and conditions other than as set forth below, and that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the amended application, including the request to shorten the bidding period, be granted effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application as amended be, and it hereby is, granted effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and to the following additional conditions:

1. That the issuance and sale of said preferred stock shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 shall have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order shall have been entered by this Commission in the light of the record so completed, which order may contain such further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate;

2. That jurisdiction be, and it hereby is reserved with respect to payment of all legal fees and expenses of counsel for Public Service and the underwriters in connection with said transaction.

KITTERY ELECTRIC LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING OF PROPOSED SALE BY SUBSIDIARY OF REGISTERED HOLDING COMPANY OF UNSECURED NOTES

JUNE 16, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that Kittery Electric Light Company, ("Kittery Electric"), a subsidiary company of New England Gas and Electric Association ("NEGEA"), a registered holding company, has filed an application purusant to section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder with respect to the following transaction:

Kittery, all of whose outstanding capital stocks are owned by one of NEGEA's subsidiary companies, New Hampshire Electric Company, which has been granted an exemption as a holding company pursuant to section 3 (a) (1) of the act, proposes to issue and sell privately $150,000 principal amount of unsecured notes to be dated June 1, 1952, bearing interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum and to mature June 1, 1977. The notes are to be sold in equal principal amounts of $75,000 each, to Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Maine Savings Bank, both of Portland, Maine, at a price of 101 percent of principal amount, plus accrued interest.

The notes provide, among other things, for the issuance of additional long-term debt, subject to the limitation that aggregate long-term debt shall not exceed $250,000 plus 60 percent of the cost or fair value (whichever is less) of net property additions made subsequent to April 30, 1952, provided net earnings of the company, as defined in the notes, for the period specified therein, are at least 2½ times the annual interest charges on all long-term indebtedness to be outstanding. The notes also provide that the company will not mortgage, pledge, or create any lien on any of its property

(except for purchase-money mortgages or liens and for pledges in the usual course of business as security for loans maturing in less than one year) without securing the notes equally and ratably with all other obligations secured thereby.

In addition, the notes provide for an annual cash sinking fund payment, commencing April 15, 1952, sufficient to redeem 1½ percent of the aggregate principal amount of the issue. The notes also provide that the company will not, except with the consent of the holders thereof, declare any dividends from earned surplus existing at December 31, 1951.

Kittery will use the proceeds from the sale of the notes to reimburse its treasury for expenditures therefrom for construction and to finance future construction.

The filing states that no Federal Commission, other than this Commission, and no State Commission other than the Maine Public Utilities Commission, which has issued an order approving the proposed sale of notes, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Total expenses in connection with the proposed transaction are estimated at $2,500, including a commission of $1,500 to H. M. Payson & Co., investment bankers, for arranging the note sale, and legal fees of $250 payable to Verrill Dana Walker Philbrick & Whitehouse, counsel for the company. The filing requests that the Commission's order become effective upon issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 23, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reason or reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 and U-100 thereof.

By the Commission.

GENERAL PUBLIC UTILITIES CORP.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED ISSUANCE AND SALE OF COMMON STOCK THROUGH SUBSCRIPTION WARRANTS TO COMMON STOCKHOLDERS

JUNE 16, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that General Public Utilities Corporation ("GPU"), a registered holding company, has filed an application-declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("the act"), designating sections 6 (a), 7, and 12 (c) thereof and Rules U-42 and U-50 as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

GPU proposes to issue 531,949 additional shares of its authorized and unissued common stock, par value $5 per share, offering same first to the holders of its outstanding common stock by transferable subscription warrants carrying the right to subscribe for shares of such additional common stock on the basis of one share for each fifteen shares of common stock held of record. The duration of such offer, which will be approximately 16 days, the record date, and the subscription price will be supplied by amendment.

Warrants will be issued only to purchase full shares. GPU states that it will invite approximately six investment banking houses to submit written proposals to purchase for public distribution the fractional interest shares, which it estimates will aggregate about 25,000 full shares. The proceeds from the sale of such shares, less the aggregate subscription price, will be distributed ratably in lieu of fractional shares. The reoffering price of such shares will be supplied by amendment.

Up to a date to be specified by amendment, the initial stockholders may sell their subscription rights to GPU, but only in multiples of 15 rights, at a price per right which will be one-fifteenth of the difference between the last sale price of GPU common stock on the New York Stock Exchange on the date of receipt by the subscription agent of the warrant evidencing such rights, and the subscription price.

The offering will not be underwritten nor will GPU enter into any dealer-manager arrangement. GPU does propose, however, to utilize the services of security dealers, in soliciting the exercise of the warrants and in disposing of shares covered by rights purchased by GPU or not exercised by the holders prior to the expiration date. The compensation per share to be paid by GPU to the participating dealers will be specified by amendment.

During the subscription period or until such date not later than ten days thereafter as GPU may determine, participating dealers may purchase from GPU all or any part of such shares as GPU shall make available for sale with respect to rights purchased by GPU or not exercised by the holders. The purchase price to be paid to GPU by participating dealers shall be announced by GPU on the day of such purchase, and shall not be (a) in excess of the last quoted price asked for shares of GPU common stock on the New York Stock Exchange plus an amount per share to be specified by amendment, or (b) less than the higher of the last previous bid price for such stock or the subscription price. In the event any shares thus made available to participating dealers are not purchased by them within 24 hours after notice of availability, GPU may sell such shares to other persons at the price then applicable to sales by participating dealers, as determined and announced by GPU on the day of such sale.

GPU states that it may, during the subscription period and for not more than ten days thereafter, effect transactions designed to stabilize the market for the rights and shares, but that in no event will it acquire, as a result of such transactions, a net long position in excess of 53,195 shares.

GPU requests that the Commission grant an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 to the extent that such rule may be applicable to the sale of the additional common stock to participating dealers or others, and that the Commission's order herein be made effective upon issuance.

Of the net proceeds from the sale of the additional common stock, GPU states that it will use $4,000,000 to repay its bank loans incurred for the purpose of making an additional investment in the common stock of its subsidiary Metropolitan Edison Company, $5,000,000 to purchase additional common stock of another subsidiary, Pennsylvania Electric Company, and the balance to purchase additional common stock of its subsidiaries and for other corporate purposes.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 25, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided by Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rule U-20 (a) and Rule U-100 thereof.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed by Hevi Duty Electric Company ("Hevi Duty"), a non-utility company which is a subsidiary of The North American Company, a registered holding company. The declarant has designated sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act as being applicable to the proposed transaction which is summarized as follows:

The company is engaged in the business of manufacturing and selling electric furnaces and certain other electrical equipment. No fees, commissions or other remuneration are to be paid to any third person in connection with negotiating the proposed transaction.

The company states that no regulatory commission other than this Commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

The declarant has requested that the Commission's order herein become effective upon issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 27, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. LONG ISLAND RAIL ROAD CO.

REROUTING OR DIVERSION OF TRAFFIC

In the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, Agent, The Long Island Rail Road Company, William Wyer, Trustee, because of work stoppage, is unable to transport traffic routed over its lines.

It is ordered, That:

(a) Rerouting traffic: The Long Island Rail Road Company, William Wyer, Trustee, being unable to transport traffic in accordance with shippers' routing, because of work stoppage, is hereby authorized to divert or reroute such traffic over any available route to expedite the movement, regardless of routing shown on the waybill. (c) Where to apply. Application for price support should be made at the office of the PMA county committee which keeps the farm-program records for the farm.

(d) When to apply. Loans and purchase agreements will be available to producers from the time of harvest through January 31, 1953 (July 31, 1953, in the case of range grass seeds), and the applicable documents must be signed by the producer and delivered to the county committee not later than such date. Where additional time is needed to determine the quality of any eligible variety of seed, the completion of applicable documents and the disbursement on loans may be delayed until March 31, 1953, in the case of seeds other than range grass seeds, and not later than August 31, 1953, in the case of range grass seeds: Provided, however, That such later dates will be approved only for producers who have applied for loans on or before January 31, 1953 (July 31, 1953, in the case of range grass seeds).

(e) Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity producing seed listed in § 601.1983 in 1952 as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper.

Cooperative marketing associations of producers shall be deemed to be eligible producers for loans and purchase agreements, provided (1) the producer members are bound by contract to market through the association; (2) the major part of the seed marketed by the association is produced by members who are eligible producers; (3) the members share proportionately in the proceeds from marketings according to the quantity and quality of seed each delivers to the association; (4) the seed purchased from nonmembers is segregated at all times to assure that the seed placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement is seed grown by producer members; and, (5) the association has the legal right to pledge or mortgage the seed as security for a loan or to sell the seed under a purchase agreement.

§ 601.1976 Eligible seed. At the time the seed is placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, the seed shall meet the following requirements:

(a) The seed must have been produced in the continental United States in 1952 by an eligible producer and be one of the kinds and varieties named in § 601.1983.

(b) Except in the case of cooperative marketing associations of producers, the beneficial interest in the seed must be in the person tendering the seed for loan or for delivery under a purchase agreement, and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the seed was harvested. In the case of cooperative marketing associations, the beneficial interest in the seed must have been in the producer members who delivered the seed to the association and must always have been in them or in them and former producers whom they succeeded before the seed was harvested.

(c) It must on the basis of official purity analysis reports, and germination test certificates, based on representative samples taken not more than five calendar months prior to the first day of the month in which the seed is tendered for loan or purchase, be equal to or better in every respect than the minimum specifications for the particular kind of seed as shown in § 601.1983, unless the warehouseman, in the case of seed being offered for loan or delivery under a purchase agreement, certifies that the seed is of a quality eligible for price support, shows such quality on the warehouse receipt, and guarantees to deliver to CCC seed of a quality equal to, or better, than that shown on the warehouse receipt.

(d) The seed must not contain noxious weed seeds in excess of the number permitted for sale as planting seed by the State seed law, and rules and regulations pursuant thereto, of the State, in which the seed is tendered for loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, and must conform with the requirements concerning noxious weed seed in § 601.1983.

§ 601.1977 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts representing seed placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, must meet the following requirements:

(a) Warehouse receipts must be issued in the name of the producer or cooperative marketing association of producers, must be properly endorsed in blank so as to vest title in the holder, must be issued by a warehouse approved by CCC under the Seed Storage Agreement, and must show the quantity of eligible seed actually in store in the warehouse.

(b) Where the seed is commingled, the warehouseman must guarantee both the quality and the quantity of the seed.

(c) Where the warehouseman guarantees the quality of the seed placed under loan, on either an identity-preserved or commingled basis, each warehouse receipt, or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate (in duplicate) properly identified with the warehouse receipt, must show the kind or variety of the seed, the net weight and the factors used in determining the quality of the seed.

(d) Where the seed is stored on an identity-preserved basis and the warehouseman does not guarantee the quality, there shall be attached to the warehouse receipt for the lot of seed stored identity-preserved a copy of the official purity analysis report and germination test certificate.

(e) Any warehouse receipt representing seed stored on an identity-preserved basis must set forth in the written or printed terms the kind or variety of seed, the lot identity or number, the number of bags and the total net weight.

(f) Warehouse receipts shall carry an endorsement in substantially the following form:

Warehouse charges through April 30, 1953 (September 30, 1953, in the case of range grass seed), on the seed represented by this warehouse receipt have been paid or otherwise provided for, and lien for such charges will not be claimed by the warehouseman from CCC or any subsequent holder of the warehouse receipt.

§ 601.1978 Determination of quantity. All determinations of the quantity of seed delivered under a warehouse-storage loan or purchase agreement in an approved warehouse under this program shall be made on the basis of the net weight of eligible seed, as specified on the warehouse receipt. If the seed is stored on an identity-preserved basis in an approved warehouse, the net weight of seed shown on the warehouse receipt shall be determined on the basis of official weights, or where the official weights cannot be obtained, the net weight of the seed shall be determined in a manner approved by the county committee. The quantity of seed being placed under a farm-storage loan shall be determined by the county committee. The quantity of seed delivered under a farm-storage loan shall be determined on the basis of official weights, or, where official weights cannot be obtained, the net weight of the seed shall be determined in a manner approved by the county committee.

§ 601.1979 Determination of quality. All determinations of quality made by the county committee will be made on the basis of official purity and germination tests of a representative sample. An official test shall be a test made by a Federal or State Seed Testing Laboratory, or by a commercial seed testing laboratory approved by the State committee. A representative sample for determination of quality shall be a sample taken by a licensed State inspector, or where such services are not provided, the county committee shall arrange for a qualified disinterested person to obtain a representative sample. The sample shall consist of equal portions taken from evenly distributed parts of the lot of seed to be sampled.

§ 601.1980 Loss or damage to seed under farm-storage loan. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 601.1515 of the 1952 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, and the provisions of the chattel mortgage and the mortgage supplement, the producer will not be responsible for deterioration occurring without fault or negligence on his part or the part of the person in control of the farm-storage structure.

§ 601.1981 Warehouse and other charges. CCC will not pay or assume charges for cleaning, drying, bagging, sampling, testing and analysis reports, tagging, or other handling or processing operations which are necessary to prepare the seed to meet eligibility requirements for price support; nor will CCC pay or assume storage charges which accrue prior to May 1, 1953 (prior to September 30, 1953, in the case of range grass seed), or the date of the warehouse receipt, whichever is later.

§ 601.1982 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1953 (September 30, 1953, in the case of range grass seed).

§ 601.1983 Schedule of basic specifications and rates. The rates at which purchases will be made from producers and the loan and settlement rates shall be computed in accordance with the specifications and rates shown in the following schedule: Provided, That, where seed is delivered to CCC in approved used bags, a bag discount at the rate of 25 cents per 100 pounds capacity shall be applicable.

Certified seed for the purpose of this program shall be tagged and sealed by the State Crop Improvement Association or other Agency authorized to certify to the genetic purity of the seed. In States where there are two or more tag color designations used in the certification of seed and the seed did not qualify for highest grade certification, the purity to be used for price support purposes for such certified seed must be below the minimum purity requirements for certification for the next higher grade.

[7] White and yellow blossom biennial sweet clover will qualify for the biennial mixed sweet clover price support provided the mixture has a total minimum purity of at least 96 percent.

[8] Note exceptions to noxious weed seed requirements for lespedesa seed as given in supplement.

[9] Not more than 1 percent sand dropseed.

[10] Loans and purchases will be made at the respective rates on quantities of big bluestem, little bluestem, and sand bluestem in mixture: provided the mixture contains at least 30 percent of two or more of these seeds; not more than 1 percent sand dropseed and not more than 5 percent of grass seeds other than switchgrass, side oats grama, and indian-grass. The pure seed of the mixture and the germination of each component will be used in determining the value. Maximum weed seed, 2 percent.

[11] Loans and purchases will be made at the respective rates on quantities of blue grama and side oats grama in mixture: provided the mixture contains at least 25 percent of blue grama and side oats grama; not more than 1 percent of sand dropseed and not more than 5 percent of grass seeds other than Buffalo grass, bluestem, switchgrass and indian-grass. The pure seed mixture and the germination of each component will be used in determining the value. Maximum weed seed, 2 percent.

§ 601.1985 Settlement. Where seed is delivered to CCC in accordance with § 601.1518 of the 1952 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, the following additional provisions shall be applicable:

(a) Farm-storage loans. Settlement under a farm-storage loan shall be made with the producer at the applicable support price on the basis of the quantity of the seed delivered, and on the basis of the quality of the seed when placed under loan, except that if damage or deterioration has resulted from negligence on the part of the producer or other person having control of the storage structure, settlement shall be made on the basis of the quality and quantity of the seed delivered. (See paragraph (d) of this section.)

(b) Warehouse-storage loans—(1) Quality not guaranteed. If the seed is stored on an identity-preserved basis and the quality is not guaranteed by the warehouseman, settlement shall be made with the producer at the applicable support price on the basis of the quantity of seed shown on the warehouse receipt and on the basis of the quality of the seed when placed under loan, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section.

(2) Quality guaranteed. If the seed is stored on a commingled or identity-preserved basis and the warehouseman guarantees the quantity and quality, settlement shall be made with the producer at the applicable support rate on the basis of the quantity and quality of the seed shown on the warehouse receipt.

(c) Purchase agreements. If the producer has notified the county committee of his intention to sell seed under a purchase agreement in accordance with the provisions of § 601.1518 of the 1952 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, the seed will be purchased upon delivery at the applicable support price.

(1) Quality not guaranteed. If the identity of the seed is preserved and the quality is not guaranteed by an approved warehouseman, settlement will be made on the basis of the quantity of seed actually delivered and the quality shown by official purity analysis reports and germination test certificates based on representative samples taken not more than five calendar months prior to the first day of the month in which the seed is delivered to CCC, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section.

(2) Quality guaranteed. If the seed is stored on a commingled or identity-preserved basis in an approved warehouse and the warehouseman guarantees the quality and quantity of the seed, settlement will be made with the producer at the applicable support rate on the basis of the quality and quantity of the seed shown on the warehouse receipt.

(d) Quality determination at time of delivery. Where the quality of the seed delivered under a loan or purchase agreement is not guaranteed by an approved warehouseman, and the county committee has reason to believe that the lot of seed has been disturbed or damaged so that the purity analysis reports and/or germination test certificates are no longer representative of the quality of the seed, then the quality shall be determined by official purity analysis and germination tests made at the time of delivery. Settlement will be made at the applicable support rate on the basis of such tests made at the time of delivery, except where CCC assumes loss resulting from damage or deterioration to seed under loan. (See § 601.1515 of the 1952 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1 and § 601.1980.)

(e) Refund of paid-in freight. Where any seed delivered to CCC has been shipped by the producer, or for him, "in line," as determined by CCC, from point of origin to an approved warehouse for storage where transit privileges are in effect, freight (including transportation tax) at a rate not exceeding the lowest published rate, or the lowest transcontinental rate, where applicable, paid on the inbound rail movement, will be refunded to the producer: Provided, That (1) the shipment has been properly registered for transit; (2) the paid railway freight bill or a validated copy thereof, representing the identical seed, is endorsed to CCC in accordance with the covering tariffs at the transit point, and turned over to CCC; (3) a freight certificate signed by the warehouseman is turned over to CCC; and (4) the refunded freight is limited to the quantity of seed shown on the warehouse receipt. The freight certificate shall show the original shipping point, date and number of waybill, car initials and number, date and number of freight bill, name of the carrier, transit weight, and rate paid in, the total amount of freight paid, and such other information as CCC may require. Refunds for paid-in freight under this paragraph will be made by the appropriate PMA commodity office subsequent to actual delivery of the seed to CCC pursuant to a loan or purchase agreement.

Subchapter B—Immigration Regulations

PART 170—REGISTRATION AND FINGERPRINTING OF ALIENS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE ALIEN REGISTRATION ACT, 1940

NOTIFICATION OF ADDRESS OF RESIDENT ALIENS

JUNE 11, 1952.

Section 170.6, Notification of address of resident aliens, of Chapter I, Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended by designating the existing contents of the section as paragraph (a) and by adding the following new paragraph:

(b) The notification of address of an alien who is insane or otherwise incompetent or of unsound mind may be furnished by his legal guardian, trustee, or committee, or by any person who is charged by law with his care or custody, and in such form as may be approved by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization.

(Sec. 23, 39 Stat. 892, sec. 24, 43 Stat. 166, sec. 37, 54 Stat. 675; 8 U. S. C. 102, 222, 458)

This order shall become effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (50 Stat. 238; 5 U. S. TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter B—Economic Regulations

[Regs., Serial No. ER-170]

PART 240—INSPECTION OF ACCOUNTS AND PROPERTY

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 16th day of June, 1952.

Section 407 (e) of the Civil Aeronautics Act provides that the Board shall at all times have access to all lands, buildings, and equipment of any air carrier and to all accounts, records, and memoranda, including all documents and papers, and correspondence, now or hereafter existing, and kept or required to be kept by air carriers; the section further provides that the Board may employ special agents or auditors, who shall have authority under the orders of the Board to inspect and examine any and all such lands, buildings, equipment, accounts, records, and memoranda.

Some questions have been raised as to the powers and duties of the Board's auditors and special agents employed by it to carry out the provisions of this section, and it appearing that air carriers, on occasion, have refused to allow such auditors and special agents such access upon proper demand, and that such refusal has hindered and obstructed the proper administration of the act, it is the purpose of this regulaton to set forth the Board's interpretation of section 407 (e) of the act and to take all action necessary thereunder in order that there may be no doubt on the part of the air carriers as to the authority, powers, and the duties of properly identified Board employees bearing credentials as auditors and special agents of the Board.

Since these regulations are either interpretive rules or rules declaratory of existing statutory obligations on the part of the persons affected, the Board finds that notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and that the new part may be made effective on less than 30 days prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Board hereby amends the Economic Regulations effective June 16, 1952, by making and promulgating a new part, designated Part 240, to read as follows:

240.1 Interpretation.
240.2 Carriers' obligation.

§ 240.1 Interpretation. (a) The first sentence of section 407 (e) of the Civil Aeronautics Act is construed as follows: "The Board itself, or through duly accredited special agents or auditors, shall at all times have access to all lands, buildings, records and memoranda, including all documents, papers, and correspondence, now or hereafter existing, and kept or required to be kept by air carriers; and any special agents or auditors employed for the purpose shall have authority, when so directed by the Board, to inspect and examine any and all such lands, buildings, equipment, accounts, records, and memoranda and to make such notes and copies thereof as he deems appropriate."

(b) The terms "special agent" and "auditor" are respectively construed to mean (1) any employee of the Office of Enforcement, any employee of the Bureau of Safety Investigation, and any other employee of the Board specifically designated by it or by the Secretary of the Board, and (2) any employee of the Audits Section, Accounting and Statistics Division, of the Bureau of Air Operations.

(c) The issuance in the form set forth below of an identification card and credentials to any such employee shall be construed to be an order and direction of the Board to such individual to inspect and examine the lands, buildings, equipment, accounts, records, and memoranda of air carriers in accordance with the terms of section 407 (e).

TITLE 29—LABOR

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Labor

PART 4—CHILD LABOR REGULATIONS, ORDERS AND STATEMENTS OF INTERPRETATION

SUBPART E—OCCUPATIONS PARTICULARLY HAZARDOUS FOR THE EMPLOYMENT OF MINORS BETWEEN 16 AND 18 YEARS OF AGE OR DETRIMENTAL TO THEIR HEALTH OR WELL-BEING

OCCUPATIONS INVOLVED IN THE OPERATION OF BAKERY MACHINES (ORDER 11)

Finding and order declaring certain specified occupations involved in the operation of power-driven bakery machines to be particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being.

On December 28, 1951, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (16 F. R. 13104) that the Secretary of Labor proposed to adopt a hazardous occupations order as therein set forth providing that for purposes of section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, certain specified occupations involved in the operation of power-driven bakery machines are particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being. The notice provided for a public hearing to be held in Washington, D. C., on February 6, 1952. Interested persons were invited to participate in the hearing and provision was made for the submission of written comments or briefs by any interested person unable to attend the hearing. Following the hearing, the American Baker's Association, which had not participated in the public hearing, requested that the record be reopened for the purpose of receiving any additional information which they might submit. The presiding officer entered an order reopening the record for a period of 30 days to accommodate this request. The 30-day period expired on March 21, 1952, with no additional evidence having been filed. All relevant material submitted, including the report of investigation, has been carefully considered. This material discloses no reason for revision of the order as proposed.

Now, therefore, pursuant to the authority vested in me by section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.) and Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946 adopted pursuant to the Reorganization Act of 1945 (59 Stat. 613) and in accordance with the Procedure Governing Determinations of Hazardous Occupations (29 CFR Part 4, Subpart D) I, Maurice J. Tobin, Secretary of Labor, hereby adopt the following finding, declaration, and order designated Hazardous-Occupations Order No. 11:

§ 4.62 Occupations involved in the operation of bakery machines (order 11)—(a) Finding and declaration of fact. The following occupations involved in the operation of power-driven bakery machines are particularly hazardous for the employment of minors between 16 and 18 years of age or detrimental to their health or well-being:

(1) The occupation of operating, assisting to operate, or cleaning any horizontal or vertical dough mixer; batter mixer; bread dividing, rounding, or molding machine; dough brake; dough sheeter; combination bread slicing and wrapping machine; or cake cutting band saw.

(2) The occupation of setting up or adjusting a cooky or cracker machine.

(b) This section shall not justify noncompliance with a Federal or State law or municipal ordinance establishing a higher standard than the standard established in this section.

(c) This section will become effective July 21, 1952.

PART 684—HOOKED RUG INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO, MINIMUM WAGE ORDER

Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001), notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 17, 1952 (17 F. R. 4541), of my decision to approve the minimum wage recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 11 for Puerto Rico for the Hooked Rug Industry in Puerto Rico, and the revised wage order for that industry which I proposed to issue to carry such recommendations into effect was published therewith. Interested parties were given an opportunity to submit exceptions within 15 days from the date of publication of the notice.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Supplementary Regulation 28]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 28—PERMISSIBLE ADJUSTMENTS IN CEILING PRICES BECAUSE OF INCREASED FREIGHT RATES FOR CERTAIN BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, (Public Law 774, 81st Congress, Public Law 96, 82nd Congress), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 28 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation is issued for the same reasons, and accomplishes the same objectives, as Supplementary Regulation 106 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Accordingly, the statement of considerations involved in the issuance of that supplementary regulation is equally applicable to this supplementary regulation.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. Formal consultation was had with the Industry Advisory Committee for the structural clay products and allied clay products industry, and consideration has been given to its recommendations.

Every effort has been made to conform this supplementary regulation to existing business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provisions of this supplementary regulation may operate to compel changes in the business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this supplementary regulation. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are fair and equitable, and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 8 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Sup.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation permits certain adjustments in ceiling prices of the building and construction materials listed in section 2 for increases in costs of transportation caused by increases in freight rates and required to be paid to a carrier: Provided, that such increases in freight rates have been authorized by the Director of Price Stabilization or by a formal order of the Interstate Commerce Commission or other agency of the United States, or of any regulatory body of a State of the United States having jurisdiction to authorize an increase in freight rates for the transportation of any such building and construction material.

To the extent permitted by section 4, manufacturers of the building and construction materials listed in section 2 are permitted to adjust their ceiling delivered prices for these materials to reflect increased costs of outbound transportation.

To the extent permitted by section 5, manufacturers of concrete products are permitted to adjust their ceiling prices for these materials to reflect increased costs of inbound transportation for cement and aggregates.

SEC. 2. The building and construction materials to which this supplementary regulation applies. This supplementary regulation applies to the following building and construction materials:

Asbestos cement building products limited to shingles, flat sheets and corrugated sheets not further fabricated.
Asbestos cement pipe.
Asphalt and tarred roofing products defined as, dry felt made of organic fibre impregnated with bitumen designed and constructed to be applied to the exterior surface of a building or structure for the purpose of weather proofing such surfaces, excluding rigid brick and stone siding.
Ceramic floor and wall tile.
Clay drain tile.
Concrete products.
Fiber insulating board (rigid insulating material manufactured in various thicknesses principally from wood, cane or other vegetable fiber and having a density of not greater than 20 pounds per cubic foot), except acoustical tile.
Gypsum products, including but not limited to board, lath, partition and roof tile, but excluding acoustical tile.
Structural clay products and allied clay products.
Vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied clay products.

SEC. 3. Persons covered by this supplementary regulation. Any person who manufactures any of the building and construction materials listed in section 2, is, if he so elects, covered by the provisions of this supplementary regulation. His election to use it must be evidenced by the keeping by him of the records required to be kept by section 6.

SEC. 4. Ceiling price adjustments for increased costs of outbound transportation. If you manufacture any of the building and construction materials (see definition in section 7) for which you have a ceiling delivered price, you may adjust your ceiling delivered price for any such material manufactured by you by the exact amount of increases in the costs to you of outbound transportation by carrier that have been or may be made after March 15, 1951: Provided, That such increases in transportation costs are due to increases in freight rates which have been authorized or ordered according to the requirements of section 1.

SEC. 5. Ceiling price adjustments for increased costs of inbound transportation. If you are a manufacturer of the category of commodities listed in paragraph (a) of this section you may adjust your ceiling prices for the various products in that category which you manufacture by using the formula for determining the adjustment which is set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(a) Category of commodities covered. This section applies to manufacturers of concrete products.

(b) Formula for price adjustment. You may adjust your ceiling price for each of the commodities within the category for which you are calculating the price adjustment by the exact amount in dollars and cents that is determined according to the following method:

(1) Find the current freight rate applicable to a bag, barrel, ton, cubic yard (or other standard unit of measure) of cement and aggregates which you use as raw materials in the category of commodities for which you are calculating an adjustment.

(2) In like manner, find the freight rate effective January 26, 1951, on the same raw material (same unit of measure). For purposes of freight rate determinations of subparagraphs (1) and (2) you must use the same supplier in both determinations. This supplier must be the firm which sold you the largest volume of the particular raw material during the second calendar quarter of 1952. You may not use freight rates from your other suppliers in the above two calculations.

(3) Subtract the freight rate determined in subparagraph (2) from the rate determined in subparagraph (1). The result will be the dollars and cents freight rate increase per unit (bag, barrel, ton, cubic yard or other standard unit of measure) of each raw material.

(4) Multiply the physical volume (using the same unit of measure used in subparagraphs (1) and (2)) of each raw material (aggregate and cement) used by you during your last complete fiscal year in the manufacture of the category of commodities for which you are calculating the adjustment by the freight rate increase found in subparagraph (3) applicable to that raw material. The resultant dollar figure will be the total amount of additional freight charges that you would have paid for that raw material had current freight rates been in effect during your entire last fiscal year.

(5) Add the dollars and cents amounts which you have found in your calculations under subparagraph (4). This will give you your total increased freight charges due to increased freight rates for the category of commodities for which you are calculating the adjustment.

(6) Divide the dollars and cents amount which you have found under subparagraph (5) by the net dollar sales of the category of commodities for which you are making the calculation during your last complete fiscal year. The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment for the entire category of commodities for which you are making the calculation.

(7) Apply to each product in the category for which you are making the calculation the percentage found in subparagraph (6). The resultant dollars and cents amount may be added to your ceiling price for that commodity as established by Ceiling Price Regulation 22. You may round ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation to the nearest quarter of a cent per unit provided you do so in a consistent manner and round down as well as up.

SEC. 6. Record-keeping requirements. Before adjusting your ceiling price under this supplementary regulation for any material or commodity, you must have received a carrier's invoice, freight bill, or other statement of transportation charges, or an invoice or invoices from a supplier who sells to you on a delivered basis, from which you can show that your costs were increased because of increased transportation costs due to increased freight rates. If you adjust any ceiling price under section 4, you are required to keep each carrier's invoice, freight bill, other statement of transportation charges or supplier's invoice or invoices for two years after you receive it. In adjusting any ceiling price pursuant to section 5, you must prepare a worksheet showing in detail how you calculated that adjustment. You must preserve each such worksheet for a period of two years after making such adjustment together with such carrier's invoice, freight bill, other statement of transportation charges or supplier's invoice or invoices supporting each adjustment.

SEC. 7. Definitions. Under this supplementary regulation:

(a) "Building and construction materials" means the commodities listed in section 2.

(b) "Carrier" means a common or contract carrier by rail, or by water, or by truck, or any combination of common or contract carrier, whose rates are established by the Director of Price Stabilization, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a State regulatory body having jurisdiction by law to establish freight rates for common or contract carriers.

(c) "Freight rates" means the authorized published tariffs for transportation of commodities by carrier, including excise taxes applicable thereto.

(d) "Net delivered cost" means the total cost to you of a commodity f. o. b. your siding or other specified delivery point, excluding demurrage and handling charges.

SEC. 8. Applicability of Ceiling Price Regulation 22. All the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 22 shall be applicable to you in your sales of the materials and commodities covered by this supplementary regulation except as these provisions are modified and supplemented by this supplementary regulation.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective June 24, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

ELLIS ARNALL,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 106]

GCPR, SR 106—PERMISSIBLE ADJUSTMENTS IN CEILING PRICES BECAUSE OF INCREASED FREIGHT RATES FOR CERTAIN BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (Public Law 774, 81st Cong., Pub. Law 96, 82d Cong., Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 106 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation permits producers, manufacturers and resellers of specified building and construction materials to adjust their ceiling prices to reflect certain increased transportation costs resulting from freight rate increases authorized after January 26, 1951. Sales of the building and construction materials covered by this supplementary regulation are subject to the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Until the issuance of this action, the General Ceiling Price Regulation did not permit the pass-through of increased costs resulting from increased freight rates on outbound transportation unless the delivered price which the seller quoted was based on his plant price plus the precise amount of transportation cost to each of his purchasers. Increase in inbound freight costs could not, under any circumstances, be passed through under the terms of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Manufacturers and producers may apply the exact dollars and cents amount of increases in outbound transportation costs to their GCPR ceiling delivered prices of the commodities covered herein, except ready-mixed concrete and asphaltic concrete and bituminous paving mixes.

Manufacturers of ready-mixed concrete, concrete products and asphaltic concrete and bituminous paving mixes, who have incurred increases in the costs to them of the materials listed in this regulation which enter into the manufacture of these products, may increase their ceiling prices for these products as provided in section 5, provided such increases are the result of authorized freight rate increases.

Finally, resellers are permitted to adjust their General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices to reflect authorized inbound freight rate increases in accordance with the requirements of the Herlong Amendment to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

This supplementary regulation limits the pass-through to increased freight costs resulting from increased freight rates authorized by the Director of Price Stabilization, the Interstate Commerce Commission or any state regulatory body empowered to establish freight rates.

An Interstate Commerce Commission study of the relationship of transportation costs to 1946 wholesale prices shows that the percentage of outbound transportation costs in relation to value of product at destination was about 51 percent for sand and gravel, 44 percent for stone (broken, ground or crushed), 23 percent for asphalt and 22 percent for cement. It should be noted that although transportation costs and wholesale prices of these products have risen since 1946, there is no reason to believe that relationships of freight cost to wholesale price have changed significantly.

Rail freight rate increases effective April 14, 1951, August 28, 1951, and May 2, 1952, authorized by the ICC generally totaled 15 percent. One of the exceptions to the general authorization provides for a total increase of 12 percent for sand, gravel and stone (crushed, broken or ground). In industries where value of product is high in relation to transportation cost, firms are able to absorb such transportation cost increases out of economies of increased output. Absorption, however, places an onerous burden on firms dealing in the bulky building and construction materials to which this supplementary regulation applies. The materials entering into the manufacture of ready-mixed concrete and concrete products, for example, are composed almost wholly of aggregates (sand, gravel, stone, etc.) and cement. Using a sand, gravel and cement mix commonly employed in the manufacture of ready-mixed concrete, the severity of the burden becomes apparent when we note that inbound transportation costs alone represent 47 percent of the cost of the raw materials entering into the production of this commodity.

The relation of outbound transportation costs to value of product is very high in respect to aggregates and structural clay products. Historically, these industries have never absorbed appreciable outbound freight costs for such commodities. In the main, these prices reflect actual freight; one exception concerns transportation charges based on an average of freight rate costs or on some other method of transportation cost determination. Another exception occurs in the case of "freight equalization" where some absorption of transportation cost is assumed by the supplier in order to meet competition of an f. o. b. seller closer to the purchaser. Under the terms of the GCPR, suppliers selling on a "delivered" or "freight equalized" basis are required to absorb freight rate increases. Inasmuch as f. o. b. sellers are not required to absorb such increases, an inequitable situation arises with respect to "delivered" and "freight equalized" sellers and those suppliers who sell on an f. o. b. basis. As a result of this situation, price structure distortions have occurred in many market areas between prices customarily quoted on an f. o. b. basis and prices quoted on a "delivered" or "freight equalized" basis. This regulation, therefore, remedies the inequities and price structure distortions by permitting a manufacturer to apply the actual dollars and cents increase in freight cost to his "delivered" or "freight equalized" price.

In view of the sizable increases in freight rates since January 26, 1951, there are grounds for believing that the earnings of the ready-mixed concrete, concrete products and sand and gravel industries have been reduced below the minimum requirements of the earnings or product standard.

Ordinarily, in this latter situation, OPS would make a financial survey of each industry's earnings or a study of the cost-price relationships in order to determine the exact amount of any price increase which would be required under these standards. Such studies require a considerable expenditure of the Agency's resources especially where, as here, special forms must be designed to ascertain individual product as well as overall company data. Furthermore, substantial freight rate increases on these bulky commodities have created an urgent situation requiring immediate interim relief pending the issuance of tailored regulations. In view of these circumstances, the Director has concluded that the time and effort required to determine the precise measure of the allowable price increase is not warranted at this time.

Other building material industries who can demonstrate the need for relief under the criteria established herein may apply to the Office of Price Stabilization.

Under the provisions of section 1 of Ceiling Price Regulation 22, some manufacturers who use the building and construction materials covered by this supplementary regulation in the manufacture of certain commodities and whose gross sales of their manufactured commodities for their last complete fiscal year were less than $250,000 may have elected not to come under the provisions of CPR 22, but to adhere to ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation. These manufacturers, if they elect to remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, may make the adjustments in their ceiling prices permitted under this supplementary regulation for these manufactured commodities, which include structural clay products, vitrified clay sewer pipe and allied clay products, and concrete products.

In situations where short hauls are involved, the effect of this action will, of course, be negligible. With respect to medium and long hauls, such action, in the opinion of the Director of Price Stabilization, is necessary to avoid undue hardship and inequities.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. Formal consultation was held with representatives of the ready-mixed concrete, crushed stone, sand and gravel, and structural clay products industries. However, in all cases, consideration was given to information and suggestions received from trade association representatives and members of the industries affected. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are fair and equitable, and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

SEC. 2. The building and construction materials to which this supplementary regulation applies. This supplementary regulation applies to the following building and construction materials:

Asbestos cement building products limited to shingles, flat sheets and corrugated sheets not further fabricated.

SEC. 3. Persons covered by this supplementary regulation. Any person who produces or manufactures any of the building and construction materials listed in section 2, or a reseller of any of these materials or commodities, or any manufacturer or reseller of ready-mixed concrete, or asphaltic concrete and bituminous paving mixes, is, if he so elects, covered by the provisions of this supplementary regulation. His election to use it must be evidenced by the keeping by him of the records required to be kept by section 7.

SEC. 4. Manufacturers' ceiling price adjustments for increased costs of outbound transportation. If you produce or manufacture any of the building and construction materials (see definition in section 8) for which you have a ceiling delivered price, you may adjust your ceiling delivered price for any such material produced or manufactured by you by the exact amount of increases in the costs to you of transportation by carrier that have been or may be made after January 26, 1951: Provided, That such increases in transportation costs are due to increases in freight rates which have been authorized or ordered according to the requirements of section 1.

SEC. 5. Manufacturers' ceiling price adjustments for increased costs of inbound transportation. If you are a manufacturer of any of the categories of commodities listed in paragraph (a) you may adjust your ceiling prices for the various products in each category which you manufacture by using the formula for determining the adjustment which is set forth in paragraph (b). You must apply this formula separately to each category which you manufacture.

(a) Categories of commodities covered. This section applies to manufacturers of (1) ready-mixed concrete, (2) concrete products, and (3) asphaltic concrete and bituminous paving mixes.

(b) Formula for price adjustment. You may adjust your ceiling price for each of the commodities within the category for which you are calculating the price adjustment by the exact amount in dollars and cents that is determined according to the following method:

(1) Find the current freight rate applicable to a bag, barrel, ton, cubic yard, gallon (or other standard unit of measure) of asphalt, cement, and aggregates which you use as raw materials in the category of commodities for which you are calculating an adjustment.

(2) In like manner, find the freight rate effective January 26, 1951, on the same raw material (same unit of measure). For purposes of freight rate determinations of subparagraphs (1) and (2) you must use the same supplier in both determinations. This supplier must be the firm which sold you the largest volume of the particular raw material during the second calendar quarter of 1952. You may not use freight rates from your other suppliers in the above two calculations.

(3) Subtract the freight rate determined in subparagraph (2) from the rate determined in subparagraph (1). The result will be the dollars-and-cents freight rate increase per unit (bag, barrel, ton, cubic yard, gallon or other standard unit of measure) of each raw material.

(4) Multiply the physical volume (using the same unit of measure used in subparagraphs (1) and (2)) of each raw material (aggregate, asphalt and cement) used by you during your last complete fiscal year in the manufacture of the category of commodities for which you are calculating the adjustment by the freight rate increase found in subparagraph (3) applicable to that raw material. The resultant dollar figure will be the total amount of additional freight charges that you would have paid for that raw material had current freight rates been in effect during your entire last fiscal year.

(5) Add the dollars and cents amounts which you have found in your calculations under subparagraph (4). This will give you your total increased freight charges due to increased freight rates for the category of commodities for which you are calculating the adjustment.

(6) Divide the dollars and cents amount which you have found under subparagraph (5) by the net dollar sales of the category of commodities for which you are making the calculation during your last complete fiscal year. The resultant percentage will be the percentage of adjustment for the entire category for which you are making the calculations.

(7) Apply to each product in the category for which you are making the calculation the percentage found in subparagraph (6). The resultant dollars and cents amount may be added to your ceiling price for that commodity as established by the GCPR. You may round ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation as follows: to the nearest five cents per cubic yard in the case of ready-mixed concrete, the nearest quarter of a cent per unit in the case of concrete products, and the nearest cent in the case of asphaltic concrete and bituminous paving mixes; provided you do so in a consistent manner and round down as well as up.

SEC. 6. Resellers' ceiling price adjustments for increased costs of inbound transportation. If you are a reseller of any of the building and construction materials listed in section 2, or if you are a reseller of ready-mixed concrete, asphaltic concrete or bituminous paving mixes, you may adjust your ceiling price for any such building and construction material, commodity or product you buy by the exact percentage by which the net delivered cost to you for such material or commodity purchased from the same supplier has been increased due to increases in freight rates incurred after January 26, 1951: Provided, That any such increase in freight rates has been authorized or ordered according to the requirements of section 1. If, because your supplier has increased his price to you pursuant to this regulation or any other OPS regulation which permits your supplier to increase his ceiling delivered price due to increases in transportation costs caused by freight rate increases, you are eligible to adjust your ceiling price pursuant to both this paragraph and Supplementary Regulation 29 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, you may elect to adjust your ceiling price under either provision, but you may not make this adjustment under both provisions.

EXAMPLE

Your ceiling price for commodity x	$3.75
F. o. b. point of shipment cost to you of commodity x	2.55
Freight cost before increase (including excise tax)	.75
Net delivered cost (before freight increase)	3.30
Freight rate increase 15 percent.
Increase in freight cost (.75×.15)	.1125
Percentage increase in net delivered cost $\frac{(.1125)}{(3.30)}$	3.41%
Your adjusted ceiling price for x (1.0341×3.75)	3.8778

SEC. 7. Record-keeping requirements. Before adjusting your ceiling price under this supplementary regulation for any material or commodity, you must have received a carrier's invoice, freight bill, or other statement of transportation charges, or an invoice or invoices from a supplier who sells to you on a delivered basis, from which you can show that your costs were increased because of increased transportation costs due to increased freight rates. If you adjust any ceiling price under section 4, you are required to keep each carrier's invoice, freight bill, other statement of transportation charges or supplier's invoice or invoices for two years after you receive it. In adjusting any ceiling price pursuant to section 5 or section 6, you must prepare a worksheet showing in detail how you calculated that adjustment. You must preserve each such worksheet for a period of two years after making such adjustment together with such carrier's invoice, freight bill, other statement of transportation charges or supplier's invoice or invoices supporting each adjustment.

SEC. 8. Definitions. Under this supplementary regulation:

(a) "Building and construction materials" means the commodities listed in section 2.

(b) "Carrier" means a common or contract carrier by rail, or by water, or by truck, or any combination of common or contract carrier, whose rates are established by the Director of Price Stabilization, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a State regulatory body having jurisdiction by law to establish freight rates for common or contract carrier.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Wage and Hour Division

[29 CFR Part 672]

MINIMUM WAGE RATES IN CONSTRUCTION, BUSINESS SERVICE, MOTION PICTURE, AND MISCELLANEOUS INDUSTRIES IN PUERTO RICO

NOTICE OF PROPOSED DECISION

On December 12, 1951, pursuant to section 5 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, hereinafter called the act, the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, by Administrative Order No. 417, appointed Special Industry Committee No. 11 for Puerto Rico, hereinafter called the Committee, and directed the Committee to investigate conditions in a number of industries in Puerto Rico specified and defined in said orders, including the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries, and to recommend minimum wage rates for employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such industries.

For purposes of investigating conditions in and recommending minimum wage rates for the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries in Puerto Rico, the Committee included three disinterested persons representing the public, a like number representing employers, and a like number representing employees in the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries in Puerto Rico, and was composed of residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

After investigating economic and competitive conditions in the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries, the Committee filed with the Administrator a report containing (a) its recommendations that the industries be divided into separable divisions for the purpose of fixing minimum wage rates; (b) the titles and definitions recommended by the Committee for such separable divisions of the industries; and (c) its recommendations for minimum wage rates to be paid employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such divisions of the industries.

Pursuant to the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 15, 1952, and circulated to all interested persons, a public hearing upon the Committee's recommendations was held before Hearing Examiner Clifford P. Grant, as presiding officer, in Washington, D. C. on April 24, 1952, at which all interested parties were given an opportunity to be heard. After the hearing was closed the record of the hearing was certified to the Administrator by the presiding officer.

Upon reviewing all the evidence adduced in this proceeding and giving consideration to the provisions of the act, particularly sections 5 and 8 thereof, I have concluded that the recommendations of the Committee for minimum wage rates in the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries in Puerto Rico and its divisions, as defined, were made in accordance with law, are supported by the evidence adduced at the hearing, and, taking into consideration the same factors as are required to be considered by the Committee, will carry out the purposes of sections 5 and 8 of the act.

I have set forth my decision in a document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator in the Matter of the Recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 11 for Minimum Wage Rates in the Construction, Business Service, Motion Picture, and Miscellaneous Industries in Puerto Rico", a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) and the rules of practice governing this proceeding (17 F. R. 2285–2288), that I propose to approve the Committee's recommendations for the construction, business service, motion picture, and miscellaneous industries, and to revise this part to read as set forth below, to carry such recommendations into effect.

Within 15 days from publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, interested parties may submit written exceptions to the proposed action. Exceptions should be addressed to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. They should be submitted in quadruplicate, and should include supporting reasons for any exceptions.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR Parts 40, 61]

ISSUANCE OF LOCAL AREA AIR CARRIER OPERATING CERTIFICATES FOR AIRCRAFT UNDER 12,500 POUNDS TAKE-OFF WEIGHT

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Pursuant to authority delegated by the Civil Aeronautics Board to the Bureau of Safety Regulation, notice is hereby given that the Bureau will propose to the Board an extension of the authorization granted by Special Civil Air Regulation SR–366 as hereinafter set forth.

Interested persons may participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in duplicate to the Civil Aeronautics Board, attention Bureau of Safety Regulation, Washington 25, D. C. In order to insure their consideration by the Board before taking further action on the proposed rule, communications must be received by July 7, 1952. Copies of such communications will be available after July 9, 1952, for examination by interested persons at the Docket Section of the Board, Room 5412, Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Special Civil Air Regulation SR–366 which expires August 1, 1952, authorizes the Administrator to issue temporary air carrier operating certificates of one-year duration, called Air Carrier Operating Certificates for Local Areas, to scheduled air carriers holding temporary certificates of public convenience and necessity. These operating certificates authorize the use of aircraft under 12,500 pounds maximum certificated take-off weight in accordance with such certification and operating standards as may be established by the Administrator. At the time the Board adopted SR–366, it was intended that appropriate standards for such carriers would be developed prior to August 1, 1952. However, during this interim period, the four carriers originally certificated to conduct this type of operation have either converted to DC–3 type aircraft or are awaiting Board action on petitions for renewal. If such petitions are favorably considered, utilization of larger aircraft is contemplated whereby their operations would be conducted under the provisions of Parts 40 and 61 of the Civil Air Regulations. It is therefore considered advisable to curtail further efforts in the development of standards for local area operations pending Board action on the certificates of these carriers. Until such action is completed, it will be necessary to extend the authority granted in SR–366 in order for these carriers to continue operations. Therefore, although this regulation is being extended for one year, its termination will also be conditioned upon the expiration of the economic operating authority of those local area carriers now operating under SR–366 should they not be renewed or should they be significantly changed.

It is therefore proposed to extend the authorization granted by Special Civil Air Regulation SR–366 for a period of one year as follows:

The Administrator is hereby authorized to issue temporary air carrier operating certificates of one-year duration to scheduled air carriers holding temporary certificates of public convenience and necessity, authorizing the use of aircraft under 12,500 pounds maximum certificated take-off weight, in accordance with such certification and operating standards as may be established by the Administrator and to extend for a like period the duration of certificates heretofore issued under the authority of Special Civil Air Regulation SR–366: Provided, That all such certificates so issued or extended shall expire at such earlier date as may be directed in any general rule issued by the Board regulating this subject matter.

This regulation shall terminate on August 1, 1953, or upon the expiration of or major change to the economic operating authority of those local area carriers now operating under SR–366, whichever shall first occur, unless sooner superseded or rescinded.

This regulation is proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended. The proposal may be changed in the light of comments received in response to this notice of proposed rule making.

VESSEL UTILIZATION AND PERFORMANCE REPORTS

NOTICE TO SHIPPING INDUSTRY

The prompt and accurate filing of Vessel Utilization and Performance Reports (Forms MA 7801, 7802, 7803 and 7804) is very important to the Federal Maritime Board and to the Maritime Administration to permit these agencies to perform their duties primarily for the benefit of the shipping industry. These reports also are the basis for the development and analysis of data for a number of essential governmental activities in addition to the administration of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936.

Delay in filing these reports, or failure to do so, prevents our assembling accurate basic data on traffic trends, capacity available, changes in trade route patterns, etc., which are the basis for future planning not only here but for the industry. These data are essential also for assessing current operations. Delays in filing, or failure to file, add to the administrative burden here by forcing unnecessary following up of delinquents.

Maritime Administration General Order No. 39 covers the authority for requiring these reports and the forms and procedures for submitting them. Your cooperation in this for your own advantage is sought. We do not want to be forced to impose the penalties provided for non-compliance.

Dated: June 17, 1952.

DUQUESNE LIGHT CO.

ORDER GRANTING AUTHORITY TO INCREASE AUTHORIZED PREFERRED STOCK

JUNE 17, 1952.

Duquesne Light Company ("Duquesne"), a public utility subsidiary of Philadelphia Company ("Philadelphia"), a registered holding company, had filed a declaration, with amendments thereto, pursuant to sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act and Rule U-62 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions which are summarized as follows:

Duquesne proposes, by appropriate corporate action, to increase its authorized preferred stock from 800,000 to 1,000,000 shares. It is stated that the proposed increase will facilitate the issuance and sale by Duquesne of preferred stock during 1952 and 1953 and thereby enable Duquesne to raise a portion of the funds required to meet the cost of its construction program. Appropriate applications will be filed with this Commission prior to the time when such issuances and sales are to be undertaken.

In order to effect the proposed increase of the authorized preferred stock, the consent of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of common stock of Duquesne, as well as the consent of the holders of a majority of the outstanding preferred stock of Duquesne, with all series thereof voting as a class, is required. Philadelphia, which owns all of the 5,920,000 shares of common stock and all of the 550,000 shares of the 4 percent Preferred Stock, which constitutes well over a majority of that class, has indicated that it will consent to the proposed increase. Duquesne proposes, however, as a matter of management policy, to solicit proxies from the holders of the 150,000 shares of its 3.75 percent Preferred Stock, which series is publicly held, but it states that it intends to increase its authorized preferred stock without reference to the number of consents it obtains from such holders. The proposed solicitation material has been submitted as an exhibit to the instant filing.

It is estimated that the fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions will amount to $1,860, of which $750 represents counsel fees. Duquesne requests that any order of this Commission granting the application become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Due notice having been given of the filing of the declaration, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers that said declaration, as amended, be permitted to become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said declaration, as amended, be, and it hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

UNITED GAS CORP. AND UNION PRODUCING CO.

ORDER CONCERNING LOANS

JUNE 17, 1952.

United Gas Corporation ("United"), a gas utility subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, a registered holding company, and United's wholly owned subsidiary, Union Producing Company ("Union"), having filed a joint application-declaration, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, particularly sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a) and 10 thereof and Rule U-43 (a) promulgated thereunder with respect to the following transactions:

United proposes to lend to Union and Union proposes to borrow from United not in excess of $2,000,000 during a period of one year following the date of the entry of the Commission's order herein, in such installments and at such times as funds may be required and requested by Union. The proposed loans will be evidenced by unsecured promissory notes issued by Union to United or order, from time to time, payable on or before six years from the date of issuance, and bearing interest at the rate of 4 percent per annum.

The application-declaration states that United will pledge the notes evidencing the proposed loans with the Corporate Trustee under its Mortgage and Deed of Trust, as supplemented, securing United's outstanding First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds.

At April 30, 1952, Union's cash balance amounted to $857,519. The application-declaration states that as a result of an accelerated leasing, development and drilling program, it has become necessary to increase Union's working capital and to maintain such working capital at an adequate level.

The joint application-declaration having been filed on May 26, 1952, notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner required by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, the Commission not having received a request for a hearing within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and the Commission not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding that the proposed transactions are in accordance with the applicable standards of the act and that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and the Commission deeming it appropriate that said joint application-declaration should be granted and permitted to become effective:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions contained in Rule U-24, that said joint application-declaration be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective, forthwith.

UNITED GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF FILING REGARDING SUBORDINATION OF LOANS

JUNE 17, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that United Gas Corporation ("United"), a gas utility subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company ("Bond and Share"), a registered holding company, has filed an application pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and has designated sections 9 (a) (1), 10 (a) (1), 10 (b) and 10 (c) thereof as applicable to the following proposed transactions:

Carthage Hydrocol, Inc. ("Hydrocol"), a Delaware corporation, has completed the construction of a plant near Brownsville, Texas for the manufacture of gasoline from natural gas by a synthetic process known as the "Hydrocol Process". Hydrocol's capital structure consists of a loan in the approximate principal amount of $18,500,000 due the Reconstruction Finance Corporation ("RFC"), $28,000,000 principal amount of 6 Percent Promissory Notes of various classes, and 241,875 shares of common stock. The 6 Percent Promissory Notes are subordinate to the loan due the RFC. Of the outstanding securities of Hydrocol, United owns $3,747,000 principal amount of 6 Percent Promissory Notes of various classes and 28,170-¾ (11.62 percent) shares of common stock, all of which were acquired pursuant to previous authorizations of this Commission.

The proposed transactions involve the subordination by United and all other holders of the outstanding 6 Percent Promissory Notes of Hydrocol to borrowings to be made by Hydrocol during the period May 23, 1952 to July 1, 1952 in the aggregate principal amount of not to exceed $2,000,000. The proposed borrowings will be preferred as to payment of principal and interest over the outstanding 6 Percent Promissory Notes.

The application states that Hydrocol's need for the funds which it proposes to borrow is immediate and urgent in order to enable it to continue its operations and to allow it sufficient time to work out a plan of reorganization.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 30, 1952 at 11:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application, which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION

[Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, Notification 51]

PLACEMENT OF PROCUREMENT IN THE WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA, AREA

NOTIFICATION TO DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE AND GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

The Surplus Manpower Committee, appointed under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, has reported to the Director of Defense Mobilization its findings and recommendation in the matter of placement of procurement in the Winston-Salem area. The recommendation has been reviewed within the Office of Defense Mobilization to determine its relationship to other policies affecting procurement for which this Office has responsibility and no conflicts exist.

The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are hereby notified that upon full consideration, the Director of Defense Mobilization has concluded that it is in the public interest to give preference to the Winston-Salem area, with the exception of the textile and apparel industries located in that area, in the placement of Government contracts, in accordance with the attached findings of the Committee and the provisions of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4. The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are hereby requested to take the actions specified in paragraph 6 of section III of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4.

The textile industry has been excluded from the provisions of this notification pursuant to Notification 38 dated June 4, 1952. Public hearings have been held on the apparel industry. Following the report of the Hearing Panel, consideration will be given to certifying this industry under the provisions of the policy.

The Department of Defense and the General Services Administration are requested to submit the first written report of the actions taken under this notification on August 15, 1952, and thereafter each 30 days until further notice.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
JOHN R. STEELMAN,
Acting Director.

FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE SURPLUS MANPOWER COMMITTEE CONCERNING THE WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA, AREA UNDER DEFENSE MANPOWER POLICY NO. 4

Under date of May 21, 1952, the Defense Manpower Administration of the Department of Labor certified to this Committee, under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the existence of the Winston-Salem area as a surplus labor area under standards established by the Secretary of Labor. The Winston-Salem area is composed of Forsyth County.

On the basis of information contained in the files of the Committee and furnished by the Department of Labor relative to the manpower situation in the Winston-Salem area, and by the Department of Defense, the National Production Authority, and the Department of Labor relative to facilities in the Winston-Salem area, the Committee makes the following findings and recommendation:

FINDINGS

The Committee finds:

1. That the Winston-Salem area, as defined by the Defense Manpower Administration, is an area of current labor surplus, including a surplus of manpower possessing skills necessary to the fulfillment of Government contracts;

2. That there exists in the Winston-Salem area a comparatively small number of suitable facilities for the performance of additional Government contracts;

3. That in order to accomplish the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, the public interest dictates the need for the negotiation of available Government contracts at reasonable prices in the Winston-Salem area provided that a substantial portion of the work involved in the execution of the contracts will be performed in the Winston-Salem area and provided further that contractors in the said area will be afforded the opportunity to meet prices obtainable in any labor market area classified by the Department of Labor as Group I, II, or III.

4. That no price differential for the Winston-Salem area is considered necessary in order to effectuate the objectives of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4, provided that the operations under the notification recommended herein will be reviewed within a reasonable period of time to determine whether the establishment of an appropriate maximum price differential is required in order to effectuate Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 for the Winston-Salem area;

5. That the apparel industry, to the extent that it exists in the Winston-Salem area, should not be included in the application of Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 in the Winston-Salem area; consideration will be given to separate recommendations applying to the entire apparel industry.

RECOMMENDATION

The Committee recommends that the Director of Defense Mobilization conclude that it is in the public interest to give preference to the Winston-Salem area in the placement of contracts in accordance with the Committee's findings, and that the Director so notify the Secretary of Defense and the Administrator of the General Services Administration.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE MOBILIZATION,
ARTHUR S. FLEMMING,
Chairman,
Surplus Manpower Committee.

Approved:

JOHN R. STEELMAN,
Acting Director,
Office of Defense Mobilization.
